ALL THE UNREPEALED REGULATIONS, ACTS, CONSTRUCTIONS AND CIRCULAR ORDERS OF GOVERNMENT, AND SELECT AND SUMMARY REPORTS OF THE SUDDER COURTS,

COMPILED BY

JOHN CLARK MARSHMAN.

SECOND EDITION.

CORRECTED TO THE 30TH JUNE, 1848.

SERAMPORE PRESS.

JOHN CASHMAN, PRINTER

Six years have now elapsed since the publication of the first edition of this work, and the mutations which have been made in the principles and practice of the Civil Law during this period have been so numerous, as to render a new edition indispensable to those who have occasion to use it. The Compiler has, therefore, availed himself of the call for a new edition, to embody in the work the various changes which the law has since undergone. All the Regulations, Acts, Circular Orders and Constructions which have been intermediately abrogated, have been omitted, and every modification of them has been faithfully noticed. In compliance with the wishes of those in whose judgment he places great confidence, he has added to the work the authorized abstracts of all the Select Reports of the Sudder Court which referred to this department of law, as well as the Reports of Summary Cases. The number of Reports thus adopted into the Guide amounts to Eight Hundred and eighty-two, and although this addition has greatly enlarged the bulk of the volume, it is to be hoped that the value of these decisions and precedents, which have, practically, all the force of law, will fully compensate for this inconvenience. In deference to the opinion of some judicious friends, he has omitted the Epitome of each enactment and rule which was given in the first edition, and which has been considered by many altogether redundant; in its stead he has given a complete and copious Index, which, he trusts, will be found useful to those who may have occasion to consult the work. The Index, indeed, may be considered as the Epitome, alphabetically arranged.

The Addenda at the end of the volume consists of the enactments, rules and reports which were published while the work was passing through the Press. To these have been added some which had been inadvertently omitted, and others of the existence of which the Compiler was not aware till the work was nearly completed. He trusts the reader will find little difficulty in connecting these rules with the subject to which they belong, in the body of the Guide. He has also farther to note that it has been found impossible to obtain in any office a complete memorandum of the dates which the Circular Orders of the North West Provinces bear, and which, in some instances, differ from those on which the rules received the sanction of the Calcutta Court. Where he has succeeded in obtaining the dates, they have been inserted opposite the corresponding rule of the Lower Provinces. In other cases, a blank space has been left for the reader in the North West to fill up with his pen.

CHAPTER I.

CONSTITUTION AND JURISDICTION OF THE CIVIL COURTS.

SECTION I.

Rules for the formation of the Code of Regulations.

1. It is essential to the future prosperity of the British territories in Bengal, that all Regulations which may be passed by Government affecting in any respect the rights, persons, or property of their subjects, should be formed into a regular code, and printed with translations in the country languages; that the grounds on which each Regulation may be enacted should be prefixed to it; and that the Courts of justice should be bound to regulate their decisions by the rules and ordinances which those Regulations may contain. A code of Regulations framed upon the above principles will enable individuals to render themselves acquainted with the laws upon which the security of the many inestimable privileges and immunities granted to them by the British Government depends, and the mode of obtaining speedy redress against every infringement of them; the Courts of justice will be able to apply the Regulations according to their true intent and import; future administrations will have the means of judging how far Regulations have been productive of the desired effect, and, when necessary, to modify or alter them as from experience may be found advisable; new Regulations will not be made, nor those which may exist be repealed, without due deliberation; and the causes of the future decline or prosperity of these provinces will always be traceable in the code to their source. The Governor General in Council has accordingly enacted as follows.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 1.

2. Every rule or order that may be passed by the Governor General in Council regarding the administration of justice; the imposition or levying of taxes, or of duties on commerce; the collection of the public revenue assessed upon the lands; the rights and tenures of the proprietors and cultivators of the soil; the provision of the Company's investment; the manufacture of salt or opium; and generally all Regulations affecting in any respect the rights, persons or property of the Natives, or any individuals who may be amenable to the Provincial courts of judicature, shall be recorded in the Judicial department, and there framed into a Regulation, and printed and published as hereafter directed.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 2.

3. The Regulations passed annually shall be numbered. The first Regulation enacted in each year shall be numbered one, and all subsequent Regulations according to the order in which they may be passed. The number of each Regulation, and the year in which it may be enacted is to be inserted at the top of every page as in this Regulation.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 3.

Rules and orders affecting the rights, persons or property, of the people, to be formed into regulations.

Regulations to be numbered, and the mode of numbering.

A title to be prefixed to every regulation.

4. Every Regulation shall have a title, expressing the subject of it as concisely as possible, similar to the title prefixed to this Regulation.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 4.

Regulations to have a preamble.

5. There shall be a preamble to every Regulation stating the reasons for the enactment of it.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Reasons for repealing or modifying former regulations to be detailed in preamble.

6. If any Regulation shall repeal or modify a former Regulation, the reasons for such repeal or modification, are to be detailed in the preamble.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

Regulations to be divided into sections and numbered.

7. Every Regulation is to be divided into sections. Each section shall be numbered according to the order in which it may occur. The preamble is to be considered as the first section. The sections, where necessary, may be divided into clauses; in which case, each clause is to be numbered in the same manner as the clauses in Section 5.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 6.

References to clauses, sections, or regulations how to be made.

8. In framing a Regulation, if there shall be occasion to refer to any clause or section of a Regulation, or any Regulation at large; as for example the second clause of the fifth section, or the fifth section of this Regulation, or this Regulation generally; the reference in each case shall be expressed in the following manner:—Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 41, 1793. Section 5, Regulation 41, 1793. Regulation 41, 1793.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 7.

Subject of clauses, &c. to be inserted in a marginal note.

9. The subject of every section and clause shall be inserted opposite to it in the margin as concisely as possible.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 8.

Size of paper on which regulations are to be printed.

10. Every Regulation is to be printed on paper of the same size as the paper on which this Regulation is printed.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 9.

Index to the regulations passed annually to be prepared.

11. At the expiration of each year, a copious Index to the Regulations passed during the course of it, shall be prepared and bound up with them.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 10.

Superintendent of the press to retain one hundred copies of the regulations and the translates.

12. The Superintendent of the Company's press is to retain in his office one hundred copies of each of the Regulations that may be passed and printed annually, and the same number of copies of the translates of them in the Persian and the Bengal language. At the close of the year, after he has been furnished with the Index ordered to be prepared in the preceding section, he shall bind up the English printed copies of the Regulations, and the Persian and the Bengal translates, each in separate volumes. The remainder of the English copies of the Regulations, and the Persian and Bengal translates, are to be distributed as they are passed and printed in such proportions as the Governor General in Council may direct, amongst the Courts of justice, the Boards of Revenue and Trade, the Collectors of the land revenue and the customs, and the Commercial Residents and Salt Agents, or other public officers, or any individuals to whom it may be thought advisable to deliver copies.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 11.

To bind up such copies and translates with the index.

Remaining copies how to be disposed of.

13. Ten of the English copies of the Regulations passed annually, bound up with the Index as directed in Section 11, shall be transmitted to the Honourable Court of Directors by the two first ships that may be dispatched for England after the volumes are completed. Five copies are to be sent in each of the two ships. The remainder of the one hundred copies shall be distributed in such proportions as the Governor General in Council may direct to the Courts of justice, the Boards of Revenue and Trade, the Collectors of the revenue, the Commercial Residents, and Salt Agents, or other public officers.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 12.

14. The Civil and Criminal courts of justice are to be guided in their proceedings and decisions by the Regulations which may be framed and transmitted to them as above directed, and by no other.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 13.

Courts of justice to be guided by the regulations.

15. In the English drafts of Regulations, the same designations and terms are to be applied to the same descriptions of persons and things, in order that rights, property, tenures, privileges, deeds, courts, process, offices, officers, and generally all persons and things may be uniformly described by the same designations and terms throughout the judicial code.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 14.

Persons and things to be described by the same designations & terms throughout the judicial code.

16. Every Regulation with the marginal notes shall be translated into the Persian and Bengal languages by the Persian translator to the Government, or such other person as the Governor General in Council may expressly appoint for that purpose. The number of the Regulation and the year in which it may be passed, and the numbers of the sections and clauses shall be inserted in the translates in the same manner as in the English drafts of the Regulations.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 15.

Regulations with marginal notes to be translated into the Persian and Bengal languages. And to be numbered, &c. as in the English draft.

17. The translator is to be particularly careful to preserve in the translates the same uniformity in the designations and terms applied to persons and things as is directed with regard to the English code in Section 14. Whenever he shall have occasion to insert the designation or name of any person or thing that he may have reason to believe may not be intelligible to the Natives in general, and which may not have been used and explained in the translates of any former Regulation, he shall in the first passage in which such word or term may occur, subjoin an explanation of it, that upon its recurring no doubt may be entertained as to its true meaning and import.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 16.

Uniformity in designations and terms applied to persons and things to be carefully preserved in the translates. All designations, &c. not before used to be explained in the translates.

18. It shall be the duty of the translator to revise the proof sheets of the printed translates, and to correct all errors of the press.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 17.

Translator to correct errors of the press in the printed translates.

19. The translator is to translate the Regulations into plain and easy language, and in all possible cases to reject words not in common use. As far as may be consistent with the preservation of the true meaning and spirit of the Regulations, he shall adopt the idiom of the native languages, instead of giving a close verbal translation of the English drafts, which must necessarily render the translates obscure, and often unintelligible to the Natives.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 18.

Translations to be made in plain and easy language, and the idiom of the languages to be adopted.

20. One part of a Regulation is to be construed by another, so that the whole may stand.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 19.

One part of a regulation to be construed by another.

21. If any Regulation shall be passed differing from a former Regulation, either wholly or partially, the new Regulation is to be considered as a virtual repeal of the old one as far as it may differ from the latter, provided that the new Regulation be couched in negative terms, or by its matter necessarily imply a negative.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 20.

Rules for construing new regulations differing wholly or partially from former regulations.

22. If a Regulation that rescinds another Regulation, is itself afterwards rescinded, Repealed regulation revived by the rescinding of the repealing regulation.

the original Regulation is to be considered as revived, without any formal declaration to that purpose.—Reg. 41, 1793, Sect. 21.

SECTION II.

Rules for Proposing Regulations.

Magistrates and the civil and criminal courts of judicature empowered to propose regulations regarding matters coming within their cognizance.

23. The Judges of the Courts of Dewanny adawlut established in the several zillahs, and in the cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, both in their capacity of Judges of those courts, and as Magistrates; the Judges of the Provincial courts of appeal, in their capacity of Judges of those courts, and as Judges of the Courts of circuit; and the Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the Nizamut adawlut, are respectively empowered to propose Regulations regarding any matters coming within their cognizance, under the rules hereafter prescribed.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 2.

Rules to be observed by the Judges and magistrates of the zillahs and cities in proposing regulations.

24. If a Judge of a zillah or city court, or a Magistrate, shall deem it advisable to propose any Regulation, he is to draft it in the form, and agreeably to the rules prescribed in Regulation 41, 1793, for drafting Regulations passed by the Governor General in Council, and to submit the Regulation so drafted, to the Provincial court of appeal, or the Court of circuit of the division, according as the matter to which the Regulation may relate, may be of a civil or a criminal nature.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 3.

Regulation how to be forwarded to the provincial court, or the court of circuit.

25. The Regulation so drafted, is to be transmitted by the Register, or the Assistant to the Judge or Magistrate, with a copy of his order for forwarding the Regulation to the Provincial court, or the Court of circuit, attested with the official seal of the court, or the Magistrate, and the signature of the Register or Assistant, under a cover addressed to the Register of the Provincial court of appeal, or the Court of circuit.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 4.

S. D. A. or N. A. how to proceed upon receipt of the regulation proposed by the judge or magistrate and the proceedings of the provincial court of appeal or court of circuit respecting it.

26. The Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, are to submit all the proceedings and documents which they may so receive from the Provincial court, or the Court of circuit, to the Governor General in Council, and, if they disapprove of the Regulation altogether, or approve of any one of the drafts of it, with a separate letter stating the grounds of such approval or disapproval, or, if they shall deem it advisable to adopt any one of the drafts with alterations, with a draft of the Regulation framed agreeably to their opinion, and a separate letter detailing their reasons for the alterations.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 9.

Prov. ct. and cts. of circuit not to communicate to the judge or magistrate their opinion on the regulation which he may propose to them.

27. The Provincial courts of appeal and the Courts of circuit are not to communicate to any Judge or Magistrate, the grounds on which they may approve, reject, or alter the draft of the Regulation which he may propose, but the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, upon the draft being submitted to them by the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, may require information on any points immediately from the Judge or Magistrate by whom the Regulation may have been proposed, but not through the medium of the Provincial court of appeal or Court of circuit, and in such cases, they are to submit their queries, and the answer of the Judge or Magistrate, which the other documents regarding the Regulation, to the Governor General in Council. The Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, may likewise require information regarding such, or any proposed Regulation, from the Provincial court of appeal, or Court of circuit.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 10.

28. The Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, are to submit all the proceedings and documents which they may so receive from the Provincial court of appeal or the Court of circuit, to the Governor General in Council, and, if they disapprove altogether of the Regulation so submitted to them, or approve of any of the drafts, they are to state the grounds of such approval or disapproval in a separate letter. If they shall deem it advisable to adopt the proposed Regulation with alterations, they are to submit the Regulation framed according to their opinion, with a separate letter stating their reasons for the alteration, with all the documents received from the Provincial court of appeal, or the Court of circuit to the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 12.

S. D. A. or N. A. how to proceed upon the receipt of the regulation from the provincial court of appeal or court of circuit.

29. All Regulations which the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, may deem it advisable to propose to the Governor General in Council, are to be drafted in the prescribed form.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 14.

S. D. A. or N. A. to draft regulations which they may propose in the prescribed form.

30. The Governor General in Council will reject, or adopt, any Regulation, that may be submitted to him under this Regulation; or pass such Regulation as may appear to him proper.—Reg. 20, 1793, Sect. 15.

The G. G. in C. will reject or adopt the proposed regulation.

[The Provincial courts of appeal and the Courts of circuit having been abolished, the enactments of the above Regulations which allude to their instrumentality in the proposal of Regulations have been omitted, as far as practicable. In proposing Regulations, the Judges of zillah and city courts will communicate direct with the Sudder Court.—Ed.]

SECTION III.

Promulgation of the Regulations, and Suggestions for the Correction of Errors.

31. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 6th of September last, together with its annexed copy of correspondence, requesting to be informed whether the promulgation of a Regulation should be dated from the receipt of the English copy, or of the Persian translation of it.—In reply, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the court, that you should be guided by the instructions of Government, conveyed to you in the Chief Secretary's letter, dated the 14th of August last; and that a Regulation should be considered promulgated from the date of the receipt of the English copy.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June, 1833.

A regulation is to be considered as promulgated from the date of the receipt of the English copy.

32. Be it enacted, that the production of a Government Gazette of any Presidency, containing an Act purporting to have been passed by the Governor General in Council, shall be held in all courts sufficient proof that such Act has been so passed.—Act X. 1835.

Act passed by G. G. in C. may be proved by production of the Govt. Gaz. purporting to contain it.

33. Held that the provisions of an Act of Parliament come into operation from the date only on which the Regulation having reference to it is promulgated. Mr. D'Souza versus Lient. Wroughton.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d February, 1827, Vol. 4, p. 225, Index 3.

How European officers exercising important civil functions are to act when they perceive any thing in the general system of the laws or in their application injurious to the public interests.

34. It is very desirable that all European officers exercising important civil functions within the provinces should be aware, that it is the wish and expectation of Government, that when such officers shall perceive that any thing, either in the general system of our laws, or in their practical application, is calculated injuriously to affect the public interests, and shall be satisfied, after communicating with the officer in whose immediate department the evil may exist, that the correction of it requires the interposition of Government, they should not be restrained from bringing the subject forward merely by the consideration, that the case does not fall within the scope of their immediate functions.—Cir. Ord. 22d April, 1825.

Date of receipt of regulations to be endorsed thereon.

35. With reference to the expression contained in your letter, that you cannot ascertain the exact date on which the translations were received, the Court direct me to notice, that you should invariably note on each copy of a Regulation, and of the translations thereof, the date on which they may be received in your office, attesting the note by your official signature.—Con. No. 566. 16th July, 1830.

Transfer of the Danish settlements on the continent of India to the Hon. Company.

66. Whereas a treaty between His Majesty the King of Denmark and the Honourable the East India Company, was concluded and signed in Calcutta on the twenty-second day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-five:

And whereas by the first article of the said treaty His said Majesty the King of Denmark engaged for a certain consideration therein specified, to transfer the Danish settlements on the continent of India with all the public buildings and crown property thereunto belonging, to the said Company:

And whereas by the 4th article of the said treaty it was provided that the inhabitants of the aforesaid settlements, Europeans as well as Natives, who should continue to reside within the settlements, should be placed under the protection of the general law of British India, and their religious, personal, or acquired rights as formerly enjoyed under the Danish Government, should be respected as all rights of person or property are throughout British India. And that all suits commenced and pending in the Danish courts at the time when the treaty should come into force, should be carried on and decided by the same law as far as altered circumstances would allow. And that the same should be observed in all cases of appeal subsequent to the treaty, but no complaint or suit which should have been finally settled and decided under the Danish administration, and not appealed in due time under observance of the rules for appeal then in force should be deemed appealable; nor should it be lawful to bring forward again subsequently to the conclusion of the said treaty, by petition, complaint, or otherwise, such cases as should have already been finally determined by competent authority:

• And whereas in pursuance of the said treaty the town of Fredericksnagore or Serampore, comprising 60 biggahs commonly called Fredericksnagore, and the districts of Serampore, Ackna and Pearapore, with all the public buildings and crown property thereunto belonging, were transferred by His said Majesty the King of Denmark to the said Company on the tenth day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-five:

It is therefore hereby declared, that the inhabitants of the said town and districts, Europeans as well as Natives, who continue to reside within the settlements are placed under the protection of the general law of British India, and their religious, personal or acquired rights, as formerly enjoyed under the Danish Government, shall be respected as all rights of person or property are throughout British India.

And it is hereby further declared, that all suits commenced and pending in the Danish courts of the said town and districts at the time when the treaty came into force, shall be carried on and decided by the same law as far as altered circumstances will allow, and that the same shall be observed in all cases of appeal subsequent to the treaty, but no complaint or suit which has been finally decided under the Danish administration and not appealed in due time under observance of the rules for appeal then in force, shall be deemed appealable, nor shall it be lawful to bring forward again subsequently to the conclusion of the said treaty, by petition, complaint, or otherwise, such cases as have already been finally determined by competent authority.

And it is hereby further declared, that the said town of Fredericksnagore or Serampore, and the said districts of Serampore, Ackna and Pearapore are hereby annexed to the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

And whereas by Act XXI. of 1836 it was enacted, that it should be lawful for the Governor General in Council, by an order in council to create new zillahs in any part of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal and to alter the limits of existing zillahs:

And whereas for the more convenient administration of the law within the said town of Fredericksnagore or Serampore, and the said districts of Serampore, Ackna and Pearapore, it is expedient that the limits of zillah Hooghly should be altered so as to include the same: the following order in council has this day been passed by the President of the Council of India in Council, and is hereby promulgated for general information.—Proclamation of the 29th November, 1845.

Serampore annexed to the district of Hooghly.

67. Whereas a treaty between His Majesty the King of Denmark and the Honourable the East India Company was concluded and signed in Calcutta on the twenty-second day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-five:

And whereas by Section 3 of Article II. of the said treaty a piece of ground at Balasore, formerly a factory, containing eighteen biggahs, two cottahs, twelve chittacks of tenanted ground, and heretofore dependant on the Danish settlement of Fredericksnagore or Serampore, was transferred to the said East India Company in common with the Danish settlements on the continent of India and other property belonging to His Danish Majesty, on the tenth day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-five.

It is therefore hereby declared, that the inhabitants of the said piece of ground at Balasore, who continue to reside within the same, are placed under the protection of the general law of British India, and their religious, personal or acquired rights, as formerly enjoyed under the Danish Government, shall be respected as all rights of person and property are throughout British India.

And it is hereby further declared, that all suits commenced and pending in the Danish courts, affecting any of the inhabitants of the said piece of ground at the time when the treaty came into force shall be carried on and decided by the same law as far as altered circumstances will allow, and that the same shall be observed in all cases of appeal subsequent to the treaty, but no complaint or suit which has been finally decided under the Danish administration and not appealed in due time under observance of the rules for appeal then in force, shall be deemed appealable, nor shall it be lawful to bring forward again subsequently to the conclusion of the said treaty, by petition, complaint or otherwise, such cases as have already been finally determined by competent authority.

And it is hereby further declared, that the said piece of tenanted ground at Balasore is hereby annexed to the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

And whereas by Act XXI. of 1836 it was enacted, that it should be lawful for the Governor General in Council, by an order in council, to create new zillahs in any part of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal and to alter the limits of existing zillahs :

Transfer of a piece of ground at Balasore to the Hon. Company.

And whereas for the more convenient administration of the law within the boundary of the said piece of ground at Balasore, it is expedient that the limits of zillah Cuttack should be altered so as to include the same; the following order in council has this day been passed by the President of the Council of India in Council and is hereby promulgated for general information.

It is hereby ordered, that the limits of zillah Cuttack be altered, so as to include the piece of ground at Balasore, formerly a factory of the Danish Government and dependent on the Danish settlement of Fredericksnagore or Serampore.—Supplemental Proclamation, 28th Feb., 1846.

Seals of the courts.

68. The Zillah and City courts are to use a circular seal, one inch and three quarters in diameter. The seals of the Zillah courts in the provinces of Bengal, and Orissa, and the courts for the cities of Dacca, and Moorshedabad are to bear an inscription to the following effect in the Persian and Bengal characters and languages. The seals of the Zillah courts in Belar, and the court for the city of Patna, are to have a similar inscription in the Persian language and character, and the Hindoostanee language and Nagree character. "The seal of the Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah (or city) of ———." The seal of each court is to remain in the custody of the Judge.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 14.

69. Each Zillah and City court is to be superintended by one Judge, who, previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, is to take and subscribe the following oath before the Governor General in Council, or any person whom he may commission to administer it. “I, A. B. appointed Judge of the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah (or city) of ———— solemnly swear, that I will administer justice conformably to the Regulations that have been or may be passed by the Governor General in Council, to the best of my ability, knowledge, and judgment, without fear, favour, promise, or hope of reward; that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzzur, in money or effects of any kind, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court of which I am appointed Judge; that I will not knowingly permit any person or persons under my authority, or in my immediate service, to receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzzur, in money or effects from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court; that I will render a true and faithful account of all sums of money that may be paid into the court, or disbursed from it; that I will not be concerned, directly or indirectly, in the purchase of any goods or commodities in the British dominions in Bengal for the purpose of remitting money to Europe, nor in any commercial transactions; and that I will not derive, directly or indirectly, any emoluments or advantages from my station, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive. So HELP ME GOD.”—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 3.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 3.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 13.

Each zillah court to be superintended by one judge.

70. When the number of civil causes depending before the Judge of any Zillah or City court may be such as to require the aid and appointment of Additional Judges for the speedy investigation and decision of such causes, the Governor General in Council, at the recommendation of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or otherwise, if it shall appear to him expedient, will appoint any number of Additional Judges for the zillah or city wherein it may be requisite, to be denominated “Additional Judges of such zillah or city;” who, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe the same oath as is directed to be taken and subscribed by the Judges of the Zillah and City courts.—Reg. 8, 1833, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Provision for appointment of additional judges, when requisite.

71. The Additional Judges so appointed are empowered to perform any part of the duties of the Judge of the zillah or city to which they may be appointed that the Governor General in Council may assign to them; and such Additional Judges, in the performance of those duties, will exercise the same powers and be guided by the same rules and regulations in every respect as the zillah or city Judge.—Reg. 8, 1833, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Duties and powers of additional judges.

72. The Zillah and City courts are to be held in a large and convenient room in the city or place at which they are respectively established, three days in every week, or oftener if the state of the business shall render it necessary. Prohibition of judicial officers from transacting public business in their private dwellings.

three days in each week as above required, he is at the expiration of the week, to report the cause of the court not being so held to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. This report is not to be made when the court may be shut pursuant to orders from the Sudder dewanny adawlut under Section 23, Regulation 6, 1793. No rule, order, proceeding, or decree, is to be made, but on court days, and in open court.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 14.

73. The Honourable Court having expressed a desire that the number of days on which the zillah Judges have actually sat in court should be included in the periodical returns, I am directed to request that you will enter in your monthly statements of civil business a memorandum, stating the number of days you have sat in the Civil court, and the number of days you have sat in the Criminal court. You will also be pleased to note the number of days that the court was shut on account of "Sundays or holidays, or from any other cause, during the month.—Cir. Ord. 7th Dec. 1828.

74. I am desired by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to forward to you, for your information and guidance, the accompanying extract (paragraph 17), from a letter to my address from the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department, dated the 16th ultimo, and to request that you will, in conformity thereto, prohibit in the strongest manner all the judicial officers under your control from resorting to the practice referred to. "The only point which requires particular notice in these paragraphs, is the practice adverted to in paragraph 23, of judicial and revenue officers transacting public business in their private dwellings. The Governor General in Council entirely approves the intention of the court to call the attention of the Commissioners of circuit, and through them, that of the Magistrates, to this subject. The prohibition should also extend to the provincial and zillah Judges, and be impressed upon the whole of the judicial officers in the strongest terms."—Cir. Ord. 3d July, 1829, par. 17.

SECTION V.

Zillah and City Judges—Rules regarding Leave of Absence and Inspectional Tours.

Zillah and city judges to apply to the G. G. in C., for permission to quit their stations, and to wait the receipt thereof.

Except in emergent cases.

What the letter of application is to contain.

75. Any zillah or city Judge and Magistrate who may be desirous of quitting his station, on whatever account, is to apply for permission to the Governor General in Council, and, except in emergent cases of indisposition, is not to leave his station until such permission shall have been obtained and received. The letter of application is to specify the purpose for which the leave of absence is applied for; the period for which it is desired; and the name of the Register, or senior assistant on the spot, to whom the charge of the offices of Judge and Magistrate will devolve, if not otherwise provided for.—Reg. 4, 1796, Sect. 2.

Applications for leave to be sent to the Government direct.

76. Pursuant to instructions from the Government, the Court request that all communications, heretofore made to them, on the following subject, be, in future, addressed direct to the Judicial secretary:—Application for leave of absence on the part of the Judges.—C. O. 27th April, 1843, par. 1.

77. The Governor General in Council, on receipt of the abovementioned applications, will determine in every instance, wherein he may grant leave of absence to the Judge and Magistrate to quit his station, whether to delegate the temporary execution of the duties of Judge and Magistrate, to the Register or senior assistant on the spot; or to appoint any other person by a special commission thereto; or to make other provision for carrying on such part of the business of the station, civil and criminal, as cannot be postponed, according to the urgency and circumstances of the case. The result of this determination will be immediately communicated to the Judge and Magistrate, and his Register and assistant, or any other person appointed to act for him; and notice of it is to be given at the same time to the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, and the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit, within whose jurisdiction the Zillah or City court of the Judge and Magistrate, to whom leave of absence may be granted is situated.—Reg. 4, 1796, Sect. 3.

The G. G. in C. will determine in every instance whether to delegate the duties of judge and magistrate, to the register and senior assistant, or to appoint any other person thereto.

To whom his determination will be communicated.

78. The zillah or city Judges and Magistrates to whom leave of absence may be granted, are to report their actual departure from their stations, as well as their return thereto, to the Governor General in Council, the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, and the Courts of appeal and circuit, within whose jurisdiction their respective courts may be situated.—Reg. 4, 1796, Sect. 4.

To whom zillah and city judges and magistrates are to report their departure from and return to their stations.

79. The Governor General in Council entirely approves the suggestion of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, for directing the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates in future to accompany their applications for leave of absence with a statement of the business depending before them, both in the Civil and Criminal courts.—His Lordship in Council likewise desires, that the same rule may be extended to all similar applications from the Registers; that is, that the Judges, in forwarding such applications to Government, will accompany them with the necessary statement of the business depending before the Registers, both of a civil and criminal nature.—Cir. Ord. 4th Jan. 1811, par. 2.

Judges and magistrates and registers to submit to Government, with applications for leave of absence, a statement of the business pending before them.

80. In modification of the Court's circular of the 3rd October last, I am directed to inform you, that the Court have been pleased to dispense with the copy of the order under which you may deliver over charge of your office; but request, that you will state in your letter the authority for doing so, the date of the order under which you act, and the nature of the power vested in the relieving officer.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 5th Dec. 1834, West. C. 7th Nov. 1834, and 23rd Jan. 1835.

On delivering over charge of an office, the authority for doing so, and the nature of the power vested in the relieving officer must be mentioned.

81. It having occasionally been pleaded by civil functionaries, who have recently joined their offices, in answer to calls by the Court for replies to letters and for periodical statements overdue, that, not having had time to look into their records, they were not aware that the replies or statements had not been sent; the Court have been pleased to resolve that all Judges, Commissioners, Magistrates, and Joint Magistrates, on delivering over charge of their offices, shall furnish the officer who relieves them with a list of all unanswered letters, and of all periodical reports and statements which, having become due, have not been forwarded to this Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 25th Sept. 1835.

Judicial officers delivering over charge of their offices, are required to furnish the relieving officer with lists of unanswered letters, and of periodical statements overdue.

82. I am directed to desire that you will acquaint the courts, that in order to enable the Auditor to carry into effect the resolutions of Government of the 28th April last, and of the 19th ultimo, respecting leave of absence, the Honourable the Vice-President in Council has been pleased to resolve, that any officer in the Judicial department, who may obtain leave of absence, shall forward to the Auditor's office, certificates signed by the person to whom he may deliver over charge, and from whom he may again receive charge of his office ; specifying the dates on which he may have relinquished, and on which he may have resumed charge respectively.—Cir. Ord. 31st Oct. 1809.

Certificates to be furnished to the civil auditor by judicial officers obtaining leave of absence.

Reports to be made when a public officer quits & rejoins his station, or takes charge of the office, to which he is appointed.

83. The Vice-President in Council, having taken into his consideration the best means of preventing delay on the part of persons who may be appointed to offices in the judicial department, in arriving at their stations, is pleased to direct, that the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamut adawlut report to Government, whenever any such person, that is, any provincial, zillah or city Judge or Magistrate, or any Register, or assistant at the different Courts of judicature, may omit to arrive at the station, to which he may have been appointed, within a reasonable time ; due allowance being made for the distance of the place from which he may have been removed, and for any delay, which may have unavoidably occurred, in delivering over charge of his late office to his successor.—Cir. Ord. 17th Jan. 1806, par. 1.

Government will determine upon the penalty for delay.

84. On the receipt of such report, (which is to be accompanied with the sentiments of the court, by whom the report may be furnished,) Government will determine whether the person who may have made any unnecessary delay in joining his station should be considered to have forfeited his salary, under the rules passed by the Governor General in Council, on the 20th November, 1797, or will pass such other orders on the subject as the case may appear to require.—Cir. Ord. 17th Jan. 1806, par. 2.

This rule applicable to all judicial functionaries.

85. The Vice-President in Council further resolves, that the principle of the foregoing orders be likewise considered applicable to all persons in the judicial, revenue, and commercial departments, who may at any time obtain leave of absence from their stations, and that the courts and boards accordingly report to Government, whenever any such person shall neglect to rejoin his station within the period limited by the leave granted to him.—Cir. Ord. 17th Jan. 1806, par. 4.

Rule regarding inspectional tours.

86. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the lower provinces, having been vested by Government with the discretionary power of authorizing Civil Judges to make inspectional tours within the limits of their respective districts, whenever such may appear advisable, are pleased to give public intimation of the same, and to direct that, whenever a Civil Judge may consider it expedient to visit each, or any, of the mofussil courts subordinate to him, he will submit a report explaining the considerations, or circumstances, that may have suggested it, the object which it is proposed to effect, and the probable duration of his contemplated absence. On receiving such an application the Court will be generally prepared to accede to the same with the understanding that on the completion of such inspectional tour, the Judge shall report fully on all matters connected with the character, conduct, and qualifications of the Moonsiffs, with their mode of conducting business, and with the condition of their offices, so far as opportunity of forming a judgment on these points shall be afforded to him.—C. O. 5th Sept. 1845, par. 1.

State of business in the court to be reported with application to make the tour.

87. In forwarding applications of the nature adverted to, the Civil Judges will be expected to annex a statement of the business, both regular and miscellaneous, pending in their courts, and a memorandum shewing the number of commitments and criminal appeals awaiting decision at the date of such application.—C. O. 5th Sept., 1845, par. 2.

SECTION VI.

Zillah and City Judges—Duties of Assistants in charge of the Judge's Office.

88. In cases wherein the charge of the offices of Judge and Magistrate of any zillah or city may, from death, indisposition, or other casualty, devolve on the Register or senior Assistant on the spot, without any express provision for the same having been made, by the Governor General in Council, as specified in Section 3 of this Regulation, an immediate report of the circumstances of the case is to be made, by such Register or Assistant, to the Governor General in Council for his orders; and, till the receipt thereof, he is to confine himself to the discharge of the proper duties of his station as Register or Assistant; and to the exercise of such part of the powers of Judge and Magistrate as may be indispensably necessary for the immediate execution of processes from the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit; or of orders from the Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawluts; for preserving the peace of the district, or for such other cases of emergency as will not admit of delay.—Reg. 4, 1796, Sect. 5.—Cod. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 15.

Report to be made to the G. G. in C., when the offices of judge and magistrate may devolve on the register and senior assistant, from death, indisposition, or other casualty Duties to be performed by the register and assistant in such case till the receipt of orders.

89. Whenever the charge of the current duties of Civil and Session Judge of any zillah or city may, from death, indisposition or other casualty, devolve to the Assistant attached to the court; or whenever the Assistant to the Commissioner, Collector, or Magistrate, or any other covenanted European officer may, by the orders of a competent authority, take charge of the current duties of the office of Judge or Session Judge, (not being vested by Government with the full power of Judge,) such Assistant or other officer shall confine himself to the exercise of such part of the powers of Judge as may be indispensably necessary for the immediate execution of processes or orders of the Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, for the issue of warrants under sentences of the Nizamut adawlut, making returns to such warrants, and the transmission to the Court of the proceedings in criminal trials, and for the execution of the processes from other Zillah or City courts, or for such other cases of emergency as will not admit of delay.—Civ. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, Rule 1.

Rule for defining the duties to be performed by assistants and other officers in charge of the office of civil and session judge.

90. The Court propose, with the concurrence of the Judges of the Western Court, to inform Mr. Repton that it was competent to him, under the concluding words of the first paragraph of the rules for defining the duties of assistants in charge, circulated on the 6th February, 1835, to cause the execution of the decrees from which appeals had been preferred, to be stayed; taking the usual security from the party against whom the decree was given, if necessary.—Con. 1038, Cal. C. 19th Aug., West. C. 16th Sept. 1836.

Duties of assistants in charge of the office of civil and session judge.

91. Such Assistant or other officer is also authorized to receive any new civil suits of whatever description, which may be instituted according to the Regulations; to refer to the subordinate courts such as may be cognizable by them, and to proceed upon suits which are exclusively cognizable by the Judge, so far as to issue notice to, or summon the defendant, and receive his answer, as well as any written documents or lists of witnesses which may be offered by the parties or their vakeels, in pursuance of orders passed previously by the Judge: but no further, unless in any instance there shall appear to be urgent reason to take the evidence of any witness or witnesses in such suits, in which case he may take or cause to be taken the depositions of such witnesses under the general rules prescribed for the conduct of the zillah and city Judges.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, Rule 2.

Rule for defining the duties of assistants in charge of the current duties of the judge's office.

92. He is likewise empowered to receive any sums which parties may be desirous of depositing in cases of mortgage, or as vakeels' fees ; and pay to vakeels or other parties sums for the payment of which the Judge may have already given orders. He shall also be empowered to conduct, in conformity to the Regulations, any summary enquiries which may appear to require immediate attention and process ; to make the summary investigations respecting the indigence of persons desirous of suing in formâ pauperis, and the validity of security tendered by parties under the orders of the Judge or other competent authority ; to carry into effect orders passed previously by the Judge for the sale of property attached in execution of decrees or other judicial process, or to stay the sale of such property pending the investigation of objections or claims preferred : but it shall not be competent to the Assistant or other officer to hold such investigation, or to issue orders for the sale of such property, excepting when it may be of a perishable nature.—Ibid, Rule 3.

Idem.

93. I am directed by the Court to communicate to you their opinion, that you (an Assistant in charge) are competent to suspend the execution of an order passed by the Judge for the sale of property, if, in the exercise of a sound discretion, on a perusal of the petition objecting to the sale, you consider it right to do so ; but that you cannot hold any investigation with a view to ascertain the truth or otherwise of allegations or claims contained therein. With reference to your concluding paragraph I am directed to state that, on a petition of summary appeal being presented, you are not competent to make any enquiry on the merits of the case, but should merely record the date of its presentation, and let it lie over for the next coming Judge ; and further, that you are not competent to pay any money in deposit unless under an order passed by the Judge before you received charge of the office, or unless the payment be directed by an express order of this Court or of any other Court in execution of whose decree it may have been deposited.—Con. 998, Cal. C. 8th Jan., West. C. 5th Feb. 1836.

94. The Assistant or other officer in charge will cause to be prepared and forwarded any statement or reports which the Civil or Session Judge may, under the rules in force, be required to submit to the Sudder dewanny or Nizamut adawlut, or to Government, as the case may be.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, Rule 4.

Assistants in charge may give temporary leave of absence.

95. In continuation of Circular order, No. 131, dated 6th February, 1835, containing rules for defining the duties of functionaries in charge of the current business of the office of Civil and Session Judge, I am directed to communicate to you the rule that follows :—It having been determined by the Court that the power should be possessed by officers in charge of current duties, of giving leave of absence for a limited term, and when urgently required, to the vakeels of the Court, and generally to the amlah of the Civil and Session Judge's establishment, such power will in future be exercised by them with limited application to occasions of temporary absence, in cases of emergency not admitting of delay. You will be pleased to append this, as Rule 5, to the Circular quoted above, and to apprise such officers as may at any time receive charge of the current business of your office of its purport.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Oct. 1839.

Assistant in charge

96. I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that an Assistant in charge of the office of Civil Judge may summon parties charged with resistance of civil process, and examine the witnesses for and against the prosecution, and, if he consider the charge proved, hold the offenders to bail until the arrival of the Judge, who, under the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 9, 1799, must pass the final order.—Con. 1080, Cal. C. 16th March, 1837, West. C. 31st March, 1837.

may summon parties charged with resistance of process.

SECTION VII.

Zillah and City Judges—Reports on their Official Conduct.

97. In hearing appeals from the Zillah courts, every Judge of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall note, as each case proceeds, any points that may strike him as affecting materially the character of the court below; and whenever, at the conclusion of an appeal, any Judge may be of opinion that the proceedings of such a court have been either remarkably well, or remarkably ill conducted, it shall be his duty to make a note thereon for the consideration of the Court, collectively, at their English sitting. The Court will determine in what manner these notes may best be made available in the preparation of their annual report, for the expression of their collective opinion on the quality of the business performed by every zillah Judge—Govt. Notification, 20th Dec. 1836.

The S. D. A. in hearing appeals from the judges will note down whatever may affect the character of his court.

98. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut is hereby required to make a special report on the subject of any zillah, in which they may be of opinion that the state of civil business is such as to make it desirable for the sake of the public interests, that measures should be immediately taken to remedy the evil. In cases of less importance, it shall be the duty of the court to notice in their annual report any serious defect which they may believe to exist in the administration of civil justice in any district under their jurisdiction.—Ibid.

The S. D. A. will specially report on the state of civil business, when necessary.

99. In addition to the number of cases decided by each zillah Judge, the number of miscellaneous judicial orders passed by him, and the number of days employed in sessions business, which information is now given in the annual report of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that report shall in future shew the number of appeals, regular and special, lodged against such decisions and miscellaneous orders, the result of all the appeals of a like nature from each Judge decided on during the course of each year, and the number of days in which each Judge sat for the transaction of civil business.—Ibid.

The S. D. A. will shew in their report the number of appeals, and their result and the number of days each judge sat for business.

SECTION VIII.

Zillah and City Judges—Enquiry into their Official Misconduct and into that of Public Functionaries.

100. And it is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, whenever either of the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, either of the Sudder boards of Revenue or the Board of customs, Salt and Opium, shall be of opinion that substantial grounds exist for making a regular and formal enquiry into the truth of any imputation of official misconduct affecting any officer subject to their controul

If courts of S. D. A. or N. A., or sudder board of revenue, or board of customs, salt and opium, see substantial grounds for making a formal enquiry into truth of charge of official misconduct in any officer not removable without the sanction of Govt., they shall propose articles for investigation to be submitted to Govt. of Bengal, &c.

respectively, and not removable without the sanction of Government, they shall submit the documents on which their opinion may be founded, together with a statement of the charges reduced to distinct articles which they may propose to be made the subject of a regular investigation, to the Governor of Bengal, or to the Lieutenant Governor of the North Western Provinces, or to any functionary exercising the authority of Government in the North Western Provinces, as the case may be, according to the authority to which they may be subject, for his consideration and orders.—Act XXVI. 1839, Sect. 2.

Any such charge may be made direct to the said courts or boards, who shall examine the complainant upon oath, &c. and require the accused to explain or reply, &c.

101. And it is hereby enacted, that any charge or information, of the description aforesaid, may be preferred direct to either of the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, either of the Sudder boards of Revenue, or the Board of customs, Salt and Opium, respectively, who shall examine the complainant or informant circumstantially upon oath, or upon solemn affirmation, if he be entitled to be exempted from taking an oath, and require the party accused to explain or reply to any matters they may deem to need explanation and make such further enquiries, upon oath or affirmation upon the subject, as they may judge proper.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

And such charge may also be made before judge, magistrate, &c. for misconduct committed within their jurisdiction, who shall examine the complainant, &c. and transmit the deposition to the said courts or boards respectively as the case may be, &c.

102. And it is hereby enacted, that any charge or information, may also be made before any Judge, Magistrate, Commissioner of Revenue, or Collector, for any acts of the description before mentioned committed within their jurisdiction, respectively, who shall examine the complainant or informant circumstantially upon oath, or upon solemn affirmation, if he be entitled to be exempted from taking an oath, and shall transmit the deposition so taken to the Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, the Sudder board of Revenue, or the Board of customs, Salt and Opium, according as the person accused may be subject to those authorities respectively.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

The said courts or boards shall not act upon such charge unless the person preferring the same shall make oath or affirmation that he believes the facts to be true.

103. And it is hereby provided, that it shall not be lawful for the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, or the said boards, respectively, to act upon any such charge or information, unless the person preferring the same shall make oath, or solemn affirmation, in case he be entitled to be exempted from taking an oath, that he believes the facts on which the charge is grounded to be true.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

The said courts and boards respectively may dismiss any such charge, and submit the same as provided in sec. 2 of this act.

104. And it is hereby provided, that it shall be lawful for the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, and for the said boards, respectively, to dismiss any such charge or information, where they do not see any substantial reason for entering further into the enquiry. Provided, that on every occasion when they shall dismiss any such charge or information, they shall submit the same, together with all the circumstances of the case, in like manner as is provided in Section 2 of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

The said courts and boards may require the person preferring charge to give security for his attendance and for due prosecution thereof.

105. And it is hereby provided, that the said Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, and the said boards, respectively, may, at any stage of the enquiry into such matters as aforesaid, require the person preferring such charge or information as aforesaid to furnish such security as may be deemed reasonable, that he will attend and prosecute the charge to a conclusion, and in the event of security being so required all proceedings shall be stayed until the same shall be furnished accordingly.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

106. And it is hereby provided, nevertheless, that if any matter of the nature aforesaid affecting such officer as is mentioned in the second section of this Act shall appear in the course of any proceedings, whether preliminary or otherwise, which shall come before or be reported to either of the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut-adawlut, or any of the said boards, respectively, those authorities shall act upon such matter, or institute such enquiry upon oath or affirmation, as aforesaid into the same as they shall deem proper, for the purpose of such reference as aforesaid to the Governor of Bengal, or to the Lieutenant Governor of the North Western Provinces, or to the authority exercising the powers of Government in those provinces as aforesaid, although no charge or information be preferred as aforesaid; and in such cases it shall not be necessary, before acting upon or instituting any enquiry concerning any matter so appearing in the course of proceedings, to require any oath or affirmation in regard to the truth of such matter.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

If matters affecting any officer appear in the course of proceedings before the said courts or boards, they may institute enquiry for the purpose of referring the same to the Governor of Bengal, &c.

107. And it is hereby enacted, that if the Governor of Bengal, or the Lieutenant Governor of the North Western Provinces, or the authority exercising the powers of Government in those provinces as aforesaid, upon such reference as is mentioned in the second section of this Act, shall concur with the authority by which it may be submitted, or if such Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government shall from information of the description aforesaid that may be laid before him in respect to such officers as aforesaid, not directly subject to the courts or boards above named, deem it necessary to institute proceedings against any such officers, he shall appoint a Commissioner or Commissioners for making a regular and formal enquiry into the truth of the matters referred.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

If the Governor of Bengal, &c. upon such reference shall concur with the authority making the reference, or if he deem it unnecessary to institute proceedings against officers he shall appoint a commissioner.

108. And it is hereby enacted, that on the appointment of every such commission, the said Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, shall direct whether the commission shall be placed under the control of any of the authorities aforesaid, or shall act immediately under the authority of Government, and all commissions appointed as aforesaid shall be guided by the instructions which they may receive in this behalf from the Government to which they may be respectively subordinate.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

Commissioner to be guided by instructions from Governor of Bengal, &c., as to whether he is to act under the control of any other authority.

109. And it is hereby enacted, that the Commissioner or Commissioners appointed as aforesaid, before entering on the discharge of his or their duties, shall take the following oath:—"I, A. B., Commissioner for the purpose of (here state the object of the commission) do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and impartially perform the duty committed to me without fear, favor, or bias, to the best of my ability, knowledge, and judgment. So HELP ME GOD."—Ibid, Sect. 11.

The commissioner shall take the following oath. Form of oath.

110. Held, that if a Commissioner appointed under Act XXVI. 1839, have not subscribed the oath, required by Section 11 of that Act, before an officer authorised to administer the same, his proceedings are altogether illegal and invalid.—Con. 1289, West. C. 28th Nov. Cal. C. 10th Dec. 1839.

Otherwise his proceedings are illegal.

111. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a charge shall be referred for investi-

determine whether the conduct of the prosecution shall be left to the accuser or be undertaken on the part of government.

gation to a special commission, the said Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, will determine whether the conduct of the prosecution shall be left to the accuser, or be undertaken on the part of Government. In the latter case, the said Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, will nominate such person or persons as may be deemed proper, to conduct the prosecution on behalf of Government.—Act XXVI. 1839, Sect. 12.

Commissioner after receiving plaint, &c. shall call upon the accused for his reply: shall examine witnesses and receive documentary evidence, &c.

112. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be the duty of Commissioners appointed under this Regulation, after receiving the plaint or charge, and the documents from which the same may have been prepared, to call upon the person accused for his reply to the accusation; to examine upon oath, or under a solemn declaration, the witnesses named by the accuser or the accused; to receive any further written documents offered in support of, or against the accusation; and to call for and take any further requisite evidence which may be indicated by the witnesses adduced or documents exhibited by either party, and may appear to be necessary for the ascertainment of facts, or the discovery of the truth or falsehood of the charges, or of any part thereof.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

Commissioner under this act to be vested with same powers as zillah and city courts, except that all compulsory process shall be served through the zillah or city Judge.

113. And it is hereby enacted, that for the discharge of the duties specified in the preceding section, or any other functions which may be delegated to a commission under this Regulation, such commission shall be vested with the same powers as are exercised by the Zillah and City courts, except that all process to cause the attendance of witnesses, or other compulsory process, shall be served through the zillah or city Judge in whose jurisdiction the commission may be held, and executed by the zillah or city Judge in whose jurisdiction the witness or other person upon whom the process is to be served may reside.—Ibid, Sect. 14.

At the close of the evidence the accused and accuser may record observations in support of their respective cases.

114. And it is hereby enacted, that on the close of the evidence for the prosecution and defence, the accused shall be at liberty to record any observations upon the result of the enquiry which he may think necessary for the vindication of his conduct and character. The accuser or the person appointed to conduct the prosecution on the part of Government, shall also be at liberty to record any remarks on the subject of the prosecution which he may deem requisite.—Ibid, Sect. 15.

Commissioner to transmit proceedings to government, with his opinion of the merits of the case.

115. And it is hereby enacted, that as soon after the conclusion of the proceedings as circumstances shall permit, the Commissioner or Commissioners shall, when the commission shall be instructed to act immediately under the authority of Government, submit directly to the Government to which he or they may be subordinate, and in other cases to the controlling court or board, the proceedings under the commission, accompanied by translations of papers not in the English language, together with a summary of the pleadings and evidence, and his or their opinion of the merits of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 16.

Governor, &c. may, upon consideration of the report of commissioner, direct him to take further evidence, or give fur-

116. And it is hereby provided, that it shall be lawful for the said Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, or the controlling court or board, upon consideration of the report of any such commission as aforesaid, to direct the Commissioner or Commissioners to take further evidence or to give further explanation of his or their opinion or opinions connected with the case investigated, and the Commissioner or Commissioners are authorized and required to take such further evidence, and to give such further explanation.—Ibid, Sect. 17.

117. And it is hereby enacted, that the Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, or the board to which any report of a Commissioner or Commissioners may be submitted as aforesaid, after due consideration of the same, and after obtaining such further evidence or explanations as they may require, shall submit the whole of the proceedings and documents received by them to the Government to which they may be subordinate, together with their opinion whether any and what charges have been established against the accused.—Ibid, Sect. 18.

The court or board to which any report of a commissioner may be submitted, &c. shall finally submit the whole of the proceedings with their opinion to government.

118. And it is hereby provided, that whenever a special commission may be appointed, under the provisions of this Act, the said Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, will determine on a view of the nature and circumstances of the case, whether the accused officer shall be suspended from the discharge of the functions of his office; and if so, whether he shall be permitted to draw the established allowances of his office, or otherwise.—Ibid, Sect. 19.

When special commission is appointed, Governor, &c. shall determine whether the accused shall be suspended, and if so, whether he shall draw the allowances of his office.

119. And it is hereby provided, that the Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or authority exercising the powers of Government in the North Western Provinces, on consideration of the report and proceedings submitted to him in pursuance of Sections 16 and 18 of this Act, will pass such decision on the case as may appear to him most consonant to the principles of justice, and consistent with the powers possessed by Government in matters of this description; and in the event of his deeming it necessary that the party accused should be brought to trial, by a public prosecution before a competent court of law, will issue the necessary instructions for that purpose to the law officers of Government. But whatever proceedings may be held, or whatever decision or order may be passed by Government, individuals deeming themselves aggrieved by any public officer, will be at all times at liberty to seek redress according to the ordinary forms prescribed by law.—Ibid, Sect. 20.

The Governor, &c. will pass such decision as he considers most just, and if he deems it proper, may direct accused to be brought to a public trial.

120. And it is hereby enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to repeal the provisions respecting the dismissal and suspension of Principal and other Sudder Amceens contained in Section 26, of Regulation 5, of 1831, or the provisions respecting the dismissal of Deputy Collectors contained in Section 25, of Regulation 9, of 1833. Provided always, that it shall be lawful for the Governor of Bengal, or the Lieutenant Governor of the North Western Provinces, or the authority exercising the powers of Government in these provinces, respectively, upon any such reference as is mentioned in Section 26, of Regulation 5, of 1831, and Section 25, of Regulation 9, of 1833, at his discretion, to appoint a Commissioner or Commissioners for making such regular and formal enquiry touching imputations of official misconduct affecting any Principal or other Sudder Amceen or any Deputy Collector as he shall think fit, in manner as is directed by this Act, and subject to its provisions.—Ibid, Sect. 21.

This act not to repeal provisions contained in sec. 26, reg. 5, 1831, and sec. 25, reg. 9, 1833, respecting dismissal, &c. of principal and other sudder amceens and deputy collectors. Governor may appoint commissioner to enquire respecting alleged official misconduct of those officers.

SECTION IX.

Zillah and City Judges—Employment of their Private Servants on Public Duties, and vice versa.

All officers in the judicial department prohibited under penalty of dismissal from office, from employing their private servants in the execution of any public duty

121. The whole of the officers of Government, employed in the judicial department, civil or criminal, are prohibited, under penalty of dismissal from office, from employing, directly or indirectly, their private servants of whatever description, or any other persons, not being public officers duly appointed or nominated in conformity with the rules in force relative to such appointments, in the discharge of any part of their public duties, or in the execution of any public duty, in which the person so employed may not have been duly authorized to act.—Reg. 8, 1825, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Extent and nature of this prohibition

122. The prohibition contained in the Regulation above quoted extends to all individuals, not being duly constituted officers of the court, and the latter description of persons alone can legally be employed in the transaction of any official duties. The enactment in question, however, need not, in the opinion of the Court, be construed to preclude persons other than the regularly appointed officers of the courts from taking copies of public documents, with the sanction of the Judge and Magistrate, for the use of private individuals, at the expense of those who may employ them.—Con. 407, 11th Nov. 1825.

Parts of reg. 25, 1803, and reg. 8, 1825, not to extend to the employment of individuals not being public officers, in the copying of papers and proceedings

123. Such parts of Section 12, Regulation 25, 1803, and of Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 8, 1825, as have been construed to prohibit Collectors and all judicial officers from employing any persons not being public officers, duly appointed or nominated, in conformity with the rules in force, relative to such appointments in the discharge of any part of their public duties, are hereby declared not to extend to the employment of individuals in the copying of papers and proceedings, or in similar functions, for the due execution of which the proper officers must be held responsible. The rules however, contained in the clause last mentioned, and in Regulations 2, 1793, and 5, 1795,* prohibiting Collectors and judicial officers from so employing, directly or indirectly, their private servants of whatever description, shall remain in full force.—Reg. 3, 1829, Sect. 6.

The rules prohibiting, collectors and judicial officers from employing their private servants, shall remain in full force

And from employing any public officers on their establishments, (not being persons or other inferior servants) in the execution of any part of their private business, or private trust, relating to their personal concerns

124. The whole of the judicial officers are in like manner, and under the same penalty prohibited from employing any of the public officers on their establishments, not being persons or other inferior servants, in personal attendance upon a Judge, Magistrate, or other officer of Government in the judicial department, in the performance of any part of their private business, or in the execution of any private trust relating to their personal concerns.—Reg. 8, 1825, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Native officers in the judicial department, disqualified from public employment, under the prohibitions, referred to, to be immediately removed from office

125. If any of the Native officers, now on the establishment of any officer of Government in the judicial department, shall be disqualified from continuing to hold the office now held by him, under the prohibitions contained in the preceding section, he shall be immediately removed from such office, and a successor appointed to it, according to the rules

* The rules in these two Regulations refer only to Collectors prescribed in the existing Regulations. Any neglect of this requisition will subject the party committing it to the same penalty as that provided for in the foregoing section.—

Any neglect of the above requisition will subject the party to the same penalty.

Ibid, Sect. 3.

126. In all future nominations of Native officers by the Judges and Magistrates or other judicial officers, which may be submitted to the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit, under the provisions of Regulation 9, 1809, or of any other Regulation in force, the Judge, Magistrate, or other officer making such nomination is required to state explicitly, in addition to the information called for by the existing rules, that the person so nominated is not disqualified under the provisions of the present Regulation; and it will, at all times, be the duty of the Provincial courts to see that these provisions are observed; as well as to report any wilful infringement of them to the Courts of Sudder dewanny or Nizamut adawlut for the information and orders of Government.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

In all future nominations of native officers, judges & magistrates to state to provincial courts, that the person nominated is not disqualified under the provisions of this regulation.

Provincial courts to enforce due observance of above rules, and to report to S. D. A. & N. A. any wilful infringement of them.

SECTION X.

Zillah and City Judges—Prohibition of borrowing from, or lending to, Natives under their official influence.

127. All covenanted civil servants, in whatever department of the public service they may be employed, are henceforward prohibited under pain of dismissal from office, from borrowing money from, or in any way incurring debt to, any Native officer under their authority, or under the authority of any of their subordinate functionaries, or from or to the known surety, agent, relation, connection, or dependant of any such Native officer, or from or to any person of whom such Native officer may be known to be or to have been the servant, agent, surety, or dependant.—Reg. 7, 1823, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Civil servants prohibited from borrowing money from the native officers under their authority, and their connections.

128. In like manner and under the like penalty, all officers of Government being covenanted civil servants, are henceforward prohibited from borrowing money from or in any way incurring debt to any manager, guardian, executor, ameen, sezawul, gomashlah, farmer, motuwallee, or other person, who may in any way be officially accountable to them, or from and to the known surety, agent, relation, connection, or dependant of such person.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

And from other persons officially accountable to them.

129. All Judges of Zillah and City courts, all Magistrates, Joint Magistrates, Registrars and assistants to Magistrates, all Collectors, and Deputy Collectors of the land revenue, all assistants to such Collectors or other officers, exercising the powers of such Collector, are prohibited under pain of dismissal from office, from borrowing money from or in any way incurring debt to any zemindar, talookdar, ryot, or other person possessing real property, or residing in, or having a commercial establishment within the city, district, or division, to which their authority may extend.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Certain officers prohibited incurring debt to zemindars and others residing in, or having property within their districts.

130. All persons are prohibited from lending money, or otherwise becoming in any way creditor to any officer of Government, being a covenanted civil servant, in contravention of the above rules:—And any person lending money, or in any way becoming creditor to any such public officer in breach of this prohibition, shall forfeit to Government a sum equal to the amount for which he shall have so illegally become creditor.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Officers in debt contrary to the above rules, to report the fact at the expiration of one year.

131. If any officer of Government now in debt shall at the expiration of one year, from the promulgation of this Regulation, be still indebted to any person from whom it would at such period be illegal for him to borrow under the above rules, it shall be incumbent on such officer to make known the circumstance to the Governor General in Council; and in the event of intimation not being so given, the same penalty shall attach to the said officer, as if the debt had been incurred subsequently to the promulgation of this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Penalty for omitting so to report.

Officers receiving new appointments, if indebted to individuals, contrary to the above rules, to report.

132. In like manner, if any covenanted servant, who may be hereafter appointed to any office, shall at the time of such appointment, be indebted to any person with whom it would be illegal for him to contract a loan, while holding such office, it shall be incumbent on such servant before entering on the duties of the office, to make known the circumstance to the Governor General in Council; and failing to do so, he shall be subject to the same penalty as if the debt had been contracted subsequently to his being appointed to the said office.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Penalty for omitting to report.

Penalties to be enforced by prosecution at the suit of government.

133. Suits for the recovery of penalties incurred under this Regulation, shall and may be instituted under the special instructions of the Governor General in Council, and shall be conducted by the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, or by such other officer as Government may nominate for that purpose; such suits shall be instituted in the Provincial court of the division, within which the transaction may have taken place, or the lender may reside, or may possess real or personal property. An appeal shall lie from judgments passed in such cases, in like manner, as from other judgments passed in original suits, by the Provincial courts, and the judgments shall be enforced under the provisions of the regulations for the execution of other decrees of the civil courts.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

The zillah and city judge, collectors of public revenue and others, prohibited employing on their establishment any natives being their private creditors.

134. From and after the promulgation of this Regulation, no person, being a creditor of any zillah or city Judge or Magistrate, of any Collector of the land revenue or customs, or of any Agent for the provision of salt or opium, shall be appointed to any official situation on the establishment of the person those creditor he may be. It shall consequently be the duty of the Boards of Revenue and Trade, of the Board of Commissioners, and of the Courts of appeal and circuit, on receiving the reports prescribed by the provisions of Regulation 8, 1809, to satisfy themselves fully that the Natives, recommended to fill any vacancies on the establishment of the European officers acting under their control respectively, are not the creditors of the latter. With this view, it will be the duty of the said boards and courts to make full enquiries on the subject, not only from the officers from whom such reports may be received, but through such other channels as may be necessary to guard against any infringement or evasion of the provisions of the present Regulation.—Reg. 21, 1814, Sect. 2.

Duty of the boards and provincial courts in their case.

Foregoing rules equally applicable to relatives and dependants of such native creditors.

135. The rules contained in the preceding section for precluding the creditors of the public officers abovementioned from being employed on their public establishments, shall be considered equally applicable to the relatives and dependants of such creditors: the forme as well as the latter, shall consequently be equally precluded from being employed on the establishments of any of the public officers above described.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

136. Any Native causing himself to be appointed to any office in opposition to the provisions of Regulation 21, 1814, as hereinbefore extended, or in any way knowingly accepting office in contravention thereof, shall forfeit to Government a sum equal to ten times the yearly salary or allowances attached to the situation, to which he may be appointed.—Reg. 7, 1823, Sect. 7.

Penalty on natives knowingly taking office in contravention of the above rules.

137. The Judges and Magistrates of the Zillah and City courts, the Judges of the Provincial courts of appeal, and the Courts of circuit, and the Registers, to their respective courts, and their assistants, or other officers being covenanted servants of the Company and the Collectors of the revenue and their assistants, are prohibited lending money, directly or indirectly, to any proprietor or farmer of land, or dependant talookdar, or underfarmer or ryot, or their sureties, and all such loans as have been made in opposition to the repeated prohibitions of Government, or which may be hereafter made, are declared not recoverable in any Court of judicature.—Reg. 38, 1793, Sect. 2.

Covenanted servants of the Company employed in the administration of justice or the collection of the revenue prohibited lending money to proprietors or farmers of land, &c. on their sureties.

138. A bond taken from the respondent, a landholder in Ramghur, pronounced null and void, as being indirectly, in favor of the dewan of the Collector of the zillah, in opposition to a special Regulation ; and also as having been obtained by undue influence.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1806, Vol. 1, p. 165.

A bond from a landholder, indirectly in favor of the collector's dewan, null and void.

SECTION XI.

Zillah and City Judges—Correspondence with Suitors, or with other Courts.

139. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts, are prohibited corresponding by letter with parties in suits, process, or matters, depending before them, or coming within their cognizance. If a party in a suit, or a person amenable to the jurisdiction of the court, shall have any matter to represent to the court, he is either to appear in the court in person and represent the matter in writing, or make the representation in writing through an authorized vakeel. The court is to pass whatever order upon the representation may appear to it proper, consistently with the Regulations, and to direct a copy of the order to be delivered to the person making the representation, or to his vakeel, under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 19.

Zillah and city courts prohibited corresponding with parties in suits, or any person, respecting matters cognizable in the courts.

140. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts are also prohibited corresponding by letter with the Provincial courts of appeal [sudder courts] respecting any cause or matter before those courts, or upon any matters whatever on which they may not be specially empowered so to correspond. When a Judge shall have occasion to communicate to the Provincial court [sudder court] any information that may be required from him by the court, or which he may deem it necessary to submit to the court, respecting any matter or cause that may be before it, he is to certify it to the court by a writing under his official seal and signature.—Ibid.

Judges of the zillah and city courts prohibited corresponding with the provincial courts.

141. I am directed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to inform you, that it is the intention

Rule to be observed by civil courts in their communications with the S. D. A.

of the Court, in pursuance of Section 13, Regulation 6, 1793, to issue to your court, and the Zillah and City courts within your division, all process to parties and witnesses, and all decrees and orders of the court in causes, in the Native languages, but enclosed in an English precept.—You will accordingly adopt a similar mode of communication with the court; and, when you may have any information to certify to the court, or any return to make to the orders of the court, will enclose in an English certificate or return, copy of or extract from your Persian proceedings, containing the information to be certified, or the particulars of what may have been done in execution of the orders of the court, accompanied by the proceedings of the Zillah or City courts, and any original documents requisite, without English translates, unless by the special orders of the Court.—I am directed to add, that the miscellaneous correspondence of the court, not immediately relating to particular causes, or affecting particular parties, will continue to be carried on in English.—Cir. Ord. 20th April, 1801.

Extension of Circ. Order of 20th April 1801, to courts of appeal and zillah courts, in communication with each other and with officers of Govt. generally, on matters relating to pending causes.

142. The Sudder dewanny adawlut further desire, that you will transmit copies of their circular notice of the 20th April, 1801, and of the present notification, to the Judges of the several courts within your division; with instructions to observe the same mode of communication in their certificates and returns to your court, or to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, as well as in any applications they may have occasion to make to any other court, or to the Collectors, or other European officers of Government, for papers, information, or for any other purpose; in which cases, copies of or extracts from their Persian* proceedings, containing the substance of the application, should be enclosed in a short English address, requesting compliance with the application so made: or if it be a case on which the court is directed or empowered to issue an order and precept to any European officer of Government, the Persian* copy of such order, or an extract from the proceedings containing it (in the language of the record) should be enclosed in an English precept, under the seal of the court, and signature of the Judge or Register, requiring performance of the order so transmitted, within the limited time, or that sufficient cause be assigned within such period why the order is not put in execution.—Cir. Ord. 12th Oct. 1803.

In miscellaneous references to S. D. and N. A. by judges, magistrates, courts of circuit and appeal, a statement of the case to be submitted in the letter accompanying proceedings.

143. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamut adawlut being of opinion that whenever any proceedings, on miscellaneous cases, are referred to them, for their opinion, orders or information, whether by the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates, or by the Provincial courts of appeal, or Courts of circuit, a statement of the case, and of the point, or points, referred for the opinion or orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or Nizamut adawlut, should be invariably submitted in the letter accompanying the proceedings so referred, I am directed to request you will instruct the several Judges and Magistrates within your division to observe this rule in future; and that your court will likewise conform to it, when occasion may arise.—Cir. Ord. 27th Feb. 1812.

Judicial authorities to number all letters despatched from their offices.

144. As the practice of numbering letters which obtains in the offices of the Secretaries to Government, in this office, and in some of the offices in the interior, is not universally adopted, and as it has been found where it obtains useful in facilitating references to letters, without the necessity of recapitulating the subject of them; I am directed by the Court to request that you will, from the commencement of the ensuing year, number all that may be despatched from your office, in one continued series from the commencement to the close of the year.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 27th Nov. 1835.

* Persian has since been abolished.

145. The Governor General in Council directs that hereafter all servants of the Government, who may have occasion to refer in their letters to any numbered paragraphs of letters received, will, in the margin, state briefly the substance of the several paragraphs to which they so refer.—Every letter should as far as possible be made intelligible in itself, without reference to any other document for the elucidation of its meaning, and great inconvenience to the public service, besides that of delay, may occasionally arise from the letter containing the paragraphs referred to not being within the reach of the person to whom the letter making such reference is addressed.—Cir. Ord. 17th Nov. 1843.

The substance of every letter quoted, to be given.

146. In such cases, [that is, in all cases in which Regulation 5, 1831, has been introduced] the general correspondence and periodical details of establishments will be submitted directly to Government or the Sudder dewanny adawlut, without the intervention of the Provincial court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2nd March, 1832.

General construction. Details of establishment.

147. All references, which the officers in the judicial department may have occasion to make to the Nawaub of Bengal under the provisions contained in Section 10, Regulation 16, 1793; and generally, all other applications, which those officers may deem it necessary to make to the Nawaub, shall be transmitted to his highness through the channel of the officer holding the appointment of Superintendent of Nizamut affairs.—Reg. 19, 1805, Sect. 2.

All references to the Nawaub of Bengal to be made by the judicial officers through the supt. of nizamut affairs.

148. Held that a zillah Judge was not warranted in refusing payment of money to a party in consequence of objections urged to such payment, in the form of a letter addressed to him by an attorney of the Supreme Court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 4th June, 1836.

Correspondence of an attorney of the supreme court with the judge.

SECTION XII.

Nomination to the Offices of Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen and Moonsiff.

149. I am directed by the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council to request, that in all future nominations to the offices of Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen, including temporary officiating appointments, you will attend to the following rules as far as you can.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th June, 1838, par. 1.

Rules to be adopted by civil judges and commissioners for nomination of moonsiffs.

150. If the Commissioner and Judge, after consultation, agree in nominating the same individual, the Judge will prepare a statement according to the annexed form, and forward it to the Commissioner, who will fill up the head "Remarks by the Commissioner," sign the statement, and forward it to Government.—Ibid, par. 2.

151. If they should not agree, the Judge will still forward the statement to the Commissioner, who will state his objections under the head "Remarks by the Commissioner," and return it to the Judge with a similar statement of the person he would recommend. If the Judge should, on re-consideration, prefer the Commissioner's nomination, the Judge will fill up the head "Remarks by the Judge," and the Commissioner's statement, sign and forward it to Government; but if the Judge should adhere to his own nomination, he will return the Commissioner's statement with his remarks to that effect, and also state his objections to the person nominated by the Commissioner. If, on receipt of this, the Commissioner should adhere to his own opinion, he will forward both statements for the orders of Government.—Ibid, par. 3.

152. Under the 11th head of the statement it should be noticed whether the nominee is related to, or connected with, any and what persons in office, or of rank or influence, or possessing extensive property in the district to which he may be nominated, or in any other district; also the degree of estimation in which the nominee was held in the district in which he had been employed or had resided.—Ibid, par. 4.

153. Under heads 12 and 13, the Commissioner and Judge respectively should distinctly state what opportunities he had of making himself acquainted with the character and qualifications of the person nominated.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th June, 1833, par. 5.

154. It is expected that the Judge and Commissioner will seek and select persons, otherwise duly qualified, who may be known and generally respected to be men of integrity and high character.—Ibid, par. 6.

155. With reference to the orders of Government, republished with the Court's circular, dated 20th June last, in which it is provided, that "Candidates for judicial offices shall certify in their applications, that they are not engaged in any trading speculations," the Court are pleased to direct that in all nomination statements for moonsiffships sent up in future, according to the form prescribed by Circular Order, No. 88, dated 14th June, 1833, the Judges will alter column 11, the present heading of which is as noted in the margin,* in the mode following :—
"Certificate that the nominee is not disqualified by any Regulation, and that he is not engaged in trade or trading speculations," and will supply, beneath, the information required by such altered heading.—Cir. Ord. 2d Dec. 1842.

To whom communications regarding the appointment, promotion and transfer of P. S. A. and S. A. and reports of vacancies to be made.

156. Pursuant to instructions from the Government, the Court request that all communications heretofore made to them, on the following subjects, be, in future, addressed direct to the Judicial Secretary :—Appointment, promotion, and transfer of uncovenanted Judges above the grade of Moonsiff. Reports of vacancies in the offices of Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, and Moonsiff of the 1st grade, to be made direct, so that the Government may receive without delay all information necessary to make the required appointments. With regard to Moonsiffs of the 1st grade, a report is also to be made to the Court, to enable them to make arrangements for filling up the vacant office.—Cir. Ord. 27th April, 1843, par. 2.

SECTION XIII.

Appointment of Principal Sudder Ameens.

The G. G. in C. may appoint P. S. ameens.

157. It shall be competent to the Governor General in Council to appoint to any zillah or city jurisdiction, one or more Principal Sudder Ameens, with the powers hereinafter specified.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 17, Cl. 1.

Persons eligible to the office, and how to be nominated.

158. The office of Principal Sudder Ameen shall be open to Natives of India of any class or religious persuasion. The persons selected for the office shall be appointed by the Governor General in Council, and shall receive their sunnuds or commissions from Government, under the signature of the Secretary in the Judicial department.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

No person, by reason of place of birth, or of descent, incapable

159. It is hereby enacted, that from the 31st day of March, 1836, no person whatever shall by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be incapable of being a Prin-

Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Act VIII. 1836, Sect. 1. able of being a P. S. A. or S. A. or M.

160. And it is hereby enacted, that every British-born subject of the King, or descendant of such British-born subject, who shall be appointed a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff shall, in respect of all acts done by him as such Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, be liable to the same proceeding as well criminal as civil, and shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of the same tribunals as if he were not of British birth or descent.—Ibid, Sect. 2. P. S. A. and S. A. and M. if British-born subject, subject to the same liabilities as a native.

161. The Principal Sudder Ameens will receive such monthly allowances as may be fixed by the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 17, Cl. 3. Monthly allowances fixed by G. G. in C.

162. Every person appointed to the office of Principal Sudder Ameen shall, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his situation, make and subscribe before the Judge of the zillah or city in which he may be employed, the solemn declaration required by Section 2, Regulation 18, 1817.—Ibid, Cl. 4. Declaration to be made by the P. S. A.

163. Instead of the prescribed oath, which is required by the Regulations in force, the several Native officers referred to in the above clause, shall hereafter make and subscribe, in open court, or in the established public office, before the Judges, Boards, Collectors, Commercial Residents, and Agents, or other European authorities to which they may be respectively subject, a solemn declaration to the same effect with the form of oath heretofore prescribed, except that the word “declare” shall be substituted for “swear;” and that the declarer shall not be sworn thereto.—Reg. 18, 1817, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.—“ I, A. B., appointed to the office of Serishtadar (or other head officer, or Moonshoe, Mohurrer, or Nazir,) to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut (or the Provincial court of appeal for the division of ———, or the Court of circuit for the division of ———, or the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah or city of ———,) solemnly swear, that I will truly and faithfully perform the duties of the office to which I have been nominated, to the best of my knowledge and ability; that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzer, in money or effects of any kind, from any party whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court; that I will not knowingly permit any person or persons under my authority, or in my immediate service, to receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzer, in money or effects, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court; and that I will not derive, directly or indirectly, any advantages or emoluments from my office, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive.”—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 4. Oath to be taken by the registers and their assistants, and other ministerial officers, being covenanted servants of the company.

164. In pursuance of the orders of Government, under date the 22d ultimo, I am directed by the Court to request that you will cause seals of brass with inscriptions as below to be prepared and delivered to the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens of your district, charging the expense in your contingent bill.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 8th March, West. C. 15th March, 1833. Seals to be used by the P. S. A.

Sec. 11, reg. 2, 1821, and cl. 2 and 3, sec. 2, reg. 3, 1824, applicable to P. S. A. stationed at a distance from the zillah court.

165. The provisions of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1821, and of clauses second and third, Section 2, Regulation 3, 1824, are declared applicable to Principal Sudder Ameens, or Sudder Ameens who may be stationed at any other place than the fixed station of the Zillah or City court, or with jurisdiction within the limits of any magistracy, joint magistracy, collectorship, or deputy collectorship.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 17.

Nomination of P. S. A. on a vacancy.

166. On any vacancy occurring in a principal sudder ameenship, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall select and nominate to Government, the three Sudder Ameens best qualified in their judgment to fill the vacant appointment.—Govt. Ord. 30th July, 1836, par. 4.

Order of nomination, or indication of equality of merit.

167. In every practicable case, the rule with regard to order of nomination, or indication of estimated equality by brackets, laid down at the close of the second article, be observed by the Sudder court.—Ibid, par. 5.

P. S. A. must have served as S. A.

168. No person who has not served in the grade of Sudder Ameen, will be considered eligible for a Principal sudder ameenship.—Ibid, Note.

P. S. A. to be informed that the most deserving of those officers will be annually reported by the court to Govt.

169. You will be further pleased to take this opportunity of apprising the Principal Sudder Ameens, that a specific report containing the names of all Principal Sudder Ameens, whose conduct and proceedings may appear to merit that distinction, will be submitted annually by this Court to the Honorable the Governor of Bengal.—Cir. Ord. 7th Oct. 1836, Lower Provinces only.

P. S. A. and S. A. not to be appointed to districts in which they are in debt.

170. No Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen should be appointed to any district to the inhabitants of which he is largely indebted.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 26th March, 1832.

SECTION XIV.

Prosecution of Principal Sudder Ameens.

P. S. A. liable to criminal prosecution for corruption or extortion.

171. Principal Sudder Ameens shall be liable to a criminal prosecution for corruption, extortion, or other misdemeanor committed by them in the discharge of any part of their duty, and on conviction before the Court of circuit, shall be subject to fine and imprisonment proportionate to the nature and circumstances of the case, but no Principal Sudder Ameen shall be liable to be prosecuted for want of form, or for error in his proceedings or judgments, nor shall any process be issued against a Principal Sudder Ameen who may be charged with corruption, extortion, or any oppressive and unwarranted act of authority, unless the zillah or city Judge shall be previously satisfied by sufficient evidence that there is reason to believe the charge to be well founded.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 26, Cl. 5.

SECTION XV.

Appointment of Sudder Ameens.

Rules regarding the nomination of S. A.

172. The zillah and city Judges, in conjunction with the Commissioners of Revenue and Circuit, shall revise the present establishment of Sudder Ameens in the zillahs and cities to which this Regulation may be extended—and the selection and number of these officers, as well as of the Moonsiffs, shall be regulated in future in such manner as the Governor General in Council may be pleased to direct, the office being open to Natives of India of any class or religious persuasion.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 13. [The situation is now open to all; vide as above, Rule 159 of this Chapter.]

173. Similar sunnuds shall also be granted to all persons, who may be hereafter appointed to the office of Sudder Ameen.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 65, Cl. 2. [Since the promulgation of Reg. 5, 1831 it has been the practice for Government to give the order of appointment to the Sudder Ameens.]

Similar sunnuds granted to sudder ameens who may be hereafter appointed.

174. Every person, who may in future be appointed to the office of Sudder Ameen, shall previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his situation, take and subscribe an oath according to the form prescribed in the Appendix, No. 8, before the Judge of the zillah or city in which he may be appointed to officiate; but the Judge is empowered in all cases, in which he may deem it expedient, to exempt such Sudder Ameen from taking the oath, and in lieu thereof to cause him to subscribe a solemn declaration to the same effect.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 66.—"I, A. B., appointed to the office of Sudder Ameen of the zillah or city ———, do solemnly swear, that in the trial and determination of all suits which may come under my cognizance, and in the execution of all the other duties of my office, I will act according to the best of my abilities and judgment, without partiality, favor, or affection; that I will not directly or indirectly receive, or knowingly allow any other person to receive, any money, effects, or property, on account of any suit that may come before me for decision, or on account of any public duty which I may have to execute; I will strictly adhere to all the rules prescribed for my guidance; and I will in all respects truly and faithfully execute the trust reposed in me."—Appendix, No. 8; to Reg. 23, 1814.

Form of oath to be taken and subscribed by S. A. hereafter appointed.

A solemn declaration may be admitted in lieu of oath.

175. The provisions of Sections 9 and 10 of this Regulation are hereby declared to be applicable to the office of Sudder Ameens, as well as to that of Moonsiffs appointed under this Regulation; the Sudder Ameens are to hold their cutcherries at the station where the Zillah or City court is held, in such convenient places as the Judge may direct.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 67.

Sec. 9 & 10, of this reg. applicable to S. A. whose cutcherries shall be held in such places as the judges may direct.

176. The provisions of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1821, and of clauses second and third, Section 2, Regulation 3, 1824, are declared applicable to Principal Sudder Ameens, or Sudder Ameens who may be stationed at any other place than the fixed station of the Zillah or City court, or with jurisdiction within the limits of any magistracy, joint magistracy, collectorship, or deputy collectorship.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 17.

Sec. 11, reg. 2, 1821, and cl. 2 and 3, sec. 2, reg. 3, 1824, applicable to P. S. A. or S. A. stationed at a distance from zillah court.

177. In pursuance of the orders of Government, under date the 22d ultimo, I am directed by the Court to request that you will cause seals of brass with inscriptions to be prepared and delivered to the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens of your district, charging the expense in your contingent bill.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 8th March, West. C. 15th March 1833.

Form and inscription of seals to be used by the S. A.

178. On any vacancy occurring in a sudder ameenship, by death, removal from office, or other cause, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall select from the several district lists, (after calling for any information which they may deem requisite with respect to any of the nominees, and referring to the records of their own office,) and submit for the consideration of Rule to be observed on any vacancy in the office of S. A.

Government, the names of the three Moonsiffs best qualified in their judgment to fill the vacant appointment.—Govt. Ord. 30th July 1836, par. 3.

S. A. must be one of three moonsiffs recommended, and must have served as moonsiff.

179. In future no Sudder Ameen is to be appointed, except he be one of three Moonsiffs recommended for promotion by the sudder court, and unless he have served as a Moonsiff for at least twelve months previous to the date of recommendation.—Govt. Not. 4th Aug. 1846, par. 11.

Parts of regs. 23, 1814, and 2, 1821, rescinded.

180. Such parts of Regulation 23, 1814, and of Regulation 2, 1821, or of any other Regulation in force, as authorize Sudder Ameens to receive as a compensation in original suits and appeals decided by them, or adjusted before them by razeenamah, the amount of the institution fee, or stamp duty substituted for such fee, on the suits or appeals so decided or adjusted, are rescinded, and shall have no operation after the 30th day of April, 1824.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

S. A. to receive monthly allowances in lieu of fees.

181. From the first day of May, 1824, the Sudder Ameens shall in lieu of the fee and compensation abovementioned, receive from Government such monthly allowances as may be fixed for them respectively, by the orders of the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Mahomedan and Hindoo law officers not necessarily S. A.

182. The Mahomedan and Hindoo law officers of the Zillah and City courts, shall not be deemed Sudder Ameens ex-officio, but shall be eligible to the office like other individuals.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 14, Cl. 2.

Law officers eligible to Moonsiffships and in case of particular merit to the post of Sudder Ameen without an examination. Vide page 41, No. 227.

Appointment of S. A. vested with the powers of moonsiff at the sudder station.

183. I am directed by the Court to forward to you an extract of a letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Judicial department, in reply to a communication from this court recommending that the best qualified Moonsiff in the zillah should be appointed to discharge the duties of Sudder Ameen of the district, in addition to his regular duties as Moonsiff of the sudder or first division of the district. The suggestion having been sanctioned by Government, you will be pleased immediately to select the best qualified Moonsiff in your district, and to submit in the prescribed form through the Commissioner, a recommendation to Government that he be nominated Sudder Ameen of the district and Moonsiff of the sudder or first division of the zillah. On receiving the authority of Government to nominate an individual to this office, you will, agreeably to Section 15, Regulation 5, 1831, refer to this officer in his capacity of Sudder Ameen all suits between the value of 300 and 1000 rupees which may now be pending before any other tribunal. As Moonsiff of the sudder division, he will of course receive and try all suits not exceeding 300 rupees, provided the cause of action shall have arisen within the limits of his jurisdiction. I am directed to inform you that the principal object contemplated by this arrangement is to relieve the file of the Principal Sudder Ameen of your court from all cases between the value of 300 and 1000 rupees that are now necessarily retained thereon; and thus to enable that officer to afford you greater assistance in the disposal of the arrear of appeals pending in your district. You will therefore be careful to strike out of the file of the Principal Sudder Ameen every case under the amount of 1000 rupees, referring them to the Moonsiff or to the Sudder Ameen, unless any special reasons should exist for a contrary arrangement. On these instructions being duly completed, the Court request you will furnish a report on the arrangements you may have made, noting the number of cases that you have transferred to the file of the Sudder Ameen, together with any other observations that may appear to you necessary to be submitted for their information.—Cir. Ord. 3d April, 1835, Lower Provinces only.

SECTION XVI.

Sudder Ameens—Civil Actions and Criminal Prosecution against them.

184. Moonsiffs shall be liable to an action in the civil court for corruption in the discharge of their trust, or for extortion, or for any oppressive or unwarranted act of authority; and upon proof of the charge to the satisfaction of the Judge, he shall cause the offender to pay such damages and costs to the party injured as may appear to be equitable.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

Moonsiffs may be sued for corruption in the civil courts and liable to discretionary costs and damages.

185. Moonsiffs shall also be liable to a criminal prosecution for corruption, extortion, or other misdemeanor committed by them in the discharge of any part of their duty, and on conviction before the Court of circuit shall be subject to fine and imprisonment proportionate to the nature and circumstances of the case; but no Moonsiff shall be liable to be prosecuted for want of form or for error in his proceedings or judgments, nor shall any process be issued against a Moonsiff, who may be charged with corruption, extortion, or any oppressive and unwarranted act of authority, unless the Judge shall be previously satisfied by sufficient evidence, that there is reason to believe the charge to be well founded.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Moonsiffs may be prosecuted criminally in certain cases and liable to fine and imprisonment on conviction.

Process not to be issued against moonsiffs without previous enquiry into charge.

186. The provisions of Section 10 (as above) of the Regulation, are hereby declared applicable to the office of Sudder Ameens, as well as that of Moonsiffs.—Ibid, Sect. 67.

S. A.'s cutcherries shall be held in such places as judges may direct.

[The several Government Orders of 15th January, 1834, printed in this work indented as below, have never been incorporated with any law, but may be found useful for the information of suitors and the Courts.]

187. On the principles stated in the letter of the Sudder court, actions under Regulation 23, 1814, Sections 10 and 67, against Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens, for corruption, extortion, or any oppressive or unwarranted act of authority, which if proved, would subject the offender to pay damages and costs to the party injured, should be preferred to and tried by the zillah and city Judge, subject to an appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Govt. Ord. 15th Jan. 1834, No. 7.

Charges of corruption, &c. against native judges to be tried by the zillah judge.

SECTION XVII.

Moonsiffs—Rules regarding their Examination.

Rules for the Examination of Candidates for Moonsiffships, passed by the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council, on the 4th of August, 1840, and at subsequent dates.

188. That at each three zillah stations in the North Western Provinces and four in Bengal to be selected by the Governments of those presidencies respectively, there be appointed a divisional committee of examination, and their members.

sional committee of examination, consisting ordinarily, besides such person or persons as the Government may think fit, of—1. The Commissioner of the division in which the station is situated. 2. The zillah Judge. 3. The Magistrate. 4. The Principal Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen of the station.—Rule 1, 4th Aug. 1840.

Applications for examination when to be sent and to what judge.

189. That all candidates for moonsiffships be required to send in their applications for examination to a zillah Judge of the division within which they desire to be examined, at least two months before the examination to be held—but that no such applications shall be presented to the Judge who is a member of the examining committee.—Rule 2, Ibid.

The date of the receipt of an application for certificate of character, to be noted down.

190. I am directed by the Court to request (with reference to the second clause of the Rules passed by Government on the 4th August, 1840,) that you will note the date of receipt on every application for a certificate of character, which may be presented to you by persons desirous of becoming candidates for the office of Moonsiff. The date may be conveniently entered immediately under the application at the head of the tabular form.—Rule, 10th Dec. 1841.

Z. judge will certify that the candidate may be examined.

191. That the zillah Judge, after making such enquiries as he may deem proper, in order to ascertain that nothing exists against the character of the applicant to render him unfit to enjoy the privilege of examination, shall certify on the face of the application, that the applicant may be examined.—Rule 3, 4th Aug. 1840.

Examinations to be held once a year.

192. The Court are pleased to intimate, with the sanction of the Government, that the examination of candidates for the office of Moonsiff shall in future be held once a year, at its commencement.—Rule, 23rd Dec. 1842.

Mode of conducting the examination.

193. That the examination shall be conducted by the committee in such manner as shall from time to time be prescribed to them by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rule 5, 4th Aug. 1840.

Examining committee will grant diplomas to the successful candidates.

194. That at the conclusion of the examination, the committee shall grant to such candidates as they may deem proper, diplomas of fitness for employment as Moonsiffs, after such form as the Sudder court may prescribe, and at the same time forward duly certified lists of such candidates to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rule 6, Ibid.

This diploma will be a title to a recommendation for a vacant moonsiffship.

195. That the possession of such diplomas shall entitle candidates on application, to be recommended by zillah Judges, and Commissioners for vacant moonsiffships, and to be appointed to such vacant moonsiffships by the Sudder dewanny adawlut before any candidates not possessing such diplomas.—Rule 7, Ibid.

Rule in case there be no application from a passed moonsiff when a vacancy occurs.

196. That in case any zillah Judge shall, by reason of having received no application from a candidate with a diploma, nominate to the Sudder, to fill an existing vacancy, a candidate without a diploma, the Sudder court shall appoint to the vacancy any one from among the lists of passed candidates, who may be willing to accept the vacant appointment; but the Sudder court shall not delay the appointment for the purpose of making enquiry as to the willingness of any individual on the lists. On the contrary, if no application should be before them from any such person when the Judge's nomination may be taken into consideration by the Court, they shall, unless they be aware of other objections, appoint provisionally the candidate recommended by the zillah Judge, subject to his obtaining a diploma in due course under the following rule.—Rule 8, Ibid.

197. That in case any person not possessing a diploma, be hereafter appointed a Moonsiff under the last rule, he be required to present himself for examination to the divisional committee at the first examination held after the expiration of six months, from the date of his appointment, and that if he then fail in obtaining a diploma of fitness, his appointment be deemed vacant.—Rule 9, Ibid.

Person not having a diploma if appointed M. to be subsequently examined.

198. That after effect has been given to these rules, if the Judge of a district have good and sufficient grounds to believe, from any proceeding or other information officially before him, that any Moonsiff under his control not previously examined, is not sufficiently qualified to discharge in a proper manner the duties of his situation, he may, with the concurrence of the Commissioner, require such Moonsiff to present himself for examination before the divisional committee at their next meeting, and any Moonsiff, who being so required, may refuse to submit to examination or being examined may fail to obtain a diploma, shall forfeit his appointment, and shall not be reappointed to a moonsiffship until he obtain a diploma of fitness.—Rule 10, Ibid.

If the judge thinks an unpassed moonsiff incompetent, he may subject him to an examination.

199. The Court are pleased to direct that Judges, who may require Moonsiffs to present themselves before the divisional committee for examination, in pursuance of the 10th section of the Rules passed by the Supreme Government, under date the 4th August, 1840, shall intimate the same to the committee at least fifteen days before their next half-yearly examination.—Rule, 28th June, 1842.

Notice of fifteen days to be given to the examining committee.

200. The examination to be partly vivâ voce and partly written answers to prepared questions.—Rule 1, 8th Dec. 1840.

Nature of the examination.

201. The questions will be framed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, from the regulations and rules of practice, for the guidance of the Courts of civil justice, and will be forwarded by them to the examination committees, on the receipt of the prescribed reports, informing them that examinations are about to be held.—Rule 2, Ibid.

Questions how to be framed by the S. D. A.

202. The questions to be answered by the candidates, without reference to books or other sources of information, in the presence of two members (one of them being the Judge, or Commissioner of the division,) of the examining committee. The several members of the committee, however, shall examine the replies, and report on the eligibility of the candidates. Candidates will be at liberty to give their replies in whatever language they please, but it will be the duty of the committee to satisfy themselves, that every candidate who may be considered qualified in other respects for the situation of Moonsiff, possesses also a competent knowledge of the principal vernacular languages of the country.—Rule 3, Ibid.

Mode of examination.

203. After the candidates shall have delivered their written replies to the questions, the papers of a Moonsiff's case, which has been decided on its merits, shall be read by a Mohurrir seriatim, the final decree excepted, to the several candidates, who shall then be required to record, in any language they may prefer, their opinions on the points at issue between the parties and the manner in which the suit ought to be decided, agreeably to the Regulations and the law of the parties. The opinions thus recorded shall be examined by the whole of the committee, to enable them to judge of the capacity and intelligence of the candidates.—Rule 4, Ibid.

Candidates will record their opinion on the points at issue in a moonsiff's case.

204. On the close of the examination the replies of the successful candidates to the written questions shall be forwarded to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rule 5, Ibid.

Replies to questions to be sent to S. D. A.

Oral examination.

205. The oral examination shall be conducted by a full meeting of the examining committee, who shall examine each candidate separately by questions from the Regulations relating to the constitution, extent of jurisdiction, powers, and course of procedure of the courts of the Native Judges.—Rule 6, Ibid.

Committee will give diplomas to successful candidates.

206. At the conclusion of the examination, the committee shall, as directed in the 6th of the Government Rules, grant to such candidates as they may deem proper, diplomas of fitness for employment as Moonsiffs, according to the form furnished to them by the Sudder court, and at the same time forward duly certified lists of such successful candidates to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rule 7, Ibid.

Mode in which the mofussil committees will proceed regarding diplomas.

207. Diplomas shall be granted by the mofussil committees only to those candidates who may answer correctly the whole of the questions forwarded by the Sudder dewanny adawlut. Should a mofussil committee be of opinion, that a candidate who may not have answered all the questions, is otherwise eligible to the office of Moonsiff, on any special grounds, they shall forward the written replies of such candidate, with a statement of the grounds on which they consider him entitled to a diploma, for the consideration of the presidency central committee, who will decide whether the candidate shall receive a diploma or otherwise. This rule does not apply to the presidency committee, whose powers will continue as before.—Rule 8, Ibid.

Case of equality of votes in the committee.

208. When the members of any committee are equally divided in opinion as to the propriety of granting or withholding a diploma, such equality of votes shall be held to render the candidate ineligible.—Rule 9, Ibid.

No member can vote for a relative.

209. No member of any committee shall vote regarding any candidate to whom he may be in any way related.—Rule 10, Ibid.

2d examination allowed to the unsuccessful candidate.

210. Candidates who may be rejected at one sitting of a committee, shall be entitled, at the expiration of any period which the committee may fix upon, with reference to the degree of knowledge evinced by such candidates, when examined the first time, to appear a second time before them for examination: provided, however, that such candidates shall renew their certificates from the zillah Judge previously to the second examination.—Rule 11, Ibid.

Rules regarding the judge's certificate.

211. The zillah Judge, to whom application may be made for a certificate, shall, after making such enquiries as he may deem proper to ascertain that the applicant is a person of respectable connections, good character, and suitable attainments, certify on the face of the application, that the applicant may be examined. If, however, the enquiries made on these points prove unsatisfactory, or if the applicant be unable to produce credentials to his respectability, past conduct, and general qualifications, the Judge shall decline compliance with the application.—Rule 12, Ibid.

Form of judge's certificate.

212. The certificate to be granted by the Judge shall be in the following terms:—"I do hereby certify that I have satisfied myself that the bearer of this certificate, A. B., is a man fully fitted, by respectability and good character, to fill the office of Moonsiff; and, from the enquiries I have made, I have every reason to believe that he is qualified, from his past conduct, and general information, to enjoy the privilege of examination for the office of Moonsiff."—Rule 13, Ibid.

Farther rule designed to secure a higher standard of

213. By the third clause of the Rules for the examination of candidates for Moonsiffships, passed by the Governor General on the 4th August, 1840, the zillah Judges were required to certify as to the fitness of applicants to enjoy the privilege of examination. It appearing, however, that certificates of fitness were granted to applicants without sufficient discrimination, a particular form of certificate was enjoined by the 13th clause of the rules passed by the Governor of Bengal, under date the 20th April, 1841, and the points on which enquiry was expected to be made by the zillah Judges were indicated in the previous clause. The Court now deem it necessary to communicate to you the following remarks, which were submitted by them to Government, regarding the standard of character and acquirements to be required from those who offer themselves as candidates for the office of Moonsiff, and which you are requested to keep in view in disposing of applications for certificates: "The Court are persuaded that His Lordship will coincide with them as to the necessity of requiring a higher standard of character from future candidates than what the merely negative and equivocal terms of the certificate* serve to indicate. They would suggest that the zillah Judges be required in future to make particular enquiries into the situation and circumstances in life of applicants, and to give certificates to none but those whom, from their general respectability and intelligence, they consider calculated to do honour to the office of Moonsiff, and eventually to the higher offices to which, under the recent rules, a creditable discharge of the duties of a Moonsiff can alone render individuals eligible. A proper degree of care in this point, on the part of the zillah Judges, will obviate the necessity of the examining committee's paying attention to any thing but the acquirements and qualification of the candidates to which, in the opinion of the Court, those bodies should strictly confine themselves."—Cir. Ord. 17th Dec. 1841.

214. The certificate shall then be transmitted to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who, if they be aware of no objection, shall certify as follows:—"The Sudder dewanny adawlut, having inspected this certificate, are aware of no objection to the examination of the candidate." (Signed) A. B., Registrar.—Rule 13, 8th Dec. 1840.

Confirmation of certificate by S. D. A.

215. When a candidate appears before a committee, if they shall be aware of objections to his examination, on the score of character, they shall refuse to proceed with his examination, and shall declare their objection in writing, on the face of the certificate, and transmit it to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, for such orders, or for such further enquiry, as the Sudder dewanny adawlut may think proper.—Rule 14, Ibid.

Committee may refuse to proceed with the examination if they are aware of objections to the candidate's character.

216. I am directed by the Court to forward to you fifty copies of the form of application and certificate to be used when persons express an intention of presenting themselves before the committees for the examination of candidates for the office of Moonsiff, and desire to receive a certificate of their fitness to undergo examination. These forms, you will be pleased to observe, are to be filled up in English, and to be sent, when duly filled up to the Court, for transmission to the respective examination committees.

Remarks of the Sudder Court.

— Judge.

—Cir. Ord. 19th April, 1841.

Chief magistrate of Calcutta and certain of the mofussil judges may grant certificates.

217. The Chief Magistrate of Calcutta and the Judges of Patna, Moorshedabad, Dacca, and the 24-Purgunnahs, are authorized to grant certificates to candidates for moonsiffships, in the manner in which such certificates have heretofore been granted by the other authorities.—Rule 1, 20th May 1842.

Principals of colleges and schools may grant them.

218. The Principals of the several schools and colleges under the control of the Council of Education, are in like manner authorized to grant certificates to bona fide students of their respective schools and colleges, such certificates to be countersigned by the Judge of the zillah in which the school or college may be situated, after that officer shall have satisfied himself that the candidate is a fit person to be admitted to examination.—Rule 2, Ibid.—Where there is no Principal, the Secretary to the local committee should grant the certificates referred to in the above paragraph.—Cir. Council of Education, 18th May 1842.

Additional rules for certificates.

219. In addition to the usual remarks in the last column, all certificates shall bear on them the result of the Judge's enquiries into the character and respectability of the candidates, together with any particulars relative to their family and connections which may seem worthy of notice.—Rule 3, 20th May 1842.

220. No certificates are to be granted but to persons who may be inhabitants of or employed within the jurisdiction of the officer granting it.—Rule 4, Ibid.

221. Persons under the age of 21, are not eligible to examination.—Rule 5, Ibid.

222. In renewing the certificates of persons who have already undergone examination, the Judges are to mention in such certificates the number of times the candidates have been examined, with reference to which the Court will decide whether they will admit the candidate to re-examination.—Rule 6, Ibid.

223. No certificates are to be granted, as at present, later than two months before the half-yearly examinations, one month previous to which the Judges of Patna, Moorshedabad, Dacca, and the 24-Pargunnahs will report to the Court the number of candidates whose names are registered for examination.—Rule 7, Ibid.

Period for giving certificates.

224. Individuals whose names are at the head of the list of candidates who have received diplomas, shall, on refusal to proceed to any station to which they may be appointed, have their names placed at the bottom of the list, and wait their turn accordingly.—Rule 8, Ibid.

Penalty for refusing to go to a station to which the successful candidate may be appointed

SECTION XVIII.

Moonsiffs—their Appointment and Jurisdiction.

225. In modification of the provisions contained in Sections 6 and 7, Regulation 23, 1814, and Section 2, Regulation 2, 1821, the Judges of the Zillah and City courts, in conjunction with the Commissioner of Revenue and Circuit, shall revise the existing establishment of Moonsiffs in the zillahs and cities to which this Regulation may be extended, and the selection and number of those officers shall be regulated in such manner as the Governor General in Council may be pleased to direct, the office being open to Natives of India [vide Rule 159 of this Chapter.] of any class or religious persuasion.—Reg. 5, 1831. Sect. 3.

Rules for the nomination of moonsiffs.

226. The zillah Judges will nominate as at present, through the Commissioner of the division, to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, all individuals proposed for the situation of Moonsiff.—Govt. Ord. 30th July 1836, Sect. 1.

Zillah judge will nominate moonsiff.

227. With the sanction of Government, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower Provinces, are pleased to notify, that law officers of Zillah courts will be, in future, considered eligible to moonsiffships, and, in cases of peculiar merit, capacity, and long previous experience, to the office of Sudder Ameen, without undergoing the ordeal of an examination.—Cir. Ord. 23d Aug. 1844, par. 1.

Law officers eligible to moonsiffships without examination

228. The Judges of the several zillahs and cities shall on the receipt of this Regulation prepare and submit to the Provincial court a new establishment of Moonsiffs, whose local jurisdictions shall be so arranged as to correspond exactly with those of the thannahs or local police jurisdictions. They shall at the same time report to the Provincial court the name of the town or village in each jurisdiction, which may be most central, or otherwise most conveniently adapted for the establishment of each Moonsiff's cutcherry.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 6, Cl. 1.

New establishment of moonsiffs whose local jurisdictions are to correspond with those of the thannahs, to be submitted to the provincial courts by the zillah & city judges

229. The jurisdiction of the Moonsiffs shall have the same local denomination as that of the corresponding police jurisdiction.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Jurisdiction of moonsiffs to have the same local denomination as corresponding police jurisdiction.

230. The Provincial courts [the Sudder courts] are empowered to include two or more entire police jurisdictions within that of one Moonsiff, and to abolish any of those offices whenever local or special circumstances may in their judgment render it expedient : they are further at all times authorized to cause the cutcherry of a Moonsiff to be removed from the town or village in which it may be held to any other town or village within the limits of the same Moonsiff's jurisdiction, which may appear more convenient.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Discretion vested in provincial courts regarding the local jujurisdiction of moonsiffs.

Power exercised by S. D. A. of reducing the number of moonsiffships.

231. The Court have already in several instances exercised the power heretofore vested in them of reducing the number of Moonsiffs. To enable them, however, to provide for such of those individuals, who may be considered deserving, in the districts in which their services may be required, they request that you will immediately submit, in the accompanying form, a descriptive list of all Moonsiffs appointed under Regulation 5, 1831, who have lost their situations through no fault of their own, but in consequence of the abolition of their moonsiffships. You will be pleased to state distinctly in the proper column your opinion of the qualifications, character, and past conduct of each of the individuals, and forward the statement through the Commissioner, that he may add his own opinion on the subject.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 21st Nov. 1834.

Provincial courts empowered to increase the number of moonsiffs on the recommendation of a city or zillah judge.

232. If the civil business within the limits of a thannah cannot conveniently be discharged by one Moonsiff, as prescribed by Section 6, Regulation 23, 1814, the Provincial courts [the sudder courts] are hereby authorized, on the recommendation of the city or zillah Judge, to augment, from time to time, the number of those officers as circumstances may require.—Reg. 2, 1821, Sect. 2.

Judge cannot of himself transpose the moonsiffs.

233. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th instant, and in reply to inform you that the Court do not consider you [the zillah Judge] competent to remove a Moonsiff from one jurisdiction to another without a reference, through the Commissioner, to them.—Con. 832, Cal. C. 27th Sept. 1833, West. C. 18th Oct. 1833.

234. In pursuance of the orders of Government, I am directed by the Court to request that you will cause brass seals, one inch and a half square, with the inscription in Persian and Bengalee or Nagree, according to the current language of the district, to be prepared and delivered to the Moonsiffs in your jurisdiction, and charge the expense in your contingent bill.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 18th Jan. 1836, West. C. 18th March 1836.

Inscription of the seal.

235. In modification of the Circular order, under date in the Lower Provinces the 8th January, and in the Western Provinces the 18th March last, I am directed to request that in the Persian, Bengalee, or Nagree inscription on the seals which you were required by that order to prepare for the several Moonsiffs of your district, you will omit the word "thannah," and merely insert the name of the sudder station at which the Moonsiffs ordinarily reside, or by which their moonsiffships are respectively distinguished.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 15th April 1836.

Moonsiffs henceforward not to be paid by fees.

236. Such parts of Regulation 23, 1814, and of Regulation 2, 1821, or of any other Regulations in force as authorize Moonsiffs to receive, as a compensation for their trouble in the trial of suits, the amount of the institution fee, or stamp duty substituted for such fee, are rescinded, and shall have no operation in the zillah or city to which this Regulation may be extended from the date on which it may be directed to have effect in such zillah or city.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

237. From the date on which this Regulation shall be directed to take effect in any zillah or city, the Moonsiffs shall, in lieu of the fees and compensation above mentioned, receive from Government such monthly allowances as may be fixed by the order of the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Their monthly allowances will be fixed by the Governor General in Council.

238. The Moonsiffs appointed under the new rules will of course only be entitled to their salaries from the day on which they may take charge of their respective offices.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th July 1832.

Salaries of moonsiffs begin with their taking charge.

239. No person can legally exercise the judicial functions of Moonsiff until his appointment has been sanctioned by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut. Any decisions or orders passed in violation of this rule must be held to be null and void.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Nov. 1835, par. 1.

Moonsiff cannot exercise his functions till his appointment is sanctioned by S. D. A.

240. Every person who may in future be appointed to the office of Moonsiff, will be furnished by the Judge with a sunnud drawn up according to the form No. 1 of the Appendix to this Regulation; and previously to entering upon the duties of his office, he shall take and subscribe an oath according to the form prescribed in No. 2 of the Appendix. The Judge however is empowered in all cases in which he may deem it expedient, to exempt such Moonsiff from taking the oath, and to cause him to subscribe a solemn declaration to the same effect.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 11. [Since the enactment of Regulation 5, 1831, the Moonsiffs have usually received their sunnuds from the sudder court.]

Persons hereafter appointed to the office of moonsiff to be furnished with a sunnud and to take and subscribe an oath or solemn declaration according to prescribed form.

Form of oath to be administered or solemn declaration to be signed by the Moonsiff.

"I, A. B., appointed to the office of Moonsiff of _____, do solemnly swear, that in the trial and determination of all suits which may come under my cognizance, and in the execution of all the other duties of my office, I will act according to the best of my abilities and judgment, without partiality, favour or affection; that I will not, directly or indirectly, receive, or knowingly allow any other person to receive, any money, effects or property, on account of any suit that may come before me for decision, or on account of any public duty which I may have to execute. I will strictly adhere to all the rules prescribed for my guidance, and I will in all respects, truly and faithfully execute the trust reposed in me."—Appendix to Reg. 23, 1814, No. 2.

241. Whenever a sunnud may be granted to a Moonsiff under the preceding section, a copy of it under the official seal and signature of the Judge shall also be delivered to him, in order that it may remain permanently affixed in some conspicuous place in his cutcherry.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 12.

Copy of the sunnud to be furnished to moonsiffs and to be affixed in their cutcherries.

[The following Circular Order applies exclusively to the Courts under the jurisdiction of the Western Court of Sudder Dewanny.]

242. It having been brought to the notice of the Court that the attendance of some of the Moonsiffs at their offices is far from regular, and that in some instances it has been found that no cases have been decided by those officers for several days consecutively without any satisfactory explanation being furnished of the cause, I am desired, therefore, to request your particular attention to the subject, and to acquaint you that with a view to put a stop to so objectionable a practice the Court are pleased to direct the adoption, in every district under their control, of the accompanying form of statement showing the daily quantity of work disposed of by each of the officers in question, which will in future, accompany their monthly returns to your office.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 14th Oct. 1837, par. 1.

Revision of the statement by judge.

243. On the breaking up of their courts the Moonsiffs will cause the number of cases, regular as well as miscellaneous, brought before or decided by them during the day, to be entered in the prescribed statement under the proper headings, to which they will immediately affix their signature; and on the receipt of the statement in your office the Court request that you will carefully revise it, and, should the absence of any Moonsiff from his cutcherry on any particular day not be satisfactorily accounted for, or the quantity of work disposed of appear unusually small, that you will call for explanation and pass such orders in the matter as may seem to you proper, furnishing an abstract of the same in your monthly civil reports in the column of remarks.—Ibid, par. 2.

Repeals all regulations giving any persons authority by virtue of office to sell property for arrears of rent.

244. It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of May next ensuing, after the passing of this Act, all Regulations and parts of Regulations of the Bengal code, which give to any persons or class of persons authority, by virtue of any office held by them, to sell property distrained for the recovery of arrears of rent, shall, so far as they give such authority, be repealed.—Act I. 1839, Sect. 1.

Moonsiffs cannot act as agents for selling distrained property.

245. With reference to the circular of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, dated 3rd June, 1813, which authorizes the employment of the Native Commissioners for the sale of distrained property as agents on the part of zemindars, in distraining the property of defaulting tenants, I am directed to point out that under the operation of Act I. of 1839, withdrawing from the Moonsiffs the power to sell distrained property, and under the altered state of things generally caused by the present system, those officers can no longer exercise the authority contemplated by the circular, and you are accordingly directed to prohibit the Moonsiffs under your jurisdiction from acting in the capacity of agents under the circular quoted, considering that part of it which confers such powers as cancelled.—Cir. Ord. 24th Jan. 1840.

SECTION XIX.

Moonsiffs—Civil Actions and Criminal Prosecution.

Moonsiffs may be sued for corruption in the civil courts and are liable to discretionary costs and damages.

246. Moonsiffs shall be liable to an action in the Civil court for corruption in the discharge of their trust, or for extortion, or for any oppressive or unwarranted act of authority; and upon proof of the charge to the satisfaction of the Judge, he shall cause the offender to pay such damages and costs to the party injured as may appear to be equitable.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

Moonsiffs may be prosecuted criminally in certain cases and are liable to fine and imprisonment on conviction.

Process not to be issued against moonsiffs without previous enquiry into the charge.

247. Moonsiffs shall also be liable to a criminal prosecution for corruption, extortion, or other misdemeanor committed by them in the discharge of any part of their duty, and on conviction before the Court of circuit shall be subject to fine and imprisonment proportionate to the nature and circumstances of the case; but no Moonsiff shall be liable to be prosecuted for want of form or for error in his proceedings or judgments, nor shall any process be issued against a Moonsiff, who may be charged with corruption, extortion, or any oppressive and unwarranted act of authority, unless the Judge shall be previously sa-tified by sufficient evidence, that there is reason to believe the charge to be well founded.

—Ibid, Cl. 2.

248. I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th ultimo and its enclosures, and in reply to inform you that the Court are of opinion, with reference to Clause 2, Section 10, Regulation 23, 1814, that a charge of bribery, corruption or extortion against a Moonsiff is cognizable in the first instance only by the Civil Judge, who, after the requisite preliminary enquiry, will either give or refuse his assent to a criminal prosecution, which, in the former case, should be conducted by the complainant before, and be disposed of by, the Magistrate as in any other case of misdemeanour.—Con. 781, Cal. C. 12th April 1833, West. C. 17th May 1833.

Charges for corruption or extortion against moonsiff cognizable only by zillah judge who will permit or not a criminal prosecution.

249. The Court have reason to believe, that various complaints of a vague and unfounded description are too frequently preferred against Moonsiffs, with no other object than to throw suspicion and discredit on the character of those functionaries, who may have rendered themselves, no matter how, obnoxious; and that complainants having thus effected their purpose, designedly fail to attend and prosecute their charges to a conclusion. The interests of Government on the one hand, and justice to the accused functionary on the other, demand, that he should be allowed an opportunity of disproving, or defending himself from the imputation of official misconduct, and that the community generally should be deterred from bringing false and malicious complaints against such officers; and the Court are pleased, accordingly, to direct the attention of the several zillah and city Judges to the principle enunciated in Section 7, Act XXVI. of 1839, which principle, (notwithstanding the restriction of the law cited to investigation of matters implicating the public conduct of officers, not removable without the sanction of Government) is one of general application and beneficial tendency, and may be extended to enquiries into the truth of similar matters involving the character of Moonsiffs. It is the desire of the Court, therefore, that in all instances of complaints being preferred against Moonsiffs, the Judge, before whom such complaint may be laid, shall use his discretion in demanding security from the person bringing the accusation, to be in attendance until the investigation thereof be completed, whenever, on its primary institution, there shall appear reasonable grounds for supposing that the complainant is actuated by sinister and malicious motives.—Cir. Ord. 8th Sept. 1843.

When complaints are made against a moonsiff, the judge may demand security from the accuser to be present at the investigation, when he appears to be actuated by improper motives.

250. The Court direct me to add, that this is not to be considered as barring the right of the Judge to direct the vakeel of Government to prefer a charge of bribery, &c. against a Moonsiff, and to conduct the criminal prosecution on the part of Government, whenever he may deem this measure expedient for the ends of justice.—Con. 781, Cal. C. 12th April 1833, West. C. 17th May 1833.

Judge may order the Government vakeel to prosecute moonsiffs for bribery.

251. I am directed to communicate to you, in reply to your letter of the 14th November last, the opinion of the Court, that after you had enquired into the alleged misdemeanours and other criminal acts, charged against the Moonsiff, you ought, provided you saw reason to believe that the charges were well founded, (vide Section 10, Regulation 23, of 1814,) to have made over the case to the Magistrate, to be disposed of according to law, directing the Government pleader to prosecute on the part of Government.—Con. 1069, Cal. and West. C. 27th Jan. 1837.

Where the moonsiff is charged with criminal acts, the judge, if they appear well founded, will transfer the case to the magistrate.

252. The provisions of Section 8, Regulation 40, 1793, and other Regulations, which declare Native Commissioners, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs liable to prosecution in the Civil

S. A. and moonsiffs may be prosecuted both in the civil and criminal courts. court for corruption, or any unwarranted and oppressive act of authority, are not meant to prohibit a criminal prosecution, in cases where the nature and circumstances of the case appear to call for it.—Con. 64, 11th Aug. 1810.

SECTION XX.

Officiating Moonsiffs.

Judge may depute a person to take charge of the office of moonsiff on his removal by death or other cause. Powers of the acting moonsiff.

253. Whenever on the death, absence on leave, resignation, or suspension of a Moonsiff, the Judge shall be of opinion that inconvenience will be felt from the want of a person to perform the functions of Moonsiff during the interval required for the selection of a fit successor, and for the sanction of this Court to his nomination, he shall be at liberty to depute a person to take charge of the current duties of the office. The person so appointed shall confine himself to the exercise of such part of the powers of Moonsiff as may be indispensably necessary for the immediate execution of processes or orders of the Judge and superior courts, and will not admit of delay. He shall also be authorized to receive any new civil suits of whatever description, which may be instituted according to the Regulations ; to issue notice to or summon the defendant, and receive his answer, as well as any written documents or lists of witnesses which may be offered by the parties or their vakeels, in pursuance of orders passed previously by the Moonsiff ; but he shall exercise no other power in such suits, unless in any instance there shall appear to be urgent reason to take the evidence of any witness or witnesses, in which case he will without delay report the circumstance to the Judge, who will, if he deem it proper, direct him to take the depositions of such witness or witnesses under the general rules prescribed for the conduct of the Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Nov. 1835, par. 2.

Farther powers of the officiating moonsiff.

254. He is likewise empowered to receive any sums which parties may be desirous of depositing on account of the execution of decrees ; and to pay to parties or decree-holders any money, for the payment of which the Judge or other competent authority may have already given orders. He shall also be empowered to conduct, in conformity to the Regulations, any summary enquiries which he may be specially required to make by the Judge or other competent authority.—Ibid, par. 3.

Salary of the officiating moonsiff.

255. The person so appointed shall be entitled to receive the moiety of the Moonsiff's salary, authorized by paragraph 7 of the Rules passed by Government on the 29th January, 1833, (published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 2d February following) to be paid to a person who officiates for a Moonsiff.—Ibid, par. 4. [Vide also Section XXVIII. of this Chapter.]

Salary of the moonsiff in charge reduced.

256. Letter from the Sudder Court to the Govt. of Bengal.—I am directed by the Court to request that you will bring to the notice of His Honour the Deputy Governor, that under the rules cited in the margin,* an officer in charge of the current duties of a Moonsiff's court gets half the Moonsiff's salary, and an officer acting with full powers in the absence of a Moonsiff on leave, or during his suspension gets the same, which appears to the Court a very unequal rate of payment, with respect to the labour and responsibility of the two appointments. They would accordingly suggest that while the pay of the officiating Moonsiff be left at the present amount, viz. one half the full salary, or 50 Rupees per month, the remuneration of the officer in charge merely of the current duties should be fixed at a quarter of the salary of a Moonsiff of the lower grade or 25 Rupees per mensem, which the Court consider to be an ample allowance.—The Court do not recommend any alteration of the present practice with regard to Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, as the persons who officiate for them during temporary absence, are already in judicial employ as Sudder Ameens in the one case, and as Moonsiffs in the other, and are not therefore in the same predicament as those who officiate either with full or limited powers in the courts of the Moonsiffs.—Reply.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th instant, and in reply to request you will inform the Court that the Right Honourable the Governor of Bengal concurs with them in considering it would be expedient to reduce the remuneration allowed to persons in charge of the current duties of Moonsiffs' offices from Company's Rupees 50 to Company's Rupees 25 per mensem.—Cir. Ord. 18th Feb. 1840.

* Orders of Government, 29th Jan. 1833, par. 6 ; Court's Cir. Ord. 156, dated 6th Nov. 1835, par. 4.

SECTION XXI.

Rate of Travelling of Moonsiffs.

257. The Court are pleased to fix the general rate of progress at 5 kos (or ten miles) a day, Sunday excepted, with an allowance, in addition of one week, to afford time for the necessary arrangements being made consequent on removal, and as Natives usually travel a daily distance considerably in excess to this rate, the allowance thus made is considered amply sufficient.—Cir. Ord. 15th May 1840, par. 2. [Modified by Rule 10, of the Government Notification of 24th July 1846, vide Section XXVIII. of this Chapter.]

Rate of travelling fixed at five kos a day and one week allowed for preparations.

258. Such period of one week, with the addition of a certain time, calculated at the above rate, will thus constitute the entire interval allowed for transit, in the event of exceeding which, the functionary will be considered as absent without leave, and unentitled to any salary for the term of such excess.—Ibid, par. 3.

If this period of one week and the daily rate be exceeded there will be no salary for the excess.

259. Should an officer so transferred obtain leave for any additional period, over and above the licensed term, from the presiding authority in the district to which he may be proceeding, he will be subject to the usual deduction of salary for the time exceeding that allowed for transit.—Ibid, par. 4.

Any additional leave will entail deduction of salary.

SECTION XXII.

Uncovenanted Judges—Disqualification, Suspension, or Dismissal.

260. In modification of the existing rules regarding the removal of Sudder Ameens, it is hereby enacted that it shall not be necessary, in all cases, to require full and legal proof of disqualification, but that whenever a zillah or city Judge shall have reason to believe that any Principal or other Sudder Ameen within his jurisdiction is disqualified by neglect of duty, incapacity, notorious corruption, or other gross misconduct, he shall state the grounds of his opinion to the Commissioner of Revenue and Circuit for the division, and provided that officer concur with him in opinion, they shall jointly submit a report thereof for the consideration and orders of the Governor General in Council through the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department; and it shall be competent to the Governor General in Council, should he be of opinion that sufficient grounds exist, to direct the immediate removal of such Principal or other Sudder Ameen, provided however, that no Rules regarding the dismissal of S. A. and P. S. A.

Principal or other Sudder Ameen shall be removed from office, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 26, Cl. 1.

Rules regarding the dismissal of moonsiffs.

261. The above rules are hereby declared applicable to the Moonsiffs, who may be appointed under this Regulation, except that any report suggesting the removal of any officer of that class, shall be made to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who shall be competent to exercise the powers declared to belong to the Governor General in Council by the preceeding clause, with respect to the Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Judge competent to suspend a P. S. A., S. A. or moonsiff, against the opinion of the commissioner of the division.

262. Provided also that it shall be competent to a Judge of a Zillah or City court, whenever he may see urgent necessity for so doing, to suspend any Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, within his jurisdiction, without any previous communication with the Commissioner of the division; and in all cases in which the Commissioner of the division may dissent from the Judge as to the propriety of removing any of the officers above named, it shall be competent to the Judge to submit his own opinion to that effect to the Governor General in Council, or the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, as the case may be; such report, however, to be accompanied by a copy of the dissent which the Commissioner may deem it necessary to record on the occasion.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Commissioner of the division competent to recommend the dismissal of P. S. A., S. A., or moonsiff, contrary to the opinion of the judge.

263. Provided also that it shall be competent to any Commissioner of Revenue and Circuit to recommend, on grounds assigned, the removal of any Moonsiff, Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen; but every such recommendation shall be previously submitted through the Judge of the zillah or city, whose assent or dissent shall accompany the recommendation to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Governor General in Council, as the case may be.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Commissioner has not the power to suspend an uncovenanted judge.

264. The respective powers of Judges and Commissioners, regarding the suspension of Moonsiffs, are distinctly laid down in clauses 3 and 4, Section 26, Regulation 5, 1831: clause 3 expressly vests the Judge with the authority to suspend on urgent necessity; clause 4 of the same section also defines the power of a Commissioner to extend to recommending the removal of a Moonsiff, with the proviso that the recommendation shall be submitted to the Sudder dewanny adawlut through the Judge: as the Regulations do not therefore vest the Commissioner with the power to suspend, the Court are of opinion that the Commissioner in the case in question exceeded his powers, and should the Presidency court concur, this opinion will be communicated to that officer and to the Session Judge. The Presidency court, on the 7th November, 1834, concurred in this construction.—Con. 908, West. C. 10th Oct. 1834.

P. S. A. and S. A. and M. should be removed as soon as their disqualification is known.

265. It is of the greatest consequence to the attainment of the objects contemplated by the enactment of Regulation 5, 1831, that the persons filling the offices of Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, and Moonsiff, should be removed immediately after their disqualification by neglect of duty, incapacity, corruption, or other misconduct is known, and His Lordship in Council is of opinion that such disqualification cannot be concealed from both the Judge and the Commissioner, if they adopt the ordinary means within their power of ascertaining the sense of the community of the character and conduct of every individual filling these offices.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th June 1833, par. 7.

Judge on suspending a M. will make a special report.

266. Whenever a Judge has occasion to suspend a Moonsiff, he will make a special report of the matter for the information of the Court within ten days, and on the conclusion of the enquiry he will report the result. If the Moonsiff remain under suspension at the end of the month, the reasons which have prevented the conclusion of the enquiry will be detailed in the civil statement of regular suits for that month, and each succeeding month, till he is finally removed or restored to office, which fact will be noticed in the statement of the month in which it may occur, besides a special report of the case being furnished to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Nov. 1835, par. 5.

267.* With the sanction of Government, I am directed by the Court to inform you, that no Moonsiff, Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, who may be suspended from office, should suffer any deduction from his salary if restored to his situation. His locum tenens during his suspension will draw the allowance received under the Rules of the 29th January, 1833, by officers officiating for absentees; and this amount will be an extra charge upon Government.—Cir. Ord. 12th Feb. 1841, par. 1.

Salary of uncovenanted judges, not to be deducted, during suspension, if subsequently restored. Allowance of locum tenens.

268. If the suspended Moonsiff, Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, be dismissed from office, the whole of the salary should be allowed to the person who may have actually performed the duties of the office from the date of his taking charge.—Ibid, par. 2.

The whole of the salary to go to the locum tenens if the suspended uncov. judge be dismissed.

SECTION XXIII.

Uncovenanted Judges—Salary and Allowances.

269. Under the direction vested in Government by clause 2, of Section 12, Regulation 5, 1831, the monthly allowance to Moonsiffs appointed under Regulation 5, 1831, is fixed at Sonat Rupees 100 per mensem, inclusive of establishment, and 10 Sonat Rupees per mensem for stationery.—Govt. Ord. 1st Nov. 1831.

Salary of moonsiffs and allowance for stationery.

270. The monthly salary of Sudder Ameens is fixed at Sonat Rupees 250 per mensem, and 50 Sonat Rupees per mensem for establishment and stationery.—Ibid.

Salary of S. A. and allowance for his establishment.

271. Under the discretion vested in Government by Clause 3, Section 17, Regulation 5, 1831, the monthly salary of Principal Sudder Ameens is fixed at Sonat Rupees 400 per mensem, and Sonat Rupees 100 per mensem for establishment and stationery.—Ibid.

Salary of P. S. A. and allowance for his establishment.

[The three rules given above were subsequently modified by the following rules:]

272. In modification of the resolution dated the 1st Nov. 1831, which fixes the monthly personal and office establishment allowances of the subordinate judicial functionaries appointed under Regulation 5, of 1831, of the Bengal code, the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to direct that the personal allowances of one-fourth of the existing Principal Sudder Ameens, and of one-fourth of the existing Moonsiffs be raised in the proportions specified in the margin. The individuals receiving these superior allowances respective-

Salary of one-fourth of the P. S. A. and M. increased to 600 Rs. and 150 Rs. per mensem.

Establishment and stationery allowance of P. S. A. and S. A. and M., increased; three-fourths of the M. to receive 100 Rs. monthly salary.

273. His Lordship in Council is further pleased to augment the allowances granted to the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs on account of establishment and stationery as specified in the margin, and to fix the net personal salary of the Moonsiffs, not promoted to the superior class authorized by article 1 of this Notification at Rs. 100 per mensem.—Ibid.

Their salaries commence from the date of taking charge of their offices.

274. The allowances of all Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs, will commence from the date on which they may take charge of their respective appointments.—Govt. Ord. 29th Jan. 1833.

SECTION XXIV.

Uncovenanted Judges—borrowing or lending money within their Jurisdiction.

P. S. A. and S. A. and M. forbidden, on pain of dismissal, to employ any creditor or his surety, or any relative or dependant; or to incur debt to any person in their district or division.

275. The Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs are hereby prohibited under pain of dismissal from office, from employing or retaining on their establishments any person being their private creditor, or any relative, dependant, or surety of such creditor, and from borrowing money from, or in any way incurring debt to any zemindar, taloodar, ryot, or other person possessing real property, or residing in, or having a commercial establishment within the city, district or division to which their authority may extend.—Govt. Ord. 14th July 1834.

Any such officer, if already thus in debt, shall make it known to the judge, on pain of dismissal.

276. If any Principal Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff who may be now in debt shall, at the expiration of one year from the publication of this order, be still indebted to any person from whom it would at such period be illegal for him to borrow under the above rule, it shall be incumbent on such officer to make known the circumstance to the zillah or city Judge, to whom he may be subordinate, for communication to the Government, if the officer be a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, and to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, if the officer be a Moonsiff, and in the event of intimation not being so given the same penalty shall attach to the said officer as if the debt had been incurred subsequent to the publication of this order.—Ibid.

Any candidate for the office, if thus in debt, shall make it known in his application, on pain of dismissal when it is discovered.

277. In like manner, if any person who may be a candidate for the office of Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, shall, at the time of applying for such office, be indebted to any person with whom it would be illegal for him to contract a loan while holding it, it shall be incumbent on such person in preferring his application to make known the circumstance to the Judge of the city or district, for communication to superior authority as before stated; and failing to do so, he shall, in the event of his being appointed to the said office be subject to the same penalty, as if the debt had been contracted subsequently to his appointment.—Ibid.

278. The Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs, and the Mahomedan and Hindoo Law Officers of the Zillah and City courts, and of the Sudder dewanny adawlut under this presidency, are hereby prohibited, under pain of dismissal from office, from being engaged in any trading speculations.—Govt. Ord. 29th Dec. 1835.

Rule with regard to P. S. A., S. A., or M. who may be en-

279. If any Principal Sudder Ameen, or other of the officers abovementioned, shall be now engaged in trading speculations, or any such speculations shall devolve on him by inheritance, it shall be incumbent on him, within one month, to make known the circumstance to the zillah or city Judge, or to the Register of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and to terminate his connection with such transactions at the earliest practicable period. Should he be unable to do so within one year, he shall either resign his situation or submit a report of the circumstances of the case to the Judge or Register, who will forward it to the Government or Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, as the confirmation of the officer may be vested in one or other of these authorities; with his own opinion as to the propriety of allowing the officer a further period for the purpose of bringing his transactions to a close. If any of the officers abovementioned shall fail to conform to the above rule, the same penalty shall attach to him, as if he had engaged in trade subsequent to the publication of this order.—Ibid.

280. Candidates for any of the offices abovementioned shall certify in their applications that they are not engaged in any trading speculation; and in the event of their being appointed, and of its being subsequently discovered that they were so engaged at the time of making their application, they shall be liable to be dismissed from office.—Ibid.

Candidates for the office will state in their application whether they are engaged in trade, on pain of subsequent dismissal, if the information be withheld.

281. The Court are pleased to direct, with the sanction of the Government, that the rule in Section 2, Regulation 38, 1793, prohibiting public officers from lending money to persons within their jurisdiction, be extended to all uncovenanted judicial officers.—Cir. Ord. 25th Oct. 1844.

Uncov. judges forbidden to lend money to persons in their jurisdiction.

SECTION XXV.

Uncovenanted Judges—Possession of Landed Property.

282. In future, on the appointment of any Native officer on your establishment, whether the situation to which he may be nominated be of a judicial or ministerial nature, or connected with the police department, you will require from him a schedule of any landed property of which he may at the time be possessed, and at the same time explain to him that should he subsequently make further acquisitions of the same description, it will be incumbent on him to communicate the circumstance to you within one month from the date of the acquisition; should he fail to do so, or should it appear that he has wilfully omitted in his schedule any landed property belonging to him at the time of filing it, he will be liable to dismissal from office.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 27th Feb. 1835, par. 2.

Uncov. judicial and ministerial officers will give a schedule of the landed property they possess or may subsequently acquire. Penalty for not so doing.

283. All such schedules, which may be filed in your court, you will immediately transmit to the office of the Collector of the district for record.—Ibid, par. 3.

The schedules to be sent to the collector.

284. You will also consider the above rule applicable to present incumbents, and will accordingly call on the officers now attached to your establishment to file a similar schedule, explaining to them the nature of the penalty attached to wilful concealment.—Ibid, par. 4.

This rule applicable to present incumbents.

285. In continuation of the Circular order of the 27th February last, the Court hereby direct that the schedule required by that Circular order shall include not only land the proprietary right of which may be vested in the public officer to whom it may relate, but any land or other real property, whatever may be the nature of the tenure by which he may hold it, the description of tenure being also recorded in the schedule.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 29th May, Cal. C. 3d July 1835.

The schedule will include all lands by whatever kind of tenure they may be held.

Where the schedule is to be registered; copies to be sent to the collector.

286. (Lower Provinces.) The schedule will be registered in the office to which the individual giving it in may be subordinate (in the Western Provinces in the office of the Collector of the zillah in which the officer may be employed); and copies will be sent to the Collectors in whose districts the property specified may be situated.—Ibid.

Orders of the C. of D. on this subject.

287. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower Provinces, are pleased to publish, for the information and guidance of the zillah and city Judges and their judicial subordinates, an extract (paragraph 53*) of a despatch from the Honourable the Court of Directors No. 2, of 1842, dated 23d February and to communicate the following instructions on the subject to which it relates.—Cir. Ord. 5th Sept. 1845, par. 1.

The rule to be applicable only when the property is so considerable as to give the proprietor a predominating local influence, and to divert the attention of the native judges, and interfere with their impartiality.

288. The rule prescribed in the despatch cited, has not been hitherto enforced in the judicial department, and it might perhaps be deemed a measure of unnecessary severity to give it generally retrospective effect, without enquiring as to the circumstances, character, and conduct of the parties, who might be affected thereby. With regard therefore to present incumbents in judicial office, who are already in possession of landed property, whether patrimonial, purchased or otherwise acquired, it is not the desire or intention of the Court to exercise any interference, except where the extent of the property may be so considerable, as to give to the possessor a preponderating local influence, and induce him, for the protection of his own best interests, to engage in undertakings, and become a party to speculations and transactions which may divert his attention from his official duties, and at the same time, incapacitate him for their impartial and unbiassed fulfilment. In such cases, where the inconvenience and injury may be patent to common observation, it will be the duty of the Civil Judges to report the circumstances for the information of the Court, and for eventual submission for the orders of Government, in regard to those functionaries who are not subject to removal from office without the sanction of Government.—Ibid, par. 2.

Spirit of the rule of the C. of D. to apply to present incumbents. Future acquisition of land, or speculations, interdicted.

289. Further, as regards present incumbents, the Court are pleased, with the sanction of Government, to direct that the spirit of the rule prescribed by the Honourable the Court of Directors shall be observed, and that the future acquisition by those parties of landed property by purchase, or other means, such as farm, gift, or mortgage, and speculations of every description therein, within the limits of the district, to which such parties, whether Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, or Moonsiffs, may belong shall be considered interdicted. It will be incumbent on the Civil Judges to bring to the immediate notice of the Court any contravention of this restrictive rule, which may come to their knowledge.—Ibid, par. 3.

The possession of land in the district a disqualification for the judicial office, except where the landed property is very small.

290. In future, as a general rule, individuals possessing landed property, whether patrimonial, purchased, or other, or being engaged in speculations therein, will be considered ineligible for appointment to judicial office, within the limits of the district in which the said property may be situated; but the Civil Judges need not be thereby deterred from nominating such persons whenever the extent of land may be so small, as in their estimation to render the circumstance no objection to their employment in the district to which it appertains, a discretionary power to this extent having been reserved to the Sudder dewanny adawlut in such cases.—Ibid, par. 4.

* "We direct the invariable observance of the rule of the service, that no officer holding civil authority in a district shall directly or indirectly be a holder of land or be concerned in any description of speculation therein."

291. It will not be difficult to check any contravention of the rules hereinbefore prescribed, ed, by enforcing obedience to the instructions contained in the Circular orders enumerated in the margin.—Ibid, par. 5.

C. O. 135, S. D. A. dated 27th Feb. 1835; C. O. 144, S. D. A. dated W. P. 10th April and L. P. 4th Sept. 1835.
C. O. 148, S. D. A. dated W. P. 29th May and L. P. 3d July, 1836.

Reference to other C. O. on this subject.

SECTION XXVI.

Uncovenanted Judges—Applications for Promotion.

292. The rules published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 30th July, 1836, provide for the promotion of every class of Native Judges according to their merits and qualifications. The Court have, notwithstanding, received numerous direct applications for promotion to vacancies, accompanied with original testimonials which required to be returned to the applicants. They have deemed it proper, therefore, to issue the following instructions, which you are requested to communicate to the subordinate judicial officers of your district.—Cir. Ord. 6th March 1840, par. 1.

Instructions regarding application for promotion.

293. Under the rules laid down by the Government, a record is kept in this office of the past services, merits, and qualifications of the Native judicial officers of every class; and the authorities in charge of districts have been strictly enjoined to bring to the notice of the Court, in their annual civil reports, the names of those officers who have most exerted themselves within the year, and whose decisions and general conduct have proved most satisfactory. On the occurrence of a vacancy in any class of Native Judges, the claims of every officer are taken into consideration, and arrangements made accordingly.—Ibid, par. 2.

A record is kept of the services and merit of uncov. judges, and the judges are directed to bring the most meritorious to the notice of the S. D. A.

294. Although the observance of these rules renders it unnecessary for the Native judicial officers to bring forward their claims individually, still it should be understood that every officer is entitled to make such representations as he may think conducive to his interests to the superior authorities; and it will be incumbent on you to forward any representations of this nature which those parties may desire to submit through the channel of your office, for the information and consideration of the Sudder court.—Ibid, par. 3.

Every officer entitled to make representations conducive to his interest, and judges required to forward them.

295. The Court are further pleased to resolve that a similar indulgence should be extended to Moonsiffs and such other functionaries as may have lost their situations on the abolition of the old system, or on the reduction of temporary offices in which they may have been employed, and who may be desirous of stating their hopes or expectations to the Court.—Ibid, par. 4.

Some indulgence given to moonsiffs who have lost their situations by a change of system.

296. Any application however which may hereafter be forwarded by any Native Judges, direct to the Court, will not be answered; and no documents which may be received with such applications will be returned; except upon the application of the party, presented in the prescribed form and manner.—Ibid, par. 5.

Uncov. judges forbidden to make application to S. D. A.

297. Under instructions from the Right Honourable the Governor of Bengal, I am directed to request, that you will abstain from forwarding to Government, representations from the uncovenanted Judges, or officers attached to your court, relating to their services; it being the wish of His Lordship, that all persons desirous of bringing their claims prominently to the notice of Government, should do so themselves by the public post.—Cir. Ord. 30th Oct. 1840, par. 1.

Judges forbidden to forward such applications. The applicants will themselves forward them to government by post.

This order does not however rescind two previous orders.

298. You will not, of course, consider this order as rescinding the Circular orders No. 215, of the 29th September, 1837, [Rule 345 of this Chapter] and No. 909, of the 6th March, 1840. [Rules 292—296.—Cir. Ord. 30th Oct. 1840.]

SECTION XXVII.

Uncovenanted Judges—Leave of Absence and Deduction of Allowances.

Application for leave of absence from uncov. judge to be addressed to the judge, who will forward it with his opinion. Leave may be granted by the judge on an emergency.

299. Applications for leave of absence on private affairs will be addressed by Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs, to the Judge of the district, who, if he think proper, may refuse the application. If, on the other hand, he is of opinion that it should be granted, he will forward it to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, enclosed in a letter from himself, stating the cause of the application, and the grounds of his recommendation, and accompanied by a statement shewing the amount of business pending in the court of the applicant. In cases of emergency, the Judge may himself grant the leave immediately, reporting the circumstance to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Govt. Ord. 29th Jan. 1833.

Moonsiffs requiring temporary leave, expected to avail themselves of the authorized vacations.

300. The Court have had frequent applications from Moonsiffs for leave of absence on private affairs, compliance with which is attended with great interruption to public business, as it is seldom possible to make arrangements for carrying on the duties of officers absent for short periods. They deem it necessary therefore to declare their expectation that Moonsiffs, who may require temporary leave of absence from their stations for any private purpose, will avail themselves of the periods of the authorized vacations, including the minor holidays, when the adjournments of the Civil courts admit of their doing so without public inconvenience. Applications of the kind at other periods, the Court will feel themselves compelled to reject, except in cases of indispensable necessity.—Cir. Ord. 19th Feb. 1847.

Application from P. S. A. and S. A. to be sent by them to the judicial secretary.

301. Pursuant to instructions from the Government, the Court request that all communications, heretofore made to them, on the following subject, be in future addressed direct to the Judicial Secretary :—Application for leave of absence, whether on the part of the Judges themselves or on the part of the Principal Sudder Ameens, and Sudder Ameens.—Cir. Ord. 27th April, 1843, par. 1.

This rule reiterated.

302. Several references having been made to this office by the local authorities, regarding leave of absence to Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, for the periods of the Dusserrah and Mohurram vacations, in contravention of the 1st rule of the Circular order No. 9, of the 27th April last, I am directed by the Court to call your attention to the provisions of the order cited, and to request that all such reports be, in future, made direct to the Government.—Cir. Ord. 1st March 1844.

Application from moonsiffs to be accompanied by a statement of the period elapsed since the last leave.

303. The Court direct that the Civil Judges in submitting applications from the Moonsiffs for leave of absence, do invariably state the interval that may have elapsed since the applicant was last absent from his post, with a view to enable the Court to judge of his claim to the solicited indulgence.—Cir. Ord. 22d April 1844.

S. D. A. will pass orders on the application of Moonsiffs.

304. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will pass orders on the application of Moonsiffs for leave of absence.—Govt. Ord. 29th Jan. 1833.

Rules regarding the

305. Several instances of Moonsiffs having left their stations without leave, having been brought to the notice of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and applications for leave being frequently submitted so late as to preclude the possibility of the Court's orders thereon being received before the day on which the solicited leave is to commence, the Court are pleased to direct, that except in cases of sudden and severe illness, Moonsiffs shall not be permitted to quit their stations without leave. Should sudden and severe illness render a Moonsiff's remaining at his post dangerous, he may be permitted to leave it, reporting the same to the Judge; but, in such cases he must furnish, at the earliest opportunity, a medical certificate, which shall certify whether or no the emergency was such as to make the departure of the Moonsiff, without waiting for permission, necessary to the restoration of his health. The Judge will submit all such certificates for the orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and state the period for which he would recommend leave of absence being granted to the sick incumbent, and also, what arrangement he proposes for the discharge of the duties of the Moonsiff's office pending his absence. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut further direct, that, except in cases of sudden emergency rendering an earlier application impracticable, Judges will refuse to transmit to the Court applications for leave of absence which may not be received by them in full time to admit of the Court's orders thereon being received, and communicated to the Moonsiff on or before the date on which it is proposed the leave shall commence. In the event of the sudden emergency alluded to arising, Judges may use their discretion in granting the leave applied for, reporting the same to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. Moonsiffs, who shall leave their stations without permission, except as herein permitted, will render themselves liable to immediate dismissal. This circular is not to be understood as interfering with the rules in force regarding the leave of absence to Moonsiffs, and others, during the Mohurram and Dusserah vacations.—Cir. Ord. 25th April 1845.

Govt. Ord. 29th Jan. 1833.

307. If the absence of the Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, exceed one month, and the state of the file of the absentee require provision to be made for the discharge of his duty during his absence, the individual appointed to act for the absentee shall receive during the period he remains in office, half of the fixed salary of the situation, together with the whole of the allowance for establishment, stationery, &c. The remaining half of the fixed salary, is all which during such period the fixed incumbent will be entitled to.—Ibid.
If their absence exceed a month, their locum tenens will receive half the salary, and the whole of the allowance for stationery, &c.

308. Any person deputed to take charge of the current duties of a Moonsiff's office shall be entitled to receive a-fourth of the Moonsiff's salary or 25 Rupees per mensem.—Cir. Ord. 6th March 1840.
Any one in charge of the current duties of M. will receive a quarter of his salary.

309. The increased allowance to Principal Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs authorized by the order of Government of the 2nd October, 1837, on the ground of merit and services, is to be considered entirely personal, no part of which is to be allowed to persons officiating for absentees in the receipt of such increased allowances. Whenever a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, may be absent from his station on leave, the amlah on the establishment of such officer shall not suffer any deduction from their fixed allowances.—Govt. Ord. 12th March 1839.
The locum tenens will not receive any portion of the increased allowances of P. S. A. and M. Their amlahs' salary will not be touched.

SECTION. XXVIII.

Uncovenanted Judges—Consolidated Rules regarding Leave of Absence, and Acting Allowances of the Uncovenanted Service.

Consolidated rules regarding leave of absence and acting allowances of the uncovenanted service.

310. The following Rules for regulating leave of absence and acting allowances to public officers in India, not in the covenanted service of the East India Company, have been passed by the Honourable the President in Council with the concurrence of the Right Honourable the Governor General, and are published for general information.—Govt. Not. 24th July 1846.

Heads of office may grant leave to subordinates during the ordinary vacations without reporting it.

311. Heads of offices and departments may grant to their subordinates leave of absence, without deduction from salary, during the vacations authorized by Government in each department, and it shall not be necessary to report the same to any higher authority.—Ibid, Rule 1.

Local government will grant leave on private affairs for six months on a deduction of one-half the salary.

312. In addition to the above, the local Government will, at the recommendation of the head of a department and on sufficient cause being shown, grant special leave of absence on private affairs, for not more than six months, to any place within the limits of the East India Company's charter, one-half of the absentee's salary being deducted for such period of absence.

Ibid, Rule 2.

And leave on medical certificate for one year on half pay.

313. The local Government will also grant leave of absence, on medical certificate, for any period not exceeding one year, to any place within the limits of the East India Company's charter, one-half of the absentee's salary being deducted for such period of absence.—Ibid, Rule 3.

In case of emergency the heads of office may grant leave on medical certificate for a month, on half pay.

314. In cases of extreme urgency the heads of offices are authorized to grant leave of absence, on medical certificate, to the extent of a month, subject to the deduction specified in the preceding Rule, reporting the same to Government for sanction.—Ibid, Rule 4.

If the leave in rule 3, do not extend to a year, it may be extended subsequently on med. certificate.

315. If the period of leave granted under Rule 3, be less than one year, the Government will extend the same, whether continuously or otherwise, to the full period allowed by the Rule, on the production of a medical certificate shewing the necessity for such an extension.—Ibid, Rule 5.

After a year's leave, no farther leave till after three years.

316. But after the enjoyment of a full year's leave on medical certificate, whether continuously or by instalments, no further leave will be granted under Rule 3, until after the lapse of three years from the expiry of previous leave under that Rule.—Ibid, Rule 6.

Absence without leave risks the appointment and entails entire forfeiture of salary.

317. Absence without leave will render the absentee liable to loss of appointment, and will be attended with entire forfeiture of salary for the whole period of such absence.—Ibid, Rule 7.

Salary to commence from date of joining appointments.

318. No person appointed to a situation under the Government shall draw the salary of his appointment for any period prior to the date of his joining it.—Ibid, Rule 8.

Allowance of an officer when acting in a higher appointment than his own.

319. An officer holding a situation appointed to one of equal or higher value, will, until he joins, draw so much of the salary of his new office as may be equal to the salary of his former situation, provided he does not exceed the time allowed for joining under the following Rule; should he do so, no salary will be passed to him for such period in excess.—Ibid, Rule 9.

Period allowed for joining an appointment.

320. The time ordinarily allowed for joining an appointment is to be calculated at the rate of 15 miles a day, (Sundays excepted,) together with a week to prepare for the journey, but on occasions of emergency it will be optional with the Government to prescribe the period within which any journey is to be performed.—Ibid, Rule 10.

321. A person officiating temporarily in any situation on the occurrence of a vacancy, or during the absence of the real incumbent, will if he hold no other appointment, draw one-half the salary of such situation, and if he hold any other situation of less value, he will receive half the fixed salary of his own appointment, together with half the fixed salary of that in which he officiates, but no additional expense is to be incurred by the absence of any officer on leave.—Ibid, Rule 11.

Allowance of officiating officers holding no other appointment, or a higher appointment.

322. These Rules are to be held applicable to all officers in the uncovenanted service of the Government, who may be in the receipt of salaries of 100 Rs. a month or upwards. To all others their spirit is to be applied so far as circumstances will permit. To officers receiving their appointments direct from the Government, leave of absence will be granted by the Government only, and in respect to other officers whose appointment and removal rest with their immediate superiors or with the heads of departments, it will be optional with the local Governments, to delegate to such heads of offices and departments power to act upon the Rules without special reference to higher authority.—Ibid, Rule 12.

These rules applicable to officers receiving 100 Rs. a month and upwards; and their spirit to all. By whom leave of absence is to be given.

323. But it is to be clearly understood, that no leave of absence on private affairs shall be claimable by any party whatever under these rules as a matter of right, but that such leave shall be granted only at the pleasure of the Government or its authorized officers, when the concession of the indulgence in no way interferes with the interests of the public service.—Ibid, Rule 13.

No leave of absence under these rules claimable as matter of right.

SECTION XXIX.

Vacations—the Mohurrun and Dusserah Festivals and Native Holidays.

324. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, having reason to believe that adjournments of court occasionally take place on account of holidays, Hindoo and Mahomedan, the observance of which is not strictly enjoined or incumbent upon the Native officers and vakeels, I am directed to transmit for your information the accompanying lists of established holidays, prepared some years since, on consultation with the Law Officers of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to which the adjournments of that court are in consequence restricted.—Cir. Ord. 6th April 1816. [A list of established holidays is published annually in the Bengalee Government Gazette.]

325. The Court are aware, that the same Hindoo festivals are not equally observed in all parts of the country; but they desire, that in regulating the adjournments of your court, you will be guided, as far as local usages admit, by the lists now transmitted to you; and that you will be careful to reduce the aggregate number as much as practicable.—Ibid.

These lists to be generally kept in view, with local modifications.

326. It appearing that the Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adwalut, under date the 6th April last, accompanying a list of Hindoo and Mussulman holidays, has been understood in some instances to prohibit the adjournment of the Civil courts for the prescribed periods of the Dusserah and Mohurrun vacation; I am directed by the Court to acquaint you, that it was not intended by their order of the above date, to make any alteration in the established adjournments of the Civil court authorized by Section 2, Regulation 3, 1798, viz. for thirty days at the Dusserah, and fifteen at the Mohurrun vacations.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1816, par. 1.

Adjournment of the courts for 30 days at the dusserah and 15 days at the mohurrun.

No more holidays than those established to be allowed.

327. The holidays to be observed in the mofussil courts were long since definitely fixed by a circular letter issued by the Court ; as it appears, however, that those orders have been neglected or forgotten, the attention of the Magistrates, and other judicial officers will be called to the subject, and they will be required to be careful that no more holidays be allowed than those specified in the Court's circular letter, dated the 6th of April, 1816, which are indispensable under the obligation of religious observances.—Cir. Ord. 26th Feb. 1830, par. 22.

The punctual attendance of the Native officers and vakeels of the several courts, is required immediately on the expiration of the periods prescribed for the mohurram and dusserah vacations by reg. 3, 1798.

328. Frequent instances having occurred of the Zillah and City civil courts being adjourned beyond the fixed period of the Dusserah and Mohurram vacations, in consequence of the vakeels and officers of the different courts having prolonged their absence beyond the prescribed periods of a month and fifteen days ; and the Court being of opinion, that no sufficient reason exists for such impediment to the regular opening of the Civil courts, as their own Native officers and vakeels, though some of them live at a considerable distance, return punctually at the close of the vacation ; I am directed to desire, that you will enjoin the several Judges and Magistrates in your division to require, in future, the regular attendance of their respective officers and vakeels immediately on the expiration of the fixed term of each vacation ; allowing 30 days for the Dusserah, and 15 days for the Mohurram, as prescribed in Section 2, Regulation 3, 1798. You will also be careful to enforce an observance of the rule on the part of the Native officers and vakeels of your own court.—Cir. Ord. 30th Nov. 1815.

Rule for the adjournment of the courts on the circular of the 30th Nov. 1815, to be strictly observed.

329. The Court's previous Circular order of the 30th November, 1815, which has reference to the return of the Native officers and pleaders at the end of the prescribed periods above-mentioned, is however to be considered in force ; and the Court rely on a strict observance of it.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1816, par. 2.

The dusserah and mohurram festivals.

330. The Provincial, Zillah and City civil courts, shall be annually adjourned during the Hindoo festival, called Dusserah, which occurs in the Bengal month Assin or Kartick, corresponding with the English month September or October ; and also during the Mahomedan festival Mohurram, which, depending on the lunar year, is not fixed to any particular month. The former adjournment (or Dusserah vacation,) shall commence ten days before this festival, and continue for the period of one month, of thirty days. The latter adjournment, (or Mohurram vacation,) shall commence five days before this festival, and continue for fifteen days. Under this rule when the time of the two festivals may coincide, the vacations also will of course be blended, and no separate adjournment will be necessary ; except as far as the fixed period for the one may extend beyond that of the other, as when part of the Mohurram vacation only may fall within the period fixed for the Dusserah vacation ; or, on the other hand when part of the latter only may fall within the period of the former.—Reg. 3, 1798, Sect. 2.

S. D. A. may modify the above rule.

331. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlat are empowered to authorize and direct an occasional dispensation with the rule for periodical vacations of the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts, contained in Section 2, Regulation 3, 1798, and Section 13, Regulation 8, 1805, in the instance of any particular court, wherein, from the arrear of business, or other cause, it may appear expedient that the vacations thereby provided for, or either of them, should not take place.—Reg. 1, 1806, Sect. 10.

Period when the

332. The terms of Section 2, Regulation 3, 1798, which directs that the Mohurram vacation shall commence five days before this festival, having been construed to mean five days before the first of Mohurru; I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to acquaint you, for your information and guidance, that the adjournment of the courts for that vacation is to commence on the 1st day of the month of Mohurru, and to continue for fifteen days as prescribed by the above Regulation.—Cir. Ord. 31st May 1803.

mohurru vacation is to commence.

333. The Court do not understand the rules in question, issued under an order of the Governor General in Council, as affecting those parts of the Regulations (3, 1798, &c.) which authorize the adjournment of the Civil courts during the Mohurru and Dusserah vacations, for the purpose of giving to the Mahomedan and Hindoo officers of the court the opportunity of visiting their families, as well as of observing their religious ceremonies during these periods of adjournment. The Sudder Ameens and other officers are still, as heretofore, at liberty to visit their homes with the permission of the Judge.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 10th May 1833.

The judicial officers may visit their homes during these festivals with the judge's permission.

334. The Civil courts being closed during the period of Mohurru and Dusserah vacations, with the express object of allowing the amlah and vakeels to visit their homes, you are authorized to comply with any applications for leave of absence during those periods, which may be made to you by the uncovenanted Judges under your control, merely reporting to the Court the names of the officers to whom you grant leave. In those instances, however, in which applications may be made for leave of absence for any time in excess of the vacations, you will, as at present, make previous reference to the Court for their orders, or for the orders of Government, in regard to Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens under the circular of the 4th September last.—Cir. Ord. 26th March 1841, par. 2.

Judges will grant leave to the uncov. judges during these vacations. Application for leave in excess of them must be referred to the S. D. A., or to government.

335. Government have resolved that the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs shall in future be subjected to no deductions from their salary, if absent, on authority duly obtained, only for the period of the usual Dusserah and Mohurru vacations; but that when their absence extends for any period beyond those vacations, they shall then be subject to the deduction prescribed by the orders of the 29th January, 1833, published in the Gazette of the 2d February of that year, for the whole period of their absence, inclusive of the vacations.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 26th Sept. 1834.

No deduction of allowance during these two vacations; but only for the period in excess.

336. Any absentee under such circumstances, [that is, who may have obtained leave for the prescribed time during the Dusserah and Mohurru festivals,] who, either before or after his return, can satisfy the zillah Judge by medical certificate, or otherwise, that he is or was unable on account of sickness, to return within the proper time, will in future be exempt from deduction of salary; but if unable to account for his absence, beyond the fixed period, to the satisfaction of the Judge, he will be subjected to the penalty of deduction of his whole salary, for the period in excess of the vacation, the amount of salary for the term of vacation remaining untouched.—*Cir. Ord. 27th Oct. 1840.

Rule when the uncov. judge was unavoidably absent in excess of the vacation.

* The following précis of the rules is subjoined to exemplify the different cases in which absentees retain their whole salary and those in which deductions are made.

Absent on leave during the Mohurru and Dusserah vacations—No deduction of salary.

Absent on leave at any other period—Half the salary to be deducted.

Absent on leave for the vacations and any period in excess—Half the salary to be deducted for the period in excess.

Overstaying leave for the vacations, but producing medical certificate or other proof of sickness, &c.—As above.

Overstaying leave for the vacations, but unable to produce medical certificate, &c.—Forfeiture of salary for the period in excess.

Absent without leave—Loss of salary for the period.

Salary of M. not to be deducted when absent with leave on the established vacations.

337. Moonsiffs are not liable to any deduction from their salaries, when absent from their station, with the permission of the Judge, on any of the established Native holidays.—Con. 958, Cal. C. 22d May, West. C. 8th May 1835, Vol. 2, p. 213.

SECTION XXX.

Uncovenanted Judges—Correspondence.

All official communications to be made to moonsiffs by roobukaree and not by perwannah and urzee.

338. The Court, having had under consideration the mode of address at present in use as regards official communications with the Moonsiffs, are pleased, with the sanction of his Honour the Deputy Governor of Bengal to extend to those officers the rule laid down in paragraph 2 of the Circular order of the 30th November, 1832, and to direct that, in future, all official communications with them shall be made by roobukaree, instead of by perwannah and urzee, as has hitherto been the practice.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 24th Aug., Cal. C. 19th Oct. 1838.

Moonsiffs will communicate direct with each other by roobukaree.

339. It having been ruled by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut that Moonsiffs within the same jurisdiction, who may have occasion to address each other, upon business before their respective courts, may do so by roobukaree direct, instead of communicating through the medium of the Judge, I am directed to request that you will issue instructions to the Moonsiffs under your control, to the foregoing effect, for their future observance.—Cir. Ord. 10th April 1840.

Communications to covenanted officers by S. A. and M.

340. Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs will forward all communications to covenanted officers as heretofore, through the European Judges, except communications to such officers as are parties to suits before them, in which case, they will be addressed direct to the officer whom they may concern.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 1st Dec. 1837, West. C. 9th Feb. 1838.

Requisitions of M. to the judicial and revenue authorities how to be made.

341. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut having had under consideration the practice which now obtains, in regard to the transmission of the requisitions of Moonsiffs to the several judicial and revenue authorities, and from the representations laid before them on that subject, being of opinion, that the practice of constituting the zillah Judge, to whom the Moonsiff may be subordinate, the channel for making such requisitions, answers no useful purpose, while it tends to impede the despatch of business in both courts, are pleased to prescribe the following rules to be observed in future, in such cases. Paragraph 5, of the Circular order, dated 16th November, 1839, is hereby rescinded, and the rules contained in the remaining paragraphs of that circular are extended to courts of Moonsiffs, with the exception, that when a Moonsiff may have occasion to employ the Government Post as the channel for conveying any requisition or application to the authorities, or persons referred to in the Circular order above cited, or to Mahomedan or Hindoo Law Officers, as mentioned in Circular order, No. 2359, dated 5th July, 1842, he shall enclose his requisition, or application, in an open envelope, and transmit the same to the zillah Judge, who with due observance of the Post Office rules, will seal, frank, and forward the same for despatch to its destination.—Cir. Ord. 15th April 1843.

Correspondence of P. S. A. and S. A. with the covenanted officers of Govt.

342. Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens will correspond direct by roobukaree with all covenanted officers of Government, except the Secretaries to Government, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, (with the exception of references in suits above Rupees 5,000 referred to Principal Sudder Ameens for trial under the provisions of Act XXV. of 1837,) the Sudder

Board of Revenue, Residents at foreign Courts, Agents to the Governor General, and all military officers.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 16th Nov. 1839, par. 2.

343. As regards communications with the three first named authorities excepted by the preceding paragraph, and with military officers, the present practice is to be continued.—Ibid, par. 3. Idem.

344. Whenever a Principal or other Sudder Ameen may have occasion officially to address a Resident at a foreign Court or a Governor General's Agent regarding any matter connected with a suit before his court, he shall transmit a simple Oordoo kyfcut or statement of the particular matter on which he may desire a reference to be made, without the addition of any application or requisition on his own part to the Judge to whom he may be subordinate, who on the receipt of such statement, will forward it to the Resident or Agent concerned, accompanied by an English letter containing such request or application as the nature of the reference may appear to call for, to be dealt with as the authority addressed may deem discreet and fitting.—Ibid, par. 4. Correspondence of P. S. A. or S. A. with a resident at a foreign court, or the agent of the G. G.

345. Considerable inconvenience having been experienced in consequence of the Native Judges addressing the [Sudder] court direct, by the public dawk, on various subjects connected with their official situations, I am desired to request that you will instruct them, invariably to submit through you—any communications they may desire to lay before this Court. It is to be understood that this rule is intended to afford you an opportunity of recording, whenever you may deem it necessary, your own sentiments on the references which may be made by the Native Judges. You will also explain to the Native Judges that this rule is not to be considered as applicable to appeals preferred by them against any orders passed by the zillah Judges. Such appeals will continue to be preferred in the usual manner on stamp paper and through a regular vakeel or agent.—Cir. Ord. 29th Sept. 1837. Correspondence of uncov. judges with the S. D. A. on matters connected with their official situations.

346. Official communications in the Native languages between European covenanted officers and Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens should be made by roobukarees, as has been hitherto the practice in the case of Registers and Assistants, instead of by perwanah and urzee, the mode heretofore in force, with respect to Sudder Ameens, and to request that you will adopt this mode in future.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 19th Oct., West. C. 30th Nov. 1832. Communications between Eur. cov. officers and P. S. A. and S. A. to be made by roobukaree.

347. The Native Judges of every grade will correspond direct with Natives of rank.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 16th Nov. 1839, par. 6. Correspondence of the N. judges with natives of rank.

348. In communicating the instructions to the Native Judges, you will of course impress upon them the propriety of observing a proper respect towards all Natives of rank with whom it may be necessary to correspond on official matters, and addressing them in the form and style employed on like occasions by the European Judge of the district. In like manner, Natives of rank will be required to pay proper respect to the Native Judges, adopting as a general rule the forms of address laid down in the Court's Circular, No. 9, of the 6th July, 1838.—Ibid, par. 7. Idem.

349. An instance having been brought to the notice of the Government, of an improper mode of address towards a Native gentleman of rank by a public functionary, I am directed to request that you will be careful that Native gentlemen, and particularly those of high rank are addressed in all public documents in a courteous style suitable to their station in society.—Cir. Ord. 19th Nov. 1841. Idem.

SECTION XXXI.

Uncovenanted Judges—Miscellaneous Rules.

The allowance for the establishment of uncov. judges to be strictly appropriated to that purpose.

350. With reference to the resolution passed by the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council, under date the 2d October last, fixing the allowance to be drawn by the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs, on account of establishment and stationery, I am directed by the Court to acquaint you that it is the intention of the Government that the whole sum should be bonâ fide appropriated to those purposes. You will inform the subordinate judicial functionaries of your district accordingly, and direct them to submit to you, without delay, a statement of the manner in which they propose to expend the allowance in question, in revising which, you will see that the sum set down for stationery is not larger than upon a fair estimate, may appear to you necessary to cover the expense likely to be incurred in providing that article.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d March 1838.

Form of address to the native judges.

351. The Government having been pleased to approve of an alteration of the forms of address to be used in communications addressed to the Principal Sudder Ameens, I am directed by the Court to request that the following forms be observed in future by all public functionaries having occasion to correspond with the Native Judges.

Z. judges when delivering over charge of their office will record their opinion of the N. judges subordinate to them.

352. Considerable inconvenience having been experienced in preparing the annual reports, from the want of detailed information regarding the general character and qualifications of the Native Judges, arising, in some instances, from the district Judges being absent from the station, and in others from their absence from the country at the period of the transmission of the annual statements, the zillah and city Judges are required, in order to guard against this want of information, on delivering over charge of their offices, to record a minute, containing their opinion of their subordinate judicial officers, (Principal and other Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs,) for the use of their successors, and eventually for the information of the Court and of Government.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th Dec., West. C. 21st Dec. 1838, par. 9.

353. The Honourable the Governor of Bengal entirely approves their suggestion, that in future the situation of Native Judge, of whatever grade, shall not be held conjointly with that of the Mahomedan Law Officer of the Zillah courts.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Feb. 1836.

Mahomedan law officer not to be appointed a N. judge.

354. The Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 166, dated 5th February 1836, is, under the authority of Government, so far modified as to leave the Court at liberty to exercise their discretion in appointing persons holding the office of Mahomedan Law Officer, to be at the same time Moonsiffs at the sudder stations of the Zillah courts, whenever there may be reason to believe that the junction of the two offices will not retard the administration of civil justice, or be otherwise prejudicial to the public service. The court will be guided by the same considerations in recommending to Government the appointment of Mahomedan Law Officers of the Zillah courts, to the office of Sudder Ameen.—Cir. Ord. 23d Aug. 1844, par. 2.

This rule modified. The M. law officers may be appointed M. at the sudder station, when it can be done without prejudice to the public service.

355. The Circular order in question, and former circulars, require that the Judges and other judicial authorities shall furnish, whenever they do not decide on their merits in any month a certain number of suits as per margin, explanations of the causes which have prevented their deciding that number. It appears to have been by some understood, that this is the maximum number which each officer is expected to decide. This idea is erroneous; the number fixed is the minimum; and it is the duty of each officer to decide as many beyond it as possible, consistent with a full investigation into their merits; explanation being required from each officer on the occurrence of any deficiency in the amount thus fixed as the minimum. It is the duty of the superintending authorities to see that these explanations are inserted in the monthly civil statements, and to add distinctly their opinion, in each individual case after due enquiry, as to the sufficiency or otherwise of the reasons assigned, as well as to warn and admonish the inferior authorities in cases of neglect or inattention, and to bring to the notice of the Court any instances in which their admonitions have not had the effect of inducing diligence and attention.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 25th Jan. 1833.

Number of suits which the U. judges are expected to decide in the month; an explanation to be given when they fall short of this number, and the Z. judge to give his opinion in this matter.

356. Although, when there may be but a small number of regular suits pending on the file of the courts of the Native Judges, it may be a sufficient reason, as far as those cases are concerned, for not determining the prescribed quantity, that no more admitted of decision, that very circumstance proves that the officer making the excuse must have had a more than an ordinary degree of leisure, at his command to devote to the performance of the miscellaneous duties of his office; and the Court will therefore expect, in future, that whenever the cause abovementioned may operate to prevent the determination of the required number of regular suits, the deficiency in that respect will be fully counterbalanced by the larger number of decisions passed in miscellaneous cases; otherwise the excuse will not be admitted.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Nov. 1835.

When a smaller number is decided, from there being no more ripe for judgment, a larger amount of miscellaneous business must be shewn

357. It having been brought to the notice of the Court that some Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs have been in the habit of selecting undefended suits and other cases easy of decision, without reference to the number on the file or the date of institution, and deciding the same, in order to make up the number of suits prescribed by the Circular orders, and expected by the Court to be disposed of by those officers, I am directed to call your attention to the subject, and to request that you will ascertain whether this objectionable practice obtains in your district, and, if so, that you will strictly prohibit the same, and direct the uncovenanted Judges to bring on the causes depending in their respective courts, for trial, according to the order in which they may have been filed.—Cir. Ord. 3rd July 1840.

Uncov. judges will sign their names to documents in the characters of their own language, and in full.

358. It having been brought to the notice of the Court that some of the Native Judges sign their proceedings in English, sometimes employing initials instead of signing their names in full, the Court are pleased to prohibit the practice in question, and to direct that all uncovenanted Judges will sign their names to official documents in the character of their own language, and in full, instead of merely employing initials.—Cir. Ord. 24th June 1842.

Modification of this rule. They may sign in English or any other character, but in full, and with uniformity.

359. In modification of the Circular of the 24th June last, the Court are pleased to direct that uncovenanted Judges may at their option sign their names in the English or in any other character, but that they shall always sign in full, instead of employing initials, and only use one character on all occasions, instead of having resource to different characters at different times.—Cir. Ord. 9th Sept. 1842.

All officers of government entitled to exemption from ferry tolls.

360. In pursuance of the orders of the Government (dated the 9th instant,) the following copy of a letter (No. 459, of the 28th ultimo,) from the Under-Secretary to the Government of India, in the Home department, exempting all Government officers from the payment of ferry tolls when proceeding on the public service is circulated for general information :—"I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 981, dated the 28th ultimo, with its enclosure, and in reply to state, for the information of the Right Honourable the Governor of Bengal, that the Governor General in Council approves of the proposition submitted by Mr. Dampier, Superintendent of Police, Lower Provinces, and authorizes that all officers of Government be exempted from the payment of ferry tolls within the division to which they may belong when they are moving in those divisions on the public service ; and any officer not entitled to exemption under this definition of the rule who may prefer a claim to exemption based on the principle which the rule is intended to establish, will defer his claim for special consideration and orders to the department to which he belongs."—Cir. Ord. 25th July 1845.

Duties to be performed by assistants and by native officers.

361. The Native officers attached to the courts are to assist the Registers in performing the abovementioned duties, and in translating and transcribing papers, and in arranging and keeping the records of the courts. The Registers and their Assistants, and the Native officers are to perform the duties specified in this section, in the manner and conformably to the rules, which the Judges of the courts to which they may be respectively attached, may think it proper to prescribe. The Native officers of each court, are not to interfere in any other manner than as above directed, publicly or privately in any cause or matter depending before the court, or which may have been, or shall be intended to be brought before it.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 8.

S. A. and M. not included in the above prohibition.

362. Sudder Amcens and Moonsiffs are not considered to be Native officers, who are prohibited by Section 8, Regulation 13, 1793, Regulation 12, 1795, and Section 11, Regulation 12, 1803, from interfering publicly or privately in suits or matters pending before the Judge's court.—Con. 520, 21st Aug. 1829, Vol. 1, p. 221.

SECTION XXXII.

Persons amenable to the Courts.

363. It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of June, 1836, the 107th clause of an Act of Parliament, passed in the 53rd year of King George the 3rd, and entitled "An Act for continuing in the East India Company for a further term the possession of the British territories in India, together with certain exclusive privileges :—for establishing further regulations for the government of the said territories, and the better administration of justice within the same, and for regulating the trade to and from the places within the limits of the said Company's charter," shall cease to have effect within the territories of the East India Company.—Act XI. 1836, Sect. 1.

Repeals sec. 107, of 53 George III.

364. And it is hereby enacted, that from the said day, and within the said territories, no person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever, excepted from the jurisdiction of any of the courts hereinafter mentioned :—that is to say—the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut—of the zillah and city Judges—of the Principal Sudder Ameens—and of the Sudder Ameens, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

No person, by reason of place of birth or of descent shall be exempt from jurisdiction of the courts enumerated.

365. Doubts having been entertained as to the legality of referring to Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, suits in which European British subjects, European foreigners, or Americans are parties, which were instituted prior to the promulgation of Act XI. of 1836 ; I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that as so much of the exception contained in Clause 2, Section 15, and Clause 1, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, as excluded such suits from the cognizance of the Principal and other Sudder Ameens, has been superseded by the provisions of Act XI. 1836, the reference of these cases, whether instituted prior or subsequent to the promulgation of the Act, should be regulated by the same rules as are applicable to other cases cognizable by those officers.—Civ. Ord. Cal. and West, C. 26th Aug. 1836.

The reference of suits, in which E. British subjects, E. foreigners or Americans are parties, to the P. S. A. to be regulated as in the case of all other suits.

366. The Act in question, in providing that no person shall by reason of place of birth or by reason of descent be exempted from the jurisdiction of certain courts, does not take away any exemption to which any person may be entitled by virtue of his office, and consequently judicial functionaries who were not liable to civil actions in the courts specified in the Act for damages on account of alleged injuries committed in their official capacity before the passing of the Act, will not be liable now.—Con. 1051, 10th Oct. 1836.

Judicial functionaries who were not liable to civil actions before act XI. of 1836 was passed, will not be liable now.

SECTION XXXIII.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts—Suits and Matters cognizable by them.

367. The Zillah and City courts respectively are empowered to take cognizance of all suits and complaints respecting the succession or right to real or personal property, land-rents, revenues, debts, accounts, contracts, partnerships, marriage, caste, claims to damages for injuries, and generally, of all suits and complaints of a civil nature in which the defendant may come within any of the descriptions of persons mentioned in Section 7, provided the landed or other real property to which the suit or complaint may relate shall be situated, or, in all other cases, the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant at the time when the suit may be commenced shall reside as a fixed inhabitant, within the limits of the zillah or city over which their jurisdiction may extend.—*Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 8.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Rules for determining disputes regarding the rates of pottahs to be granted under reg. 8, 1793.

368. The approbation of the Collector required to be obtained to pottahs by Section 58, Regulation 8, 1793, is to be considered to extend to the form only. If a dispute shall arise between the ryots and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs (whether the rent be payable in money or kind,) it shall be determined in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, according to the rates established in the purgunnah, for lands of the same description and quality as those respecting which the dispute may arise.—Reg. 4, 1794, Sect. 6.—Benares, Reg. 51, 1795, Sect. 9.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 9.

Rules in the preceding section applied to the renewal of pottahs that may expire or become cancelled under reg. 41 1793.

369. The rules in the preceding section are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance under Regulation 8 1793, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled under Regulation 41, 1793.—Reg. 4, 1794, Sect. 7.—Benares, Reg. 51, 1795, Sect. 10

[The first sentence in 368 is repealed by Regulation 5, 1812, Section 3. The remainder of that rule and the next refer to regular suits regarding the rates of pottahs.]

The courts of justice to determine the rights of every description of landholder and tenant

370. In like manner, in all other instances, the Courts of justice will determine the rights of every description of landholder and tenant, when regularly brought before them, whether the same be ascertainable by written engagements; or defined by the laws and regulations; or depend upon general or local usage, which may be proved to have existed from time immemorial.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 8.—Benares, Reg. 5, 1800, Sect. 14, Cl. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 32, Cl. 8

All suits and complaints relative to marriage are to be heard in the civil courts

371. The Magistrate of Allahabad, on the complaint of A., ordered that B. should give up to him his daughter, whom A. alleged that he had married. The Benares Court of circuit, considering that the case was not cognizable in the Foujdary court, rescinded the Magistrate's order, leaving the complainant the option of suing to prove his marriage in the regular suit in the Civil court. On a reference by the Magistrate, the Court of Nizamut adawlut, on 31st March, 1814, concurring with the Court of circuit, stated it as their opinion that all suits or complaints relative to marriage were to be heard in the Civil courts.—Con. 148, 31st March 1814.

A suit for the recovery of damages in the civil court can be legally entertained against a party who has been already punished for abduction by the sentence of a criminal court.

372 I am directed to request, that you will obtain the Sudder Court's opinion, whether a suit for the recovery of damages in the Civil court can be legally entertained against a party who has been already punished for abduction by the award of a criminal tribunal.—Reply of the Sudder Court.—This Court are disposed, on a review of the case out of which the present reference arose, to consider that as the penal imposition of fine and award of imprisonment in the Criminal court were on account of the abduction of the complainant's wife, such criminal sentence does not bar the institution of a civil suit for any pecuniary losses alleged to have been sustained by the husband in consequence of the act so punished.—Con. 1251, 1st Nov. 1839.

373. A. enters into a contract with B., on the security of C. and D., for furnishing a boat to convey certain goods of A., to a fixed place on the banks of the river ; thereafter B. unloads the goods, and refuses to carry them on according to his agreement ; can then B., not being a workman, be punished by the Magistrate under the Regulation quoted ?—In reply, I am directed to inform you that in the case put by the Magistrate, the provisions of Regulation 7, 1819, would not apply ; the contract seems to have been of a purely civil nature, and security was taken for the performance of it ; the person aggrieved should therefore seek his remedy in the Civil court.—Con. 1085, West. C. 14th April, Cal. C. 12th May 1837.

A contract between A. and B. on the security of C. and D. to furnish a boat to convey certain goods of A. to a certain place on the river, is not cognizable by the magistrate; the contract being of a civil nature, the remedy must be sought in the civil court.

374. The claims of Government, to lands included in the decennial settlement are subjected to the cognizance of the Courts of judicature, and no individual can be legally dispossessed from such lands, unless a decree of court has been given against him. Costs given against Government in a case wherein this principle had not been observed, and the plaintiffs, who had been irregularly dispossessed, were at the same time allowed the full benefit of the rule of limitations for the cognizance of civil suits.—*S. 376. In a dispute as to whether certain lands formed part of a private estate, or of a mehal ordered for resumption by a decree of the Special Commissioner appointed under Regulation 3, 1828, a mere plea by the revenue authorities that the lands belonged to the resumed mehal, does not arrest in limine the jurisdiction of the Civil court.—Remarks.—The case was in fact a mere boundary dispute, and must have been admitted, though the decree of the Special Commissioner could not be infringed, but on the contrary would form the document on which the boundary would be decided.—*S. 380. I have the honour to submit, for the consideration of the Court of Sudder nizamut adawlut, copy of a letter addressed to me by the Magistrate of Tirhoot on the 7th instant, with my reply thereto of to-day's date, and with reference to the point mooted by Mr. Wilkinson, to request the opinion of the Court on the following point. A bund is constructed by A. on his own land, which bund B. proves to be injurious to his interests ; can the Magistrate order the destruction of the bund ?—Reply.—I am directed by the Court to observe that they are of opinion that cases of the nature of the one which forms the subject of the present reference, would appear to come more properly within the jurisdiction of the Civil than of the Criminal courts, but that particular instances may arise in which the immediate interference of the Magistrate would be necessary and proper to prevent either a breach of the peace or any serious injury to the property of the complainant, supposing of course the act complained against to have been of recent occurrence as would seem to have been the case in the instance under consideration.—Con. 1091, *West. SECTION XXXIV.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts—Courts in which particular suits are to be instituted.

A suit to recover a debt must be instituted in the court of the district in which the cause of action arose, or the defendant resided as a fixed inhabitant at the commencement of suit. The circumstance of defendant being an occasional visitor, or having available property in the district, does not subject him to the jurisdiction of the zillah court.

A suit for the recovery of rent collected by the surburakar of a mokurereemahal in Nuddea, should be brought and tried in that district, and not in Rajeshye, where defendant resided.

In a suit for the balance of rent of a farm in the Rungpore district, the plaintiff and defendant being both residents of Moorshedabad, the court were of opinion that the suit should be tried at Rungpore.

381. Under the provisions of Section 5, Regulation 2, 1803, suits of the nature described in your letter, [viz. suits for debts contracted in Calcutta, the obligations by which the debts are represented, such as shop bills, bonds, notes of hand, or receipts, being dated and executed in Calcutta,] can only be instituted in your court, [that is, the Zillah court of Cawnpore] where either the cause of action has arisen or the defendant resided as a fixed inhabitant at the commencement of suit in the zillah under your charge. The circumstance of the defendant being only an occasional visitor, or his merely having available property in Cawnpore, will not therefore subject him to your jurisdiction.—Con. 797, West. C. 14th June, Cal. C. 5th July 1833.

382. On the 4th January, 1811, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in reply to a reference made by the Judge of Rajshahye, whether a suit for recovery of an excess of rent, collected by a surburakar, from a mokurereemahal situated in Nuddea, should be instituted and tried in Rajshahye, the defendant's place of residence, or in zillah Nuddea, gave it as their opinion, that it should be brought forward and tried in the latter district, on the ground that the lands being situated in Nuddea, any local enquiry that might appear necessary could be made with greater facility and propriety, under the orders of the court presiding over the jurisdiction in which the lands were included.—Con. 73, 4th Jan. 1811.

383. The accompanying document is copy of a petition of plaint preferred in the Moorshedabad Court of appeal for balance of rent claimed on a farm in the Rungpore district. Before the abolition of that court, it was sent over to the City court for trial, on the ground that the plaintiff and the defendant were both resident within the jurisdiction of the City court of Moorshedabad. Circumstances connected with the management of the affairs of the plaintiff's heirs, after his death, delayed the hearing of the cause till yesterday, when it came under consideration in this court, and it appeared that the farm for which rent is claimed, is in the Rungpore zillah. Though from its being of greater amount than 10,000 rupees it was only cognizable in the Provincial court of the division, yet, if a summary suit for the rent had been preferred under Regulation 7 of 1799, it must, I presume, have been preferred in the Rungpore Zillah court; if, after a decision, a regular suit had been preferred to reverse the summary award, the plaintiff, whether landlord or tenant, would, if the sum had been below 10,000 rupees, have filed his plaint in the Rungpore and not in the Moorshedabad City court; and as the ground of action is the same whether the regular suit follows a summary award or is preferred without a previous summary suit, I infer that under Section 8, Regulation 3 of 1793, this suit should now be tried by the Zillah court of Rungpore under the provisions of Regulation 5 of 1831, and that before the abolition of the Court of appeal, the jurisdiction did not depend on the residence of the parties, but on the local situation of the farm.

Under this impression, as the suit is for a large sum (upwards of three lacs of rupees) and may involve much unnecessary expense to parties, if after my decision an objection was successfully made to the jurisdiction, I have thought it advisable to suspend further proceedings until I have the orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, as to its disposal, as I do not think myself competent to alter an order of the Court of appeal, even if I happen to be right in my opinion, that the suit is within the jurisdiction of Rungpore, and without that of the Moorshedabad City court.—Reply.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, requesting their opinion as to the zillah in which the case of Koonwur Hurinath Rai, plaintiff, versus Tarneeshunker and others for the rent of a farm in zillah Rungpore, should be tried, and in reply to refer you to the Construction, No. 73, dated 4th April, 1811, (in page 17 of the printed Construction book) and to request that you will transfer the case to the Judge of zillah Rungpore for trial.—Con. 871, Cal. C. 21st Feb., West. C. 21st March 1834.

384. I have the honor to request the instructions of the Court on the following points : Deokenundun and Lawaram, plaintiffs, and Nundram, defendant, all reside in the village of Dhukraee, of which the revenue jurisdiction belongs to Furruckabad, and the police and civil to Mynpoorie. Plaintiffs have sued defendant summarily for rupees forty-seven for rent, and obtained a decree from the Collector at Furruckabad. Nundram has petitioned that he intends to prosecute a suit in the Civil court to reverse the decision, but that the Moonsiff of Chibramowe, in this district, declines to receive the suit on the grounds that neither of the parties reside, nor has the cause of action arisen, within his jurisdiction.—Reply.—I am directed to inform you that the case mentioned in your communication should be heard by the Moonsiff of the Mynpoorie zillah, in which jurisdiction the cause of action arose; the civil authorities of zillah Furruckabad having no jurisdiction in the village of Dhukraee, cannot take cognizance of the plaintiff's claim.—Con. 915, West. C. 21st Nov., Cal. C. 5th Dec. 1834.

In what court the suit is to be instituted, when the parties reside in a village of which the revenue jurisdiction belongs to one zillah and the police and civil jurisdiction to another.

385. An action brought by a husband against his wife for refusing to live with him, should be instituted in the zillah where her home is, and not where the marriage took place.—S. D. A. Sum. Cases, 17th March 1846, p. 78.

Action of a husband against a wife for refusing to live with him.

386. Plaintiff advanced money to defendant in Backergunge, on deeds of kut-kubala, on lands in another zillah, and after the term of the deeds has expired, sues for the money in the Backergunge court, and obtains a judgment. The Provincial court reverse it, thinking the suit only cognizable in the zillah where the land is situated. The Sudder dewanny adawlut rule, that the suit, being specifically for money, is clearly cognizable in Backergunge.—*S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th May 1810, vol. 1, p. 301.

A suit for money advanced on mortgage must be instituted in the zillah in which the money was lent.

387. I request the instructions of the Sudder dewanny adawlut on the following questions : —A person sues A., B. and C., natives of Bengal, in the court of the zillah Judge within whose jurisdiction in Bengal the cause of action arose. A. and B. are resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the District court in which the action is brought, C. is resident within the town of Calcutta, having no agent of any kind. 1st. Is such suit against A., B. and C. cognizable by the Zillah court? 2d. If it is cognizable by the Zillah court, through what channel, and in what

A suit is cognizable against A., B. and C., in the zillah court in which the cause of action arose, though C. is a resident of Calcutta, having no agent in the district.

* Section 8, Regulation 3, 1793, empowers the Zillah and City civil courts, to take cognizance of all suits and complaints of a civil nature, against persons amenable to their jurisdiction, "provided the landed, or other real property to which the suit or complaint may relate, shall be situated, or, in all other cases, the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant at the time when the suit may be commenced, shall reside, as a fixed inhabitant, within the limits of the zillah or city over which their jurisdiction may extend."

mode is the notice prescribed by Section 2, Clause 3, Regulation 2, 1806, to be served on C. to call on him to defend the cause? and, in the event of inability to serve the notice, how is the proclamation to be made which is prescribed for such cases?—Reply.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th ultimo, submitting two questions for the orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut. In reply to the first I am directed to state that the suit therein referred to is cognizable by the Zillah court. In reply to the second, that the notice or proclamation should be forwarded through a peon to the Register of this Court, who will cause it to be served by the nazir of the court, in conjunction with the peon by whom it is delivered. The inability of the Court to issue process in the town of Calcutta noticed in the Court's letter of the 18th July, 1828, to a former Judge of your court, extends only to compulsory process (as arrest of the person, realization of money decreed, &c.) and not to process issued for the information of the party, which it is the practice of the court to issue. The zillah Judge should decide the case ex parte, if the defendant do not appear, and in the event of a decree being passed against him should execute it on any property belonging to him which may be found beyond the limits of the town of Calcutta, and if ignorance of the institution of the suit should then be pleaded by the defendant, a review of the judgment might, on proof of the plea, be granted.—Con. 721, Cal. C. 5th Oct., West. C. 9th Nov. 1832.

If the defendants reside in Hooghly, and have no property in Tipperah, a suit for arrears of rent of an estate in Tipperah may be entertained in the Hooghly court.

388. It would appear that the estate, for the balance of the produce of which the present action is instituted, is actually situated in the district of Tipperah. The defendants however have no property in that district. All their property lies within the district of Hooghly, appendant to the Calcutta Provincial court, where they likewise reside. The qubooleet also, upon which the claim is founded, was executed within the town of Calcutta in the jurisdiction of the Supreme court. The plaintiff's petition of plaint, with reference to the amount of claim is drawn upon a stamp of the value of 750 rupees, and was filed in this court on the 1st of August, 1826. The petition of defence is written on a stamp of the value of four rupees.—In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that the suit being for a sum of money, and the defendants all residing in zillah Hooghly, your court is competent to take cognizance of it.—Con. 739, 23d Nov. 1832.

In a suit for 63 villages of which 61 were situate in Beerbhoom and 2 in Moorshedabad, it was deemed proper that the suit should be tried in the former district, where the greater part of the property lay.

389. A suit has been instituted in this court, having reference to the farm of sixty-three villages, sixty-one of which are situated in the Beerbhoom zillah, and only two belong to Moorshedabad. It happens however, that although, as regards the Foudary, the sixty-one villages in question are under the Magistrate of Beerbhoom, yet the revenue of the whole of them is paid (under, I presume, a special authority,) into the collectorate of Moorshedabad, and it is owing to the latter circumstance that the suit has been admitted into the court of this city. As the propriety of hearing the suit in question here, merely because the revenue of all the villages (which are within the limits of another district) happens to be paid into this treasury, seems questionable, considering the tenor of Regulation 3 of 1793, especially of Section 8, I wish to ascertain how, in the judgment of the superior court, I ought to proceed.—In reply to your letter of the 8th instant I am directed by the Court to inform you that, under the presumption that the greater part of the villages which form the cause of action of the suit therein alluded to, are situated within the jurisdiction of the Civil court of Beerbhoom, they deem it proper that the suit should be tried in that court, and request that you will transfer it for that purpose with a copy of this letter to the Judge of Beerbhoom.—Con. 969, 31st July 1835.

In a boundary dis-

390. In a dispute respecting the boundary of two estates situated in different zillahs, held that the summary award of one court is insufficient to render the contested lands exclusively subject to its jurisdiction, and invalidate, under Section 8, Regulation 3, 1793, a regular suit, which the party cast may institute in the court of the zillah within which he maintains them to be situated.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Dec. 1823, vol. 3, p. 282.

pute regarding two estates which lie in different districts, the summary award of one does not bar a regular suit in the other court.

391. In a case of goods consigned for sale by a party in one district to a mercantile house in another district, the goods sold in the latter, and the proceeds carried to the credit of the consigner to meet alleged demands due by him to the consignee, it was held that the action should have been brought in the court of the district of the consignee, and not of the consigner.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th July 1838, vol. 6, p. 237.

Where goods have been consigned by a party residing in one district to merchants residing in another, any action must be brought in the court of the latter district.

392. Held that the court in which a suit for a portion of property, claimed under a disputed title, should be instituted, is to be determined with reference to the value of the title, and not to the value of the portion sued for.—Remark.—The principle which regulated the judgment of the court in regard to the jurisdiction of the Moonsiff, had been previously recognized by the Circular order No. 16, Vol. 2, dated 31st August, 1832.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1846, vol. 7, p. 255.

Suit for a portion of property claimed under a disputed title.

SECTION XXXV.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts—Suits regarding Property which form distinct Estates or Estates which lie in different Districts.

393. A question having arisen as to the legality of dividing a claim of inheritance, resting on one and the same plea, into several suits, on the ground of the property sued for forming parts of distinct estates, or being situated in different jurisdictions. I am directed to acquaint you that it has been ruled by the Court as consistent with the spirit and meaning of the existing Regulations, that suits founded on right of inheritance should include the entire claim arising out of the same cause of action; and that, in the event of the property being situated in two or more jurisdictions, the suit should be brought in the court in whose jurisdiction the greater portion may be contained.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Jan. 1839, par. 1.

Suits founded on right of inheritance must include the whole claim. And be brought in the court in whose jurisdiction the greatest portion lies.

394. The Court deem it scarcely necessary to add that the rule laid down in the first paragraph of this letter, cannot of course affect the rights of other individuals, having claims on the same property, who may not have joined in the plaint.—Ibid, par. 4.

Rights of other individuals not affected thereby.

395. If the property be situated within the limits of the same Zillah court, but in the jurisdiction of different Moonsiffs, and the amount or value of the whole property do not exceed that of which those officers are competent under the Regulations, to take cognizance, the Moonsiff, in whose court the suit may be brought under the rule above laid down, previously to issuing any process on the petition of plaint, should apply to the Judge to whom he may be subordinate, for authority to try the same; but where the property may be situated within the limits of different Zillah courts, he should apply to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut through the Judge, for authority to proceed with the case: and the same rule should be observed by the Judge, as regards any suits of the latter description which may be instituted in the first instance in his court.—Ibid, par. 2.

provinces, the application of the Judge in whose court the suit may be brought, should be made to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to whom he may be subordinate, and who, after communicating with the other court, will issue the necessary instructions for the trial of the case.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Jan. 1839, par. 3.

The reason of the above rule.

397. In adopting the foregoing construction the Court have been influenced by the following amongst other reasons, that the opposite practice would not only constantly give rise to conflicting judgments passed by different courts, probably at or about the same time, in regard to separate portions of an estate, included in the same cause of action, but, would, moreover, frequently have the effect of entirely altering the original jurisdiction of the courts in respect to the cognizance of such claims, and might in many instances, operate to the serious injury of the defendant by depriving him of his right of appeal to this court, and occasionally, indeed, to the Queen in council.—Ibid, par. 5.

SECTION XXXVI.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts—Suits not cognizable by the Civil Courts

No judge can hear or try a case in which either party is his creditor.

398. Any Judge, European or Native, is prohibited from hearing or trying a cause in which either of the parties may be his creditor.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 26th March 1832.

Judges not to entertain suits which may have been decided by any former judge or superintendent having competent jurisdiction

Doubts respecting the competency of the former jurisdiction, to be submitted to the S D A

399. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited entertaining any cause, which, from the production of a former decree, or the records of the court, shall appear to have been heard and determined by any former Judge, or any Superintendent of a court having competent jurisdiction. If any doubt should arise respecting the competency of the former jurisdiction, the Judges are to report the circumstances to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and wait the instructions of that Court.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 16.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795 Sect. 10.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 10.

A judge on proof furnished by the records of his own office of the institution of a prior suit by A., is competent to dismiss a suit instituted by B., for the same cause of action, without issuing notice on A. to appear and answer thereto.

400. A. sued B. for the recovery of a village, which at the time of the settlement, B. contrived to get wrongfully included in his own talook as part and parcel thereof. The Court decreed the village to A., directing its disjunction from B.'s estate and its being separately assessed by the Collector. But B. having appealed against the decision, execution was stayed, and, pending the appeal, the whole of B.'s talook was sold for balance of revenue, and the purchaser having been put in possession of the village in question along with the other part of the property, B. declined proceeding with the appeal, and it was accordingly dismissed. B. however eventually succeeded in getting the public sale set aside by the Courts of judicature, and A., who came forward as a third party in the case claiming the village, was referred to a regular suit against B. I am desirous therefore of obtaining the opinion of my colleagues whether, under the foregoing circumstances, the decree obtained by A. was not final and conclusive against B., and whether on the sale of B.'s estate being annulled it ought not to have been executed, instead of A.'s being referred to a new suit to establish his right to that which had already been adjudged to him by a competent tribunal, and the appeal from which had been dismissed on the default of B. to proceed with it. Connected with this case I further solicit the opinion of the Judges upon another point namely, A. having in pursuance of the above order brought an action against B. for the recovery of the village, a decree was passed by the Sudder Ameen in his favor, and on B.'s appealing from it the zillah Judge discovered that B. after the institution of A.'s suit, and notwithstanding he was in possession of the village, had also filed a suit against A. to have himself declared the malik of it. The question therefore is, whether the zillah Judge, merely upon having B.'s petition of appeal before him, and without deciding it, was competent, under the rules contained in Section 16, Regulation 3 of 1793, to dismiss B.'s suit without issuing the prescribed notice to A. to appear and answer to it. The words of the section in question bearing upon the point are as follows—"The Zillah and City courts are prohibited enter-taining any cause which, from the production of a former decree or the records of the court, shall appear to have been heard and determined by any former Judge or any Superintendent of a court having competent jurisdiction." With reference to the first question the Court were of opinion that the decree obtained by A. was final, and ought to have been executed. The question involved in the concluding paragraph was forwarded for the opinion of the Western Court.

To this the Western Court replied: The only point on which the Calcutta Court would appear to desire the opinion of this court is as to what was the proper course of proceeding to be observed by the Judge in regard to the disposal of the claim preferred by B., on discovering that a suit had already been instituted by A. in reality for the same cause of action, and which was at that time pending in appeal before him from the decision of the Sudder Ameen passed in favour of the plaintiff. On this point the Court at large observe, that as the Judge had proof before him of the institution of the prior suit by A. which was furnished by the records of his office, they are unanimously of opinion with the majority of the Judges of the Calcutta Court, that under the rule laid down in Section 16, Regulation 3 of 1793, he was fully competent, on the information before him, to dismiss the suit of B. without issuing any notice to the other party to appear and answer thereto.—Con. 999, West. C. 5th Feb. 1836.

401. A suit founded on a claim of inheritance having been dismissed, it is not competent to the courts to entertain another action by the same individual on the same grounds, though the persons sued, and the amount claimed be different.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th April 1824, vol. 3, p. 335.

Courts cannot try a second suit on a claim of inheritance, when one has been already dismissed.

402. The courts are not competent to decide a new suit contrary to the provisions of a former final decree, relative to the same property. The merits of that decree cannot be gone into.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th April 1826, vol. 4, p. 146.

Courts cannot decide a new suit contrary to a former final decree relative to the same property

403. Held, that the courts are not at liberty to question the merits of a final decision passed by any authority having competent jurisdiction, whether on the allegation of such decision having been contrary to law or wrong as to the merits. The decisions here alluded to were passed by the Patna council in 1777, and by the Patna City court in 1796.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th April 1826, vol. 4, p. 137.

Courts cannot question the merits of a final decision of any competent authority, on any grounds whatever

404. If a suit shall have been instituted in the Court of Dewanny adawlut of any zillah or city in which it may have been cognizable, no other Zillah or City court is to entertain a suit for the same cause of action; and on proof being made in the court in which the second suit may be commenced, that a prior suit for the same cause of action has been instituted in another Zillah or City court competent to try it, the court in which the second suit may be brought is to dismiss it with costs to be paid by the party so suing. And if any person shall have commenced a suit in the Dewanny adawlut of any zillah or city.

No court is to receive a suit previously instituted in another and whilst that suit is depending, or after a decree may be passed in it, shall commence another suit in any other Zillah or City court of dewanny adawlut for the same cause ; or if any person shall commence a suit in any Zillah or City court of dewanny adawlut which shall appear to the Judge to be frivolous, vexatious, or groundless, he is not only to dismiss the suit, with such costs as he may deem it equitable to award against the plaintiff, but is to fine him in such amount as he may think proper, upon a consideration of the nature of the case, and the situation and circumstances in life of the offender, and commit him to close custody until he pays the fine.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 12.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 9.

A debt having been contracted in Nagpore, where the defendant continues to reside, the subsequent execution of a bond at Allahabad, does not authorise the Judge to take cognizance of the suit; as that instrument cannot be considered to be the cause of action, but merely evidence of the debt which is the cause of action.

405. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 8th instant, together with its enclosed copy of a petition of plaint instituted in your court by Ramchunder Wagh, and requesting the Court's opinion as to whether the suit is cognizable by you, "the debt having been originally incurred in Nagpore, the bond which is the immediate ground of the present action having been executed at Allahabad, and the defendants being at the date of the institution of the suit resident at Nagpore."—In reply, I am desired to acquaint you, that under the circumstances stated, the Court do not perceive any ground on which you can assume jurisdiction. The cause of action, that is to say, the debt, originated in a foreign territory, where the defendants still continue to reside. The subsequent execution of the bond within your jurisdiction is immaterial to the present question, as that instrument cannot be termed the cause of action, being merely evidence of the debt, which is the cause of action.—The Court are therefore of opinion that you should not take cognizance of the suit.—Con. 351, 24th Jan. 1823.

Suits under a fictitious name prohibited.

406. The Sudder dewanny adawlut direct that you will issue instructions to the several zillah and city Judges, subject to your division, directing them to affix a publication in their respective cutcherries, declaring that any person who shall hereafter institute a suit in their courts under a fictitious name, will be liable to be nonsuited.—Cir. Ord. 29th July 1809.

But a plaintiff may sue for money lent by himself on a bond executed in the name of another.

407. The Circular order of the 29th June, 1809, prohibiting the institution of suits under fictitious names, does not refer to the case of a plaintiff suing in his own name for recovery of money lent by himself, upon a bond executed in the name of another.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1836, vol. 6, p. 108.

Suit brought on the part of a farzi dismissed.

408. Judgment of nonsuit passed with reference to the Regulations generally and Circular order No. 20, July 29th, 1809, because the action was brought on the part of a Farzi.—(Note by the Reporter)—In Arabic Faraz, among other meanings, has that of proposition; whence farzan, by way of proposition, i. e. hypothetically. The word Farzi (thus derived) is used to denote an unreal person,—whether as non-existent or imaginary, or existent but not interested, i. e. a trustee. Not to risk a construction the reporter has not translated the term. The Circular order refers to the institution of suits in fictitious names.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d July 1833, vol. 5, p. 314.

Of what suits the zillah court of the 24-purgunnahs is prohibited taking cognizance, as coming

409. The Dewanny adawlut of the zillah of the Twenty-four Purgunnahs, is not to receive or entertain any suit, under any pretence whatever, relating to any land, house, tenement, or hereditament, nor any dispute regarding the boundaries of lands, houses, tenements or hereditaments, situated within the town of Calcutta, (which, for the purpose of this rule, is declared to be bounded by a line drawn by the bridge and nullah of the Bugh Bazar, or Cow-Cross, the Marhatta entrenchment, and the road adjoining to it, continued to the westward of the Collighaut road, the Govindpore nullah, and the river,) nor any suit whatever against a person who may be an inhabitant of Calcutta at the time the suit may be instituted, or may become a resident within the limits of the town after the suit may be commenced. The court is commanded not to intermeddle with, or take cognizance of the suits abovementioned, which are to be considered entirely exempt from its jurisdiction. But the prohibitions contained in this section are not to be construed to extend to preclude the Court of Dewanny Adawlut of the zillah of the Twenty-four Purgunnahs entertaining any suit concerning marriage or caste, in which no money or other valuable thing may be demanded or decreed, although the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant may reside, or shall have resided at the time the suit commenced, within the limits of the town of Calcutta.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 17.

Exception to the rule.

410. A suit for the possession of property within the jurisdiction of the Civil court of the 24-Purgunnahs, beyond the limits of the town of Calcutta, against a resident of Calcutta, is cognizable by the Zillah court of the 24-Purgunnahs.—Con. 991, Cal. and West. C. 8th Jan. 1836.

Suits cognizable by the Z. court of the 24-purgunnahs.

411. Whereas, by Section 17, of Regulation 3 of 1793, of the Bengal code, it was amongst other things provided that the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah of the Twenty-four Purgunnahs should not receive or entertain any suit whatever against a person who might be an inhabitant of Calcutta at the time the suit might be instituted, or might become a resident within the limits of the town after the suit might be commenced: and, whereas inconvenience has arisen in consequence of persons escaping from the jurisdiction of the Dewanny adawlut of the said zillah of the Twenty-four Purgunnahs after suits have been commenced therein, and it is expedient to prevent such inconvenience: It is therefore hereby enacted, that so much of the said Regulation as is hereinbefore recited be repealed.—Act XXII. 1843.

Portion of reg. 3, 1793, sec. 17, repealed.

412. The pledge of property out of Calcutta, as security for a debt contracted in Calcutta by a party resident in Calcutta, does not render him subject to the jurisdiction of the Zillah court as to the debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Jan. 1842, vol. 7, p. 69.

A party residing in Calcutta, pledging property out of the town for a debt contracted in it, not subject to the jurisdiction of the zillah.

413. The Sudder court being asked, whether the Civil court is competent to receive a suit for actual costs against a plaintiff whose complaint had been dismissed in a Criminal court, replied "that the Civil courts are not authorized to take cognizance of such suits, as Clause 3, Section 29, Regulation 7, 1803, authorizes the Criminal courts to adjudge reimbursement of costs actually incurred upon a prosecution before them by either of the parties thereto, if they shall consider such reimbursement just and equitable. But that if a Magistrate, from oversight, have omitted to order a reimbursement of costs to the party whom he may think justly entitled thereto, he is at liberty to supply the omission by a subsequent order, upon application from the party for that purpose."—Con. 367, 2d July 1824.

Civil courts are not competent to take cognizance of a suit for actual costs against a plaintiff, whose complaint was dismissed by a criminal court.

414. The Court having reason to believe that doubts exist as to the legality or otherwise criminal authorities under sec. 6, reg. 7, 1819, not open to a civil action.

Cases decided by

of admitting civil actions to contest the awards of the criminal authorities under the provisions of Section 6, Regulation 7, 1819, I am directed to communicate to you their opinion, that cases decided by the criminal authorities under the rules laid down in that section are not open to a civil action.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 31st Aug., West. C. 13th Nov. 1838.

In a case of fraudulently filing a petition in the civil court, the civil judge cannot commit for trial, but should refer the case to the magistrate, who will commit or not as may appear to him advisable.

415. The Court ruled that in the case of a defendant charged with presenting or filing a petition in the Civil court with the fraudulent intent of obtaining money already paid to him, the Judge is not competent to commit the accused for trial, but that after completing the investigation as far as may be in his power, he should transmit the papers to the Magistrate, stating his opinion on the case, and leaving the Magistrate to commit, or not, as may appear to him advisable.—Con. 925, West. C. 9th Jan., Cal. C. 27th March 1835.

On a compromise of theft under sec. 7, reg. 12, 1818, the civil court cannot entertain a suit by the injured party to compel the offender to restore the value of the property stolen.

416. I am directed to state in reply, that the particular description of offences mentioned in the last section of Regulation 12, 1818, must still be viewed as public crimes; that it is incumbent on the landholders, and on the police, to report them; that, where the injured party declines prosecuting, the Magistrate may still, if he think fit on a view of the nature of the case, direct a public prosecution. If, therefore, those cases only go unprosecuted, which the Magistrate thinks fit to pass over, it must follow, that the Magistrate should be able to prevent any material injury arising to the police from private compromises. As to whether a compromise between the offender and the injured party, the consideration being on the one side, forbearing to prosecute, and, on the other, restitution of value taken, is a contract to which the Civil court should give effect, I am directed to answer the questions in the negative; on the ground that it is clearly contrary to public policy that such an encouragement to obstruct the course of criminal justice should be held out; and it is not clear, that the last section of the Regulation, in giving to the injured party the discretion it has done, had in view any other motives of forbearance, than tenderness to the offender, or unwillingness to spare the time and trouble of prosecuting.—Con. 318, 7th July 1820.

A summary award by a magistrate of wages to a servant under sec. 6, reg. 7, 1819, cannot be contested by a civil action, nor can a civil court issue an injunction to the magistrate to stay execution of his order.

417. I am directed by the Court to observe that in all cases in which it has been the intention of the Legislature to render a summary decision subsidiary to a suit in the Civil courts, the Regulations contain specific provision to that effect, as for instance, in cases coming under the provisions of Regulation 15 of 1824, no such provision is however made as regards cases of the nature of those specified in Section 6. Regulation 7 of 1819; and they are therefore of opinion that cases decided by the criminal authorities under the rules laid down in that section are not open to a civil action. The Civil court of course can have no power to issue an injunction to a Magistrate for the purpose of stopping execution of his order.—Con. 1158, West. C. 22d June, Cal. C. 13th July 1838.

Suits for the recovery of costs incurred in criminal actions not to be received by the civil courts.

Civil courts cannot stay a prosecution for forgery in the criminal court.

419. The Civil courts cannot interfere to stay the proceedings in the Criminal court in the prosecution of a case of forgery at the instance of the Collector.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th Nov. 1846, p. 87.

A bidder at a public sale, who has been fined by a collector,

420. Held on a reference from the Judge of Sylhet that a bidder at a public sale, who has been fined by a Collector, cannot institute a regular suit against that authority in the Civil cannot institute a suit against that officer in the civil court to obtain a refund of the fine.

421. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 27th ultimo, together with its enclosure from the Register of your district, requesting information as to the mode of proceeding to be adopted, in the event of a suit being preferred against him for an act done by him in his official capacity, under Section 10, Regulation 8, 1819.—In reply, I am desired to observe, for the information and guidance of yourself and of your Register, that there appearing to be no provision either in Section 10, Regulation 3, 1793, or any other enactment, which declares a Register amenable to the jurisdiction of a Zillah or City court for an act done by him in his official capacity, and the specific Regulation also, under which the Register of Burdwan presides at the sale of putnee tenures, not containing any provision of this nature, the Court are of opinion, that a suit will not lie against such officer, and should not be admitted.—Con. 440, 8th Dec. 1826.

An action will not lie against a register for acts done in his official capacity under the rules contained in reg. 8 of 1819, for the sale of putnee talooks.

422. An order for the confiscation of an estate, passed by the revenue authorities, and confirmed by the executive Government, under the Regulations, which were in force before those enacted in 1793, is not liable to be set aside or altered by the courts since established.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th May 1817, vol. 2, p. 235.

Confiscation of estates before 1793, cannot be reversed by the courts since established.

423. The power of altering the public assessment is not vested by the Regulations in the Civil courts of judicature; but is reserved exclusively to the Governor General in Council.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th June 1817, vol. 2, p. 212.

Civil courts cannot alter the public assessment of land.

424. Claim, by a purchaser of part of an estate at a public sale, to an abatement in the assessment, on the ground that the papers exhibited at the time of sale, detailing the particulars of the lands, were erroneous, rejected, on the ground that the power of altering the public assessment in such cases (which is reserved to Government by Section 29, Regulation 7, 1799, under the conditions there stated) is not vested by the Regulations in the Civil courts.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 155.

Idem.

425. The Civil courts are not authorized to interfere with the revenue authorities, or to pass orders, in a summary manner, in matters relating to the settlement of estates.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Sept. 1818, vol. 2, p. 278.

Idem.

426. A Civil court cannot, notwithstanding the institution of a suit for it, summarily interfere to stay the sale by a Collector of property pledged as security in the revenue department.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th July 1846, p. 81.

Civil courts cannot summarily stay a collector's sale of property pledged as security in the revenue department.

427. The Civil courts have no authority to annul, by a summary order, a public sale of lands made by a Collector.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Jan. 1819, vol. 2, p. 284.

Nor summarily annul a public sale of lands by the collector.

428. The Court direct me to observe to you, that as all claims upon Government to pensions are cognizable only by the Collectors under the provisions of Regulation 24, 1803, subject to an appeal to the Board of Commissioners and the Governor General in Council, the case to which the above papers relate does not appear subject to the cognizance of your court.—Con. 230, 12th Jan. 1816.

Claims to pensions payable by government are not cognizable by the civil courts.

429. Claims, similar to those wished to be preferred by Mohummud Nusseer, are cognizable only by the revenue authorities, that therefore the suit which the person above men-

A collector cannot be sued for declining to pay a pension, the original title to which has not been previously recognized and confirmed by the revenue authorities, or government.

tioned is desirous of bringing in your court against the Collector of Allahabad cannot be legally entertained by your court. The Court observe, from the proceedings held by your senior Judge on the 3d April, 1821, that it is therein distinctly stated, that the pension granted to Mohummud Nusseer's father, Shah Jaroolah, was not in commutation of, or indemnification for, land, so as to bring the case within scope of the rule of Section 2, Regulation 24, 1803, which circumstance alone is sufficient to exclude the court from receiving and trying such claim preferred against the Government. The Court further remark, that even had Mohummud Nusseer's claim been receivable under the section of the Regulation above cited, it would have been inadmissible under the explanation given to that section by Section 2, Regulation 6, 1817, which declares, that it was not thereby intended to authorize the Courts of civil justice to take cognizance of claims to any pensions of the nature alluded to in that section, the original title to which had not been previously recognized and confirmed by the revenue authorities, or by Government; whereas it would appear, from the acting Secretary's letter to the Board of Commissioners, under date the 23d February, 1821, that, in the case in question, the claim of Mohummud Nusseer and others had been adjudged, by the Board of Commissioners in the year 1808, to be inadmissible. As the Government cannot in such a case be sued, so it is equally clear from the 16th Section of Regulation 24, 1803, that the Collector cannot be liable to an action for declining to pay an unauthorized pension.—Con. 343, 6th July 1821.

Civil courts cannot interfere with an order of the resumption courts.

430 An action, the real, though not avowed, object of which is to reverse a decree of the courts for the trial of resumption suits, cannot be heard by the ordinary courts.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th March 1846, vol. 7, p. 256.

Suit to set aside certain summary orders passed in execution of a decree cannot be entertained by the zillah court.

432. The plaintiff sued in zillah Patna to set aside certain summary orders passed in execution of a decree in the Zillah court of Behar. Held, that the action had been irregularly brought, first, in point of local jurisdiction: and secondly, in point of general jurisdiction under Construction No. 1129.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Nov. 1840, vol. 6, p. 303

Miscellaneous orders passed in the execution of a decree, carrying into effect the original intentions of the court, do not constitute a new cause of action.

433. Held by the Western Court, in concurrence with the Calcutta Court, that any order passed in the execution of a decree in regard to mesne profits, interest or other matter in dispute between the parties to the suits which may be involved, in the decision, must be looked upon as a necessary process for carrying into effect the original intentions of the court passing the decree, in respect to a point, in which it may, in fact, be said already to have pronounced a formal judgment, and cannot therefore, be considered as constituting a new cause of action.—Con. 1129, Cal. and West. C. 9th Feb. 1838.

Zillah judge cannot summarily prohibit a haut.

Claim for the title deeds of property not within the jurisdiction of the sudder court, not cognizable by it.

435. A claim for the title deeds of property, not within the jurisdiction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, dismissed as not cognizable by the Court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Dec. 1843, vol. 7, p. 144.

436. The estate of a lunatic consisting exclusively of personal property, there is no law which authorizes the intervention of the Civil courts.—Con. 1311, West. C. 15th Oct., Cal. C. 5th Nov. 1841.

The civil courts cannot interfere with the estate of a lunatic consisting only of personal property.

437. The Civil courts cannot take cognizance of claims for perquisites of the office of Chowdree.—Remarks.—The following is the Circular of the 6th May, 1844, adverted to in the foregoing report: "By the Construction of the Nizamut adawlut No. 816, dated the 23d August, 1833, Magistrates were declared competent to 'remove the chowdrees of the several trades and professions.' The Court having reconsidered the subject of this Construction, and the principle which it involves, are persuaded that it is based on an incorrect view of the chowdree's position, and of the relation in which he stands towards the members of the trade or profession on the one hand and the Government on the other. The chowdree is the head of the profession, selected and appointed by its members in the exercise of their free choice, with which the Government have no power to interfere, and with them rests the option of dispensing with his services, whenever he may have forfeited their confidence, by abusing the influence incident to his position, or acting detrimentally to their interests. The Court are pleased, therefore, with the sanction of Government, to declare Construction No. 816 superseded, and to prohibit any interference on the part of the Magisterial authorities in the election, recognition, or removal of chowdrees, of whatever trade or profession."—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Nov. 1846, vol. 7, p. 282.

The civil courts cannot take cognizance of claims for the chowdree's perquisites.

438. The Court are pleased to intimate that proclamations of a general nature should not be issued by the civil authorities without previous sanction of the measure by the Government or by this Court as the case may be.—Cir. Ord. 30th July 1847.

General proclamations not to be issued by the civil courts without leave.

439. In a case in which the principals, who had obtained an order for possession of property under Regulation 5, 1799, made over such property temporarily to their sureties, it was held that the Civil court could not summarily interfere in a dispute between the principals and sureties, in regard to the proper discharge of the trust.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st June 1847.

Civil courts cannot summarily interfere in a dispute between principals and sureties regarding trusts.

440. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited interfering in any respect in any cause or matter of a criminal nature, declared cognizable by the Magistrates of the several zillahs and cities, the Courts of circuit, or the Nizamut adawlut, or any other courts for the trial of cases of a criminal nature, that now exist, or which may be hereafter established, excepting for contempt and perjuries committed in open court, as prescribed in Sections 14 and 21, Regulation 4, 1793.—*Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 18.—Benares, Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 11.—Ced. and Cong. SECTION XXXVII.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts, in reference to matters cognizable in Military Courts of Request.

441. Actions of debt and all personal actions against officers, soldiers, retainers of the description mentioned in Section 2 of this Regulation, persons registered as attached to sudder bazars or bazars of corps, or menial servants of officers, shall be cognizable before a Military court, and not elsewhere; provided the value in question does not exceed sicca rupees two hundred and the defendant was a person of the description abovementioned.

How actions of debt or other personal actions not exceeding 200 rs. against officers, soldiers, or others, are to be tried and determined.

when the cause of action arose; such courts shall be composed of European officers when European officers may be parties concerned, and in all other cases, of Native officers with an European officer to superintend and record the proceedings, and shall in all practicable cases consist of five members, and in no instance of less than three members, one of whom shall preside. Such courts shall be convened monthly by the commanding officers of corps and stations, and shall be holden on some convenient day before the issue of the pay for each month, and it shall be competent to such courts upon finding any debt, or damage due, either to award execution generally, or to direct as they shall see fit, that the whole or any part thereof shall be stopped and paid over to the creditor out of any pay or public money which may be coming to the debtor, either in the current or any future month. Where the execution is awarded generally, the debt if not paid forthwith, shall be levied by seizure and public sale of such of the debtor's goods as may be found within the limits of the garrison, cantonment or military bazar, under a written order of the commanding officer grounded upon the judgment of the court; and if sufficient goods are not found within the limits, the debtor shall be arrested by like order of the commanding officer, and imprisoned in some convenient place of confinement within the limits of the garrison, cantonment or military bazar, for the space of two months, unless the debt be sooner paid, and his goods, if found within the limits at any subsequent time shall be liable to be seized and sold in satisfaction of the debt, under a written order of the commanding officer.—Reg. 20, 1810, Sect. 22.

Provisions of reg. 20, 1810, or other regulations in force declared not applicable to debts due from British subjects attached to the army.

Such debts and actions provided for by sec. 67 of stat. 4, Geo. IV. cap. 81.

442. Such parts of Regulation 20, 1810, or of any other Regulation in force, as provide for the cognizance by a military tribunal of actions of debt, and all personal actions not exceeding in value or amount the sum of 200 rupees, are hereby declared not to be applicable to cases of debt, or other personal actions in which the party sued may be a British subject attached to the army within the descriptions of persons specified in Section 67 of Statute 4, Geo. IV. Cap. 81, by which amongst other things it is enacted, that in all places where the said Company's forces now are or may be employed, or where any body of His Majesty's forces may be serving with the forces of the said Company, situate beyond the jurisdiction of the Court of requests at the city of Calcutta, actions of debt, and all personal actions against such officers, non-commissioned officers, or soldiers, all persons licenced to act as sutlers to any corps or detachment, or at any station or cantonment, or other persons amenable to the provisions of this Act, or resident within the limits of a military cantonment, shall be cognizable before a Court of requests composed of military officers, and not elsewhere, provided the value in question shall not exceed 400 sicca rupees, and that the defendant was a person of the above description when the cause of action arose.—Reg. 20, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

British subjects attached to the army declared still amenable to local courts for debts exceeding 400 rs.

443. Officers and soldiers being European British subjects will still be subject to the jurisdiction of the local Courts of civil justice, under the provisions of Section 107 of Statute 53, Geo. III. Cap. 155, except in actions of debt and personal actions not exceeding 400 rupees in value or amount.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

444. The provisions of Section 22, Regulation 20, 1810, will still remain in force so far as they relate to actions of debt and personal actions against officers, soldiers and retainers of the description therein specified or referred to, not being European British subjects within the provisions referred to in the first clause of this section.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

445. It appears that there are two rules in these cases ; one, for European British subjects registered as attached to bazars and residing in cantonments, British soldiers, officers, &c. ; and the second for European foreigners, Native soldiers, Natives, &c. registered and residing in cantonments : that with regard to the first, the 4th of Geo. IV. is to be our guide, and 400 rupees the limit ; with regard to the second, Section 22 of Regulation 20 of 1810, and 200 rupees the limit ; and I request to be informed, whether I am right, as I shall put a stop to filing of suits, except the parties conform to Section 24, Regulation 20 of 1810. The Sudder court informed the Judge that he was right in his construction.—Con. 498, 2d March 1829, par 3.

For B. subjects registered as attached to bazars and residing in cantonments, B. soldiers, officers, &c. are amenable to the military court of requests for sums not exceeding 400 rs. For foreigners, N. soldiers, natives registered & residing in cantonments, subject to military ct. of requests in suits not exceeding 200rs., and to the civil courts in those exceeding that sum.

446. A. and B. have dealings within a Military cantonment, but are not residents therein. A. sues B. in the Military Court of requests and obtains a decree. B. demurring to the jurisdiction, the award is enforced, and B. sues in the Civil court for the recovery of the sum paid under the award. Held that a suit of the nature mentioned cannot legally be entertained by a Civil court.—Con. 1291, West. C. 13th Feb., Cal. C. 19th March 1841.

A civil court is not competent to entertain an action to contest the award of a military court of requests.

SECTION XXXVIII.

Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts in reference to the Supreme Court, Calcutta.

447. Held, that a Zillah court was incompetent to pronounce any opinion on the power of the Supreme court ; and that by Section 16, Regulation 3 of 1793, it had no jurisdiction in a claim for money proved to have been paid into the Supreme court by order of the Supreme court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 150.

Civil court cannot pronounce an opinion on the power of the Sup. C., or examine a claim for money paid into it.

448. The Company's courts have no power to interpret the meaning or interfere with the execution of any decree passed by the Supreme court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th Sept. 1844, vol. 7, p. 183.

Civil court cannot interpret the meaning of a decree of the Sup. C., or interfere with its execution.

449. Although the country courts cannot directly question a judgment of the Supreme court, yet they can, upon collateral grounds not before brought forward, control the parties who may have obtained the judgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Aug. 1814, vol. 2, p. 120.

But the civil courts can, upon collateral grounds, not brought forward before, control those who have obtained a judgment of the Sup. C.

450. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will uphold a decree of the Supreme court, in favour of a mortgagee founded on a bond to confess judgment ; although the foreclosure of the mortgage may be contrary to Regulation 17, 1816, the mortgager having voluntarily subjected himself to the jurisdiction.—Opinion of the Advocate General in this case.—"I am of opinion that the proper remedy as to obtaining possession of the estate mortgaged by Zumeeroodeen Moonshee, is by a suit in the Mofussil court by the mortgagee [quere add, against the mortgager ?] who cannot have any defence, the equity of redemption having been foreclosed in the Supreme court. In an action for property purchased at a sheriff's sale in execution of a judgment of the Sup. C., the Co.'s court cannot make enquiries which affect the justice of the judgment of the Sup. C., or an execution under it.

452. In an action for possession of property purchased at a sale made by the Sheriff of Calcutta, in execution of a judgment of the Supreme court, it is not competent to the Company's courts to enter into circumstances which go to affect the justice of the judgment given by the Supreme court or of the execution under it.—*S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Sept. 1837, vol. 6, p. 187.

Idem.

453. In an action for possession of property purchased at a sale made by the Sheriff of Calcutta, in execution of a judgment of the Supreme court, it is not competent to the Company's courts to enter into any enquiry as to the merits of the decree of the Supreme court, or of the proceedings in execution under it—*S. * As this is a matter of importance, the communication of the Advocate General Mr. Robert Percy Smith in 1807, to Government, and of Government to the zillah authorities is given below.

From the Government of Bengal in the Judicial Department to the Judge and Magistrate of Hooghly, dated 26th February, 1807.

SIR,—I am directed by the Honorable the Governor General in Council to transmit to you, for your information, copy of a letter from the Advocate General relative to the assistance hitherto afforded by the officers of Government, in putting the purchasers at the Sheriff's sale in possession of the lands bought by them.

On consideration of the law of the case, as stated in Mr. Smith's letter, the Governor General in Council has been pleased to direct, that no further assistance be afforded to purchasers at the Sheriff's sales, by the officers of Government, and that such persons be left to obtain possession through the channel of the Courts of adawlut.

(Signed) G. DOWDESWELL, Secretary to Govt.

From the Advocate General to the Secretary to Government of Bengal in the Judicial Department, dated 20th February, 1807.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter under date the 5th instant, transmitting for my opinion, by direction of the Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, copy of a petition from Prawn Kishen Biswas, together with copy of a former petition from Rajissore Debbe and others, on which were founded the orders of Government to the Collector to postpone putting Prawn Kishen Biswas into possession of the lands sold to him by the Sheriff.

2. I request you to report to the Hon'ble the Governor in Council, that I am of opinion the order for putting Prawn Kishen Biswas into possession was properly countermanded. It appears that the land was bought by him at a sale of the Sheriff under a judgment obtained at law. It is no part of a Sheriff's duty, nor has he any authority to put purchasers of immovable property at such sales into possession, and he would be a trespasser, if he entered upon the property sold for the purpose of so doing. He sells a title and a title only, under which the purchaser must claim possession in the proper form.

3. I see no reason why Government should be aiding to put the purchaser in a better situation than when the land sold is situated in Calcutta, or why it should interpose in any way to give him a remedy beyond the law. I believe that it has been the practice to put purchasers at the Sheriff's sale in possession under an order of the Board of Revenue, but I imagine that this practice must have originated in a misunderstanding of the powers of the Supreme court and of the nature of its process; and it appears to me that its continuance may be productive of inconvenience and that at all events it has no foundation in any right of the parties, and is contrary to the spirit of those rules which Government has prescribed to itself respecting interference in matters of private property.

4. It is true that where no claim of a third person is brought forward it does not appear that any great injustice could be done by giving this assistance to the purchaser; but if his title is clear enough to afford ground for a summary interference, he can find very little difficulty in making it good in a court of justice, which is the proper place for asserting all rights to property, as well because it is fitter than any other for the discussion of any questions which may arise, as that it has by the course of its ordinary policy the best means of providing that due warning shall be given to all parties who may by possibility be concerned in the consequences of its decisions, and that no advantage shall be obtained upon ex parte applications.

5. I take it for granted it will be understood by the Judges of the Provincial courts that in suits brought for possession by persons claiming under the Sheriff's sale, they are not called upon to enter into circumstances, legal or equitable, which go to affect the justice of the judgment given by the Supreme court or of the execution under it; every question of that sort is for the cognizance of the Supreme court only, and the matter to be tried by the Judge of whom possession is sought is whether (supposing the execution to be right, and to have transferred the whole title of the person against whom the judgment was given to the purchaser,) there is any reason why he should not obtain possession.

6. I therefore submit it as my opinion that in no case should the powers of Government be interposed to put a purchaser of land at Sheriff's sale under an execution at law, into possession; but that the parties should be referred to the ordinary courts of justice. Cases may arise of alienation of immovable property by decrees of the Supreme court in which the act of the court extends to give possession, and in which consequently it is the duty of its ministerial officers to do so. Those cases well deserve consideration when they arise; they are of very rare occurrence and very different from the common case of an execution in which a title only is sold.

(Signed) R. SMITH, Advocate General.

454. The plaintiff, a guardian of certain minors, having demised subsequently to the decision of the Zillah court, given in his favor in an action brought by him involving a claim on the part of the minors to a legacy under a will and no successor having been appointed by the mofussil court; and proceedings in regard to the will having been instituted in the Supreme court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut set aside the decree of the Zillah court, leaving the claim preferred to the decision of the Supreme court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th June 1840, vol. 6, p. 289.

Where proceedings in regard to a will have been instituted in the Sup. C. the S. D. A. ordered that the claim preferred should be left to its decision.

455. An action in the Supreme court on a joint bond or promissory note against one of the contractors, who alone was subject to the jurisdiction of that court, does not bar an action against the other co-contractor, in the mofussil courts.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th April 1841, vol. 7, p. 25.

An action in the Sup. C. against two contractors does not bar an action against another co-contractor in the mof. courts.

456. Held that a suit in the Zillah court, while an action by the same plaintiff against the same party for the same property was pending in the Supreme court, was barred, under the spirit of Section 12, Regulation 3, 1793.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st March 1842, vol. 7, p. 79.

No suit can be heard in the Z. courts while an action by the same plaintiff, against the same party, for the same property, is pending in the Sup. C.

457. An attachment of lands by the Supreme court, pleaded by the purchaser at the Sheriff's sale against the validity of a mortgage and conditional sale of part of the lands during the attachment. Plea disallowed, on proof that the Sheriff's sale took place in satisfaction of a different demand and in execution of a different judgment than that under which the original seizure was made: not shewn also that any legal attachment by the Supreme court existed at the time of the mortgage on which a judgment had been obtained in the Zillah court before the Sheriff's sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Oct. 1806, vol. 1, p. 167.

Grounds on which the plea of an attachment of lands by the Sup. C. by a purchaser at a sheriff's sale against a mortgage and conditional sale of part of the lands during the attachment, was disallowed.

458. But the private sale of a dependant talook, made by the zemindar while his zemindary was under attachment by the Supreme court, which ended in the public sale of it, declared invalid against the purchaser at the public sale, though obligatory on the zemindar or his successor in the event of the public sale being set aside.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Dec. 1806, vol. 1, p. 172. Also Sel. Rep. 3d July 1807, vol. 1, p. 195.

The private sale of a dependant talook by the zemindar, while his estate was under attachment by the Sup. C. which ended in its public sale, invalid against the purchaser at the public sale, though obligatory on the zemindar if the public sale was reversed.

459. Part of a debt having been realized by the process of the Supreme court, and the action there having been discontinued, it is still competent to the claimant to sue for the remainder in a Provincial court, though the claim to be reimbursed for costs of suit incurred in the former court will be rejected.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Jan. 1821, vol. 3, p. 66.

Part of a debt being realized by the process of the Sup. C. and the action there discontinued, the claimant may sue for the remainder in the Co's court, but not for the Sup. C. costs.

SECTION XXXIX.

Suits cognizable and not cognizable by Moonsiffs.

460. Persons invested with the powers of Moonsiffs are hereby empowered to receive, try, and determine all suits of the following descriptions, provided the landed or other real property to which the suit may relate shall be situated, or provided, in all other cases, the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant, at the time when the suit may be commenced, shall reside as a fixed inhabitant, within the limits to which their respective jurisdictions may extend.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Description of suits cognizable by M.

Suits for personal property, to the value of 300 rs., cognizable by moonsiffs.

461. For money or other personal property not exceeding in amount or value the sum of three hundred rupees, provided the claim include the whole amount of the demand arising from the cause of action, and be not for damages on account of alleged personal injuries, or for personal damages of whatever nature.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Suits for real property, to the value of 300 rs., cognizable by moonsiffs.

462. For the property or possession of land or other real property, with the exception of land held exempt from the payment of revenue, the computed value of which shall not exceed three hundred rupees.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Repeals cl. 2, sect. 13, reg. 23, 1814 and cl. 4, sect. 5, reg. 5, 1831.

463. It is hereby enacted, that Clause 2, Section 13, Regulation 23, 1814, and Clause 4, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831, be repealed.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 6.

No person by reason of place of birth or of descent shall in any civil proceeding be exempted from jurisdiction of moonsiffs, &c.

464. And it is hereby enacted, that no person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever, exempted from the jurisdiction of the courts of the Moonsiffs, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Persons vested with the power of moonsiffs may receive, &c. suits of every description under restrictions, &c. as to local jurisdiction and value mentioned in cls. 1, 2 and 3, sect. 5, reg. 5, 1831. But no M. to try suits, &c. in which he himself, his relations, &c. are interested.

465. And it is hereby enacted, that persons invested with the powers of Moonsiff shall be competent to receive, try, and determine suits of every description under the restrictions as to local jurisdiction and value of property mentioned in Clauses 1, 2 and 3, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831. Provided, however, that no Moonsiff shall try any suit, in which he himself, or any of his relatives or dependants, or any of the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Suits which he cannot try by reason of this restriction shall be sent to zillah judge who may refer the same, &c. to any other moonsiff.

466. And it is hereby enacted, that in cases where, by reason of the above section, a Moonsiff cannot try a suit because he himself, or any of his relatives, or dependants, or any of the vakeels or officers of his court is a party to the suit, it shall nevertheless be competent to the Moonsiff to receive the suit, and forward it to the Judge of the zillah to which he is subordinate, who may thereupon refer the same for trial and decision to any other Moonsiff of the district.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Suits for personal damages, or the proprietary right in, and possession of rent free lands cognizable by moonsiffs; but not for the revenue of such lands under sect. 30, reg. 2, 1819.

467. It is deemed advisable by the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower provinces to promulgate, for general information and observance, the result of a correspondence which has recently passed with the Sudder dewanny adawlut in the North-Western provinces, regarding the legal competency of Moonsiffs to receive and determine suits for the property and possession of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, doubts on that subject having been engendered by the omission of the Legislature to rescind Clauses 2 and 3, Section 5, Regulation 5 of 1831, and to re-enact, in the body of Act VI. of 1843, such portions thereof, as it was intended to place within the competency of Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. 8th Oct. 1844, par. 1.

Idem.

468. It has been ruled, with the concurrence of the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Western provinces, that, under the terms of Section 8, Act VI. of 1843, suits "for damages on account of alleged personal injuries, or for personal damages of whatever kind, and claims to the proprietary right in, and possession of, lands held exempt from the payment of revenue," are legally cognizable and determinable by Moonsiffs, provided that the "restrictions, as to local jurisdiction and value of property, mentioned in Clauses 1, 2 and 3, Section 5, Regulation 5 of 1831," be not transgressed.—Ibid, par. 2.

469. The Court desire me to add, that the arguments advanced in Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 95, dated 30th August, 1833, for excluding from the jurisdiction of Moonsiffs, claims preferred to the revenue of lakkiraj land, under the provisions of Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, remain unaffected by Act VI. of 1843, and that suits of that nature must be considered, as heretofore, beyond the competency of a Moonsiff to determine.—Ibid, par. 3. Idem.

470. A ryot cannot remove his suit from the Moonsiff's court, by merely affirming that the land for which the rent is demanded is not liable to rent. The point at issue is, not the validity of the alleged rent-free tenure, but the fact of the ryots having paid, or not paid rent for the preceding year. If this fact be proved by the village accounts, or other legal evidence, the Moonsiff will pass a decree for such amount as may appear due, leaving the ryot to establish his right to hold the land as lakkiraj, by a suit under Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819.—Con. 696, Cal. C. 25th May, West. C. 6th July 1832. The mere affirmation that the land for which rent is demanded is not liable to rent does not enable a ryot to remove his suit from the court of the M.

471. And it is hereby enacted, that within the said territories no person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever connected with arrears or exactions of rent excepted from the jurisdiction of the courts of the Moonsiffs.—Act III. 1839, Sect. 3. No person by reason of place of birth or descent, to be exempt from jurisdiction of revenue courts or moonsiffs.

472. In those districts in which Moonsiffs may be appointed under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, those Moonsiffs shall be competent, in addition to the authority now possessed by Moonsiffs, generally, of receiving, trying, and deciding claims to arrears of rent preferred by regular suit, in like manner to dispose of all claims preferred by under-tenants or others, who may be desirous of resisting the distraint of their property or the attachment of their persons; or who may prefer a claim for damages on account of such acts.—The rule contained in Section 13, Regulation 23, 1814, or any other Regulation, prohibiting the award of damages by Moonsiffs, shall not be considered applicable to such claims.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 11. Moonsiffs appointed under reg. 5, 1831, declared competent to award damages in cases of illegal distraint or attachment.

473. Held, by the Sudder court that an undefended suit for an instalment below 300 rupees, on a bond for an aggregate sum above that amount, is cognizable by the Moonsiff. The same principle is applicable to an undefended action for an arrear of rent below 300 rupees due on a farming engagement or lease of higher value.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 16th July, West. C. 13th Aug. 1841. Rules prohibiting award of damages by M. declared inapplicable to such claims.

474. The Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, [that of the Judge of the Jungle Mehals] under date the 9th instant, on a question as to the jurisdiction of a Moonsiff in a suit for an instalment, the amount of which is within his competence, but which originates in a bond of which the amount is beyond his competence.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 31st Aug. 1832. An undefended suit for an instalment below 300 rs. on a bond, above that amount, cognizable by moon-siff, also an undefended suit for an arrear of rent below that sum on an engagement exceeding it.

475. It appears to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the jurisdiction of the Moonsiff in the suit for the instalment depends much on the defence set up.—Ibid. Idem.

476. Should the original bond be brought into question, and its validity need to be determined, the Moonsiff cannot have jurisdiction, unless the sum, which forms the subject of suit, together with the sum of all instalments, subsequently claimable under the bond, be within More distinct rule on the above subject.

the legal competence of a Moonsiff. If the suit be instituted to recover the balance of principal with interest, due on a bond, for more than 300 rupees, and the amount claimed be within the competence of a Moonsiff, the Moonsiff will have jurisdiction, and plaint will be engrossed on a stamp of value sufficient to cover the claim; if the suit be instituted for the recovery of an instalment, with or without interest, and the sum thereof, together with the sum of all other instalments, subsequently claimable under the bond, be within the competence of a Moonsiff, the Moonsiff will have jurisdiction and the plaint will be engrossed on a stamp equal to the aggregate amount of the instalment and interest claimed, and of the sum of all instalments subsequently due.—Cir. Ord. 14th May 1847.

Idem.

477. If the defence should merely be, that the instalment sued for has been paid, and the mere question is, whether such is the fact or not, the Moonsiff might be competent to decide the case.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 31st Aug. 1832.

Moonsiffs cannot arrest defaulters at the suit of zemindars.

478. Moonsiffs are prohibited from receiving and acting upon petitions for the arrest of defaulters presented by zemindars.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th July 1832.

Moonsiffs may refer suits to arbitration.

479. Held that under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 16, 1793, Moonsiffs are competent, with consent of parties, to refer suits to arbitration.—Con. 1320, Cal. C. 11th Feb., West. C. 4th March 1842.

Moonsiff may receive and decide upon claims regarding an unjust attachment & sale of personal property.

480. In reply to letters from the Judge of zillah Allahabad, dated the 2d and 5th May, 1812, submitting the following question:—Whether a Native Commissioner in his capacity of Moonsiff, was competent to receive and decide upon claims (within the prescribed limitation and instituted before him in the first instance) for the recovery of the amount of an unjust attachment and sale of personal property—he was informed on the 1st May, 1812, that the Native Commissioners were authorized, by Section 30, Regulation 28, 1803, to take cognizance of the description of suits noticed by him.—Con. 103, 21st May 1812.

Summary suits for rent not cognizable by moonsiff.

481. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 5th instant, requesting the Court's construction of Section 13, Reg. 23, 1814. The Court, understanding your query to be "whether, under the above section, Moonsiffs are empowered to receive and try summary suits instituted for the recovery of arrears of rent, provided such arrears do not exceed 64 rupees," direct me in reply to acquaint you, that they do not consider summary suits for rent to be cognizable by Moonsiffs.—Con. 332, 22d Dec. 1820.

Suits connected with arrears or exaction of rent may be received by moonsiffs on quarter stamp, whether instituted by ryots or under-tenants resisting undue demands, or zemindars or others claiming their just dues.

482. I am directed to inform you, that the cases therein alluded to, if connected with arrears or exaction of rent, are cognizable as summary suits by the Collector under the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, and (except where summarily tried by the Collector,) as regular suits by the Moonsiffs on stamp paper of a quarter the full value, if within the amount cognizable by those officers under Sections 8 and 11 of that Regulation.—In reply to your third question the Court direct me to state that they consider the above rules applicable both to ryots and under-tenants resisting undue demands, and to zemindars and others claiming their just dues, —Con. 714, Cal. C. 31st Aug., West. C. 5th Oct. 1832.

A moonsiff may try three several suits between the same parties, the case being for the sum of 150 rs. for each of which

483. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 15th ultimo, requesting the Court's instructions as to the competency of a Moonsiff to try and determine three several suits between the same parties, the case being the sum of 150 Rs., for each of which sum bonds were given on the same day.—In reply, I am desired to acquaint you that there does not appear to be any rule in Regulation 23 of 1814 or other enactment, which can be held to prohibit the cognizance of such suits by a Moonsiff.—Con. 481, 2nd May 1828. sums bonds were given on the same day.

484. I am directed to inform you, that suits brought by khoodkhasht ryots for damages sustained in consequence of ejectment and claims for damages arising from being deprived of water for the purpose of irrigation, cannot be considered as coming within the prohibition contained in Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831, which applies only to suits for damages of a personal nature and not to those for damage done to property. Such suits are therefore cognizable by Moonsiffs. With regard however to the first description of suits, I am directed to refer you to the Circular order of the 15th November, 1833, which declares such claims cognizable by the Collector under Regulation 8, 1831.—Con. 919, West. C. 5th Dec., Cal. C. 26th Dec. 1834. A suit by a khoodkhasht ryot, for the recovery of damages from not having been allowed to cultivate his land, or for loss sustained by being deprived of water to irrigate his field, are cognizable by moonsiffs, such damages not being considered of a personal nature.

[Moonsiffs may now take cognizance of suits for personal damages, see Section 8, Act VI. 1843.]

485. The Court, understanding your question to be whether a Collector can, without application to the Judge, issue a perwannah to a Moonsiff to sell personal property and houses attached by his Nazir, for arrears of public revenue, direct me to communicate their opinion that he is not competent to do so.—Con. 918, Cal. C. 28th Nov., West. C. 26th Dec. 1834. A collector cannot, without application to the judge, issue a perwannah to a moonsiff to sell property attached for arrears of public revenue.

486. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 8th instant, requesting to be informed whether Clause 1, Section 13, Regulation 23, 1814, is intended to bar the cognizance of a suit by a Moonsiff, if the defendant be not a resident inhabitant of his jurisdiction.—In reply, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that a Moonsiff is not competent to take cognizance of a suit for money or other personal property in which the defendant is not resident within his jurisdiction.—Con. 452, 15th June 1827. A moonsiff cannot take cognizance of a suit for money or personal property, if the defendant is not resident in his jurisdiction.

487. In this case the Moonsiff's order was reversed by the Judge of Allyghur on the ground of the defendant being an inhabitant of the illaca of Her Highness the Begum Sumroo out of the jurisdiction of Rubboopoor; but it appears that the defendant, having real property in the jurisdiction of the Moonsiff's court of Rubboopoor, is amenable to it: the sanction of the Court is therefore requested to the reversal of the order passed by the Judge of Allyghur, in order that the case may be re-heard in the Civil court of Meerut, to which the purgunnahs of Rubboopoor have been transferred.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, with its enclosures. In reply, I am directed to inform you that the circumstances mentioned by you do not form a sufficient ground for review of the former Judge's order. It appears from your letter, that the defendant had real property in the jurisdiction of the Moonsiff; this would no doubt render him amenable to it in cases connected with that property; such however is not stated to be the case in the suit to which your communication refers, in which it appears that the parties are both inhabitants of a foreign territory, and that the cause of action also arose in a foreign territory: the case therefore does not come within the limits of jurisdiction laid down in Section 5, Regulation 2, 1803.—Con. 956, West. C. 12th June, Cal. C. 10th July 1835. The defendant is not a resident within the moonsiff's jurisdiction, but has real property there; this would render him amenable to the moonsiff's court in cases connected with that property, but not in a suit in which both he and the plaintiff are inhabitants of a foreign territory, the cause of action having also arisen in a foreign territory.

488. For the consideration and orders of your Court I submit copy of a petition presented by Ramtonoo Pal, and beg to be informed whether with reference to the Regulations noted in the margin, a Moonsiff is empowered to try so important a case as that alluded to by the petitioner. Ramtonoo states that hitherto he has never paid more than 32 rupees per annum, whereas you will observe, the zemindar, Roy Gungadhur, claims 206 rupees 12 annas, in other words he demands (sup- A moonsiff may try a suit brought by a holder against his tenant, to enhance the rent payable by the latter [Neshut-i-jumma.] posing the petitioner's account to be true) an increased yearly income of rupees 175⁴ in perpetuity equivalent to a principal sum of rupees 1,500, or 2,000, calculating at the rates of interest current in Bengal. My own opinion is that suits of this value should be referred for trial to the Principal Sudder Ameen.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th ultimo, and in reply to inform you that the suit alluded to by you, being for a sum of money not exceeding 300 rupees, is cognizable by the Moonsiff under Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831.—Con. 811, 2d Aug. 1833.

SECTION XL

Suits cognizable by Sudder Ameen.

Suits for claims of what amount, and of what nature cognizable by S. A.

Proviso

489. The zillah and city Judges are hereby declared competent to refer to any of the Sudder Ameen subject to their authority for trial and decision any original suits depending or instituted in their courts for money or other personal property, or for the property or possession of land, or of other real property, the amount or value of which, calculated according to the rules specified in No. 8, of the Schedule B, referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829, may not exceed one thousand rupees. Provided however, that no suit shall be referred for trial to a Sudder Ameen in which he himself or his relatives, or dependants, or the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party, or in which an European British subject, an European foreigner, or an American shall be a party.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 15, Cl. 2.

All suits within the competence of a P. S. A. or S. A. to decide, shall ordinarily be instituted in the courts of those officers.

490. It is hereby enacted, that within the territories subject to the Presidencies of Fort William in Bengal, Fort St. George and Bombay, all suits within the competency of a Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen to decide, shall ordinarily be instituted in the courts of those officers respectively.—Act IX. 1844, Sect. 1.

Zillah or city judge may withdraw them himself or refer them to any other competent court subordinate to him.

491. Provided nevertheless, and it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to a zillah or city Judge to withdraw such suits from the court in which they may have been instituted, and to try them himself, or to refer them for trial to any other court subordinate to his authority, and competent in respect to the value of the suit, whenever he may see sufficient reason for so doing.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Zillah or city judge shall assign to the P. S. A. or S. A. attached to his court, if more than one of them, &c. the several moonsiffs' divisions which shall constitute their respective special jurisdiction, and such P. S. A. to have cognizance of all suits mentioned in sect 1. of this act.

492. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever there shall be more than one Principal Sudder Ameen, or more than one Sudder Ameen attached to the court of any zillah or city Judge, and not having any special local jurisdiction, it shall be the duty of such Judge to appoint from time to time the several Moonsiffs' divisions which shall constitute the special local jurisdiction of each of such Principal Sudder Ameen and Sudder Ameen, and that each of such Principal Sudder Ameen and Sudder Ameen shall be empowered to take cognizance of all such suits as are mentioned in Section 1 of this Act, provided the landed or other real property to which the suit may relate shall be situated, or in all other cases the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant at the time when the suit may be commenced shall reside as a fixed inhabitant within the limits of such local jurisdiction as aforesaid.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

493. And it is hereby enacted, that from the first day of June, 1836, and within the territories of the East India Company, no person whatever shall, by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever, excepted from the jurisdiction of the courts of the Sudder Ameens, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Act XI. 1836, Sect. 2.

No person by reason of descent shall be exempt from the jurisdiction of the courts enumerated.

494. Whenever the zillah and city Judges shall retain, on their own files, any original suits which they are authorized by this Regulation to refer to a Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, they shall record their reasons for doing so upon their proceedings.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 24.

Judges retaining on their own files cases referrible to the S. A. or P. S. A., to record their reasons.

495. You will immediately transfer from your own file to the files of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens all suits in which the Government or its officers may be a party, accordingly as the suits may be cognizable by those courts respectively. You are of course competent to retain any of these suits on your own file, provided you see sufficient grounds for so doing, but in reporting to the Court (which you are hereby required to do on the transmission of the monthly statements first sent after the receipt of these instructions,) the execution of their orders, you will submit a list of the suits that you have so retained; and you will briefly explain your reasons for so doing. In like manner you will briefly explain in your monthly statement No. 1, the nature of all original suits retained on your own file, and the cause of their retention.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23rd Feb. 1833.

The judges ordered to transfer to the S. A. all suits in which govt. or its officers may be a party, if the suits be cognizable by them.

496. Held that under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 16, 1793, Sudder Ameens are competent, with consent of parties, to refer suits to arbitration.—Con. 1320, 11th Feb. 1842.

S. A. may refer suits to arbitration.

SECTION XLI.

Suits cognizable by Principal Sudder Ameens.

497. The zillah and city Judges are authorized to refer to the Principal Sudder Ameens any original suits depending or instituted in their courts for money or other personal property, or for the property or possession of land or other real property, the amount or value of which, calculated according to the rules specified in No. 8, of the Schedule B., referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829, may not exceed five thousand rupees. Provided that no suit be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen in which he himself, or his relatives, or dependants, or the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party, or in which an European British subject, or an European foreigner, or an American shall be a party.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 1.

Suits for claims of what amount and of what nature cognizable by P. S. A.

498. The rules enacted in the 1st, 2d and 3d Sections of Act IX. 1844, and given above 490, 491, 492, are applicable also to Principal Sudder Ameens.

499. And it is hereby enacted, that from the first day of June, 1836, and within the territories of the East India Company, no person whatever shall, by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever, excepted from the jurisdiction of the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Act XI. 1836, Sect. 2.

No person, by reason of descent shall be exempt from the jurisdiction of the courts enumerated.

Repeals so much of cl. 1, sec. 18, reg. 5 of 1831, as provides that no suit be referred to a P. S. A. in which the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party.

Suits in which the relatives or dependants of a S. A. are a party, and which the zillah and city judges cannot refer, may be transferred to another zillah or city court, and by such court be referred in the same manner as if it had been originally instituted in the court of such zillah or city.

Suits of any value may be referred by a zillah or city judge to any P. S. A.

S. D. A. may authorize the judge of any zillah or city court to transfer to a P. S. A., any civil proceeding; and all proceedings so transferred shall be disposed of by the P. S. A., according to the rules prescribed for zillah or city judges; provided that an appeal from the P. S. A. shall lie to the zillah or city judge in the first instance and specially to the S. D. A.

P. S. A. may refer suits to arbitration.

Suits of which the documentary evidence is in English not to be referred to a P. S. A. ignorant of it.

The above order is qualified, as below.

500. It is hereby enacted, that so much of Clause 1, Section 18, Regulation 5 of 1831, of the Bengal Code, as provides that no suit be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen in which the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party, is hereby repealed.—Act XXVII. 1838, Sect. 1.

501. And it is hereby enacted, that in cases where, by reason of the above clause, a suit cannot be referred to a Sudder Ameen, because he himself or his relatives or dependants are a party to the suit, and where the zillah and city Judges cannot refer such suit to be tried by any other competent authority, it shall be lawful for each of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal to direct, by an order authenticated by the official signature of their Register, that the cognizance of such suit shall be transferred to any other Zillah or City court subordinate to the same Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut; and the Judge of such other Zillah or City court may thereupon refer such suit in the same manner as if the same had been originally instituted in the court of such other zillah or city.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

502. It is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, of the Bengal code, that from the first day of November, 1837, no zillah or city Judge within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, shall be precluded by reason of the amount of value of the property for the recovery of which a suit is instituted, from referring that suit to any Principal Sudder Ameen.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 1.

503. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to either of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, by an order under the signature of the Register of such court, to authorize the Judge of any Zillah or City court, subordinate to such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to transfer to a Principal Sudder Ameen any civil proceedings, whether miscellaneous or summary, which may be depending at the time when such order is issued or be thereafter instituted in the court of the said zillah or city Judge, and all proceedings so transferred shall be disposed of by the said Principal Sudder Ameen according to the rules prescribed in the Regulations for the guidance of the zillah and city Judges in the like cases,—provided however that an appeal from the order of the Principal Sudder Ameen in such cases shall lie in the first instance to the zillah or city Judge, and specially to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

504. Held that under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 16, 1793, Principal Sudder Ameens are competent, with consent of parties, to refer suits to arbitration.—Con. 1292, Cal. C. 26th March, West. C. 10th April 1841.

505. No suits should be referred to the Principal Sudder Ameen in which the documentary evidence may be in the English language, unless such Principal Sudder Ameen is acquainted with the English language.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Feb. 1838, par. 4.

506. That part of the Circular order No. 4, under date the 23rd February, 1838, which prohibits the reference to a Principal Sudder Ameen of suits in which the documentary evidence may be in English unless that officer possess an acquaintance with the English language, appearing to the Court to require some qualification, I am directed to communicate to you the following instructions, in modification of paragraph 4 of the Circular referred to, for the guidance of yourself and the subordinate courts concerned.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 18th Oct., West. C. 31st Oct. 1839, par. 1.

507. You will not in future consider the mere circumstance of the initial petition reciting the existence of an English document in support of a claim, to constitute a necessary ground for the retention of a suit on your own file. On the contrary such suits are to be referred in the first instance, in the same manner as others, under the existing laws, to those tribunals by which they may be cognizable—Ibid, par. 2.

Suits in which the initial petition recites the existence of an English document not to be retained on the judge's file, but referred to the courts in which they are cognizable:

508. After the reference of such a suit, when the Principal Sudder Ameen, (or Sudder Ameen with respect to suits which from their amount may be within his cognizance,) shall proceed in the manner prescribed by Sections 10 and 12, Regulation 26 of 1814, it will be his duty, upon either party tendering an English document as evidence, to require such party to file with it an Oordoo translation,* without which accompaniment it should not be received. The court before whom these papers are filed, shall thereupon transmit both the original and translation, in the same mode as is laid done for the transmission of exhibits, and with the same precautions to your court, for consideration and orders.—Ibid, par. 3.

After the suit is referred, if an Eng. document is tendered as evidence, the P. S. A. or S. A. will require an Oordoo translation and transmit the original and translation for the judge's consideration and orders.

509. Upon inspecting the English and Oordoo documents, you will consider the propriety of allowing the subordinate court to proceed with the suit or transferring it to your own file, with due advertence to the nature of the English writing, and of the transaction to which it may relate, exercising your discretion accordingly. Should it appear likely to involve such complicated questions, as would make a knowledge of English indispensable to a correct adjudication of the case, you may deem it advisable to adopt the latter course, and recall the suit to the file of your court; but if the English writing should be confined to a simple account, bill, or other similar document, you will probably think fit, after satisfying yourself of the accuracy of the translation, (and in the event of discovering any error, taking proper steps towards remedying the defect,) to return the papers to the lower court, with instructions to proceed in the usual manner.—Ibid, par. 4.

The various circumstances on which will depend the retention of the case on the judge's file, or its being returned for trial to the lower court.

510. The Court are pleased to prescribe the following rules in modification of the Circular order, No. 54, of the 18th of October (Western Provinces, 31st October), 1839.—Cir. Ord. 18th Feb. 1842, par. 1.

The above rules farther modified, as below.

511. It is to be left to the option of the party filing an English document to accompany it with a translation in the Oordoo or Bengalee language; but the Native Judge, before whom the suit may be pending is competent to call on such party to file a translation when it may seem to him to be wanted—Ibid, par. 2.

It is left optional with the party filing an Eng. document to accompany it with a translation. The N. judge may call for a translation.

512. No question is to be entertained as to the correctness of any translation, if both parties agree to receive the translation as correct, or if the disputed point be non essential, the translation not to be questioned.

N. J. may refer any doubts of the translation to the J.

ties agree to receive it as correct, or if the point on which the correctness is doubted, be one not essential to the decision of the case.—Ibid, par. 3.

513. The Native Judges are, however, to be at liberty to refer to the Judge any doubt as to the accuracy of a translation, on which they may wish to obtain his instructions.—Ibid, par. 4.

SECTION XLII.

Suits cognizable by the Zillah Judges.

Judges to have primary jurisdiction in all suits in which the value of the claim exceeds 5000 rs.

514. From and after the date aforesaid, the Judge of the Zillah of City court into which the provisions of this Regulation may be introduced, shall have primary jurisdiction in all suits, in which the value or amount of the claim may exceed five thousand rupees, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Reg. 5, 1831. Sect. 27, Cl. 3. [By preceding enactments, the zillah and city Judges had jurisdiction in cases below 5000 rupees. The enactment above given is not intended to curtail but to enlarge their jurisdiction.]

Suits under reg. 4, 1812 will be tried by the zillah and city judges.

515. Suits, under Regulation 4 of 1812, instituted or defended by the public officers on behalf of sovereign Native princes, will be received and decided by the zillah and city Judges.—Govt. Ord. No. 3, 15th Jan. 1834.

Also suits under reg. 23, 1814, sec. 10 and 67.

516. Actions against Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens in reference to Regulation 23, 1814, Sections 10 and 67, for corruption, extortion or any oppressive or unwarranted act of authority, and in which suits the decree will cause the offender to pay damages and costs to the party injured, should be preferred to and tried by the zillah and city Judges, subject to appeal to the Sudder Court.—Ibid, No. 7.

Also suits under reg. 12, 1793, sec. 8; reg. 11, 1795; reg. 11, 1803, sec. 8, and reg. 3, 1827, sec. 2 and 3.

517. Charges, under Regulation 12, 1793, Section 8; Regulation 11, 1795; Regulation 11, 1803, Section 8; Regulation 3, 1827, Sections 2 and 3, of corruption or extortion against the Law Officers of the Zillah and City courts, and in which cases the decree would adjudge the offender to refund the amount, or value of the money or property received or taken, with interest not exceeding 12 per cent. in cases of money taken, and full costs of suit, should be preferred to and tried by the zillah and city Judges, subject to appeal to the Sudder Court.—Ibid, No. 8.

Also suits under reg. 39, 1793, sec. 11; reg. 49, 1795, sec. 3, and reg. 46, 1803, sec. 11.

518. Suits, under Regulation 39, 1793, Section 11; Regulation 49, 1795, Section 3, and Regulation 46, 1803, Section 11, against Cazees, for undue practices in the discharge of the duties prescribed to them by the Regulations, should be preferred to and tried by the zillah and city Judges, subject to appeal to the Sudder Court.—Ibid, No. 9.

Also suits under reg. 14, 1793, sec. 33, and reg. 27, 1803, sec. 36.

519. Suits, under Regulation 14, 1793, Section 33; Regulation 27, 1803, Section 36, against a Collector for sums of money demanded, directly or indirectly received or taken by him, for his own use, from any proprietor or farmer of land, or any surety, or any purchaser of land; or for any acts done in his official capacity, or repugnant to the Regulations, or not warranted thereby, and that shall not involve any claim to sums received or demanded by him on behalf of Government in conformity to the Regulations, will be tried by the zillah and city Judges.—Ibid, No. 17.

SECTION XLIII.

Suits cognizable by the Uncovenanted Judges.

520. In modification of Section 19, Regulation 8, 1831, regular suits instituted to set aside the summary judgments of Collectors for land rent are declared cognizable, according to their amount, by the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs. —Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 10.

Regular suits instituted to set aside summary awards of collectors for land rent declared cognizable by P. S. A., S. A. or M.

521. Suits, under Regulation 22, 1793, Sections 22 and 38 ; Regulation 17, 1795, Section 35 ; Regulation 14, 1807, Section 11, Clause 12, by the injured party for damages against a darogah of Police, or any officer under his authority, for corruption, extortion, oppression, or any act repugnant to the Police regulations, are to be received by the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, or Moonsiffs, as they may be cognizable by one or other.—Govt. Ord. No. 14, 15th Jan. 1834.

The following suits will be received and tried by the uncov. judges ; those under reg. 22, 1793, sec. 22 and 38 ; reg. 17, 1795, sec. 35, and reg. 14, 1807, sec. 11, cl. 12.

The following suits (Rules 522 to 526) will be received and decided by the Uncovenanted Judges with the exception of cases in which a European officer of Government may be concerned.

Also the following, except when an Eur. officer of govt. is concerned.

522. Suits, under Regulation 10, 1793, Section 36 ; Regulation 52, 1803, Section 40, by a proprietor against a collector, guardian or manager for acts done contrary to the regulations or orders of the Court of Wards, or for any breach of trust during the continuance of an estate under the Court of Wards.—Govt. Ord. No. 18, 15th Jan. 1834.

Suits under reg. 10, 1793, sec. 36, and reg. 52, 1803, sec. 40.

523. Suits, under Regulation 14, 1793, Sections 6 and 24 ; Regulation 45, 1793, Sections 7 and 8 ; Regulation 20, 1795, Sections 7 and 8 ; Regulation 26, 1803, Sections 21 and 22 ; Regulation 27, 1803, Section 30, Clause 23, by proprietors, farmers and their sureties against ameens and tehseeldars deputed by the Collector to take charge of their lands in cases of arrears of revenue, or execution of decrees, for embezzlement or injuries done by them to the estate or farm.—Ibid, No. 19.

Suits under reg. 14, 1793, sec. 6 and 24 ; reg. 45, 1793, sec. 7 and 8 ; reg. 20, 1795, sec. 7 and 8 ; reg. 26, 1803, sec. 21 and 22, and reg. 27, 1803, sec. 30, cl. 23.

Suits under reg. 21, 1814, sec. 13, cl. 2.

525. Suits, under Regulation 6, 1795, Section 7 ; Regulation 27, 1803, Section 7, against a Collector's peons or sowars for exactions of money or subsistence, or receipt thereof from defaulters, involving the penalty of a refund of double the amount.—Ibid, No. 21.

Suits under reg. 6, 1795, sec. 7, and reg. 27, 1803, sec. 7.

526. Suits, under Regulation 2, 1800, Section 9, against the officers stationed at the Chunar, Ghazeepore and Mirzapore stone quarry, or any other persons, for exactions beyond the prescribed duty, and charges of corruption against any public officer or other person, directly or indirectly entrusted with the execution of any part of this regulation ; the penalties for extortion and corruption being the same as against ministerial Native officers under Regulation 13, 1793.—Ibid, No. 22.

Suits under reg. 2, 1800, sec. 9.

527. Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs are not prohibited from trying suits in which other Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, or their dependants may be concerned.—Con. 692, 18th May 1832.

S. A. and M. may try suits in which other S. A. and M. or their dependants are concerned.

SECTION XLIV.

Suits cognizable either by the Covenanted or Uncovenanted Judges.

Suits in para. 529—532 to be tried by the courts to which the officers sued are attached.

Exception.

Suits under reg. 27, 1814, sec. 12.

Suits under reg. 23, 1814, sec. 15, cl. 3.

Suits under reg. 13, 1793, sec. 9; reg. 12, 1795; reg. 12, 1803, sec. 12, and reg. 3, 1827, sec. 2 and 3.

Suits under reg. 5, 1831, sec. 25, cl. 2.

Suits under the following regulations to be instituted in the first instance before the judge, who will refer them, if proper to a subordinate court.

Proviso regarding suits which the vakeel of govt. must defend.

Reg. 3, 1793, sec. 10; reg. 7, 1795, sec. 7, and reg. 2, 1803, sec. 7.

Reg. 3, 1793, sec. 11; reg. 7, 1795, sec. 7, and reg. 2, 1803, sec. 15.

528. Suits, described in the four following paragraphs (529 to 532) are to be received and decided by the court to which the officers sued may be attached, provided that if the amount be beyond the competence of such court, it shall be forwarded to the Judge, who will refer it to any other court competent to decide it, or he may place it on his own file; provided also, that suits against ministerial officers of the Criminal courts (exclusive of Police officers) shall be preferred to the Judge, who will at his discretion, refer it to any subordinate court competent to decide it, or retain it on his own file.—Govt. Ord. 15th Jan. 1834.

529. Suits, under Regulation 27, 1814, Section 12, by the parties in a cause against their respective pleaders for any damages or injury which they may have sustained from any breach of the Regulations on the part of their pleaders, or from any fraudulent conduct or malpractices committed by them regarding the suit.—Ibid, No. 10.

530. Suits, under Regulation 23, 1814, Section 15, Clause 3, against vakeels of the Moonsiffs' courts for all breaches of trust, fraud, or acts of wilful misconduct committed by them in their capacity of vakeels.—Ibid, No. 11.

531. Suits, under Regulation 13, 1793, Section 9; Regulation 12, 1795; Regulation 12, 1803, Section 12; Regulation 3, 1827, Sections 2 and 3, against the ministerial officers of the Civil and Criminal courts for acts of corruption or extortion.—Ibid, No. 12.

532. Suits, under Regulation 5, 1831, Section 25, Clause 2, against the ministerial officers of the Sudder Ameens, Principal Sudder Ameens, for acts of extortion, corruption or misconduct. By the Government order of this day the provisions are extended to the ministerial officers of the Moonsiffs' courts.—Ibid, No. 13.

533. The Government orders of the 15th January, 1834, provide that the following suits, not involving charges respecting the honour and integrity of the officers concerned, should be instituted in the first instance before zillah or city Judges, who should be competent, after making the reference prescribed by Regulation 2, 1814, to try the suits themselves or refer them for trial to any subordinate court competent to decide them. But all suits which it may be necessary to defend through the vakeel of Government shall be tried at the sudder station or where the Judge's court is held.

534. Suits, under Regulation 3, 1793, Section 10; Regulation 7, 1795, Section 7; Regulation 2, 1803, Section 7, against Collectors, Salt Agents, Collectors of Customs, Mint and Assay Masters, and their respective assistants and Native officers, for any acts done in their official capacity in opposition to the Regulations.

535. 577. Suits, under Regulation 8, 1824, Section 14, against the Commissioner of Revenue, and Supervisor of river navigation and his people for official acts under this Regulation. Reg. 8, 1824, sec. 14.

SECTION XLV.

Transfer of Suits.

578. It is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for each of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to direct by an order authenticated by the official signature of the Register of such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the cognizance of any original suit, or of any appeal which may be brought before any Zillah or City court, subordinate to such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, shall be transferred to any other Zillah or City court, subordinate to the same Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Act III. 1837, Sect. 1. S. D. A. may direct any original suit or appeal brought before any subordinate zillah or city court to be transferred to any other subordinate zillah or city court.

579. Provided always, that whenever either of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall, in the exercise of the power given by the preceding clause, direct the trans- Whenever such transfer of any suit shall be made, the court shall record the reason of the transfer in its proceedings. fer of the cognizance of any suit, such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall cause the reasons for such transfer, to be recorded on its proceedings.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Suits within the competency of the M. to be ordinarily instituted in their courts. Proviso.

580. All suits within the competency of a Moonsiff to decide under the foregoing provisions, shall ordinarily be instituted in the Moonsiffs' courts. Provided nevertheless that it shall be competent to a zillah or city Judge to receive such suits, and to try them himself, or to refer them for trial to any other court subordinate to his authority, whenever he may see sufficient reason for so doing.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 7.

Judges may transfer suits from one M. to another, but must immediately report the same to the S. D. A.

581. Doubts having been entertained, whether, under the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 5 of 1831, a zillah or city Judge can, of his own authority, transfer cases from the file of the Moonsiff, by whom they may be properly cognizable, to that of another officer of the same or a superior grade, the Court have determined that he is competent to make such transfer, whenever he may see good and sufficient reason for so doing. To enable the Court, however, to maintain an efficient check on the proceedings of the subordinate courts in this respect, the zillah and city Judges are required, whenever they may deem it proper to transfer any number of cases exceeding fifteen, from the file of one officer to another, immediately to report the same for the information of the Court. All such transfers should, of course, be duly entered in the column of remarks in statement No. 1, Part 1, in the memorandum marked B.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th Dec., West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

Suits depending before M. may be tried by the judge or referred for trial to another tribunal.

582. The zillah and city Judges may, for any reason that may appear to them sufficient, bring up for trial before them, or their Registers, or the Sudder Ameens, any causes, that may be depending before the Moonsiffs, or may transfer such causes from one Moonsiff to another.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 47, Cl. 1.

Zillah or city judge may withdraw them and try them himself, or refer them to any other competent court subordinate to him.

583. Provided nevertheless, and it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to a zillah or city Judge to withdraw such suits from the court in which they may have been instituted, and to try them himself, or to refer them for trial to any other court subordinate to his authority, and competent in respect to the value of the suit whenever he may see sufficient reason for so doing.—Act IX. 1844, Sect. 2.

Suits not exceeding 300 rs. in amount will be decided by M. but for special reasons may be referred to S. A.

584. In reply to the 2nd paragraph of the Judge's letter, the Court propose to inform him that as the object of Government in the late arrangement was, that cases not exceeding 300 rupees in amount should be decided by officers receiving a salary of 150 rupees a month, and near to the homes of the parties, the general practice of referring such suits to Sudder Ameens must be considered objectionable, especially as the establishment of Moonsiffs was framed so as to admit of all such cases being tried by them, and no such assistance from the Sudder Ameens ought to be required. Section 47, Regulation 23, 1814, however, being still in force, such cases may on special reasons, to be assigned by the Judge in each case, be referred to Sudder Ameens or Principal Sudder Ameens.—Con. 833, West. C. 27th Sept., Cal. C. 18th Oct. 1833.

SECTION XLVI.

The Nazim of Bengal.

Cases to be referred to the Nazim.

585. In complaints brought before any Zillah or City court in which it shall appear either by the application of the Nazim, or the representation of the defendant, at or before the time of giving in his or her answer, or by the petition of the complainant, that both parties are servants or relations of His Excellency, or the widows or female descendants of the former Nazims of Bengal, the parties are to be referred for justice to the Nazim, or to any person whom he may appoint to dispense it. Upon a complaint being preferred against any servant or servants of His Excellency by persons of a different description, the court in which the complaint may be instituted, is either to refer it to His Excellency, or to hear it in the ordinary manner, according to its discretion, taking care at all times, and in all matters, to pay every proper attention to the dignity and long established rights of the Nawaub. Provided however, that in all cases in which either the plaintiff or defendant shall prefer the jurisdiction of the court to that of the Nazim, the Judge is to try and determine the suit in the same manner as if neither of the parties had been persons of the description specified in this section.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 10.

586. It shall be competent to the Agent to the Governor General at Moorshedabad, or other officer, however denominated, exercising for the time being the control and superintendence of the affairs of the Nizamut on the part of the Governor General in Council to institute suits in the Courts of Civil judicature on the part of His Highness the Nazim of Bengal, and to conduct them as plaintiff or appellant in such manner as may appear proper.—Reg. 19, 1825, Sect. 2.

The agent to the G. G. at Moorshedabad may institute suits in the civil courts, on the part of the Nazim of Bengal.

587. In like manner, should any suit be instituted in any Court of Civil judicature against His Highness the Nazim of Bengal, the ordinary notice shall be issued upon the Agent to the Governor General, or other officer aforesaid, who shall conduct the defence on the part of His Highness.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

When suits may be instituted against the nazim, the notice is to be served on the agent, who will defend them.

588. Provided always, that security shall not be required from, nor shall attachment in any case issue against His Highness, or against the Agent to the Governor General, or other officer aforesaid; but should the court require the payment of any costs, damages, or other sums of money, or the delivery of any lands, and after order duly made and served on the Agent, any unreasonable delay should arise, it shall be competent to the court to transmit a copy and translation of the decree or order to the Secretary to Government in the Persian department, when the Governor General in Council will issue such orders as may be necessary for the discharge of the amount due.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

The nazim and the agent to the govt. exempted from furnishing security and from process of attachment.

Order and decrees of the civil courts in such suits how to be executed.

589. Suits, under Regulation 19, 1825, in which the Governor General's Agent is plaintiff or defendant on the part of the Nazim of Bengal, are to be received and decided by the zillah Judge.—Govt. Ord. No. 2, 15th Jan. 1834.

Zillah judge will decide suits under reg. 19, 1825.

590. Suits, under Regulation 16, 1793, Section 10, in which both parties are servants or relations of the Nazim of Bengal, or the widows or female descendants of the former Nazims, or in which such persons are defendants only, must be preferred to the Judge as heretofore, provided that the Judge shall be competent to refer for decision to Principal Sudder Ameens or Sudder Ameens any suits of this nature which he may be himself authorized to decide under that section.—Ibid, No. 1.

Also suits under reg. 16, 1793, sec. 10. But he may refer them to P. S. A. or S. A.

591. In reply to a letter requesting to be informed whether a suit might be instituted under Regulation 4, 1812, in favor of the Nawaub Nazim, the Governor General's Agent at

The question whether a suit could be instituted under reg.

4, 1812, in favor of the nazim depended on the light in which he was viewed by govt. for which information was to be sought direct of govt. Moorshedabad was informed, that the solution of the question depended on whether Government considered His Highness in the light of a sovereign prince or not, and the court suggested that he should apply direct to Government for information on that point.—Con. 377, 8th April 1825.

SECTION XLVII.

The Nawaub of Furruckabad.

Jurisdiction of the zillah court of Furruckabad not to extend to the person of the nawaub.

Rule with regard to his dependants.

592. The following article, being the sixth article of a treaty concluded with the Nawaub of Furruckabad, on the 4th of June, 1802, is hereby enacted into a rule, for the guidance of the Zillah court of Furruckabad. "Article sixth.—The authority of the Court of Adawlut shall not extend to the person of the Nawaub; but as his connections and dependants are undefined, and as it is the object of the British Government to introduce a fair and impartial administration of justice, throughout the province of Furruckabad, it is agreed, that whatever complaint may be preferred against any of the Nawaub's dependants, shall in the first instance be referred to the Nawaub; and in the event of the complainant not receiving speedy justice, or being dissatisfied with the Nawaub's decision, the complaint shall be decided in the Adawlut."—Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 8.

Constructions regarding the jurisdiction of the nawaub of Furruckabad.

593. It must remain with the Judge, on the showing of the plaintiff, to determine whether the delay in the decision of the case has been such as to authorize his receiving the suit on the ground that the plaintiff has not received speedy justice.—Con. 843, West C. 8th Nov., Cal. C. 29th Nov. 1833, Quest. 1.

Idem.

594. The decisions passed by the Nawaub should be enforced by himself, by means of the influence which he is supposed to possess over his own dependants. The courts are neither called on, nor authorized to aid in their execution, nor is the Nawaub himself vested with any special authority with this view by the Regulations.—Ibid, Quest. 2 and 5.

Idem.

595. The Nawaub has no authority to receive or act on petitions of plaint except on reference from the Judge of the Zillah court. This is plainly required by the terms of the Regulation; all decisions which may have been passed by the Nawaub without reference from the court, are consequently null and void.—Ibid, Quest. 3.

Idem.

596. A defendant being dissatisfied with the decision of the Nawaub, has no right of appeal; as he is necessarily a dependant of the Nawaub, the Regulation appears to consider that in becoming his dependant, he has voluntarily subjected himself to his authority in civil matters.—Ibid, Quest. 4.

Idem.

597. The Court are of opinion that unless the defendant in his first pleading (the juwub-i-dawa) pleads his privilege as a dependant of the Nawaub, he cannot afterwards assert it. This rule will, the Court observe, effectually check the practice mentioned by you of delaying the administration of justice, by requesting a reference of the case when it has nearly been brought to a conclusion.—Con. 843, West C. 8th Nov., Cal. C. 29th Nov. 1833.

Idem.

598. On an enquiry from the Civil court—1. Were the provisions of the treaty concluded with Nazir Jung, the Nawaub of Furruckabad, on the 4th June, 1802, declared to extend to the successors of that chieftain? 2. If they were, how should the courts proceed during the minority of the present Nawaub, Shoukut Jung, in cases of suits instituted against any of his dependants?—The Sudder dewanny adawlut, on the 26th May following, gave it as their opinion, in reply to the first question, “that the terms of the treaty concluded with the late Nawaub Nazir Jung must be considered to extend to his successor Shoukut Jung, the present Nawaub of Furruckabad;” and in reply to the second question, “that all suits properly referrible to him, (the Nawaub,) should be referred, during his minority, to his guardian or principal manager.”—Con. 162, 26th May 1814.

599. Adverting to Section 8, Regulation 2, 1803, the Judge of Furruckabad requested the favour of instructions from the Court in the following case:—A suit has been filed, Nawaub Hussien Alli Khan versus Chote Beghum, (plaint, 2557-5-4, rent of jaghire) in which the defendant pleaded on the filing of the suit that she was one of the Nawaub's dependants, (Mootuwussil being the term in use here,) and the case was ordered as usual to be sent to the Nawaub for decision. The plaintiff however gave in a suwal stating that the Nawaub being a minor, all business was transacted by his guardian Nawaub Ahmed Yar Khan, to whom the defendant in this case is related, and praying that the case may be retained in the Zillah court.—The Court in reply stated, “The circumstance of the Nawaub being a minor will not prevent the reference of the case in the usual manner; the decision will of course be given by the guardian of the Nawaub, instead of the Nawaub himself.”—Con. 785, 31st May 1833.

Idem.

600. It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of June, 1836, if the holder of a decree passed by the Nuwaub of Furruckabad under the provision of Section 8 of Regulation 2 of 1803, shall be unable to obtain execution of the said decree by the Nuwaub for a period of six weeks, (which period of six weeks shall be calculated from the said first day of June, if the decree was passed before the first day of June, and from the time of passing the decree, if it were passed on or after the said first day of June,) the said holder shall be at liberty to sue out execution of the said decree in the Zillah court of Furruckabad, and the Judge of that court, on application made to that effect, shall execute the decree in the same manner in which a decree of the said Zillah court is executed.—Act XII. 1836.

If the holder of a decree passed by the nuwaub of Furruckabad is to obtain execution by the nuwaub, the zillah court may execute it.

601. Suits, under Regulation 2, 1803, Section 8, in which both parties are servants or relations of the Nawaub of Furruckabad, or the widows or female descendants of the former Nawaub, or in which such persons are defendants only, must be preferred to the Judge as heretofore, provided that the Judge shall be competent to refer for decision to Principal Sudder Ameens or Sudder Ameens any suits of this nature which he may be himself authorized to decide under that section.—Govt. Ord. 15th Jan. 1834, No. 1.

Suits under reg. 2, 1803, sec. 8 to be preferred to the judge who may refer them to the native judges.

SECTION XLVIII.

Special Rules regarding the Rajah of Benares.

602. On a written complaint being preferred in the manner specified in Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, either against the Rajah of Benares, or against any of the principal mahajuns of the city of Benares, being such as are known under the denomination of now-

Cases wherein defendants are not to be called on for security in causes tried before city and zillah courts.

putty, or against any of the baboos, (being persons of the Rajah's blood and family,) the security required from defendants in the said section, shall not be demanded of them, but the court is merely to issue a notice to such defendants, containing a short account of the nature of the demand, and fixing a day for him or them to appear either in person, or by vakeel duly authorized to answer to the claim; and in case of his or their failing to appear as required, or to conform to all the subsequent established process in the cause, such defendant or defendants, shall forfeit the honorary privilege hereby reserved to them, and be dealt with in all respects as other unprivileged defendants. This privilege, however, is to be construed to extend only to the cases above specified, in which such persons may be defendants in the City court, or the Zillah courts, and to suits which may be directed to be tried in the first instance in the Provincial court of appeal, or the Sudder dewanny adawlut, pursuant to orders from the Governor General in Council, or in the Provincial court of appeal, in conformity to directions from the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and not to any cases of appeal, in which whether the appeal be lodged in the Provincial court of appeal or the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the said persons are to give the same securities, as other persons concerned in appeals in those courts.—Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 10.

Cases to be referred to the rajah.

603. In the event of any complaints being preferred to the City court, or to any Zillah court, or to the Provincial court of appeal, relative to undue exactions of revenue, or any breach of agreement in respect to pottahs, or the resumption of kishnarpun, or other description of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, in the jaghire mehals of Budhooe, or of Kera Mungrore, in the Rajah's hereditary zemindary of Gungapore; the complaints are not to be taken cognizance of in the Courts of justice, but the parties are to be desired to make application to the Rajah, or to his dewan; and in case of their not obtaining justice, they are to have recourse to the Collector, who will proceed to bring such causes to a just and equitable termination, in the manner stated in the under specified article of an agreement, concluded by the Resident with Rajah Mahipnarain, under date the 27th October, 1794. An option however is reserved to the persons deeming themselves injured, to prefer their applications for redress in the first instance to the Collector, who in all cases, by reference to and communication with the Rajah, and his officers, is to cause substantial justice to be rendered to the parties.—Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

Article of agreement.

604. Article third, of an agreement concluded by the Resident at Benares with Rajah Mahipnarain, under date the 27th October, 1794 :—" In cases of complaints relative to revenue causes, or charity ground, &c. being preferred to the Huzoor, (i. e. the English Government,) by any parties residing within the jaghire, and ultungah, &c. the personal or private lands of Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, the enquiry thereinto shall be made, in like manner as such cases were amicably conducted between Mr. Duncan and the Rajah; that is, that since the gentleman holding the station of Collector will have more concern and connection with such matters, than the other gentlemen, the rule shall be, that with the privity and ascertainment of the said Collector, (who is to have regard to the honor, and dignity of the said Rajah,) such causes are to be settled through the channel of the said Rajah, or of the officers of the said Rajah's cutcherry; it being at the same time understood, and provided, that as it is a duty incumbent on the Honourable Company's Government, to distribute and ensure the attainment of justice to all the inhabitants of Benares, should it so happen, that after referring such complaints to the Rajah, or to his officers in the cutcherry, the contentment of the parties complaining and aggrieved, shall not be obtained, the Rajah shall, relative to the adjustment of such causes, listen to, and approve of, the suggestions and advice of the Collector, in like manner as hath been practised in the time of Mr. Duncan; and it is also incumbent on the said Collector, in all proper and just cases, to show the utmost attention possible to the Rajah's accommodation, and to hold in view the maintenance of his honour and dignity, such being entirely consistent with the wishes of Government; and if (which God forbid,) any such subject should arise, as cannot be settled between the said Collector, and the Rajah aforesaid, the decision in such case shall depend on the Governor General in Council."—Ibid, Cl. 2.

605. Regulation 15, 1795, is hereby declared subject to the following modifications. Reg. 15, 1795, modified.

606. The superintendence of the mehals abovementioned shall be vested in such officer as the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by an order in council, appoint.—Ibid, Sect. 3. Superintendence of Blurdoce, &c. constituting the family domain of rajah of Benares, to be vested in such officer as the govt. may appoint.

607. In order to secure for the inhabitants of these mehals, the administration of civil justice on the principles in force throughout the rest of the province, a Native Commissioner shall be maintained by the Rajah in each of the purgunnahs referred to in Regulation 15, 1795, for the purpose of taking cognizance, in the first instance, of the revenue causes hereafter specified.—Ibid, Sect. 16. Certain offences to enforce payment of arrears of rent strictly prohibited, and to subject the offender to prosecution before the criminal court.

608. The nomination of individuals to the office of Native Commissioner will be made by the Rajah, but previous to such appointments taking effect, he shall communicate what information he may have obtained regarding the age, character, and past employment of the individuals in question to the Superintendent, who shall withhold his concurrence in cases of notorious bad character or incapacity, having regard, however, as far as possible, in the mode of doing so, to the Rajah's honour and dignity.—Ibid, Sect. 17. The nomination of commissioners will be made by the rajah, but the confirmation to rest with the superintendent.

609. No Native Commissioner appointed under this Regulation shall be removed from office without sufficient cause, and in all cases of removal, the Rajah shall act in concert with, and by the advice of, the Superintendent.—Ibid, Sect. 18. * The native commissioner not to be removed from office, & the rajah to act in cases of removal in concert with and by the advice of supt.

610. The Native Commissioners shall be liable to a criminal prosecution for corruption, extortion, or other gross misdemeanor, and on conviction before the Court of circuit, shall be subject to fine and imprisonment, proportionate to the nature and circumstances of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 19. The native commissioners liable to criminal prosecution for certain offences, and to fine and imprisonment on conviction.

611. Persons invested with the powers of a Native Commissioner, under this Regula- Powers and authoity of a native commissioner.

tion, are authorized to receive, try, and determine, all suits preferred to them, against any inhabitant of their respective jurisdictions, relative to land of every description, or the rent, revenue, or produce thereof situated therein, provided the cause of action shall have arisen within the period of twelve years previously to the institution of suits.—Ibid, Sect. 20.

N commissioners may hear suits for rent, revenue or the produce of rent free lands

612. Held, with advertence to the terms of Section 20, Regulation 7, 1828, that there is nothing to bar the cognizance under it, by the Native Commissioners appointed according to that Regulation, of suits for the rent, revenue, or produce of lakhiraj lands.—Con. 1224, West. C. 14th June, Cal. C. 12th July 1839.

Rules for the guidance of the native commissioners

613. In receiving, trying and determining such cases, the Native Commissioners shall be guided by the rules contained in Regulation 23, 1814, and in points not expressly provided for in that Regulation, they shall observe as nearly as may be practicable the rules prescribed for the guidance of the Zillah and City courts, in the trial and decision of civil suits.—Reg. 7, 1828, Sect. 21.

Exception.

614. The rule, which prohibits Native judicial officers from taking cognizance of cases, in which a British subject, or an European foreigner, or an American, may be a party, shall not be held applicable to the Native Commissioners, appointed under this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 22.

N commissioners to execute their decisions, subject, in cases of appeal, to instructions of supt

615. The decision of the Native Commissioners shall be executed by themselves, under the rules prescribed in the general regulations for the execution of decrees, provided however that, if the case be appealed, the Commissioner shall be guided by such instructions relative thereto, as he may receive from the Superintendent.—Ibid, Sect. 23.

Proceedings of commissioners subject to revision by supt, in cases appealed within six months

616. The proceedings of the Native Commissioners shall be subject to the revision of the Superintendent, who, in the event of an appeal being preferred to him within the period of six months from the date of any such decision, will call for the papers, and after directing such further investigation to be held, as he may judge necessary, will confirm, modify or annul the order or decision of the Native Commissioner, as may appear proper; provided always, that it shall be competent to the Governor General in Council to supersede the order of the Superintendent, on being referred to by either party for that purpose.—Ibid, Sect. 24.

Govt empowered to supersede the order of the supt, if referred to

Penalties for resistance of process declared applicable to cases under this regulation

617. The penalties prescribed by the Regulations for resistance of process in revenue or judicial matters are hereby declared applicable to all cases of the same nature, arising out of the process provided for by this enactment.—Ibid, Sect. 25.

The revenue and judicial administration of the mehals to be regulated according to the regulations, except when otherwise directed by this regulation

618. It is hereby further declared and enacted, that, except when otherwise directed by the foregoing provisions, the revenue and judicial administration of the mehals here-in referred to, shall be regulated by the principles and spirit of the existing Regulations, and where those may not be applicable, by equity and good conscience.—Ibid, Sect. 26.

SECTION XLIX.

Independant Chiefs.

619. Extract from a letter from the Honourable the Court of Directors, dated 27th May, 1835, par. 36.—With regard to the interference, whether of our tribunals, or of our political officers, in civil cases against subjects of independant chiefs, you have adopted the sound principle, that the complainant must be left to seek justice from the legitimate superior of the party against whom his claim is preferred, unless that party be resident or possess property within our territories. It was no less proper to interdict our officers from taking cognizance of civil claims preferred against independant chiefs, whether by their own subjects or by others, or of cases of any description between independant chiefs and persons residing or possessing property in their dominions. Interference may sometimes be unavoidable, in consequence of general maladministration; but it seldom can be justified in individual cases, unless where the sufferer is entitled to our protection by some positive engagement.—Cir. Ord. 4th March 1836.

The company's officers not to take cognizance of civil claims against independant chiefs.

The Raja of Burdwan.

620. The raja of Burdwan having failed to attend to a notice of court, on the ground that the usual mode of service by letter was not followed, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that he was bound to attend to it, stating at the same time his objections to the mode of service.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th Dec. 1840, p. 51.

The rajah of Burdwan was bound to attend to a notice of court, stating his objections, if any, to the mode of its service.

SECTION L.

Suits in which Sovereign Native Princes are interested.

621. In cases, in which sovereign Native princes, whether residing within the British territories or otherwise, shall have claims to prefer as individuals, to lands or other things, the cognizance of which is vested by the general constitution of the country in the Courts of civil judicature, it shall be competent to the Governor General in Council, to order a suit to be instituted, through the medium of the public officers, for the recovery of the lands or other things which may be so claimed, in the court, which on the principles of the general Regulations, is authorized to enquire into, and decide upon, the right to the disputed property.—Reg. 4, 1812, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

How claims of sovereign native princes on individuals may be prosecuted and decided upon.

622. In like manner, should a suit be instituted in any of the established Courts of civil judicature, by any zemindar or other person for the recovery of lands or other things, in the occupancy of any Native prince, whom it would be improper to require to defend the action himself, it shall be competent to the Governor General in Council to order such suit to be defended by the public officers.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The gov. genl. in council may order the public officers to defend suits brought by individuals against such sovereign native princes.

623. Suits which may be instituted or defended under the preceding section, shall be conducted by the Collectors of the land revenue, aided by the vakeels of Government at the City, Zillah, and Provincial courts, and at the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under the directions of the Board of Revenue in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and of the Board of Commissioners in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, and in the province of Benares; which boards will of course on all such occasions be furnished by the Governor General in Council with such information and instructions as may appear necessary to enable them duly to superintend the conduct of the prosecution or of the defence.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

By whom suits so instituted or defended shall be conducted.

A summary of the decree passed in any case of that nature wherein govt. may be a party, shall be transmitted immediately to the secy. in the judicial department for the orders of govt.

624. In all original suits and appeals, in which Government may be a party under the provisions of the present Regulation, the court which may pass judgment, shall, in addition to the copies of the decrees required to be delivered to the parties, transmit a summary of the decree with as little delay as possible, in the English language, to the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department, for the information of the Governor General in Council, who on receipt of such summary will issue any orders to the Board of Revenue or Board of Commissioners, which the case may appear to require, or will cause the necessary notification to be made to the person on whose behalf the cause shall have been prosecuted or defended, of the final judgment given on the action.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

How suits under reg. 4, 1812, are to be instituted and defended.

625. Suits under Regulation 4, 1812, instituted or defended by the officers of Government on the part of sovereign Native princes will be received and decided by the covenanted Judge.—Govt. Ord. No. 3, 15th Jan. 1834.

SECTION LI.

Persons not connected with the Courts, convicted of bribery and extortion.

Punishment for persons not attached to the courts, convicted of corruption or extortion.

626. If a Native servant, or dependant of any Judge of a Civil or Criminal court of judicature, not being a public officer attached to the court, shall extort, or receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable consideration, under any pretence whatever, from any party or person, on account of any suit, to be instituted, or that may be depending, or have been decided in the court, he shall be committed as for a contempt of court, and be punished by a fine equal to treble the sum of money extorted, or received, or by imprisonment, or corporal punishment, at the discretion of the court, and the Judge is required to discharge such servant or dependant, and never to employ him, directly or indirectly, in his public or private capacity. If the offender shall not appeal against the decree within the limited time, or if an appeal shall not lie from the decision, or, if the decision shall be confirmed in appeal, the court by which the final decree may be passed, shall transmit a copy of it to the Governor General in Council, who, in addition to the penalties or punishments specified in the decree, will, if there shall appear to him grounds for so doing, declare the offender incapable of serving Government in any capacity.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 11.

How suits under reg. 13, 1793, sec. 11, and reg. 12, 1803, sec. 14, are to be disposed of.

627. All suits under Regulation 13, 1793, Section 11; Regulation 12, 1803, Section 14, are to be received by the Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff as they may be cognizable by one or other. A suit so received to be immediately forwarded to the Judge who will use his discretion as to trying it himself, or referring it to any other Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, by whom it may be cognizable, provided that in all such cases a special or regular appeal as the original case may be decided by the Judge, or by any subordinate court, shall lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. A Native servant or dependant of any Judge of Civil or Criminal court not being a public officer attached to the court, extorting or receiving, directly or indirectly, money or other valuable consideration from parties in suits instituted, pending or decided, shall be committed for a contempt of court and be punished by a fine equal to treble the sum of money extorted or received, or by imprisonment at the discretion of the Court.—Govt. Ord. No. 15.

Punishment to be awarded to a native servant or dependant of any civil or criminal judge, for extortion and other misdemeanors.

628. The same rule applies to the servants of uncovenanted Judges.—Ibid, No. 16.

And to the servants of uncov. judges.

SECTION LII.

Miscellaneous.

629. Under instructions from the Government, I am desired by the Court to inform you, that the Honourable the Court of Directors have prohibited the creation of unauthorized funds in the public offices, through the means of fines, or from deductions, made from the pay of establishments; and have directed that sums thus accruing should be carried to the credit of Government.—Cir. Ord. 6th Aug. 1841.

Fines and deductions from the pay of the public establishments to be credited to govt.

630. References and applications before transmitted to the Board of Revenue will be in future made to the local Commissioners of revenue and circuit appointed under Regulation 1 of 1829.—Cir. Ord. 13th March 1829.

Reference heretofore made to the bd. of rev. to be made to the rev. com.

631. A question has arisen, whether advertisements for the public sale of lands and other notifications, published by the Collectors, which are required by the Regulations to be affixed in the court-room of the Zillah or City dewanny adawlut, should be so affixed, without any direct application to the Judge, the Regulations not containing any express provisions upon this point; and whether proclamations which the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates may have occasion to publish in the Collector's cutcherry, should be transmitted for that purpose to the Collector?—The Court are of opinion, that all advertisements for public sales, or other notifications, issued by the Collectors, and intended to be affixed in the court-room of the Zillah or City dewanny adawlut, should bear a superscription, under the signature of the Collector, requesting the Judge to cause the same to be read and affixed in the court-room of the Dewanny adawlut; that it should be enclosed in a cover addressed to the Judge; and should be delivered to the Judge (or in his absence to his Register,) who on receiving it, should note and attest the date of receipt, and cause it to be immediately read and affixed in the court-room, as requested.—The Court are likewise of opinion, that a similar mode of proceeding should be observed with respect to any proclamation which the Judges and their Registers, or the Magistrates and their Assistants, may have occasion to publish in the cutcherries of the Collectors: that the proclamation in such cases should be enclosed in a cover addressed to the Collector, with a superscription under the signature of the Judge, Magistrate, Register, or Assistant, to the same effect as that above noticed; and that the Collector (or in his absence, his Assistant,) on receiving it, should note and attest the date of receipt, and cause it immediately to be read and affixed in his cutcherry, as requested.—Cir. Ord. 9th April 1817.

Mode in which advertisements and notifications of the collector are to be affixed in the civil and criminal courts, and those of the courts in the collector's cutcherry.

632. Under instructions from the Government I am directed by the Court to request, that you will take particular care that no delay occurs in the publication of the advertisements, received at your office, for the sale of estates on account of arrears of revenue.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 10th Aug., West. C. 7th Sept. 1838.

No delay to be allowed in publishing advertisements for the sale of estates on account of arrears.

Every public functionary is bound, when required, to take charge of public property.

633. Extract from a letter from the Honourable the Court of Directors, dated 16th May, No. 31 of 1838.—"You express on opinion that it must be considered the duty of every functionary under Government, to take charge of public property, when required to do so. We trust that this opinion has been duly promulgated, for in the case which gave rise to our observations, all the officers at the station declined the responsibility of taking charge of certain public stores."—Cir. Ord. 23d Nov. 1838.

Mode in which native names of men and places are to be written in English.

634. The Court having noticed the very careless manner in which the Native names of men and places are occasionally written in English, direct me to call your attention to the subject, and to request that in your letters and statements you will adhere as closely as possible to the orthography of the original.—Cir. Ord. 18th May 1832.

The new system of weights to be introduced into every civil department.

635. Ordered that instructions be issued to the proper officers for the introduction, as far as may be practicable, of the new system of weights into all branches of the departments under the control of the Civil courts.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 10th April, Cal. C. 1st May 1835.

The vernacular gazettes to be filed and preserved, and made accessible to all.

636. In continuation of the Circular of the 8th July last, the Court desire to know whether you have satisfied yourself, (if not, you will be pleased to do so,) that the Gazettes in the vernacular languages are carefully filed and preserved in the several offices to which they are supplied, and made accessible to parties wishing to consult them or obtain extracts of their contents.—Cir. Ord. 16th Sept. 1842.

Idem.

637. In continuation of the Circular No. 3358, of the 16th September, 1842, I am directed by the Court to annex for your information, extract (paragraph 3) of a letter from the officiating Judge of Seharunpore, dated the 4th instant, and to enjoin upon you, the strict and punctual observance of the plan therein described. It is essential to the maintenance of uniform practice in the subordinate Civil courts, that the Gazettes in which the Circular orders issued for their guidance appear, should be regularly filed and carefully bound into annual volumes, and it is hoped that the rule now prescribed will suffice to secure this desirable object.—Cir. Ord. 17th June 1845, par. 1.

The judicial officers personally responsible for the preservation of the official gazettes.

638. You will be pleased to inform the judicial officers subordinate to your authority, that they will be held personally answerable for the preservation of the official Gazettes supplied by Government for their use, and that they will be required to replace those numbers of the Gazette which may be found, on examination at the end of each year, to have been injured, defaced, or mislaid.—Ibid, par. 2.

The file of the official gazettes to be sent in annually for the inspection of the judges.

639. I am induced to think that the Agra Government Gazettes, in which these Circular orders appear, are very irregularly kept and filed by the Moonsiffs, and propose to require an acknowledgment in future, at the expiration of each month, that the Gazettes forwarded to, have reached them, and in future at the expiration of the year to require (as is usual with tehseeldars) that they be sent in to me for inspection, that the file is complete, and that they have been properly bound, and kept, and have called for those of previous years to ascertain this point.—Extract (par. 3) of a letter from the officiating Judge of Seharunpore, dated 4th June, 1845.

Rule regarding the wearing of slippers by natives in the courts of justice.

640. His Excellency in Council has judged it proper to direct, that Natives shall not be prevented from wearing their slippers at any place or upon any occasion, where, by custom already established, it has been usual to admit them with their slippers.—To guard against any recurrence of opposition to the practice, and prevent the dissatisfaction which must ever arise from the ill-judged and impolitic prohibition of any general and long established usage, his Excellency in Council has been further pleased to direct, that his orders be circulated to the Courts of justice, for their information and guidance. The Sudder dewanny adawlut have accordingly directed me to communicate them to your Court, and to desire that you will extend the communication to the several courts within your division.—Cir. Ord. 2nd Sept. 1802.

641. Provision is made in the new rules about to be submitted to Government by the committee for the revision of Post Office affairs, &c. for the franking of all letters bonâ fide on the public service relating to the business of their offices, by Sudder Ameens, and also for the franking of all such letters by Moonsiffs and all Native judicial and revenue officers, when addressed to the European or Native authorities with whom they may have to correspond on the public service, but only within their respective districts or divisions.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 16th Dec. 1836, West. C. 20th Jan. 1837.

Franking of letters by S. A. and M.

642. A reference having been made to the Post Master General, in consequence of some despatches, containing the proceedings of the Magistrate in cases referred to the Nizamut adawlut, having recently been much damaged, that officer has suggested the necessity of making up all despatches of consequence, under a double cover of wax-cloth, during the rainy season : and it being obviously of importance to preserve from injury all original proceedings and other papers, requiring particular security, transmitted to the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamut adawlut, during the season abovementioned : I am directed to request, that you will be particularly careful to observe the above precaution in future. You are further requested to instruct the several Judges and Magistrates in your division, to observe the same rule, in forwarding any original proceedings to your court or to the Nizamut adawlut, during the rainy season.—Cir. Ord. 9th Sept. 1813.

All despatches of importance to be sent under a double cover of wax-cloth during the rains.

643. The Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut having frequently observed that the records of proceedings of cases sent by the different courts, during the rains, have been so damaged by the wet as to be illegible and useless, and that the wax-cloth used for packing the proceedings is not always of the best quality, I am directed by the courts to request, that you will be careful to use the best wax-cloth procurable for the packing of all papers transmitted from your office, and that you will issue similar instructions to the several Judges and Magistrates under your jurisdiction.—Cir. Ord. 19th Sept. 1823.

The best wax-cloth procurable to be used.

644. The Court desire that you will be careful in having all parcels you may transmit by the dawk banghy enveloped in two or three folds of strong country paper and plain cloth. The Court recommend plain in preference to wax-cloth, as there appears to be danger that the contents of the packages may be injured by the melting of the wax from the application of the hot dammer.—Cir. Ord. 21st May 1824.

Parcels sent by dawk banghy to be wrapped in two or three folds of strong country paper and plain cloth.

645. The Court further direct me to call your attention to the 4th paragraph of the Post Master General's letter, and to desire that you will conform to the suggestions contained therein, wherever the parcel to be transmitted may not exceed the weight specified.—Letter of the Post Master General.—I suggest that in all practicable cases, paper parcels of proceedings be made up of 25 sicca weight, and sent on different days by the regular dawk, which will give them the best chance of escape from injury, as they will have the additional security of the wallet, and besides that, of travelling much more expeditiously.—Ibid.

The ends of banghy parcels to be sewed up before they are sealed.

646. I am directed to transmit, for your information and guidance, the accompanying extract from a letter under date the 13th instant, from the officiating Post Master General, written in reply to one addressed to him by order of the Court, on the subject of certain parcels having been received in this office open at the ends. You are requested to attend to the suggestion of the officiating Post Master General in despatching parcels by the regular mail of banghy post in future.—“To prevent recurrences of this carelessness, I imagine it will only be necessary to call the attention of the district despatching officers to the subject, instructing them to sew up the ends (of banghy parcels) before sealing, for without this precaution, or without an outer tape tying, it cannot be expected that they will be able to bear the friction of the mail conveyance for hundreds of milés. I shall address a circular to the several Post Masters, enjoining them to be careful not to receive parcels insecurely fastened, and I hope this will serve to obtain security.”—Cir. Ord. 28th Feb. 1840.

The judges will assign a distinct place of deposit for the records of the subordinate courts.

647. An instance of the destruction by fire, in the Goruckpore district, of the greater part of the records of pending suits in a Moonsiff's court, having been the cause of much embarrassment and delay, the Court call the attention of the Judges to the importance of assigning a distinct place of deposit for the records of the subordinate courts, (which, under the rule requiring the monthly transmission of suits decided by them to the Judge's office, ought not to comprise more than the papers of cases under investigation,) with a view to their security from fire or other injury.—Cir. Ord. 18th Feb. 1842.

The use of sealing wax to be discontinued in official despatches; the envelopes to be closed with gum arabic, and the office seal to be stamped with lamp black.

648. The Honourable the President in Council having had under his consideration a proposition for discontinuing the use of sealing wax in all official despatches, is pleased to direct that, in future, the public offices under the Bengal Presidency close the envelopes of their letters with gum arabic, and discontinue the use of sealing wax where it can be dispensed with. The seal of office is to be stamped with lamp black.—Gort. Ord. 17th Aug. 1842.

Mode in which M. are to be provided with cutcherries at the public expense.

649. I am directed by the Court, to transmit to you, for your information and guidance, a copy of the orders of Government, No. 1113, of the 18th ultimo, and of the correspondence therein alluded to, regarding cutcherries for Moonsiffs.—“I am directed to forward for the purpose of being laid before the Sudder Court, copy of the correspondence as per margin, on the subject of providing Moonsiffs with cutcherries at the expense of the State. 2. In order that immediate effect may be given to the sanction conveyed in Mr. Under-Secretary Melvill's letter of the 31st ultimo, the Court are requested to inform the Moonsiffs, through the zillah Judges, that the Government are prepared to purchase the present cutcherries as they stand at a price not exceeding rupees 75 each, provided the Judges are satisfied, after due enquiry that the buildings are worth that sum or any lesser amount which the proprietors may report to have been expended in their construction. 3. The Judges are authorized to pass in future, in their office, contingent bills, charges not exceeding one-fourth of the above sum (75 Rs.) for the annual repairs of each Moonsiff's cutcherry; charges not exceeding one-half, where the repairs are made after an interval of two years and so on. In the event of the total destruction of a Moonsiff's cutcherry by fire or other accident, the case must be reported to Government. 4. It is to be understood that these orders are not applicable to Moonsiffs who already hold their courts in public buildings or in their own private dwellings. The latter officers should be allowed to draw on the district treasuries any sums not exceeding rupees 75, for the purpose of erecting new cutcherries apart from their dwelling houses. 5. Every Moonsiff, on taking charge of his office, should be required to report to the Judge, the state in which his predecessor has made over the cutcherry to him."—Cir. Ord. 3d July 1845.

650. The Court have reason to believe that the Moonsiffs have not generally availed themselves of the permission accorded to them by the 4th paragraph of the orders of Government of the 18th June last, No. 1116, to draw on the district treasuries to the extent of rupees 75, for the purpose of erecting new cutcherries apart from their private dwellings. They direct therefore that those Moonsiffs who have not yet erected buildings for cutcherry in your district be required to do so without delay.—Cir. Ord. 11th April 1846.

Idem.

651. Judges, who used formerly to submit contingent charges for the sanction of the Provincial court, are now to apply to the Civil Auditor or direct to Government.—Con. 668, 13th Jan. 1832.

Judges to submit contingent charges to the civil auditor, or direct to govt.

CHAPTER II.

MINISTERIAL AND LAW OFFICERS AND VAKEELS OF THE COURTS.

SECTION I.

Ministerial Officers of the Zillah and City Courts—their Appointment, Resignation and Dismissal.

Public offices declared not to be hereditary and may at any time be abolished by govt.

1. Nothing in this Regulation shall be construed to establish a claim of inheritance to any public office whatever; or to prevent the abolition of any such office, by order of the Governor General in Council, whenever he may judge it unnecessary to continue the same for the public service.—Reg. 5, 1804, Sect. 24.

Final appointment and removal of N. ministerial officers and vakeels of court rests with J., subject to orders of govt. or S.D.A.

2. The final appointment and removal of the Native ministerial officers and vakeels of the Court will rest with the Judge, subject to such orders as the Government or Sudder dewanny adawlut may see fit to issue.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2nd March 1832.

Idem.

3. In modification of that part of the second paragraph of my circular letter of the 2nd ultimo, which requires the zillah and city Judges under Regulation 5, 1831, to report for the Court's confirmation, the appointment and removal of Native ministerial officers and vakeels, I am directed by the Court to inform you, that such report is not considered necessary; and that you are competent, of your own authority, to appoint and remove such officers and vakeels; subject however to the control of the Court, or Government, when either may see occasion to interfere.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th April 1832.

All officers of govt. exempt from ferry tolls, within the division to which they belong when moving in that division on the public service.

4. In pursuance of the orders of the Government (dated the 9th instant,) the following copy of a letter, (No. 459, of the 28th ultimo,) from the Under-Secretary to the Government of India, in the Home department, exempting all Government officers from the payment of ferry tolls when proceeding on the public service is circulated for general information:—"I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 981, dated the 28th ultimo, with its enclosure, and in reply to state, for the information of the Right Honourable the Governor of Bengal, that the Governor General in Council approves of the proposition submitted by Mr. Dampier, Superintendant of Police, Lower provinces, and authorizes that all officers of Government be exempted from the payment of ferry tolls within the division to which they may belong when they are moving in those divisions on the public service; and any officer not entitled to exemption under this definition of the rule who may prefer a claim to exemption based on the principle which the rule is intended to establish, will refer his claim for special consideration and orders to the department to which he belongs."—Cir. Ord. 25th July 1845.

5. Whenever the zillah or city Judges may see cause for the removal of any of their head Native officers on the ground of misconduct, incapacity, or otherwise; they shall communicate to such officer the grounds upon which they may consider him undeserving of continuance in his station; and call upon him to state what he may have to offer in his defence.—Reg. 5, 1804, Sect. 6.

Rule of proceeding to be observed when there may appear to be cause for the removal of any head native officer.

6. In like manner whenever the zillah and city Judges may see cause for the removal of any of the Native officers therein referred to [that is officers whose salary and other allowance may amount to ten rupees per mensem or upwards,] they shall communicate to such officer the grounds upon which they may consider him undeserving of continuance in his station, and call upon him to state what he may have to offer in his defence.—Ibid, Sect. 16.

Idem

7. The several officers of Government in the judicial department who are already restricted by their official oaths, or by the known declarations and orders of Government, from deriving any personal advantage whatever from their fixed establishments of Native officers, are further hereby positively prohibited from making any alteration whatever in the distribution of the salaries of such officers, or in the number and designation of the several descriptions of Native officers, which now compose, or may hereafter compose, their authorized establishments, without the express sanction of the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Sect. 23

Officers of govt specified, prohibited from making any alteration in the fixed distribution of the salaries of native officers, or in their number and designation, without the sanction of government

8. You will suspend in your cutcherry a list of the Native officers on your establishment, specifying their names, official designation, and salary.—Cir. Ord. 21st June 1815.

A list of the officers, with their names, &c to be suspended in the cutcherry

9. An instance having come to the knowledge of the Government of Native ministerial officers being entertained on lower salaries than those fixed by the Government for the situations they held, and the difference carried to the public credit, the Court, in pursuance of instructions received by them, intimate to the different officers under their control that the Honourable the Deputy Governor considers this practice to be extremely objectionable, and desires that it may not, under any circumstances, be repeated.—Cir. Ord. 19th Jan 1844.

No native officer to be entertained on a salary lower than that fixed by govt

10. I am directed by the Court to request, that you will forward a return, drawn up agreeably to the annexed form, of the names of the serishtadar, paishkar and nazir at present attached to your court, with as little delay as may be practicable, and to intimate to you the desire of the court that you will hereafter report, for their information, the removal or resignation of those officers, within ten days after the same may have taken place. You will also be pleased to report to the court the names of any individuals who may be hereafter nominated to these offices, agreeably to the same form, and within the same period after the nomination may have occurred.

The removal or resignation of serishtadar, paishkar and nazir to be communicated to the S. D. A. within ten days of its taking place, and the names of those appointed to succeed them

Oath to be taken by certain of the native officers of the civil & criminal courts.

11. The serishtadars, or other head Native officers, moonshees, mohurrirs, and nazirs of the Civil and Criminal courts, previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of their offices, are to take and subscribe the following oath in open court, before the Judge or Judges of the court to which they may be attached:—"I, A. B., appointed to the office of serishtadar (or other head officer, or moonshee, mohurrir, or nazir,) to the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah or city of ———, solemnly swear, that I will truly and faithfully perform the duties of the office to which I have been nominated, to the best of my knowledge and ability; that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzer, in money or effects of any kind, from any party whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court; that I will not knowingly permit any person or persons under my authority, or in my immediate service, to receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzer, in money or effects, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court; and that I will not derive, directly or indirectly, any advantages or emoluments from my office, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive."—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 4.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 4.

A solemn declaration substituted for the prescribed oath in such cases.

12. Instead of the prescribed oath, which is required by the Regulations in force the several Native officers referred to in the above clause, shall hereafter make and subscribe, in open court, or in the established public office, before the Judges, or other European authorities to which they may be respectively subject, a solemn declaration to the same effect with the form of oath heretofore prescribed, except that the word "declare" shall be substituted for "swear;" and that the declarer shall not be sworn thereto.—Reg. 18, 1817. Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

By whom such declarations to be attested, and the above rule to be enforced.

13. The Judges, or other European officers, before whom such declarations are required to be made and subscribed, shall attest the same as publicly read and subscribed before them, in pursuance of the above clause, and shall be careful to enforce a due observance of the rule therein contained, by the Native officers appointed to act under them respectively.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

To what native officers the rules so modified are meant to extend.

14. With the modification contained in the preceding section, the rules in force, which require that certain Native officers attached to the Civil and Criminal courts of judicature, and to other public offices, shall take and subscribe an oath, solemnly engaging to perform the duties of the office committed to them, faithfully and uprightly, according to the Regulations, are hereby declared to extend to the Native record-keepers and telveeldars, or Native treasurers, of the Civil and Criminal courts, though not specifically named in Section 4, Regulation 12, 1793, and Section 9, Regulation 12, 1803; as well as to all other Native officers of Government holding any situation of trust and responsibility in the public service.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Nothing in this regulation meant to preclude govt., or the S. D. and N. A. from ordering the removal

15. It is hereby further declared, that nothing in the present Regulation shall be construed to preclude the Governor General in Council, or the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamat adawlut, from ordering the removal of a Native officer, upon just

of a native officer, or from the exercise of the general authority vested in the S. D. A. and N. A.

16. I am directed by the Court to request that whenever any of the ministerial officers attached to your court, receiving a salary of not less than ten rupees a month, may be dismissed from the public service for misconduct, a report of the same be submitted according to the annexed form, with a view to a register of their names being kept in this office, in conformity to orders recently received from the Honourable the Court of Directors.

When a ministerial officer, receiving not less than 10rs. monthly is dismissed, a report according to a peculiar form to be sent for registry to the S. D. A.

17. An extract from the register will be forwarded to you annually, to enable you to guard against the admission of improper persons into the public offices.—Ibid, par. 2.

Extract from registry will be sent to J. annually, to prevent the appointment of improper persons.

18. To guard against the possibility of dismissed officers obtaining service in other districts by change of names or other means of disguise, the Court are pleased to direct the addition of a column, containing a descriptive roll of the dismissed officer, to the form prescribed by their Circular order, No. 2455, of the 8th July last.—Cir. Ord. 30th Dec. 1842, par. 1.

To guard against dismissed officers getting into the service by any disguise, a descriptive roll of the dismissed officer to be inserted in report.

19. The extracts from the register of public servants dismissed for misconduct, which may be sent to you from the office, should be communicated to the several authorities of the district, so as to make the registers of each department available to the heads of the other departments.—Ibid, par. 2.

Extracts from register of dismissed officers to be communicated by J. to the other public authorities of the district.

20. The Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your senior Judge's letter, under date the 28th ultimo, on a general question regarding the removal of ministerial Native officers of the provincial courts, and particularly adverting to the cases of Buncharam and Ramsoonder, serishtadar and paishkar of the Moorshedabad court. 2. The Sudder dewanny adawlut do not undertake to give you instructions how to act in these cases, which must be left to your discretion; but direct me to offer the following observations. 3. Under the provisions of Regulation 8, 1809, Section 3, the power of removing their own ministerial Native officers is vested in the provincial courts; by which is implied the power of removal on such grounds as the Regulations declare sufficient for such a measure. 4. The fifth clause of Section 5, contains a general declaration with regard to all Native officers, and must, in the opinion of the Court, be considered to include ministerial officers of the provincial courts, and that they shall be removable, without proof to any specific act of misconduct, whenever there shall be sufficient reason to deem them incapable, or in any respect unworthy of public confidence. 5. If Moonshee Ramsoonder cannot give a reasonable account of his possessing so much more property than the lawful emoluments of his office seem to authorize, the Court would deem the fact of his possessing that property a sufficient ground for presuming him a person unfit for public confidence. 6. With regard to the stated incapacity of the serishtadar, if this be the conclusion of the Provincial Ministerial officers removable without proof of special act of misconduct, when they appear incapable, or unworthy of public confidence. The inability of an officer to give a reasonable account of his possessing more property than the lawful emoluments of his office would authorize, a sufficient ground for presuming him to be unworthy of confidence.

court, from the present mode in which the duties of his office are performed, it is a ground recognized by the Regulations as sufficient for removing him.—Con. 306, 3d Sept. 1819.

Heavy fines of N. officers to be avoided; when they refuse to do their duty, the office should be transferred to another.

21. Extract from a Despatch from the Honourable the Court of Directors, dated the 11th February, 1840.—"We have on former occasions expressed our strong objection to the imposition of heavy fines upon Native servants, as involving them in pecuniary difficulty, and inducing them to resort to improper practices for the purpose of indemnification. It appears to us that the preferable course is, when an officer refuses to do that which his official duty requires of him, to transfer at once the office to a more obedient holder."—Cir. Ord. 7th Aug. 1840.

Description of the duties to be performed by the head clerk of the zillah judge's establishment.

22. The Court publish the following rule, determined on by the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut of the Lower and Western Provinces in concert with the sanction of Government, for devolving on the head clerk of the zillah Judge's establishment certain unimportant duties hitherto performed by the Judge, with a view to the relief of the latter officer. 2. The Judges are empowered, at their discretion, to employ their head clerk in the following duties: Attesting copies of decrees and other documents granted to parties on stamp or plain paper under the Judge's orders. Attesting copies of proceedings sent to the local authorities and to other districts under the Judge's orders. Registering in English the mooktyarnamahs, and preparing them for the Judge's attestation. As a needful precaution against error and abuse, it is, at the same time, ordered that the head clerk, vested with such duties at the discretion of the Judge, is never to attach his signature to the Regulation without its correctness having been previously attested and certified by the hereafter Ministerial Native officer of the Judge's court.—Cir. Ord. 25th Aug. 1841.

Rate of travelling allowance for ministerial officers.

23. With reference to your predecessor's letter, No. 565, of the 19th April, 1844, I am directed to state, for the information of the Sudder Court, that the Government have been pleased, in modification of the orders of 29th August, 1839, to authorize travelling allowance to ministerial officers, when required to accompany their superiors by dawk, at the rate of four annas per mile, and during halts at the rate authorized by the above orders, viz. 3-10ths of their respective salaries. In other respects the orders of 29th August, 1839, are to continue in force.—Cir. Ord. 15th Aug. 1845.

Giving bribes to a public officer is punishable as a misdemeanor.

24. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 25th ultimo, requesting their opinion as to whether a Native, giving bribes to the amlah of a public officer for corrupt purposes, is liable to be prosecuted for so doing. In reply, I am desired to acquaint you that the act in question is clearly a misdemeanor, both according to the English and Mahomedan law, and, though not specifically mentioned in the Regulations the individual committing it is unquestionably liable to a criminal prosecution.—Con. 522, 4th Sept. 1829.

Office of judge's treasurer abolished.

25. The office of Judge's treasurer is abolished by the Circular order of the 28th May, 1847.

SECTION II.

Purchase or possession of Landed Property by the Ministerial Officers of the Zillah and City Courts.

Native officers of the courts will report on the 1st of January

26. The Vice-President in Council doubts, whether the considerations which led to the adoption of the rule for precluding the Native officers of the revenue department from purchasing lands at the public sales, can be considered applicable to the Native officers of the judicial department: His Excellency in Council is not consequently prepared to extend that restriction to the latter class of officers.—He is at the same time satisfied of the expediency of guarding, as far as possible, against the exercise of undue influence in the management of lands required by them. With this view, His Excellency in Council has been pleased to resolve, that the Native officers attached to the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit, and to the cutcherries of the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates report, on receipt of the present orders, and again on the 1st January in each year, the lands both malgoozaree and lakhiraj, which may be held by them respectively, in whatever part of the country such lands may be situated; and that the provincial, zillah and city Judges furnish the Collectors of the districts, in which the lands may lie with the information so obtained from their Native officers.—Cir. Ord. 25th July 1811, par. 3.

each year, the lands malgoozaree and lakhiraj held by them in any part of the country; the information thus given to be furnished by the judges to the collectors.

27. With the view of better giving effect to the present orders of Government, the Vice-President in Council desires that the Collectors subject to your authority may be directed to inform the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts, whenever it may come to their knowledge, that any of the officers attached to their courts hold lands, which have not been duly reported.—Ibid, par. 4.

The collectors will give information to the judges, when they learn that the N. officers of their courts hold lands not reported.

28. It does not appear to Government to be necessary to establish any legislative provision with respect to cases of the above nature, as the Native officers of the judicial department will, of course, be liable to dismissal, should they in any instance fail to furnish the information required respecting lands held by them, or commit any abuse in the management of them.—Ibid, par. 5.

N. officers liable to dismissal if they fail to furnish the information, or commit abuses in the management of the lands.

29. The foregoing orders are to be considered applicable to the law officers, as well as the ministerial officers of the Courts of judicature.—Ibid, par. 6.

These orders applicable to law officers.

30. A question having arisen with respect to the extent of the operation of the resolutions of Government, passed on the 9th ultimo, (as above) regarding lands held by the Native officers attached to the Civil and Criminal courts; I am directed by the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut to acquaint you, and to desire that you will acquaint the several Judges and Magistrates within your division, that the Court consider those resolutions, as intended to include all lands held by the Native officers of the Civil and Criminal courts, (including the Police officers,) whether in property or in farm, or under any other tenure whatever.—I am further directed to acquaint you, that the Court deem it expedient to extend the orders in question to the vakeels employed in the several Civil courts.—Cir. Ord. 15th Aug. 1811.

These rules include all lands held by N. officers whether in property or in farm, or under any tenure, and they are extended to the vakeels.

31. In future, on the appointment of any Native officer on your establishment, whether the situation to which he may be nominated be of a judicial or ministerial nature, or connected with the Police department, you will require from him a schedule of any landed property of which he may at the time be possessed, and at the same time explain to him that should he subsequently make further acquisitions of the same description, it will be incumbent on him to communicate the circumstance to you within one month from the date of the acquisition; should he fail to do so, or should it appear that he has wilfully omitted in his schedule any landed property belonging to him at the time of filing it, he will be liable to dismissal from office.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 27th Feb. 1835, par. 2.

Every N. officer on his appointment will furnish a schedule of his landed property, and communicate the fact of future acquisitions within one month, on pain of dismissal.

32. All such schedules, which may be filed in your court, you will immediately transmit to the office of the Collector of the district for record.—Ibid, par. 3.

These schedules will be filed, and then transmitted for record to the collector.

This rule applicable to the existing incumbents.

33. You will also consider the above rule applicable to present incumbents, and will accordingly call on the officers now attached to your establishment to file a similar schedule, explaining to them the nature of the penalty attached to wilful concealment.—Ibid, par. 4.

Re-enforcement of this rule by the S. D. A.

34. Some of the Native Judges having been represented to be large landholders in the districts in which they are employed, the Court have determined to ascertain how far the rules contained in the Circular order, No. 135, 27th February, 1835, have been enforced. They request, with that view, that you will forward to this office, a copy of the schedules which may, in pursuance of that circular, have been filed in the Collector's office, by the uncovenanted Judges of your district, including those who may have been transferred to other districts within the last year, and at the same time notice whether you have reason to believe that the schedules are in any instance incomplete.—Cir. Ord. 15th April 1842, par. 1.

Any officer who has failed to furnish the schedule will explain the circumstance and furnish one without delay.

35. Should any of the Native Judges have failed to comply with the rules of the Circular order above cited, you will call upon such officer for an explanation of the circumstance, and direct them now to furnish you with the required schedule, together with a statement of the dates of acquisition of such estates as may not have descended to them.—Ibid, par. 2.

These orders have reference to officers receiving more than 20 rs. a month.

36. The foregoing orders are also to be acted upon with regard to the ministerial officers now attached to your court, whose salaries exceed 20 rupees per month, to whom the Circular No. 135, is equally applicable.—Ibid, par. 3.

Such schedule not required from officers receiving less than 20 rs. monthly.

37. In continuation of the Court's Circular of the 27th February, I am directed to inform you, that the schedule of property therein mentioned need not be required from any Native officer who receives a salary of less than 20 rupees per mensem. Cir. Ord. West. C. 10th April. Cal. C. 4th Sept. 1835.

The schedule will include land of every description and by whatever tenure held by the officer.

38. In continuation of the Circular order of the 27th February last, the Court hereby direct that the schedule required by that Circular order shall include not only land, the proprietary right of which may be vested in the public officer to whom it may relate, but any land or other real property, whatever may be the nature of the tenure by which he may hold it, the description of tenure being also recorded in the schedule. 2. (Western Provinces.) These schedules will be registered in the office of the Collector of the zillah in which the officer may be employed, and copies of the same sent to the Collectors in whose zillahs the property therein included may be situated. 2. (Lower Provinces.) The schedule will be registered in the office to which the individual giving it in may be subordinate; and copies will be sent to the Collectors in whose districts the property specified may be situated.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 29th May, Cal. C. 3rd July 1835.

The places where these schedules are to be registered, in the N. West, and in Bengal.

SECTION III.

Civil Actions against Ministerial Officers of the Zillah Courts for corruption, extortion, or embezzlement.

Ministerial officers of the courts amenable to their respective courts for corruption & extortion.

39. The ministerial officers of the Civil and Criminal courts, and all Native officers attached to the courts, excepting the law officers, are declared amenable to the courts to which they may be respectively attached, for acts of corruption or extortion; and the courts are empowered to receive any such charge that may be preferred against them. Previous however to receiving the charge, the courts are to require the complainant to make

Oath or declaration to be made, and security to be given oath to the truth of it, (or subscribe the required declaration, if he shall come within the description of persons whom the courts are empowered to exempt from taking oaths,) and give security in whatever sum they may judge proper, to prosecute the charge without delay. Unless the complainant shall previously take the oath, or subscribe the above mentioned declaration, and give the required security, the courts are not to receive the charge. —Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 9, Cl. 1.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

Charge to be rejected unless the complainant shall make the required oath or declaration, and give security.

40. The provisions of Regulations 13, 1793 ; 12, 1795, and 12, 1803, whereby parties injured have the option of instituting a civil action, in cases of corruption or extortion, are not considered as precluding a criminal prosecution whenever there appear sufficient grounds for it. The prosecution should be public and conducted by the vakeels of Government.—Con. 54, 21st Nov. 1809.

Regs 13, 1793, 12, 1795, and 12, 1803 do not preclude a criminal prosecution for corruption if there are sufficient grounds for it.

41. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered to receive charges of corruption or extortion, not relating to any matter depending before them, or decided by them, that may be preferred to them against any ministerial officer of a Zillah or a City court, and to order the court to which the accused may be attached, by a precept under their seal, and attested by their Register, to receive the charge, provided the complainant shall prove to their satisfaction, that he preferred the charge in the first instance to such Zillah or City court, and offered to make the required oath or declaration, and give the security prescribed in Clause first, and that the court notwithstanding omitted or refused to receive the charge : and shall moreover make the required oath or declaration, and enter into the security prescribed in the above mentioned clause.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 9, Cl. 3. —Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 3.

Cases in which the S D A. is empowered to receive charges of corruption or extortion against the ministerial officers of any zillah or city court.

How the court is to proceed if the charge relate not to any matter depending before it, or which may have been decided by it.

42. But if any person shall charge a ministerial officer of any Zillah or City court, before the Sudder dewanny adawlut with corruption or extortion in any suit or matter that may be depending before it, or which may have been decided by it, the court may receive the charge, and refer it for trial to the Zillah or City court to which the offender may be attached, without further enquiry, provided the complainant shall previously make the prescribed oath or declaration to the truth of the charge, and give the security required in clause first.—Ibid.

Court how to proceed, if the charge relate to any matter depending before it, or which may have been decided by it.

43. Charges of corruption or extortion that may be preferred against the ministerial officers of any Civil or Criminal court of judicature under this section, are to be considered as civil actions, and accordingly, are to be prosecuted in the Civil courts. Conformably to this rule, whenever any Zillah or City court may receive any such charge against their ministerial officers, or any such charge may be referred to them by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Provincial court of appeal, they are to direct the complainant to prosecute the charge in the Dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 9, Cl. 7.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 3.

In what cts. charges of corruption or extortion, preferred against any ministerial officer of a court, are to be tried.

44. Whenever any Native ministerial officer, of any Civil or Criminal court, or any Hindoo or Mahomedan Law Officer, against whom an action may have been brought in the Civil court, to recover money or property, extorted or corruptly taken.

No fine to be awarded in the civil court, for the offence of corruption or extortion.

shall be proved to have received or taken the whole, or any part of the money or property which he may be charged with having received or taken, the court is to adjudge him to refund the amount of the money, or value of the property, which he may be proved to have so received or taken, with interest, when it may be a case of money taken, at such rate not exceeding twelve per cent. per annum, as to the court may appear equitable, and to pay full costs to the plaintiff in the suit. The court shall not, in such case, be competent to award any fine against the defendant.—Reg. 3, 1827, Sect. 3.

Judgment to be passed by the courts, in the event of a charge of corruption or extortion being proved in whole or in part against any N. ministerial officer.

45. In enforcing the decision, the court is to observe the rules prescribed for enforcing other decisions of the court. If the officer against whom such decree may be passed, shall not appeal from it within the limited time, or, if an appeal shall not lie from the decision, the court is to transmit a copy of the decree to the Governor General in Council. If an appeal shall lie from the decision, and such officer shall prefer an appeal, and the decision shall be confirmed in appeal, the court by which the final decision may be passed, is to transmit a copy of it to the Governor General in Council, who reserves to himself the power of declaring such officer incapable of serving Government in any capacity. The courts may suspend a Native officer against whom a charge of corruption or extortion may be preferred, until the final decision may be passed, if they shall see cause for so doing.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 9, Cl. 8.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 8.

Officers at liberty to prosecute persons preferring groundless charges against them under this section.

46. If any person shall prefer a charge of corruption or extortion, against a ministerial officer of any Civil or Criminal court of judicature under this section, and the charge shall not be proved, the accused is to have the option of suing the accuser for damages in any Court of civil judicature to which he may be amenable.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 9, Cl. 12.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 12.

Record of criminal conviction sufficient for compelling the refund of property corruptly taken or extorted.

47. From and after the date of this Regulation, it shall not be necessary for any party, from whom money or property may have been corruptly taken or extorted, to institute a civil action for the recovery thereof; but on proof of the charge, in a criminal prosecution, for those offences, a certified copy of the conviction by a Court of circuit, or the Nizamut adawlut, shall be received as sufficient authority for enforcing the refund of the amount or value so taken with interest, on application to that effect being preferred by the aggrieved party, to the Civil court, on the stamp paper prescribed for miscellaneous petitions.—Reg. 3, 1827, Sect. 5.

A suit to recover from the serishtadar of a collector, money alleged to have been taken as a bribe, must be treated as a common action for debt.

48. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th ultimo, requesting to be informed what mode of procedure you should adopt in receiving and trying two suits instituted for the recovery of sums said to have been taken as bribes by the serishtadar of the Collector's office.—In reply, I am directed to inform you, that you should proceed in the same manner as in common actions for debt. Section 7, Regulation 3, 1793, declares all Natives amenable to the Civil courts, and as no Regulation exempts the officers of Collectors from their jurisdiction, they come within the intent of the rule.—Con. 807, Cal. C. 2d Aug., West. C. 6th Sept. 1833.

SECTION IV.

Criminal Prosecution against the Ministerial Officers of the Zillah and City Courts, for Corruption, Extortion or Embezzlement.

49. In explanation of the provisions for a civil action against the law officers and ministerial Native officers of the Courts of judicature, contained in Regulations 12 and 13, 1793, (extended to Benares by Regulations 11 and 12, 1795; and re-enacted for the Upper provinces by Regulations 11 and 12, 1803;) it is hereby declared that those provisions, the principal object of which is to enable individuals, who may be aggrieved by any of the Native officers in question, to obtain redress by an action in the Civil courts, are not meant to preclude a criminal prosecution in cases of corruption, extortion or embezzlement, which may appear to call for exemplary punishment.—Reg. 18, 1817, Sect. 6, Cl. 1.

Explanation of provisions in force for a civil action against the law officers and ministerial N. officers of the courts of judicature, in cases of alleged corruption or extortion.

50. Whenever a law officer, or ministerial Native officer, may not, by the result of a civil action, have been subjected to the penalties for corruption, or extortion, provided for in the above Regulations, and there may appear to be sufficient grounds for a criminal prosecution against any such officer, on a charge of corruption, extortion or embezzlement, he is hereby declared liable to a criminal prosecution before the zillah or city Magistrate, and Court of circuit, as provided for in other cases of misdemeanor by the Regulations, and on conviction before a Court of circuit, or the Court of Nizamut adawlut, he shall be subject to discretionary punishment to the extent, and under the provisions, stated in Section 3, Regulation 2, 1813, with respect to Native officers convicted of making use of the public money entrusted to their care.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

In what cases a law officer, or ministerial N. officer, may be prosecuted in the crim. courts on a charge of corruption, extortion, or embezzlement.

And to what penalties liable on conviction.

51. Section 4 of the Regulation abovementioned, directing a report of convictions and sentences to the Governor General in Council, for the purpose of enabling him to determine whether the guilty persons should be declared incapable of again serving Government, shall also be considered applicable to any convictions and sentences under the present section.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Report to be made to govt. in such cases.

[The above enactment is modified by the following rule.]

52. Any law officer or ministerial Native officer, charged with corruption or extortion, against whom there may appear to be sufficient grounds for a criminal prosecution, shall be liable to such prosecution, as laid down in clause second, Section 6, Regulation 18, 1817, whether the civil action provided for in Section 3 of this Regulation, shall have been brought or not, and whatever, if brought, may have been its result.—Reg. 3, 1827, Sect. 4.

Crim. prosecution not to depend on the civil action, or its result.

53. The Court are of opinion, that a Magistrate is competent to pass final sentences of punishment on conviction of such offences to the extent of the powers vested in him by the Regulations, when such punishment may appear to him, on a consideration of all the circumstances of the case, to be adequate to the degree of criminality of the accused. If otherwise, it would of course be necessary to commit the prisoner for trial before the Court of circuit.—Con. 237, 16th Feb. 1816.

The magistrate may sentence for bribery or extortion, to the extent of his powers, if the punishment appears adequate, else he must commit the offender to sessions.

The commitment of a N. officer of the civil court for embezzlement, should be made by the magistrate and not by the judge.

54. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 14th ultimo, with its Persian enclosures and copy of the correspondence which has passed between yourself and the acting Magistrate of Allahabad in the case of Rummun Lal, charged with the embezzlement of public money. In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that your instructions to the acting Magistrate were correct and proper; that under the circumstances of this case the acting Magistrate would have evinced a much sounder judgment had he awaited the result of the acting Judge's reference to this Court; and that Clause 2, Section 14, Regulation 17, 1817, cited by him in justification of his proceeding, is not applicable, that rule applying only to cases of perjuries committed by parties in a civil suit actually pending before a judicial authority. I am directed to add, that by my letter written to the late acting Judge on the 27th of March last, instructing him to commit Rummun Lal and the other individuals implicated to take their trial before the Commissioner of Circuit for the division on the charge of fabrication or embezzlement, or on both of those charges, should it appear to him from the proceedings already held, that there was sufficient evidence on which to found their conviction, it was intended that Mr. Brown should have recourse to this proceeding in his capacity of acting Magistrate and not in his judicial capacity.—Con. 518, 7th Aug. 1829.

Embezzlement is a bailable offence.

55. Embezzlement is a bailable offence, and a person charged with that offence should have the option of giving bail and obtaining his enlargement from restraint.—Con. 1238, West. C. 19th July, Cal. C. 16th Aug. 1839.

SECTION V.

Summary Proceeding for recovering Embezzlements of Money and for compelling the delivery of Papers by the Native Ministerial Officers of the Zillah and City Courts and other Offices.

A summary enquiry to be instituted in such cases by the judge or judges of the court.

56. Whenever any Native officer attached to a Civil or Criminal court, may be charged with having embezzled any money or other property paid into, or deposited in the Court to which he is attached; or received by him in his official capacity, in execution of a decree, or on account of a deposit, or on any other account whatever; or whenever the Judge or Judges of a Civil or Criminal court may have reason to suspect any such embezzlement, on the part of a Native officer attached to the court, they shall immediately institute a summary inquiry to ascertain the truth of such charge or suspicions; and shall, at the same time, require the Native officer accused, or suspected, to give sufficient security for his attendance during the enquiry.—In the event of such security not being given, and of its appearing necessary to keep the officer in custody, pending the enquiry, it shall be competent to the Judge or Judges to order the same; and to keep the party in custody of peons, or to confine him in the jail of the Dewanny adawlut, until he shall give the required security, or his detention appear no longer necessary.—Reg. 18, 1817, Sect. 7; Cl. 2.*

Security to be required for the attendance of the N. officer.

Or the officer to be kept in custody.

* On proof of embezzlement, the amount how to be recovered.

57. When the summary enquiry has been completed, if it be established thereby that any money or other property has been embezzled by the person accused, or suspected, in his official capacity, he shall be required to pay the same into court, within such time as may be limited for that purpose; and on his failure to comply with such requisition, it shall be recoverable from him, as well as from his surety, if he have given security on account of the office held by him, by the usual process of recovery, in execution of judgments of the Civil courts.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

58. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th ultimo, and in reply beg leave to state for the information of the Court, that a summary sentence, in strict conformity with Regulation 18, 1817, adjudging the particular sums recoverable from the late treasurer Rammohun Mozoomdar, has not been passed by me; although the fullest inquiry has been made, and the sums due from him have been ascertained, as stated in my letter to your address, with enclosures, dated the 20th October last.—2. I enclose copies of two roobukarees, dated the 24th October and 16th November last, which will shew the nature of the proceedings I deemed it proper to hold in the Civil court in this case. It will be observed, that on the commitment of Rammohun Mozoomdar for trial to the Court of circuit, considering the sums specified in my proceedings as due from the treasurer to have been sufficiently ascertained, (for he even does not deny that these sums are due,) I proceeded to recover the amount in the manner prescribed for the execution of decrees.—3. Having however omitted to pass a summary decree in strict conformity with the Regulation, I request to be favored with the Court's instructions, whether, with reference to the proceedings already held by me, such a course is still necessary. It does not appear to me to be too late to pass a summary decree, which would have the effect of sanctioning the measures that have been adopted to recover the balance.—Reply.—I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 18th instant, together with its enclosures, and in reply to desire, that you will now proceed, in conformity with Regulation 18, 1817, to hold a summary enquiry relative to the embezzlements of the late treasurer of your court, Rammohun Mozoomdar, and to pass a summary decree, (adjudging the particular sum recoverable from him) according to the rule laid down in the Regulation above quoted.—Con. 334, 29th Dec. 1820.

The summary decree prescribed by reg. 18, sec. 7, adjudging the exact sum recoverable, must be passed before the J. can realize the amount embezzled by a N. officer.

59. A similar mode of proceeding shall be observed when a Native officer attached to any Civil or Criminal court of judicature, may withhold any public accounts which it is his duty to prepare and furnish, and the summary judgment in such cases, shall not only order the immediate delivery of the accounts withheld, but shall also impose such fine to Government as may appear just and proper, on consideration of all the circumstances of the case, and the situation of the party.—Reg. 18, 1817, Sect. 7, Cl. 4.

The same course as in sec. 3 to be pursued when public accounts may be withheld by N. officers.

60. Any person dissatisfied with the judgment of a Zillah or City court, given under the provisions of this section, shall be at liberty to prefer a summary appeal thereupon under the rules applicable to such appeals, to the Provincial court of the division: and provided sufficient security be given for performing the decree of the Provincial court on the appeal, the decision of the Zillah or City court shall not be carried into execution till confirmed by the Provincial court.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

A summary appeal may be admitted by the prov. ct. from decisions passed in such cases by the zillah & city judges.

The appeal of course now lies to the Sudder.

61. I am desired to state that in the opinion of the Court a Sessions Judge is not competent to try a person committed for trial by himself in his capacity of Civil Judge. The Court also direct me to inform you, that although a summary enquiry into cases

Sessions J. cannot try a commitment made by himself as civil J. The Judge may make a summary enquiry into cases of embezzlement by N. officers, but he cannot commit for the offence; that duty is left to the magistrate who will act on his own discretion; the Judge should submit his proceedings to the magistrate.

Amount of embezzlement to be paid, in the first instance, from the public treasury.

of embezzlement by ministerial Native officers may be conducted by the Judge under the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 18, 1817, that officer is by no enactment empowered to commit for trial before the Commissioner of Circuit for the offence; this duty being left to the Magistrate, to whom the Judge should transmit his proceedings, if grounds appear to exist for subjecting the accused to a criminal trial; the Magistrate however, in committing or releasing the person charged with the offence, will act on his own judgment on a fair consideration of the evidence adduced.—Con. 691, West. C. 11th May, Cal. C. 1st June 1832.

62. Whenever it may be established by the process described in Section 7, Regulation 18, 1817, that any Native officer attached to a Civil or Criminal court may have embezzled any money or other property, duly paid into or deposited in the court to which he is attached; or regularly received by him in his official capacity, in execution of a decree, or on account of a deposit, or on any other account whatever, it shall be the duty of the European controlling authority to refund to the party or parties, whose property may have been so embezzled, the amount or value of the embezzlement, from the public treasury, in the first instance, without reference to the solvency or otherwise of the defaulter or his surety; the Government reserving to itself the right of adopting such measures for the recovery of the money so refunded, as may be deemed expedient, with reference to the nature and circumstances of each case.—Reg. 3, 1827, Sect. 6.

A conviction of surreptitiously obtaining and corruptly appropriating money deposited in court, cannot authorize the summary process of recovery prescribed in reg. 18, 1817, sec. 7, cl. 3, & 3, 1827, sec. 6.

63. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that a conviction of "surreptitiously obtaining" and "corruptly appropriating" money deposited in court, against a ministerial officer, is insufficient to authorize the enforcement of the summary process for recovery, prescribed by Clause 3, Section 7, Regulation 18, 1817, and Section 6, Regulation 3, 1827.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th Aug. 1842, p. 36.

N. officers can be compelled to deliver up the public records only under the general provisions of reg. 3, 1793, sec. 31.

64. There being no specific provision in the Regulations for compelling Native officers of Government in the judicial department to deliver over charge of the records of their office, such cases fall within the general provision of Section 21, Regulation 3, 1793.—Con. 176, 3d Aug. 1814.

SECTION VI.

Prosecution and Conviction of Native Officers for making use of Public Money entrusted to their care.

Kazanchies, tehseeldars and other N. officers entrusted with the charge of public money, prohibited from making use of such money for their own advantage, or that of any other individual.

65. Kazanchies, tehseeldars, and other Native officers entrusted with the charge of public money, are hereby strictly prohibited from making use of such money for their own advantage, or that of any other individual.—Reg. 2, 1813, Sect. 2.

Persons infringing the rule contained in sec. 2 of the present reg., to be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and to be

66. Any person infringing the rule contained in the foregoing section, shall be deemed to have been guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished, on conviction thereof, before a Court of circuit, at the discretion of the said court, under the authority vested in the Courts of circuit, by clause seventh, Section 2, Regulation 53, 1803, in cases liable to discretionary punishment; provided, nevertheless, that no person convicted of the offence specified in the preceding section of this Regulation shall be sentenced by a Judge of circuit, to the punishment of stripes or to hard labor. If in any instance imprisonment for the term of seven years shall appear to the Judge of circuit to be an inadequate punishment for the offence, he shall transmit the trial, with his sentiments thereupon, to the Court of Nizamut adawlut, for the final sentence of that Court.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

punished on conviction accordingly.

But shall not be sentenced by a J. of circuit to the punishment of stripes, or hard labor.

Trial to be submitted for the final sentence of the N. A. in certain cases.

67. It shall be the duty of the Board of Revenue, the Board of Commissioners, and the Board of Trade, to submit to Government, a special report respecting all convictions and sentences, which may take place under the provisions of the present Regulation, in order that the Governor General in Council may have an opportunity of considering whether the guilty persons should not also be declared incapable of again serving Government in any public capacity.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

The bd. of rev., the bd. of com. and the bd. of trade to submit special reports of all convictions and sentences under the present reg. to govt., who will determine whether the guilty persons should be declared incapable of again serving govt.

68. The Court do not understand the Regulation (2, 1813,) cited by you as intending a repeal of the Mahomedan law relative to the offence of embezzlement, which, being punishable under that law, may clearly be committed for trial to the Court of circuit.—Con. 543, 2d April 1830.

Embezzlement is punishable under the mahomedan law; and the offender may be committed for trial to the sessions.

69. The case of a peon on the establishment of a Government functionary, making away with money entrusted to or collected by him, does not come within the meaning of Regulation 2, 1813: such offence must be considered as a misdemeanor punishable under the general regulations.—Con. 1200, Cal. C. 18th Jan., West. C. 1st Feb. 1839.

A public peon making away with money entrusted to or collected by him is a misdemeanor punishable under the general reg.

SECTION VII.

Security from Native Ministerial Officers entrusted with Property—defaulting Treasurers.

70. The Court observe that security should be taken from treasurers, nazirs, and other officers, who, in the discharge of their public duty, have charge of money or property, whether public or belonging to private individuals, and that the sureties should bind themselves to make good all losses sustained by the default or fraud of the officer for whom they are bound. With regard to the amount of property to be pledged by the surety, and entered in the schedule at the foot of the bond, the Court observe that it must be regulated according to the circumstances of each case, and the amount or value of the money or property which may be likely to be left in the hands of the officer from whom the security is required: and that the surety should bind himself not to sell, or in other manner alienate the property in question until he be relieved from his responsibility.—Cir. Ord. 23d Sept. 1831, par. 2.

Security to be taken from treasurers, nazirs and other officers; its amount will be regulated by circumstances. The security must bind himself not to alienate the property pledged.

71. The Court desire, that in taking security in future you will follow this principle, and be particularly careful to ascertain the sufficiency of the security. They also direct that you will cause the efficiency of the security of the officers on your establishment, who are required to furnish it, to be carefully revised during the last week in December of each year; and that you will submit a report of the result of the revision according to the accompanying form.

The sufficiency of the security to be carefully ascertained and annually revised, and reported on.

REPORT of the result of the enquiry as to the sufficiency of the security given by the Officers of the ——— Court ———, made in the month of December, 1831, under the Circular Order of Sudder Dewanny and Nizamut Adawlut, dated the 23rd Sept. 1831.

Name and designation of the officer required to give security.	Amount of security required.	Names of the sureties, with the date of their engagement.	Names of new security, the old sureties having been changed.	Remarks.

—Ibid, par. 3.

Farther instructions regarding the revision of securities.

72. The officers who are required to report on the securities of their subordinates, have omitted generally to submit their report with punctuality; and very few have given any distinct opinion as to their validity or otherwise. The Court desire that they be called upon to submit the report of the revision of the securities, (required to be made by the Circular order of the 23rd September, 1831,) on or before the 1st February, 1837, and that they insert at the foot of the form prescribed by that Circular (which, for the convenience of record, should be uniformly engrossed on a sheet of foolscap paper) the following certificate :—" Certified, that I have revised the securities of the officers abovementioned, and that I consider them good and sufficient." (Signed) A. B. " Judge or Magistrate" (as the case may be).—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 16th Dec. 1836, West. C. 20th Jan. 1837.

If the judicial officers neglect this indispensable duty they will be reported to government.

73. The attention of the judicial officers will be called to the Circular order of the 3d July, 1835, and they will be informed that should they neglect to furnish this indispensable information, and any embezzlement take place, their conduct must be reported to Government.

—Ibid, par. 5.

When the officer vouches for the sufficiency of the security, he becomes responsible for the safety of the public funds committed to his ministerial officers; and will be accountable for any insufficiency which may be discovered.

74. The object of the Honourable the Court of Directors will be sufficiently attained, if the Court satisfy themselves, annually, that the officers subject to their jurisdiction have severally instituted the necessary enquiries to establish the validity of the security furnished by those of their subordinates who hold situations of pecuniary responsibility. But it should be distinctly explained to all the functionaries who are required to furnish this annual report, that when they vouch for the sufficiency of the security in each case, they thereby render themselves responsible for the safety of the public funds committed to the charge of their ministerial officers, and that they will be held accountable for any insufficiency of security which may subsequently be experienced.—Extract of a letter from the Government of Bengal to the Sudder Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 3d July 1835.

The judges & heads of offices responsible for the conduct of their N. officers.

75. The zillah Judges and Magistrates, and the heads of offices generally, cannot be too distinctly apprized, that they must be held responsible for the conduct of their Native officers. Individuals of that class may no doubt, in particular instances, commit offences which may escape detection; but general and long protracted abuse must be referred to supineness and want of vigilance on the part of their European superiors.—Cir. Ord. 2d Oct. 1817, par. 5.

All security bonds executed by the securities of treasurers, nazirs, and others will

76. With reference to the provisions of Act I. of 1843, which enacts that henceforward all registered documents shall take precedence of others not so attested, the Court conceive that a due regard to the security of the interests of Government requires that all security bonds executed by the securities of treasurers, nazirs, and other ministerial officers, attached to the judicial courts, should be duly registered in conformity to the conditions of the enactment cited; and are accordingly pleased to direct, that all such, and other documents likewise of a similar character, by the annulment or repudiation of which the interests of Government are liable to be injuriously affected, shall be subjected to registry; that the civil and criminal authorities in the lower provinces shall satisfy themselves that the lands to which the registered security deeds relate have not been already conveyed away by any previously registered deeds, and that such registration and scrutiny shall be deemed an indispensable preliminary to their acceptance as good and valid engagements. The fees attendant on this process, must be defrayed by those, from whom security is demanded, and whose tenure of office is dependant on their compliance with such requisition.—Cir. Ord. 2d May 1843, par. 1.

be registered, and the civil judges will ascertain that the lands referred to have not been conveyed away by a previously registered deed.

By whom the fees of registration are to be paid.

77. As the validity of deeds, bonds, and documents of every description, executed previously to the passing of this enactment, is not affected by its provisions, the registration of such need not be insisted on. These instructions are intended to have prospective effect only.—Ibid, par. 2.

These instructions have a prospective effect.

78. Sureties of a treasurer of a Zillah court held to be responsible for defalcations and embezzlements made during the period they had guaranteed the faithful and honest administration of his office by the treasurer,—notwithstanding an acquittance from all liability granted by the Zillah court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th June 1840, p. 36.

Sureties of the treasurer of a zillah court responsible for defalcations, &c. during their suretyship tho' acquitted from all liability by Z. court.

79. In cases provided for by Sections 16 and 19, Regulation 3, 1794, the Judge, on the application of the Collector, for the confinement of a defaulting tehseeldar, or other Native officer, cannot proceed in any other manner than according to the provisions of the sections cited, i. e. confine the defaulter until he pay the sum, or give up the papers demanded from him, or furnish security to institute a suit to contest the demand, which suit must be instituted and proceeded on as a regular suit.—Con. 282, 29th Dec. 1817.

Mode in which the judge is to proceed on the application of a collector for the confinement of a defaulting tehseeldar or N. officer.

80. The lands of the treasurer of a Collector having been sold to make good the amount of embezzlement, with notice that his right and title only were offered for sale, it was held, with reference to such notice, and Sections 21 and 29, Regulation 11, 1822, that the buyer was liable to loss on re-sale, in consequence of his failure to pay the purchase money, though that loss apparently arose from the claim of others to participate, the risk thereof having been incurred by the buyer.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Nov. 1832, vol. 5, p. 238.

Case of the sale of the lands of a treasurer of a collector to make good the amount of embezzlement.

81. A treasurer of a Collector having embezzled a sum of money, his security was called upon to make good the amount deficient. He deposited it, and received from the Collector three monetary obligations, the property of the treasurer towards the reimbursement of the sum paid by him. Subsequently Government absolved the surety and directed repayment of the amount deposited by him. On being required by the Collector to restore the money obligations he declined to do so, and requested that the nominal value of them might be deducted from the amount payable to him. Held that the Government was absolved from all liability under the obligations, in the event of the surety being unable to realize the sums due on them from the parties who executed them.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Sept. 1843, vol. 7, p. 134.

Case of embezzlement by the treasurer of a collector, whose surety had made good the amount and had received monetary obligations belonging to the treasurer, and when absolved, declined to restore them.

SECTION VIII.

Nazirs.

N. not liable for sums due from those who escape from them, except in case of collusion.

82. Nazirs of Civil courts are not liable to pay the amount of sums due from persons who escape from their custody, unless collusion on their part be proved.—Con. 53, 18th Nov. 1809.

How claims against N. for injuries arising from neglect or misconduct are to be dealt with.

83. Claims against the nazirs of Civil courts for alleged injury to parties from neglect of duty or other misconduct must be received and tried as regular suits : no summary investigation is allowed. They should be decided as speedily as possible, and security may be taken from the nazir to perform the judgment on such claims.—Ibid.

N. cannot force an entry into a house, if the door is barred.

84. A nazir or other person deputed on his part to serve process agreeably to Section 4, Regulation 2, 1806, having entered the compound of the defendant's house, is not authorized to force an entry into the house, in the event of the defendant's shutting the door against him.—Con. 745, 21st Dec. 1832.

N. will receive no commission on the sale of personal property for realizing fines or decrees.

85. Nazirs may be employed in the attachment and sale of personal property for the purpose of realizing fines, or of decrees, regular or summary, but are not entitled to receive any commission on the proceeds of such sales as Moonsiffs are under Section 52, Regulation 23, 1814.—Con. 509, 29th May 1829.

On the sale of what property the N. is entitled or not to a percentage.

86. The nazir of the Civil court is entitled to a percentage on the sale of lawarisee property, for that being at the disposal of Government, they may grant him a commission on the proceeds of the sale. But not on the sale of the property of a deceased person, not intestate, as this sale is extra official, for conducting which the nazir can claim no remuneration but what may have been agreed on by an arrangement with the administrator. Nor can he claim a percentage on the sale of property sold in execution of decrees, nor of property sold in satisfaction of sums embezzled by public officers, such sales being in fact in execution of decrees or orders of court.—Con. 824, Cal. C. 30th Aug., West. C. 1st Nov. 1833.

N. will investigate the sufficiency of security in pauper suits.

87. As no fees are leviable for the remuneration of ameens appointed under Circular order Sudder dewanny adawlut, of the 13th January, 1837, for investigating the sufficiency of security tendered to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, of the circumstances of parties wishing to sue as paupers, these duties should be entrusted to the nazir or Moonsiff.—Con. 1078, Cal. C. 10th March, West. C. 31st March 1837.

N. liable to damages for misrepresenting the value or sufficiency of any security.

88. If it be shewn on a civil prosecution that the nazir of a Criminal court has wilfully misrepresented the value or sufficiency of any security, in regard to which he had been directed to enquire and report, and that loss ensued in consequence of such misrepresentation on his part, he would be liable to the payment of damages at the discretion of the court before whom the suit was brought.—Con. 1014, West. C. 17th June, Cal. C. 8th July 1836.

In such cases N. must be prosecuted in a regular suit.

89. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the Regulations in force do not provide any summary remedy against losses sustained in appeal cases from the insufficiency of security pronounced by the nazir of a Civil court to be good and sufficient for the performance of final judgment ; but that the injured party can only have his remedy by the institution of a regular suit under the provisions of Regulation 4 of 1793.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d July 1839, p. 21.

SECTION IX.

Establishment of Naibs, Mirdahs and Peons in Zillah and City Courts.

90. The nazirs of the several Courts of judicature, civil and criminal, shall be allowed, as heretofore, to appoint their own naibs, and the mirdahs and peons, or any similar descriptions of public servants employed under their immediate direction and control; and to fill up all vacancies, which, from time to time, may occur in such appointments, subject to the approbation of the Judges and Magistrates superintending the courts to which they are attached, and to the responsibility prescribed by Section 2, Regulation 13, 1793, and Section 2, Regulation 12, 1803, for the good behaviour of the naibs, mirdahs, peons, and others appointed by them. They may also, as hitherto, remove the persons so appointed by them, provided they can state sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Judge and Magistrate; but not without his previous knowledge and sanction.—Reg. 5, 1804, Sect. 12.

N. of the courts of judicature allowed to appoint certain public servants employed under them, and to fill up vacancies subject to the approbation of J. and M. and to the responsibility prescribed by sec. 2, reg. 13, 1793, and sec. 2, reg. 12, 1803. They may also remove such servants on stating sufficient cause to the satisfaction of J. or M. but not without his previous knowledge and sanction.

91. The nazirs are to enter into a muchulka or penal obligation, in such sum as may be required by the courts to which they may be respectively attached, for the good behaviour of the naibs, mirdahs, and peons, whom they may appoint.—Reg. 13, 1793, Sect. 2.—Benares Reg. 12, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 12, 1803, Sect. 2.

To execute penalty bonds for their good behaviour.

92. When a summons, or any process, is issued against a defendant, or a witness in a cause, or any other person who may not reside or be present at the place at which the Court may sit, and for the serving or executing of which a peon or peons may be necessary, each peon is to be paid by the party in whose behalf the summons or process may issue, four annas per day for his subsistence, excepting in districts where custom may have fixed the subsistence money of peons at a lower rate, in which case the lower rate, and no more, is to be paid.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 20.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 9.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 21.

Summons and process to be served and executed by peons.

Daily allowance to be paid to the peons.

[The above rule is modified by Regulation 26 of 1814, for which look below, Rules 97 and 98.]

93. The name of each peon deputed to serve the process, the amount of his subsistence money, and the number of days for which he is to receive it is to be endorsed on the writing. No greater number of peons than two are to be deputed to serve or execute any process of the courts, and one peon only is to be sent, excepting in cases in which the Judges may think two peons necessary.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 20.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 9.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 21.

Farther instructions regarding the peons.

94. Such part of the Regulations in force as authorize the payment of tulubana (subsistence or diet money) to peons or other persons, who may not receive a fixed monthly salary from Government for serving the summonses or other processes of the Civil and Criminal courts, are hereby declared subject to the following modifications and additions.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Modifications of the rules in force regarding the payment of tulubana.

95. The Judges and Magistrates of the several zillahs and cities shall call upon employed in serving the civil and criminal processes of the zillah and city courts, (who may not receive a monthly salary from govt.) to be prepared.

their respective nazirs for detailed lists of the peons now employed in the execution of civil and criminal processes, who do not receive a monthly salary from Government, and after ascertaining what number is requisite in addition to the chuprassies on the public establishments for the service of such processes, they shall select a sufficient number of the fittest persons to be so employed, and shall cause their names to be registered with the following particulars, viz. The names of their fathers, their age and places of abode, and a concise description of their persons.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

N. not to employ any peons but those who may be duly registered, or who may be officers on the public establishment.

96. The nazirs are hereby strictly prohibited, under pain of immediate dismissal, from employing any person not registered in the mode above prescribed, and not being an officer on the public establishment, in the service of any process, civil or criminal, or in the execution of any order or official act whatever, without a special authority from the Judge or Magistrate or other public officer competent to give such directions.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Distinguishing badges to be furnished to the registered peons. And a table of rates to be prepared, applicable to the several local divisions, according to which the tulubanaah is to be paid.

97. The peons who may be registered as above required shall be furnished with an uniform belt, or such other badge of office at the discretion of the Judge as shall suffice to distinguish them from the chuprassies on the fixed establishments. The expence of such badge shall be defrayed out of the tulubanaah of the peon receiving the same. The Judges and Magistrates of the several Zillah and City courts are to frame a table for regulating the account of tulubanaah demandable on the service of process, civil and criminal, according to the rates prescribed by the Regulations or established by usage. The table shall contain a statement of the several Police jurisdictions, or other more convenient local divisions, the computed distance of the central part of such local division, from the sudder station, and the number of days for which tulubanaah is to be allowed on the serving of process within each local division, calculated on the computed distance of the centre of each local division from the sudder station.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

The table of rates to be suspended in the cutcherry, and no higher rates to be taken or demanded.

98. The table so framed shall be suspended for general information in the cutcherries of the Judge and Magistrate and of the Collector of the district, and no tulubanaah shall be allowed in any instance beyond the rates, or for a greater number of days, than may be prescribed in such table without a special written order from the Judge, or Magistrate, the Register, assistant, or other public officer competent to pass the same.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

The amount of the tulubanaah demandable and a specific receipt for it to be endorsed on the process, previously to its execution.

99. The amount of tulubanaah which may be demandable according to the table mentioned in the preceding clause, shall be specified on the back of each summons or other process, and the amount shall be paid, by the person taking out the process, to the nazir previously to the execution of such process; a receipt shall be endorsed on the process in each instance by the nazir, specifying the amount, and the person from whom it was received.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

Provisions where two or more processes may be served by one peon.

100. When two or more processes may be served by one peon, the Judge and Magistrate, or other officer, who may order the same to be served, shall determine in what proportion the fixed rates of tulubanaah shall be paid by the parties respectively, and shall sign an order to that effect on the face or back of the process.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

101. When the process shall have been executed and returned according to the preceding rules, the nazir shall pay to the peon, who may have served the same, three-fourths of the amount of the tulubannah received by him on account of such process, and the nazir shall be entitled to appropriate the remaining one-fourth of the tulubannah, to his own use. —Ibid, Cl. 8.

The peon to receive three-fourths and the N. one-fourth of the amount of the tulubannah, when the process shall have been executed.

102. The Judges and Magistrates, the Registers, and assistants, are required to take every possible precaution, and to give all practicable attention for the purpose of preventing illegal or undue exactions for diet or subsistence money under the name or pretence of tulubannah.—Ibid, Cl. 9.

Every precaution to be adopted to prevent undue exactions on account of tulubannah.

103. I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that a Judge is not competent to exercise any interference in the matter referred to in your letter, but that the nazir may himself be permitted to exercise his discretion in advancing to the peon, on his own responsibility, such portion of the tulubannah as he might consider necessary for the subsistence of the latter while engaged in serving the process on account of which it was paid.—Con. 1084, Cal. and West. C. 31st March 1837.

A zillah judge is not competent to interfere in regard to the payment of the tulubannah of the nazir's peons.

SECTION X.

Ministerial Officers in the Courts of Native Judges.

104. And it is hereby enacted, that all ministerial officers of the courts of Mooniffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens shall be nominated and appointed by those courts respectively, subject to the general control of the zillah and city Judges and Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut within whose jurisdiction the said courts may be situated.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 12.

All ministerial officers of the courts of M., S. A., & P. S. A. shall be appointed by those courts, subject to the general control of the zillah and city judge and S. D. A.

105. The Court observe, that the law does not require the confirmation of the zillah or city Judge to the appointment by the subordinate judicial functionaries of his district of the ministerial officers of their respective courts, but merely declares that the appointment of those officers shall be made subject to the general control of the zillah and city Judges and of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and they are, therefore, of opinion that the interference of the district Judges in such cases shall be exercised only with a view to prevent the appointment of improper persons, or the dismissal, without good and sufficient cause, of individuals already appointed.—Con. 1160, West. C. 27th July, Cal. C. 17th Aug. 1838.

The J. need not confirm all appointments of amlahs of the uncov. judges. The exact nature of his interference defined.

106. The Court, having become aware of an instance in which a Principal Sudder Ameen dismissed the amlah of the court to which he had been appointed, with a view to make room for those who were employed under him in another district, direct me to request that you will warn the Principal Sudder Ameens and other Native Judges attached to your jurisdiction, of the impropriety of such a proceeding, and impress upon them that no officer employed under them is to be dismissed except on the score of misconduct or incapacity, and that they are not in any way to compel or require an officer to resign his situation so long as he discharges his duties in a correct and efficient manner.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 5th Sept., West. C. 5th Oct. 1838, par. 1.

Uncov. N. judges cannot dismiss amlahs to make way for their own men; or require an amlah to resign.

Definition of the causes of dismissal.

Nature of the control to be exercised by the Judge regarding the amlahs. An amlah improperly dismissed may appeal to the Judge.

107. The general power of control over the appointment of the ministerial officers of the Native Judges, vested in you by Section 12, Act XXV. 1837, must be considered to include not only the duty of seeing that no improper person is appointed, but also that of restraining the Judges from dismissing, except for some good and sufficient reason, any person once placed on their establishments. It is accordingly competent to you to receive an appeal from any individual who may consider himself improperly dismissed from office by a Native Judge, and to direct his restoration if you consider such a measure expedient.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 5th Sept., West. C. 5th Oct. 1838, par. 2.

Cases of flagrant impropriety in the dismissal of amlahs to be reported to S. D. A.

108. Any case of this description characterized by flagrant impropriety, which may be brought to the notice of the Court, will be visited with their severe displeasure.—Ibid, par. 3.

Farther definition of the control to be exercised over the amlahs of N. Judges.

109. With a view of defining the general control of the zillah and city Judges and Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to which arrangements, connected with the ministerial officers of the courts of Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens, are by Section 12, Act XXV. 1837, declared to be subject, and of indicating the occasions and mode of its exercise in a precise and uniform manner, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower and Western Provinces have been pleased to establish the following rules.—Cir. Ord. 25th Feb. 1842.

The J. must obtain a certain and definite knowledge of the acts of the N. J. regarding their officers, in order to prevent improper appointments and unjust dismissals.

110. The general power of control contemplated by Act XXV. 1837, Section 12, having been interpreted by Circular order, dated Lower Provinces, 5th September, and Western Provinces, 5th October, 1838, to include the duty of preventing improper appointments as well as unjust dismissals of ministerial officers of the Native courts, and to invest the Judges with power to receive appeals from dismissed officers, and direct their restoration, if deemed expedient, the Court have resolved that in order to the due and efficient exercise of such preventive and restraining power, a more certain and definite knowledge by the Judges of the acts of the subordinate courts in this department, than can be afforded by mere occasions of appeal, is necessary.—Ibid, par. 1.

All appointments, dismissals and changes to be notified to the Judge.

111. It is accordingly notified, that for the future it shall be incumbent on Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens, to report all appointments, dismissals, and changes of the ministerial officers of their courts for the information of the Judge to whom they may be subordinate.—Ibid, par. 2.

Form of the report.

112. On reporting any new appointment on their establishment, the Native courts will submit to the Judge a statement in the following form :—

Name of person appointed.	Place of residence.	Age and caste.	Office to which appointed and how vacant.	Whether ever in public employ before, and where.

Reports of changes.

113. Reports of changes from one situation to another on the same establishment, will always be accompanied by a brief statement of the reasons for which they are made.—Ibid.

Reports of dismissals.

114. Reports of dismissals will include a recital of the precise nature of the fault committed, and the reasons for considering the removal of the officer necessary.—Ibid.

115. Resignations will also be reported, with the grounds assigned for the step.—Ibid.

Reports of resignations.

116. The names of the officers on the establishments of the subordinate courts should also be registered in your office, and the receipts for their salary should be sent in monthly by the officer under whom they may be employed, accompanied by his own.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d March 1838.

Registration of the names of the amlahs, and receipts for their salaries.

117. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut being of opinion, that it is inexpedient to allow the Sudder Ameens to appoint their own connections to situations on their own establishments, have determined to prohibit the practice; and accordingly desire, that previously to sanctioning the future nominations of their amlah, you will require from them a certificate that the nominee is not disqualified under this prohibition.—Cir. Ord. 31st Dec. 1830.

S. A. will not appoint their own connections as their amlahs.

118. The ministerial officers of the courts of the Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens shall be liable to the same penalties for acts of corruption, extortion, or other misconduct, as the ministerial officers of the Zillah and City courts are now liable under the general Regulations.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 25, Cl. 2.

Ministerial officers of S. A. and P. S. A. liable for misconduct to the same penalties as other officers of the judge's court.

119. And it is hereby enacted, that the rule contained in the second clause of Section 25, Regulation 5, 1831, be extended to the ministerial officers of the Moonsiffs' courts.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 11.

Extends cl. 2, sec. 25, reg. 5, 1831, to the ministerial officers of the moonsiffs' courts.

120. By Regulation 5, 1831, Section 25, Clause 2, the ministerial officers of the Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens are declared liable to the same penalties for acts of extortion, corruption or misconduct as the ministerial officers of the Zillah and City courts are now liable under the several Regulations. These provisions are extended to the ministerial officers of the Moonsiffs' courts. These suits are to be received and decided by the court to which the officers sued may be attached, provided that if the amount sued for be beyond the competence of such court, it shall be forwarded to the Judge, who will refer it to any other court competent to decide it, or he may place it on his own file.—Govt. Ord. No. 13, 15th Jan. 1834.

Suits against the amlahs of the P. S. A. and S. A. and M. for extortion, corruption or misconduct.

121. Your letter was forwarded to the Civil Auditor, who was requested to furnish the Government with his opinion on the matter. He has suggested in reply that all amlahs should receive 3-10ths extra pay as travelling allowance. His Honour the Deputy Governor is of opinion that the most equitable plan will be to equalize the travelling allowances of all amlahs, without respect to nation or creed, and he thinks also that the rates proposed by the Civil Auditor are those which should be followed.—Cir. Ord. 20th Sept. 1839.

Travelling allowances of the amlahs of the N. judges.

122. There is no appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from the order of a zillah Judge, dismissing a ministerial officer attached to the court of a Moonsiff.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 23d Aug. 1842, p. 38.

No appeal from the order of a J. dismissing the amlah of M.

SECTION XI.

Nazirs and Peons employed by Native Judges.

123. The Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens shall retain on their establishments, officers denominated nazirs, to whom the provisions of Clause 8. Section 14, Regulation 26, 1814, shall be applicable.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 5.

The P. S. A., and S. A. shall retain on their establishments nazirs.

Amount of security to be given by the N. of the P. S. A. and S. A.

124. The Court have determined that the nazirs of the Principal Sudder Ameens, and Sudder Ameens' courts be required to give security, in the same manner as is required from that class of officers in the Judge's courts. The security to be demanded from the nazirs of the Principal Sudder Ameens, has been fixed at rupees 5,000, and that demandable from the nazirs of the Sudder Ameens' Courts at rupees 1,000.—Cir. Ord. 27th May 1842, par. 1.

The security to be annually revised.

125. The security which may be given by those officers shall be annually revised by the Judge, and a report of the same included in the annual civil statement, No. 9, of the Circular order No. 28, Vol. III.—Ibid, par. 2.

Lists of peons, who may be employed for the serving of process to be kept by the P. S. A., S. A. and M.

126. The Judges of the several zillahs and cities in those jurisdictions to which the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, may extend, shall call upon the Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens within their respective jurisdictions for detailed lists of the peons whom they may propose to employ for the execution of civil process, and after ascertaining what number is requisite they shall select a sufficient number of the fittest persons to be employed, and shall cause their names to be registered with the following particulars: viz. The names of their fathers, their age and places of abode, and a concise description of their persons.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

The N. judges will nominate the muskooree peons, and the Eur. judge will select from them those fittest for duty.

127. With reference to Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 7, 1832, I request the favour of your obtaining for me the opinion of the Court as to whether the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs should select the peons they may propose to employ for the execution of civil processes from the registered peons, who, previous to the new arrangements, belonged to the courts of the Judge, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs; or whether they are at liberty to nominate for the appointment of strangers. I beg leave to submit that if they are allowed to appoint new peons, a considerable number of old servants must necessarily be thrown out of employ.—In reply, I am directed to inform you that under the terms of the Regulation cited by you, the nomination of the muskooree peons rests with the subordinate judicial officers, and that the Judge is required to select from among the persons nominated such number of those whom he may consider the fittest for the duty as may appear requisite. The Court observe that as the Native judicial officers possess the power of appointing and removing the ministerial officers of their courts, there can be no objections to intrusting them with the authority to nominate the persons who will be employed in executing their processes.—Con. 762, West. C. 22d Feb., Cal. C. 15th March 1833.

In cases where process is served by an officer of the court, M., S. A. and P. S. A. prohibited from employing any person not registered.

128. In cases wherein, under the provisions of this section, process is served by an officer of the court, and not by the party himself, the Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens are strictly prohibited from employing any person not registered in the mode above prescribed (Rule 126) without the special authority of the Judge.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 3.

Rules regarding the levy of tulubana in such cases.

129. The rules, mutatis mutandis, contained in Clauses fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh, Section 14, Regulation 26, 1814, shall be held applicable to the peons who may be employed under the above rule. Such duties as are therein assigned to the nazir of the Judge's court, shall in the Moonsiffs' courts be performed by the Moonsiffs themselves. The tulubana levied in these cases shall only be three-fourths of what is levied in the Judge's court, and no part of it shall be appropriated by the Moonsiffs.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

130. It is hereby enacted, that so much of Clause 4, Section 5, Regulation 7 of 1832 of the Bengal code, as enacts that certain duties assigned to the nazir of the Judge's court shall in the Moonsiffs' courts be performed by the Moonsiffs themselves, and that the tulubanaah levied in the Moonsiff's court shall only be three-fourths of what is levied in the Judge's court, is repealed. And it is hereby enacted, that within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, the Moonsiffs shall from and after the passing of this Act retain on their establishments nazirs to whom the provisions of Clause 8, Section 14, Regulation 26 of 1814 of the said code shall be applicable.—Act XIV. 1845, Sects. 1, 2.

M. are directed to entertain nazirs in their courts.

131. The following rules regarding the remuneration of Moonsiffs' nazirs, and the amount of security to be demanded from them are established for general observance.—Cir. Ord. 17th Nov. 1845, par. 1.

Rules regarding the remuneration of the nazirs of M., and the security to be given by them.

132. The sole remuneration of nazirs of the Moonsiffs' courts will consist in a-fourth of the amount of tulubanaah, leviable under the provisions of Clause 8, Section 14, Regulation 26, of 1814, extended to those courts by Act XIV. 1845.—Ibid, par. 2.

Remuneration of the nazirs of M.

133. The amount of security to be demanded from those officers, is fixed at rupees 1,000 ; but this sum is liable to enhancement or reduction according as enquiry, and experience may show to be expedient.—Ibid, par. 3.

Amount of security to be given by them.

134. The Judges are requested to ascertain and report to the Court the amount actually received by the Moonsiffs' nazirs of their districts, whether for tulubanaah or any other account, during the first six months of the ensuing year.—Ibid, par. 4.

Judge will ascertain & report the amount received by the nazirs of M.

135. The Sudder Ameens are to be guided in regard to tulubanaah by the rules in force for the guidance of the zillah and city Judges previously to the enactment of Regulation 5, 1831, namely, Regulation 26, 1814, Section 14, Clauses 4 to 7.—Con. 668, 13th Jan. 1832.

Tulubanaah of peons of S. A.

136. By Clause third, Section 29, Regulation 23, 1814, the Moonsiffs are prohibited from demanding or receiving any fee or issuing the prescribed summons for the attendance of witnesses, and by Clause fourth, the party or his vakeel is required to serve the summons in person. But as the strict observance of this rule may (especially in suits of the higher description such as the Moonsiffs are now competent to decide) be attended with inconvenience, it is hereby declared that whenever the party at whose suit the process may be sued out, may be desirous of having the summons carried by a peon instead of serving it himself, or through any other person, it shall be competent to the Moonsiff to levy tulubanaah for that purpose.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Moonsiffs competent to levy tulubanaah for the serving of process on the demand of the party who sues it out.

137. The peons attached to the Moonsiffs' courts under the provisions of Section 5, Regulation 7, 1832, are intended exclusively for the execution of judicial processes, and should not be employed in the distraint and sale of property for arrears of rent.—Con. 861, West. C. 7th Feb., Cal. C. 28th Feb. 1834.

The peons of M. to be employed only in executing judicial process.

138. The Judge will carefully revise the lists of peons now employed in the execution of process in the Moonsiffs' courts, and, after ascertaining what number is requisite for the service of such processes, will select a sufficient number of the fittest persons to be so employed ; and will cause each Moonsiff to register their names as follows :—Name of the peon—name of his father—number of his badge—his age—his place of abode, and a concise description of his person.—Cir. Ord. 28th Aug. 1840, par. 1.

Rules regarding the selection and registry of M.'s peons.

Moonsiff will employ none but registered peons, without recording a special order on the proceedings.

139. The Moonsiffs are strictly prohibited from employing any person not registered in the mode above prescribed in the service of any process, without recording a special order on their proceedings; and a note also to that effect shall be endorsed on the back of the process.—Ibid, par. 2.

Belt and badge of the peons.

140. The peons, who may be registered as above, shall be furnished with a belt, and badge of office duly numbered. The expense of the same to be defrayed by the peon.—Ibid, par. 3.

Table of distances from the moonsiff's cutcherry to the extreme limit of his jurisdiction.

141. The Moonsiffs will frame a table for regulating the tulubannah demandable on the service of the processes, according to the rates established by usage in their respective moonsiffships. This table shall contain the computed distance from the sudder station of the Moonsiff to the extreme parts of his jurisdiction. The number of days for which tulubannah is to be allowed on the issuing of process within the moonsiffship, shall be calculated with reference to the computed distance of the principal towns or villages from the sudder station of the Moonsiff.—Ibid, par. 4.

This table will be approved by the J., suspended in the M.'s cutcherry, and regulate tulubannah.

142. The table so framed shall be submitted for the inspection and orders of the Judge, and, after having been duly revised and approved of by that officer, shall be suspended for general information in the court house of the Moonsiff; and no tulubannah shall be allowed beyond the rates, or for a greater number of days than may be prescribed in such table, without a special order from the Moonsiff, to be recorded on his proceedings.—Ibid, par. 5.

The tulubannah to be levied before issue of process, and paid to the peon after its return.

143. The amount of tulubannah demandable according to the table above mentioned, shall be paid previously to the issue of process. The Moonsiff shall endorse a receipt on the process, specifying the amount and the person from whom it was received; and, after the execution and return of the process, shall pay the sum in deposit to the muskooree peon.—Ibid, par. 6.

Registry of tulubannah.

144. Tulubannah so paid, shall be entered in a register of the annexed form:

Form of Register of Tulubannah Deposits.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14
No. of cases.	Name of the plaintiff.	Name of the defendant.	Description of process.	Number of days.	Amount of tulubannah deposited.	Date of deposit.	By whom deposited.	Number of peon.	Name of peon.	Date of going into moonsiff.	Date of return from moonsiff.	Receipt of the peon.	Remarks.

—Ibid, par. 7.

Punishment for ex-

145. Any peon, demanding or exacting tulubannah, or diet money, in addition to the sum deposited with the Moonsiff, and specified on the back of the process entrusted to him for execution, will be dismissed, and be further liable to such other punishment as may be warranted by the existing Regulations.—Ibid, par. 8.

146. The Moonsiffs are required to take every proper precaution to prevent any illegal exactions of diet or subsistence money, in addition to the tulubamah; and they will fully understand, that no person on their establishment is entitled to any “meeran” or share of the tulubamah, which is to be paid entirely to the peon.—Ibid, par. 9.

147. The Court having had before them the returns to the Circular order of the 28th August, 1840, regarding the rates of tulubamah payable in each moonsiffship, and observing that there is great diversity in the rate of remuneration to peons serving processes, are pleased to direct, that in future, payment shall be made in all districts within their jurisdiction, at one anna and half per diem, which is now paid in the majority of the districts both of Bengal and Behar.—Cir. Ord. 11th March 1842, par. 1.

148. The peons are to be paid, besides the number of days required for going to and returning from the place where process is to be served, for two days in addition for service of every subpoena, process of arrest, and process of attachment, and one day in addition for service of every other description of process.—Ibid, par. 2.

149. The Judges will cause to be framed, with due care, (revising it themselves before adoption) a table in the vernacular, for suspension in each Moonsiff's cutcherry, showing the computed distance of each village within the jurisdiction from the court station, and the number of days allowed for the service of the process, calculated at the rate of five kos, or ten miles per diem going and returning. This table being exposed under the signature and seal of the Judge, in each Moonsiff's court, for general information, no mistake can thereafter occur, nor extra demand be made.—Ibid, par. 3.

150. This Circular supersedes all temporary orders that have been issued to the Judges on the returns abovementioned.—Ibid, par. 4.

151. The Court desire the attention of the Judges generally to the annexed extract of a Report on Civil Justice for 1841, from the Judge of Furruckabad, regarding irregularities found by him to prevail in the Moonsiff's courts in the matter of levying and appropriating “tulubamah” and “khorak,” in order that each Judge may satisfy himself, by careful scrutiny, as to the prevalence or otherwise of similar practices in his district, and may adopt immediate measures for stopping them, if discovered to exist.—“Much irregularity appears to me to have prevailed in all the subordinate courts of this zillah in the mode of levying and appropriating “tulubamah” and “khorak.” The Moonsiffs have been in the habit, apparently, of retaining among their authorized peadahs a certain number of their own dependants, who have been employed by them in all their domestic menage, but whose only wages have been the sums received upon processes of the court, when made over to them for execution. In this manner it appears almost universally the practice of these officers to have five or six of their registered peons, who receive seven and eight rupees a month for tulubamah, while the others get scarcely even more than two or three at the outside. Such a plan of procedure appears to be exceedingly exceptionable, and I hope that I shall receive the support of the Sudder Court in my endeavours to suppress and abolish it. The present second Moonsiff of Furruckabad upon taking charge of his office informed me in a proceeding that the chuprassies attached to his acting more tulubamah than the table allows.

Exactions of money for diet by peons forbidden.

Rate of tulubamah to be paid to moonsiffs' peons in all districts.

Idem.

Table of distances to be framed by the M., revised by the J., and suspended in the moonsiff's court.

All other temporary orders on this subject superseded.

Judge will carefully prevent all irregularities in levying or appropriating the tulubamah of moonsiffs' peons, and prevent the levying of diet money.

office, had always hitherto received, in excess of the prescribed tulubanaḥ, certain sums under the designation of "khorak," as well from decreedars as from plaintiffs, vakeels and mooktars, and requested my authority to his issuing an "ishtiḥar" prohibiting the practice."—fir. Ord. 4th Feb. 1842.

SECTION XII.

City, Town and Purgunnah Cazees.

The office and the duties of the town and purgunnah cazees.

152. Cazees are stationed at the cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, and the principal towns and in the purgunnahs, for the purpose of preparing and attesting deeds of transfer and other law papers, celebrating marriages, and performing such religious duties or ceremonies prescribed by the Mahomedan law, as have been hitherto discharged by them under the British Government, and also for superintending the sale of distrained property, and paying charitable and other pensions and allowances, under Regulations 17 and 24, 1793. The nature of the abovementioned duties renders it necessary that persons of character, and duly qualified with respect to legal knowledge, should be appointed to these offices; and to encourage them to discharge their trusts with diligence and fidelity, they should not be liable to removal, unless proved to be incapable or guilty of misconduct to the satisfaction of the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 1.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 1.

Cazees may authenticate powers of attorney, but the court may call for further evidence, if it appears necessary.

153. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the term "other law papers" used in the preamble to Regulation 39 of 1793, must be held to include powers of attorney, the authentication of which therefore is within the competency of a cazee; but at the same time the Court observe, that you are clearly at liberty to call for further evidence in any case, where there may appear reason to doubt the due execution of an instrument of that nature by the individual whose act and deed it purports to be.—Con. 436, 3d Nov. 1826, par. 2.

The attestation of a deed of land by a cazee out of his jurisdiction, is unofficial, & of no greater value than that of any other person.

154. On a question from the Judge of zillah Behar, whether a purgunnah cazee could attest a deed for land situated in a purgunnah of which he was not the appointed cazee, and executed out of his proper jurisdiction, the Court of Sudder dewānī adawlut expressed their opinion, that the attestation of a cazee to a deed so executed, must be considered entirely unofficial, and of no greater weight than the attestation of other persons not given officially.—Con. 14, 29th Nov. 1805.

Religious duties & ceremonies are valid if performed by any C. of the purgunnah; but the drawing up, attesting, and recording papers must be done by the C. of the purgunnah, in which the property lies.

155. For all offices analogous to those which, under English courts, are included in the ecclesiastical department, such as the celebration of marriages and the performance of religious duties or ceremonies, the acts of any cazee, though not specially empowered for the immediate locality, would be valid and lawful; but that the drawing up and attestation of papers and making a record of them must be performed (to be legal) by the cazee of the jurisdiction in which the property specified may be situated.—Con. 1042, Cal. C. 19th Aug., West. C. 9th Sept. 1836, par. 4.

156. The Zillah court cannot summarily interfere to put a cazee in possession of his purgunnahs, unless a decree expressly sanctions such a proceeding.—Ibid, par. 3.

Power of a J. to put a C. in possession of his purgunnahs.

157. The cazee ul cuzaat, or head cazee of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, shall be appointed by the Governor General in Council, and shall not be removable from his office, but for incapacity, or misconduct in the discharge of his public duty, or acts of profligacy in his private conduct, proved to the satisfaction of the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Head C. of the three provinces to be appointed by the G. G. in C. Not to be removed but for incapacity or misconduct proved to the satisfaction of the G. G. in C.

Regulation 46, 1803, Sect. 2, Clause 1, ordains that the head cazee of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares shall also be the head cazee of the provinces ceded by the Nawab Vizier to the Honourable the East India Company.

158. The head cazee is to use a circular seal, two inches in diameter, on which shall be inscribed the designation of his office, and his name, in the Persian language, as follows:—“The seal of the cazee ul cuzaat of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.” (Name of the head cazee.)—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Seal of the head C.

159. The office of cazee is declared not to be hereditary.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 5.

Office of C. declared not hereditary.

160. When the office of cazee in any purgunnah, city, or town shall become vacant, the Judge of the Zillah or City court, within whose jurisdiction the place may be situated, is immediately to report the vacancy to the Governor General in Council, and recommend such person as may appear to him best qualified for the succession from his character and legal knowledge. The name of the person so recommended, is to be communicated to the head cazee, who, if he shall deem him unqualified for the office, either from want of legal knowledge, or the badness of his private character, is to report the same in writing to the Governor General in Council, who reserves to himself the power of appointing such person to the office, or not, or of conferring it upon any other person, according as may appear to him proper. If there shall appear to the head cazee no objection to the appointment of the person who may be so recommended, he is to report accordingly to the Governor General in Council. The person who may be appointed to the office, shall be furnished with a sunnud of appointment under the official seal of the head cazee, in which the date of his appointment is to be specified.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 4.

Vacancies in the office of C., in the interior parts of the country, how to be supplied.

161. I am directed by the Court to request that you will in future submit all nominations of city and purgunnah cazees and Moonsiffs for the approval of the Court, in one of the accompanying forms, as the case may require.

Nomination of city and purgunnah C. to be submitted to S.D.A.

Form for the Nomination of Cazees, Moonsiffs, or acting Moonsiffs.

Vacant office.	How vacated.	Name of the person nominated, with the name of his father.	Age.	Religion & caste.	Family residence, with town or village purgunnah and zillah.	Statement of past employment, whether in the service of Govt. or individuals	Statement of landed or other property belonging to the nominee, where situated.	Proposed residence and jurisdiction.	Statement of qualifications and knowledge of the Persian, Bengalee, or English language, &c.	Certificate that the nominee is not disqualified by any regulation.

—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th Dec. 1832.

Investigation of the J. before submitting nominations of C.

162. The Court request that, before submitting applications for the appointment of town and purgunnah cazees, you will carefully compare the designation of the jurisdiction in which the vacancy has occurred, and the name of the nominee, as entered in the vernacular papers, with those inserted in the English statements.—Cir. Ord. 24th May 1844.

Court of S. D. A. empowered to confirm the appointment, removal and resignation of the law officers of the provincial, zillah and city courts, & the C. of cities, towns and purgunnahs.

163. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered to confirm the appointment, removal, and resignation of the law officers of the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts, and of the cazees of cities, towns, and purgunnahs, on receiving the reports prescribed by Sections 5, 6 and 9, Regulation 5, 1804, with the following modification of Section 6.—Reg. 8, 1809, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Rule in the preceding section applied to the C. stationed in the interior parts of the country.

164. The cazees stationed in the cities, towns, or purgunnahs in the three provinces, shall not be removable from their offices, excepting for incapacity or misconduct in the discharge of their public duty or acts of profligacy in their private conduct. The cazees so stationed, are to use a circular seal, one inch and a half in diameter, on which shall be inserted the designation of their office, and their name, in the Persian language as follows: "The seal of the cazee of the city (town, purgunnah or purgunnahs) of —————." Name of the cazee.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

The rules contained in the five preceding sections declared applicable to the law officers and the C.

165. The rules contained in the five preceding sections [in which are included Sections 5 and 6, given below] shall be held applicable to the law officers of the several Courts of justice; to the cazee ul cuzaat, and cazees of the towns, cities and purgunnahs.—Reg. 5, 1804, Sect. 10.

Applications of the head N. officers for permission to resign, to be publicly recorded and submitted through the prescribed channel.

166. Whenever the head ministerial Native officers of the courts shall be desirous of resigning their offices, the abovementioned authorities are hereby required to receive and record such resignations in open court, or in their public cutcherries and to transmit the same through the channel prescribed.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Rule of proceeding to be observed when there may appear to be cause for the removal of any head N. officer.

167. Whenever the authorities specified in the preceding sections may see cause for the removal of any of their head Native officers on the ground of misconduct, incapacity, or otherwise, they shall communicate to such officer the grounds upon which they may consider him undeserving of continuance in his station; and call upon him to state what he may have to offer in his defence.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

168. In cases however in which the head Native officer of any of the authorities noticed in Section 4, may have been guilty of gross misconduct, such as to require his immediate suspension from the exercise of the functions of his station, the officer, under whose authority he may be employed, is empowered to suspend him; and, if requisite for the public business, to nominate another person, duly qualified, to act in his place, until the orders of the Governor General in Council can be obtained upon the case.—Ibid.

Idem.

169. It shall likewise be the duty of the head cazee, to report to the Governor General in Council in writing, every instance in which it may appear to him, that the cazee of any city, town, or purgunnah, is incapable, or in which any such cazee may have been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his public duty, or acts of profligacy in his private conduct.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.

Reports to be made by the head C. to G. G. in C. of the incapacity or misconduct of cazees.

170. Whenever a Provincial, Zillah, or City court may see cause for the removal of a law officer or cazee, on the ground of any misconduct, or neglect of duty, experienced incapacity or other disqualification, such court shall report the circumstances of the case with its opinion on the subject to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who, will pass such order on the report so made as may appear to be proper, or will call for any additional information or direct any further enquiry, which the nature and circumstances of the case may require.—Reg. 8, 1809, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

Rules to be observed by a provincial, zillah, or city court on seeing cause for the removal of a law officer on the ground of misconduct, neglect of duty, or experienced incapacity.

171. The cazees stationed in the several zillahs and cities are to be liable to be sued in the Dewanny adawlut for any undue practices in the discharge of the duties prescribed to them by Regulation 17, 1793, or any other Regulation, printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation 41, 1793.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 11.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 11.

C. stationed in the zillahs and cities liable to be sued in the cases herein specified.

172. No ministerial officer of a court or vakeel shall in future be eligible to a cazeeship; and no cazee to the situation of ministerial officer or vakeel.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Dec. 1839, par. 2.

Noamlahs of a court, or vakeel, can be appointed C. and vice versa.

173. The foregoing rule will not of course interfere with the instructions conveyed by the Court's Circular, No. 197, of the 13th January, 1837, by which the zillah and city Judges were authorized to appoint the city and purgunnah cazees as ameens for the performance of the miscellaneous duties therein enumerated. Those duties being of an occasional nature, the performance of them cannot materially interfere with the discharge of the proper functions of the cazee's office.—Ibid, par. 3.

But city and purgunnah C. may be appointed ameens.

174. With reference to the provisions of Clause 1, Section 8, Regulation 23 of 1814, cazees will of course be eligible to the situation of Moonsiff; but you are requested to impress upon all incumbents of cazeeships on assuming the judicial character, that in the event of their ever becoming involved in unseemly disputes with the parties suing or sued in their courts, in respect of fees claimed by them for the performance of marriage ceremonies, affixing seals to do-

C. eligible to the situation of moonsiff, but if the duties of the two offices clash, they will be removed from that of M.

cuments, or doing other acts in their capacity of cazee, their removal from the office of Moon-siff will necessarily ensue.—Ibid, par. 4.

Rule in cl. 1, not to preclude the G. G. in C. from abolishing the office of C. at any place where he may deem the continuance of such an officer unnecessary.

175. The rule contained in the preceding clause is not to be construed to preclude the Governor General in Council from abolishing the office of cazee at any place, where from the number of cazees stationed in the district, or other cause, the continuance of such an officer may appear to him unnecessary.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

Judges of the zillah and city courts to report the number of C. stationed in their respective jurisdictions.

176. Upon the receipt of this Regulation, the Judges of the zillahs and cities are to transmit to the Governor General in Council, the names of the places in their respective jurisdictions in which cazees are stationed, the names of the cazees, and what number of cazees they deem sufficient for their respective jurisdictions. The Judges of the zillahs are to fix the residence of the cazees stationed in the purgunnahs in the most central places, in order that distrainers of property, and persons whose property may be distrained, under Regulation 17, 1793, may have ready access to them.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 9.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 9.

C. of purgunnahs to be stationed in the centre of the purgunnahs.

177. The head cazee, and the cazees stationed in the cities, purgunnahs, and towns, are to keep copies of all deeds, and law or other papers, which they may draw up, or attest, and are to affix thereto their seals and signatures. They are likewise to keep a list of all such papers, and in the event of their death, resignation, or removal, the list and papers are to be delivered complete to their successors.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 7.

Rules for the registration of deeds by C.

178. With a view therefore to the better attainment of the objects of the registration of deeds by the purgunnah cazees, the Court request that you will direct those officers to enter copies of all deeds attested by them in books, to be furnished to them by you, paged throughout, and attested with your initials, and properly bound up; to forward to you monthly a list, drawn up in the annexed form, of the deeds so attested and registered; and to forward the books themselves to your office, when filled up, for the purpose of being deposited among your records for preservation as well as future reference.

Form of List.

No. of the deed in the registry.	Page of the registry in which the deed is entered.	Date of deed, and names of the parties and subscribing witnesses thereto.	Date of attestation and names of parties and witnesses present on the occasion.	Description of deed.

—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 28th Sept., West. C. 23rd Nov. 1838.

C. may be appointed ameens when their services are available.

179. The zillah and city Judges shall select and appoint as many duly qualified persons they may deem requisite to act as ameens, who shall perform the miscellaneous duties abovementioned; of course the Judges will be at liberty to nominate the city and purgunnah cazees to those duties, when their services may be available.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 13th Jan., West. C. 10th Feb. 1837.

180. The rules regarding cazees have not been affected by the late enactments : they may consequently be employed as heretofore, under the general Regulations. With regard to their authority to distrain property, I am directed to refer you to Clause 3, Section 20, Regulation 28, 1803, corresponding with Regulation 7, 1799, Section 6, Clause 3.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 26th July, Cal. C. 1st Nov. 1833, par. 9.

C. may be employed as heretofore under the general regulations. Distrain of property by them.

181. The cazees stationed in the cities, towns, and purgunnahs, are not to exact any fees for drawing up, or attesting papers, or for the celebration of marriages, or the performance of any religious duties or ceremonies which it has been customary for them to perform excepting such as the parties concerned may voluntarily agree to pay, as has been hitherto the practice.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1803, Sect. 8.

Rules regarding the fees of the C.

182. A purgunnah cazee may sue to recover what he may consider himself entitled to for fees of office ; but it rests with the court to determine the extent to which such claim should be admitted, and it must be remembered that the payment of fees is entirely voluntary (see Section 8, Regulation 39, 1793.)—Con. 1012, Cal. C. 19th Aug., West. C. 9th Sept. 1836, par. 2.

A purgunnah C. may sue for what he considers his fees, but the payment of fees is entirely voluntary.

183. The Judges in Bengal and Orissa are to furnish the cazees stationed in their respective jurisdictions, with copies of the Persian and Bengal translates of all Regulations, printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation 41, 1793. The Judges in Behar are to furnish the cazees stationed in their respective jurisdictions, with the Persian translates of all such Regulations.—Reg. 39, 1793, Sect. 10.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 46, 1793, Sect. 10.

Judges to furnish the C. with copies of the translates of all regulations, published as directed by reg. 41, 1793.

184. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 8th ultimo, requesting to be furnished with copies of any orders regarding the legality of the appointment of deputies to assist the city and purgunnah cazees, or determining the extent to which the assistance of deputies, if legally appointed, is available.—In reply, I am directed to transmit to you the accompanying copies of a letter from the acting Judge of zillah Shahabad, dated 10th December, 1817, requesting to be informed if the duty of cazee can be performed by proxy ; of the Court's reply, under date 2nd April, 1818, forwarding copy and translation of a futwa of the law officers of the Court, in which it is stated that a cazee cannot, without the express permission of the hakim or ruling power, legally appoint a deputy ; and of a letter addressed to the Judge of Shahabad on the 6th April, 1824, in the 3rd paragraph of which a "deputy cazee" is stated to be an officer not acknowledged or mentioned throughout the Regulation quoted, (Regulation 39, 1793.)—Con. 707, Cal. and West. C. 27th July 1832.

Cazee cannot appoint a deputy without the express permission of the ruling power.

185. No cazee should be permitted to delegate any of his essential functions, such as the power of affixing the seal of office to documents, to an irresponsible agent not recognized by law, as the residence of a cazee at a distance from his nominal jurisdiction, and his appointment of a naib to act under his sunnud by proxy, are opposed to the obvious use and purpose of the office and irreconcilable with a due discharge of its duties.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Dec. 1839, par. 5.

No C. should be allowed to delegate his essential functions to a deputy at a distance.

186. The foregoing rule is not intended to prohibit the vicarious agency of a deputy in the performance of such acts, (for instance the solemnization of marriages when the parties are willing,) as may be legally done by others than cazees.—Ibid, par. 6.

But a deputy may solemnize marriages and do such acts as may be legally done by others than C.

A zemindar cannot collect fees belonging to the office of C.

187. Held by the Court on a summary application that it is not competent to a zemindar to collect fees appertaining to the office of cazee: the question of right however was still left open to a regular suit, should the zemindar think proper to try it.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Jan. 1841, p. 1.

Cazees in Benares Midnapore, Ghazee-pore and Juanpore.

188. Cazees are stationed in the city of Benares, and the towns of Mirzapore, Ghazee-pore, and Juanpore, and in the purgunnahs in the province of Benares, for the performance of the same duties as are assigned to the cazees in similar situations in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and the prescriptions contained in that Regulation, with the exception hereafter specified, being equally applicable to the province of Benares, the following rules have been enacted.—Reg. 49, 1795, Sect. 1.

Head C. of Bengal, Behar and Orissa, to be head C. of Benares.

189. The head cazee of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, shall also be head cazee of the province of Benares, and shall be appointed under the rules prescribed in Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 39, 1793.—Ibid, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Inscription for the seal of the head C. of the four provinces.

190. The following inscription is to be substituted on the seal of the head cazee, in lieu of that prescribed in Clause second, Section 2, Regulation 39, 1793: "The seal of the cazee ul euzaat of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares." (Name of the head cazee).—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Rules in reg. 39, 1793, from sec. 3 to sec. 11 extended to Benares.

191. The rules contained in the several sections of Regulation 39, 1793, from Section 3 to Section 11, regarding the cazees stationed in the cities, towns, and purgunnahs in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, are hereby extended to the cazees stationed in the city of Benares, and in the towns of Mirzapore, Ghazee-pore, and Juanpore, and the several purgunnahs in the province of Benares, with this exception, that instead of Regulations 17 and 24, 1793, they are to consider the prescriptions contained in Regulation 45, 1795, and Regulation 34, 1795, as the rules for their guidance with regard to the sale of property distrained for arrears of rent or revenue, and the payment of pensions.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Exception.

SECTION XIII.

Law Officers of the Zillah and City Courts—their Appointment and Removal.

Qualifications for the law officers.

192. The law offices in the several courts, are to be conferred on persons well versed in the laws, and of unblemished moral characters.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 3.—Benares Reg. 11, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 3.

Pundits and moolvees will attend at the courts.

193. In the respective cases, the Mahomedan and Hindoo law officers of the court are to attend to expound the law.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 15.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 1.

Copies of bewustahs to be sent to the S. D. A. through the J. of the district in which the pundit's division lies.

194. The Court are pleased to direct that the copies of bewustahs delivered by the pundits, be forwarded to this office through the Judge of the district in which the division or zillah pundit resides, and not separately through the Judges of the districts from which requisitions for opinions were made.—Cir. Ord. 15th March 1844.

195. I am directed by the Court to communicate to you the following orders, issued under instructions from the Supreme Government, and with the sanction and approval of the Right Honourable the Governor of Bengal, abolishing the present system, under which a pundit has hitherto been attached as Hindoo law officer, to the establishment of each Zillah court.—2 The principle of the new arrangement is the appointment of provincial pundits, having jurisdiction, as law officers, over a certain number of zillahs and being constituted, with respect to such districts, the legally authorized expounders of the Hindoo law; the salary, when the arrangements are completed, will be fixed at 150 Rs. per mensem.—3. The circles into which the several districts within the jurisdiction of the Presidency court are to be formed, will be as follows:

Pundits to be in future appointed to a circle consisting of a certain number of districts.

Declaration to be made by the pundits to the courts of civil judicature.

197. The pundits to the Courts of civil judicature, previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of their offices, are to make and subscribe the following declaration before the courts to which they may be respectively attached:—"I, A. B., pundit to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, (or the Provincial court of appeal for the division of ———, or the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah or city of ———) solemnly declare, that I will truly and faithfully execute the office of pundit of this court, according to the best of my knowledge and ability; that I will answer all questions that may be put to me in writing, or orally, by the said court; that I will declare or give in writing, what is in the Shaster; that I will not declare or give in writing what is not warranted by the Shaster; that if I declare any thing not warranted by the Shaster, I shall be deserving of punishment from Ishwur. I promise and swear, that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present or nuzer, in money or effects of any kind, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit, to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the court of which I am pundit, and that I will not, directly or indirectly, derive any advantage or emolument from my office, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive."—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 11, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 7.

A solemn declaration substituted for the prescribed oath in such cases.

198. Instead of the prescribed oath, which is required by the Regulations in force, the several Native officers referred to in the above clause, shall hereafter make and subscribe, in open court, or in the established public office, before the Judges, Boards, Collectors, Commercial Residents and Agents, or other European authorities to which they may be respectively subject, a solemn declaration to the same effect with the form of oath heretofore prescribed, except that the word "declare" shall be substituted for "swear" and that the declarer shall not be sworn thereto.—Reg. 18, 1817, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

By whom such declarations to be attested, and the above rule to be enforced.

199. The Judges, Boards, Collectors, or other European officers before whom such declarations are required to be made and subscribed, shall attest the same as publicly read and subscribed before them, in pursuance of the above clause; and shall be careful to enforce a due observance of the rule therein contained, by the Native officers appointed to act under them respectively.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Reg. 5, 1804; 8, 1809, and 18, 1817, modified.

200. The rules contained in Regulations 5, 1804; 8, 1809, and 18, 1817, or in any other Regulation now in force, relative to the nomination and appointment of the law officers of the several Courts of justice, are hereby declared subject to the modifications contained in the present Regulation : provided, however, that nothing in this Regulation shall be construed to alter or affect the power vested in the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut by Section 4, Regulation 8, 1809, of confirming the removal of the law officers of the Provincial, Zillah and City courts; or to alter any part of the rules now in force respecting the removal of a law officer attached to any of those courts.—Reg. 11, 1826. Sect. 2.

201. The law officers of the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit, and of the Zillah and City courts, shall hereafter be appointed by the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Rules to be observed by a provincial, zillah, or city court on seeing cause for the removal of a law officer on the ground of misconduct, neglect of duty, or experienced incapacity.

206. Whenever a Provincial, Zillah, or City court may see cause for the removal of a law officer or cazeer, on the ground of any misconduct, or neglect of duty, experienced incapacity or other disqualification, such court shall report the circumstances of the case with its opinion on the subject to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who will pass such order on the report so made as may appear to be proper, or will call for any additional information, or direct any further enquiry, which the nature and circumstances of the case may require.—Reg. 8, 1809, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

Court of S. D. A. empowered to confirm the appointment, removal, and resignation of the law officers of the provincial, zillah and city courts, and the cazeers of cities, towns and parganas.

207. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered to confirm the appointment, removal, and resignation of the law officers of the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts, and of the cazeers of cities, towns, and pargannas, on receiving the reports prescribed by Sections 5, 6 and 9, Regulation 5, 1804, with the following modification of Section 6.—Ibid, Cl. 1.

C. O. 23d March 1838, applicable to law officers.

Deduction of salary when law officers are absent on leave.

209. The Government have been pleased to sanction the adoption, in regard to law officers absent on leave, of a rule similar to that which holds in the case of Native Judges, viz. a deduction of one-half the fixed salary in the event of absence at any other period than the regular vacations, for absence during which no deduction is to be made.—Cir. Ord. 26th Nov. 1841.

Mode in which application for legal opinions must be made by the uncovenanted judges to law officers.

210. I am desired to inform you that all applications to the Mahomedan and Hindoo law officers, for legal opinions in civil suits pending in the courts of the uncovenanted Judges should be made to them direct, by roobukaree, and not by perwannah.—Cir. Ord. 8th July 1842.

SECTION XIV.

Civil Action against Law Officers for Corruption, Extortion, or Embezzlement.

211. The rules prescribed in Section 9, Regulation 13, 1793, respecting charges of corruption or extortion lodged against the Native ministerial officers of the Civil and Criminal courts, are to be held applicable to charges of a similar nature that may be preferred against the Hindoo or Mahomedan law officers of the several courts, with the following qualifications.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 1.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, Sect. 8, Cl. 1.

Courts how to proceed in charges of corruption or extortion, that may be preferred against law officers.

Those provisions will be found in Section III. of this Chapter, all the rules of which are applicable to law officers.

212. No decree passed by any Zillah or City court, or any Provincial court of appeal, adjudging a Hindoo or Mahomedan law officer guilty of corruption or extortion, shall be carried into execution, in the event of the law officer against whom such decree may be passed, appealing from the decree, and giving the securities required by Section 12, Regulation 5, 1793, and Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, in cases of appeals from decisions for sums of money passed by those courts respectively, and the execution of which they are empowered to suspend upon such securities being given.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 3.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 8, Cl. 3.

Cases in which decrees passed by the provincial courts, or the zillah or city courts on such charges, are not to be enforced.

213. The Zillah and City courts are to enforce by the usual process, all decrees that they may pass adjudging their law officers guilty of corruption or extortion, which may not be appealed against within the limited time, and transmit copies of the decrees to the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 8, Cl. 4.

Cases in which the zillah or city courts are to transmit decrees adjudging their law officers guilty of corruption or extortion to the G. G. in C.

214. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is to transmit to the Governor General in Council, a copy of every decree which they may pass adjudging a law officer of any Civil or Criminal court guilty of corruption or extortion, within one week after it may be given.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 8, Cl. 6.

S. D. A. to transmit such decrees to the G. G. in C.

215. When a Provincial court of appeal, or a Zillah or a City court, shall adjudge a charge of corruption or extortion, that may have been preferred against any law officer, not to be proved, and the prosecutor shall not appeal from the decree within the limited time, the court is to transmit a copy of it to the Governor General in Council. The Sudder dewanny adawlut, within the abovementioned period, are to transmit to the Governor General in Council, copies of all decrees which they may pass, whereby any charge of corruption or extortion that may have been preferred against any law officer may be adjudged not proved.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 8, Cl. 8.

All final decrees adjudging such charges not proved, are to be transmitted to the G. G. in C.

216. The Governor General in Council, upon the receipt of any decree adjudging a law officer of a Civil or Criminal court guilty of corruption or extortion, which may be being convicted of corruption or extortion.

transmitted to him under this section, reserves to himself the power of dismissing the offender from his office, or of both dismissing him from his office, and declaring him incapable of exercising any employment under Government. The Governor General and Council likewise reserves to himself the power of suspending any law officer against whom a charge of corruption or extortion may be preferred, until a final decision shall be passed on the charge, whenever it may appear to him expedient, either upon the representation of any of the Courts of judicature, or in consequence of any other information which may come before him.—Reg. 12, 1793, Sect. 8, Cl. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 11, 1803, Sect. 8, Cl. 8.

The whole of Regulation 12, 1793, is extended to Benares by Regulation 11, 1795.

The same rules are enacted regarding the criminal prosecution of law officers which apply to similar charges against ministerial officers, vide Section IV. of this Chapter.

SECTION XV.

Pensions to Public Servants.

Rules relative to the grant of superannuation pensions to subordinate officers in the Civil Department, dated 4th January, 1831.

To whom superannuation pensions are to be granted.

217. 1st. Superannuation pensions will be granted only to the superior classes of public servants indicated in the annexed list. Inferior servants, sowars, armed or organized peons including jemadars, and other ranks, lascars,* boatmen, artificers, labourers, and menials, are to have no claim to such provisions.

The applicant, with exceptions, must have been employed 20 yrs.

218. 2d. With the exception of Native Judges and law officers, the applicant must have been employed in the public service for a period of at least twenty years.

He must be incapacitated for public employ by old age or mental and bodily infirmity.

219. 3rd. The public servant, whatever may have been the period of his service, must be incapacitated for further employment, by old age, protracted ill health, loss of sight, or other bodily or mental infirmity.

His character, conduct and past services must be favourably certified.

220. 4th. The character, conduct, and past services of the public servant must be favourably certified by the officer or officers under whom he may have been employed, and must appear to be such as to entitle him to the favourable consideration of Government.

Limit of the pension.

221. 5th. Whenever it may be judged expedient to grant a pension to a public officer whose case may come within the foregoing provisions, the amount of the pension shall be limited as follows :

Amount of pension after more than 20 and less than 30 years service.

222. First. If the period, during which the individual may have been actually employed in the public service shall be more than twenty years, but less than thirty years, the amount of the pension shall not exceed one-third of the monthly salary or authorized official allowances of such individual, calculated on an average of five years previously to the date of the application for such pension.

After 30 years service and upwards.

223. Second. If the period of actual service shall have been thirty years or upwards, the amount of the pension shall not exceed one half of the salary or authorized allowances of the individual calculated in the manner above stated.

224. Third. For law officers, and Native Judges, the period of fifteen years shall be substituted for that specified in clause first, and twenty-two years for the terms mentioned in the second clause. Period of pensions for law officers and uncov. judges.

225. Fourth. The rates of pensions shall be fixed on a graduated scale, within the prescribed limitations, with reference to the responsibility and arduousness of the employment, the degree of merit of the individual, and the nature and length of his service. The rates of pensions to be on a graduated scale.

226. 6th. A pension will hereafter be granted by Government to the family, or any member of the family of a deceased public servant, only when such servant shall have been killed in the execution of his public duty, or shall have died in consequence of wounds or accidents sustained therein. Pensions to the family of a deceased public servant.

227. 7th. Should cases arise, which are not sufficiently provided for in these rules, or in which from special circumstances, Government may be pleased to deviate from them in favour of a claimant to a pension, such pension shall be considered only as temporary and provisional, until the grant shall have received the sanction of the Honourable the Court of Directors. In cases of deviation from these rules, the pension will be temporary, till sanctioned by the C. of D.

228. 8th. Whenever an application may be made to Government with a view of obtaining the grant of a pension, in favor of any officer employed in the public service, the application shall contain full and specific information on the following points. What particulars the application for pension will contain.

229. First. The name, class or caste, age and proposed place of residence of the individual, for whom the pension may be solicited, the situation in which he may be employed at the time when the application may be made, the total period during which the individual may have been employed in the public service, and the various official situations, in which he may from time to time have been so employed. Idem.

230. Second. The monthly amount of the salary or the official allowances of the individual in question on an average of five years previously to the date of application. Idem.

231. Third. The causes by which the individual may have been rendered incapable of discharging any longer the duties of his office, whether by extreme old age, protracted illness, loss of sight or other bodily or mental infirmity. Idem.

232. Fourth. His general character, conduct and past services in the official situations which he may have held. Idem.

233. 9th. If the officer making the application shall be unable from his personal or official knowledge to supply the whole of the specific information above required, he shall call upon the individual in whose favour the application may be made, to furnish a written statement (to be verified, by his oath or solemn declaration if required) on such of the points above noticed as may be necessary. Cases in which the applicant must give a written statement and verify it on oath.

234. 10th. If the individual shall be rendered incapable of further service by protracted illness, loss of sight, or other bodily or mental infirmity, a medical certificate to that effect shall be also transmitted with the application. Cases in which a medical certificate must be transmitted.

235. 11th. Each application for a pension under the foregoing rules shall be made by the head of the office, under whom the individual recommended to be pensioned may be employed. Through whom the application for a pension is to be made.

Lapses of pensions how to be ascertained and reported

236. 12th. Lapses of pensions shall be communicated to the Civil Auditor as soon as possible after the occurrence, and it shall be the duty of the several officers in charge of treasuries from which pensions are paid, to appoint a proper person of their establishment to report all lapses to them, and along with themselves be responsible to Government for the fulfilment of this rule.

Cases in which an arrears of pension for more than six months may be payable.

237. 13th. No pension shall be payable in arrears for a period exceeding six months without the express sanction of Government, obtained through the Civil Auditor, unless the cause of the suspension of payment shall have been the neglect, order or act of some public officer, and beyond the control of the pensioner: when the Civil Auditor, on a reference being made to him, shall exercise his discretion in passing arrears for payment, or submit a representation of the case for the information and orders of Government as he shall consider proper.

The vigilant control to be exercised by the civil auditor in all pension cases.

238. 14th. It shall be the duty of the Civil Auditor to exercise a vigilant control over this class of pensions as over all others, and with that view to bring to the notice of Government all instances, in which in the granting of superannuation pensions, any of these rules may be departed from, unless he shall be distinctly informed that a special exception has been made in the individual instance.

Statement to be submitted annually by the civil auditor of pensions.

239. 15th. It shall further be the duty of the Civil Auditor to lay before Government at the end of each official year, a statement exhibiting a comparison between the amount of pensions that have lapsed, and the amount of pensions granted during the year; and as a check against the fraudulent continuance of pensions beyond the actual term of the pensioners' lives, that officer shall from time to time compare the periodical decrement of life among the pensioners of each year, with the usual duration of life, and where lapses do not occur, in the proportion that might be anticipated, it shall be his business to institute such enquiries as may appear necessary to ascertain whether and in what particular instances fraud has actually been committed, and to submit to Government the result of his investigation.

240. His Excellency the most Noble the Governor General in Council has been pleased to determine as a general rule, that persons making applications for pensions under the resolutions passed by Government in this department, under date the 1st October last, shall verify the facts stated in their memorials by affidavits before a Magistrate.—Cir. Ord. 21st April 1820.

242. And it is hereby enacted, that the office of pleader in the courts of the East India Company shall be open to all persons of whatever nation or religion, provided that no person shall be admitted a pleader in any of those courts unless he have obtained a certificate in such manner as shall be directed by the sudder courts, that he is of good character and duly qualified for the office, any law or Regulation to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 4.

The office of pleader open to all who have obtained a certificate.

243. The Court are pleased to publish, for general information, the annexed resolution this day passed by them regarding the examination of candidates for the office of pleader in the Company's Courts:—Resolution.—With reference to the provision of Section 4, Act I. 1846, that "no person shall be admitted a pleader in any of the courts of the East India Company, unless he have obtained a certificate, in such manner as shall be directed by the sudder courts, that he is of good character, and duly qualified for the office," the Court resolve as follows.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846.

Mode of examination of candidates for the office of pleader.

Candidate must present the same testimonials as are required of moonsiffs.

244. No person shall be admitted to an examination, with a view to his qualifying as pleader in any of the courts of the East India Company, without presenting the testimonials as to character and acquirements, required from candidates for moonsiffships.—Ibid, Rule 1.

The divisional committees of examination, when to meet & how to be composed.

245. The divisional committees for the examination of candidates for moonsiffships, shall form a committee of examination for passing candidates for pleaderships in any of the Civil courts within the division, and shall hold an examination on the 1st February of each year. The Judge, Magistrate and Principal Sudder Ameen in each zillah shall in particular cases, and with the previous sanction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, form a similar committee of examination for passing candidates, at any other time than that fixed for the annual examination.—Ibid, Rule 2.

246. A system of marks shall be adopted, and the value of all the questions shall be assumed at 100. Such candidates as shall not obtain 60 of these shall be rejected, while those who get 60 and not more than 75 shall receive a certificate to enable them to practise in a Moonsiff's court. The attainment of not less than 75, nor more than 85 marks, shall entitle the candidate to a certificate as pleader in the court of Sudder Ameen; and of more than 85 marks to a certificate of qualification as pleader in that of the Principal Sudder Ameen and Judge.—Ibid, Rule 3.

How the holder of a certificate in an inferior court, may be allowed to practise in a higher court.

247. The holder of a certificate as pleader in an inferior court may, by obtaining the requisite number of marks, at any subsequent examination, receive a certificate to practise in such court of a higher grade, as the number of his marks may entitle him to.—Ibid, Rule 4.

The pleader in a higher court eligible for the office in a lower court.

248. The holder of a certificate to plead in a higher court, shall be eligible for the office of pleader in a lower court on application.—Ibid, Rule 5.

A certificate granted in one district, valid in other districts.

249. A certificate granted in one district shall entitle the holder of it to obtain a pleadership in another district, in the grade of court for which he may have passed.—Ibid, Rule 6.

Those who possess moonsiffs' diplomas, but not the office, may be pleaders in the sudder or other courts. But the sudder may admit any one to plead at its bar.

250. Persons who being in possession of diplomas are eligible for the office of Moonsiff, but not in employment as such, shall be entitled on application to obtain a pleader's certificate to practise either in the sudder, or in any of the zillah courts. But the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut may admit to practise as pleaders before them all such persons as may satisfy them that they possess the necessary qualifications for the office.—Ibid, Rule 7.

Rules applicable to the examination of candidates for pleaderships.

251. Rules 2, 3, 5, 6 and 10, dated 4th August, 1840, and Rules 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7 with exception of the last clause, beginning "and at the same time forward, &c." and 9--14 of the rules subsequently issued (vide Government Gazette, dated 16th March, 1841, and page 125--127, volume 3, Circular orders Sudder dewanny adawlut) shall be applicable to the examination of candidates for pleaderships.—Ibid, Rule 8.

Language to be used in pleadings in the civil court of 24-purgunnahs.

252. The following notification is published for the information of parties to suits in the court of the Civil and Sessions Judge of the 24-Purgunnahs. When pleaders who understand the English language are employed by both parties to a suit, it shall be at the discretion of the Judge to direct that oral pleadings (if such pleading is necessary) be conducted in that language; and it is to be understood that unless the pleaders of both parties are fully competent to argue the oral pleadings (if such are necessary) in English, the proceedings must be conducted altogether in the Native languages.—Not. Judge, 24 Purgahs. 29th March 1847.

253. With reference to Section 5 of Act I. 1846, and the repeal of Regulation 12, 1833, the Court resolve to adopt the following rules, regarding pleading in English, which have been approved of by the Supreme Government, as signified by Mr. Secretary Bushby's letter of the 8th ultimo, No. 536, communicated by the Secretary to the Government of Bengal on the 31st idem, No. 1647.—Resolution S. D. A. 25th Sept. 1846.

Rules regarding pleading in English in the sudder court.

254. When pleaders who understand the English language are employed by both parties to a suit, it shall be at the discretion of the Judge, before whom the case is pending, to direct that the oral pleading be conducted in that language.—Ibid, Rule 1.

When pleaders who understand English are employed by both parties, the pleadings may be in English.

255. When a party to a suit has once appointed a pleader, who can plead in English, a change of pleaders by such a party shall be no bar to the Judge, before whom the case is pending permitting the pleader of the opposite party to plead in that language.—Ibid, Rule 2.

If a pleader who can understand English be engaged and then changed, the pleader of the opposite party may be permitted to use English.

256. Provided nevertheless, and it is hereby enacted, that every barrister of any of Her Majesty's Courts of justice in India, shall be entitled as such to plead in any of the sudder courts of the East India Company, subject however to all the rules in force in the said sudder courts applicable to pleaders whether relating to the language in which the court is to be addressed or to any other matter.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 5.

Barristers of the crown courts may plead in the sudder court subject to all the rules in force.

257. In modification of that part of the second paragraph of my Circular letter of the 2d ultimo, which requires the zillah and city Judges under Regulation 5, 1831, to report for the Court's confirmation, the appointment and removal of Native ministerial officers and vakeels, I am directed by the Court to inform you, that such report is not considered necessary; and that you are competent of your own authority, to appoint and remove such officers and vakeels; subject however to the control of the Court, or Government, when either may see occasion to interfere.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th April 1832.

The judge competent to appoint vakeels; no report necessary.

258. Persons who may hereafter be appointed to the office of vakeel in the Zillah and City courts, or the Sudder dewanny adawlut, shall receive a sunnud of appointment duly authenticated by the court, to which they may be respectively attached. This sunnud, which is not required to be written on stamp paper shall be drawn up according to the form No. 1 in the Appendix to this Regulation.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 4. Cl. 1.—Sunnud to be granted to vakeels.—In conformity with the provisions of Regulation 27, 1814, you, A. B., are hereby appointed to the office of pleader in the Sudder dewanny adawlut or in the Provincial court for the division of _____, or in the Zillah of City court of _____. You will not be liable to be removed from your situation so long as you may conduct yourself with propriety, and discharge your duty with zeal and integrity, under the rules contained in the Regulations which now are, or may hereafter be, in force.—App. 1, Reg. 27, 1814.

Pleaders to receive a sunnud from the courts to which they may be appointed.

The sunnud to be of a prescribed form.

259. Whenever a vakeel may be dismissed from his office, or may die, or may resign his situation, his sunnud of appointment shall be recalled and cancelled by the court, to which such vakeel may have been attached.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 4. Cl. 2.

And to be cancelled on the death, removal, or resignation of the pleaders.

260. Kisheneh Nund Barajyah, formerly a vakeel of the court of the Moonsiff of Talmah who has been dismissed, will not give up his sunnud of appointment as required by Regulation 27 of 1814, Section 4, but has made a futile pretence on being applied to for the same.

How a vakeel is to be dealt with who, after dismissal, refuses to give up his sunnud.

and gone out of the way when again sought for that purpose.—Reply of the Sudder Court.—In the case cited you should summon the vakeel to attend at your court; and in the event of his neglecting to attend, or, attending, to deliver up his sunnud, you are competent to punish him for evasion of process, or contempt of court.—Con. 1083, Cal. C. 31st March, West. C. 21st April 1837.

Pleaders to take an oath according to the prescribed form; or a solemn declaration in lieu thereof.

261. Every vakeel, previously to being allowed to practise, shall take and subscribe before the court, to which he may be appointed, an oath, drawn up according to the form No. 2 of the Appendix to this Regulation, or a solemn declaration in lieu thereof, under the provisions now in force, or any other provisions which may be hereafter enacted.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.—I, A. B., solemnly swear, that I will truly and faithfully execute the duties of pleader of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Provincial court for the division of ———, or the Adawlut of the zillah or city of ———, to the best of my knowledge and judgment.—App. 2, Reg. 27, 1814.

Vakeels not allowed to plead in other courts than in those to which they may be attached.

262. The vakeels attached to one court, are not to be allowed to plead in any other court; but this rule is not intended to preclude the zillah and city Judges from making such an allotment and distribution of the pleaders attached to their courts, as may from time to time appear convenient on a consideration of the civil business in their own courts, and in those of their Registers and of the Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 16.

The judge may make an allotment of the pleaders of the S. A.

263. The zillah Judge may make such allotment and distribution of the pleaders attached to the courts of the Sudder Ameens as may appear proper, and his orders are not open to appeal to the Provincial court.—Con. 593, 6th May 1831.

Pleaders of the zillah courts, may not act as mooktars in the commissioner's court.

264. The Court are of opinion, that the practice of allowing the pleaders of the Zillah court to conduct suits as mooktars in the Commissioner's court is objectionable, for the reasons stated by you, as well as because it is at variance with Section 16, Regulation 27, 1814, which provides, that the vakeels of one court shall not be allowed to plead in any other court; and that you are therefore competent to decline receiving mooktarnamahs authorizing them to conduct suits in your [the Commissioner's] court.—Con. 602, 14th Oct. 1831.

How such suits shall be pleaded.

265. The Judges of the several zillahs and cities will assign to the court of each Sudder Ameen, such a number of the authorized vakeels as may appear necessary. The whole of the Regulations in force regarding the authorized vakeels of the Zillah and City courts, shall be applicable to the authorized vakeels employed in the courts of the Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 72.

What vakeels to practise in the courts of P. S. A.

266. It shall be competent to the zillah and city Judge to authorize any of the vakeels of his court, or of those attached to the Sudder Ameens, to practise in the court of the Principal Sudder Ameen.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 3.

A vakeel of the judge's court appointed in any case to practise in the court of a P. S. A., does not become a pleader of that court within the meaning of reg. 5, 1831, sec. 18, cl. 5.

267. The mere circumstance of a vakeel of the Judge's court being authorized by that officer, under the discretionary power vested in him by Clause 3, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, to practise in the court of a Principal Sudder Ameen, either in any case, or particular class of cases [such for instance, as those in which Government or its officers are parties,] cannot be considered as constituting such vakeel, a vakeel of the Principal Sudder Ameen's court within the intent and meaning of Clause 1 of the same section, which prohibits the Principal Sudder Ameens from trying suits in which their vakeels are parties. [This prohibition has been removed by Section 1, Act XXVII. 1838, the Construction, however, still applies to the vakeels of the courts of the Sudder Ameens.]—Con. 1149, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 18th May 1838.

268. A civil court cannot compel a pleader to receive a vakalutnamah from a party not a pauper.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st Aug. 1842, p. 35.

A vakeel cannot be compelled to act for a pauper.

269. The Court having reason to believe that the provisions of Clause 3, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, and Regulation 12, 1833, have not been duly carried into effect, and that delay consequently takes place in the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, in the disposal of the causes pending before those functionaries, direct me to inform you, that petitions of plaint may be received by you, agreeably to Section 2, Regulation 4, 1793, from any authorized agent, or from any duly empowered vakeel attached to the court of the Judge, the Principal Sudder Ameen, or the Sudder Ameen, and that, in order to expedite business, the Judge should encourage such petitions of plaint being filed by the vakeels of that court to which under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, and Act XXV. 1837, they will ordinarily be transferred for trial.—Cir. Ord. 18th Dec. 1840.

Petitions of plaint may be received from any authorized mooktar or vakeel.

270. The Court are of opinion, that the Judge should also make such an allotment and distribution of the pleaders attached to the several courts, as may appear most convenient for the transaction of public business, and that, having made such distribution, the pleaders should be permitted to plead only in those courts to which they have been respectively nominated.—Ibid.

The judge will allot the pleaders to the several courts, where alone they will subsequently plead.

271. The vakeels of the Principal Sudder Ameens' and Sudder Ameens' courts are in fact vakeels of the Judge's court, permitted by the Judge under the provisions of Section 72, Regulation 23, 1814, and Clause 3, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, to practise in cases before the subordinate tribunals, and by the section and Regulation first cited, the whole of the Regulations in force regarding the authorized vakeels of the Zillah courts are applicable to the authorized vakeels employed in the courts of the Sudder Ameens.—Con. 802, West. C. 5th July, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1833.

All the rules in force regarding the vakeels of the judge's court are applicable to those of the S. A.'s court.

272. The Judges of the Presidency Court concur in the opinion of the majority of the Judges of the Western Court, that the provisions of Regulation 12, 1833, authorize the employment by parties of more than one general agent for the conduct of suits and other business. The Court approve of the suggestion, that parties appointing more than one general agent be required to declare their responsibility for the acts jointly or severally done by such agents, in the discharge of their duties, and will adopt the same as a rule of practice.—Con. 1210, West. C. 26th April, Cal. C. 10th May 1839.

Parties may appoint more than one special agent for their suits, but must be responsible for the acts of their agents.

SECTION XVII.

Vakeels in those Courts—Dismissal.

273. In modification of that part of the second paragraph of my Circular letter of the 2nd ultimo, which requires the zillah and city Judges under Regulation 5, 1831, to report for the Court's confirmation, the appointment and removal of Native ministerial officers and vakeels, I am directed by the Court to inform you, that such report is not considered necessary; and that you are competent, of your own authority, to appoint and remove such officers and vakeels;

The judge competent to remove vakeels; no report necessary.

subject however to the control of the Court, or Government, when either may see occasion to interfere.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th April 1832.

Pleaders liable to be dismissed for certain acts of misconduct.

274. Pleaders. employed in the several Courts of civil judicature, shall be liable to dismissal from their office whenever they may be guilty of encouraging or promoting litigious suits; of wilfully delaying the suits of their clients for their own advantage; of refusing or omitting, without sufficient cause to be shewn to the court, to carry on the suits of their clients, after having accepted a vakalutnamah; of demanding or accepting from their clients any fee, or sum of money, goods, effects, or other valuable consideration beyond the fees, which they are or may be authorized to receive under the Regulations; or of fraudulent practices, neglect, or other misconduct, in the discharge of their professional duty; or of gross profligacy or misbehaviour in their private conduct.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 6.

Dismissal of suits by default through the negligence of the vakeels.

275. Instances having come to the notice of the Court in which suits have incurred dismissal on default, under the first section of Act XXIX. 1841, owing to the negligence in not proceeding with the case of the vakeel of plaintiff or appellant, the Court draw the attention of the Civil courts to the following remarks and order.—Cir. Ord. 2d Dec. 1842, par. 1.

Extreme stringency of the law regarding the dismissal of suits from default.

276. The Court observe the terms of Section 1 of the above Act, are very decided in their character, unqualifiedly declaring that a suit or appeal not proceeded with, for six weeks shall, as of course, be dismissed; no proceeding on the part of the court before which it may be pending, and no motion by the opposite party or otherwise, being needed. In other words, a suit, incurring such a contingency becomes of itself extinct, and at an end; the sole exception being where the plaintiff or appellant may, by special application made before the expiration of the period named, have shewn to the court good and sufficient cause for granting further time. When therefore, a case may have been legally dismissed on default under the above law, no remedy remains (for the presiding Judge could, on review, pass no different order from the first,) save re-institution under Section 2, and when that is barred by any of the impeding causes recited in the Act,* the suit is altogether lost.—Ibid, par. 2.

When such default occurs from the negligence of the vakeel, his sunnud must be withdrawn; and cannot be restored without leave of S. D. A.

277. As these considerations make it imperative to attach so rigorous a penalty to proved instances of cases being in the above mode lost by reason of negligence and failure to proceed or duly represent their clients on the part of vakeels as shall prevent those persons from compromising or ruining the causes of their employers, the Court are pleased to resolve, that whenever such default shall be found, after due enquiry, to have been incurred from the culpable remissness and negligence of the plaintiff's or appellant's vakeel or mooktars, the vakeel's sunnud shall be held to be ipso facto forfeited by such omission; and it shall not be in the power of the presiding Judge of the tribunal where default occurred to grant to such vakeel a new sunnud, unless on sanction expressly obtained of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, par. 3.

Subordinate courts will report such negligence of the vakeel to the judge.

278. The subordinate judicial officers will immediately report to the zillah Judge the occurrence of any cases of the kind described in their own courts, with a view to his directing the dismissal of the vakeel.—Ibid, par. 4.

Indolence and inattention of the pleaders to be punished by

279. As connected with the subject, the Court take the opportunity of adverting to complaints which have been preferred to them by various uncovenanted judicial officers, with whom they have communicated, of the indolence and inattention of the pleaders practising in their courts, and of their inability, without the aid of superior authority, to control them. The Court direct that the several judicial authorities be careful, in future, to note instances of misconduct on their occurrence, and if so frequently repeated, as to impede the transaction of business to punish the offending parties by dismissal from office, or otherwise as the occasion may seem to demand.—Cir. Ord. 3d Jan. 1845, par. 4.

* On this point see Construction 1334.

280. The Court have not unfrequently had occasion to remark a disposition on the part of vakeels, attached to the local judicial tribunals, to mislead, by statements having little or no foundation in truth, the vakeels employed to conduct appeals preferred to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and by imputing irregularity of procedure totally unconnected with the merits of the pending suit, to throw aspersions on the character of the subordinate judicial functionaries, who, on enquiry, have been fully exculpated from the charge.—Cir. Ord. 7th Aug. 1843, par. 1.

The practice of vakeels making mis-statements regarding the management of suits in the lower cts. to asperse the character of the unconv. judges, to be punished with immediate dismissal.

281. It is desirable, that a practice so disingenuous, and reprehensible, and so entirely useless as regards the claims and interests of the litigant parties should be discouraged, and the Court are accordingly pleased to notify, for general information, that any vakeel attached to a Zillah or any subordinate court, who may be hereafter detected in making misstatements relative to the manner in which proceedings may have been conducted in these courts, in any case subsequently appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, shall be liable to immediate dismissal from his situation.—Ibid, par. 2.

Idem.

282. The several civil Judges are directed to affix a copy of this Circular order in the Native language in a conspicuous part of their court, and of every subordinate court in each district.—Ibid, par. 3.

Idem.

283. The vakeels are required to use due precautions to ascertain the real names and the identity of persons, who may propose to employ them as pleaders; and any authorized vakeel, who shall hereafter receive and file a vakalutnamah from any person under a fictitious name, shall be liable to be dismissed from his office, provided however, that the Judge upon full enquiry into the circumstances of the case, and the Provincial court, on consideration of the Judge's report, shall deem him to be deserving of such punishment.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 8.

Pleaders accepting vakalutnamahs in fictitious names liable to be dismissed.

284. Any pleader, who under the preceding rules, may knowingly furnish an opinion of a nature evidently calculated to promote the institution of unfounded or litigious suits, or to discourage the amicable adjustment of dubious claims, shall be liable to be dismissed from his office; and if after furnishing such dishonest opinion he shall be employed as a pleader in the suit, his fees shall be liable to be forfeited by order of the Court, either to Government or to the party whom he may have wilfully misled by such opinion.—Ibid, Sect. 20, Cl. 6.

Pleaders liable to penalties for wilfully furnishing a dishonest opinion.

285. A pleader dismissed from his situation by a Judge cannot be permitted to practise again by such Judge's successor, without sanction having been obtained from the Sudder dewanny adawlut to review the order for dismissal.—Con. 1082, West. C. 31st March, Cal. C. 14th April 1837.

A pleader dismissed by a judge cannot be readmitted by his successor without the sanction of S. D. A.

286. The conduct of a vakeel engaged in a case before a Principal Sudder Ameen, even in a suit before a P. exceeding 5000 rupees in value, is cognizable by the zillah Judge and not by the Sudder S. A. above 5000 rs. dewanny adawlut.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th May 1844, p. 58.

Conduct of a vakeel

SECTION XVIII.

Vakeels in those Courts—Minor Penalties—Fines.

Penalties on vakeels filing petitions, &c. required to be written on stamped paper or unstamped paper.

To be imposed and levied by the court

Penalties in question how recoverable at suit of the collector in case of subsequent discovery.

Courts have no discretion, but must positively levy the fine from a vakeel for filing a paper contrary to reg. 10, 1829, sec. 18.

Petitions of plaint and of appeal, regular and special, and applications for a review of judgment, included in reg. 10, 1829, sec. 18.

287. Every vakeel, or authorized pleader or mooktar, attached to any Court of judicature, who shall present for the purpose of being filed or recorded in any court or kutcherry, any paper, petition, or any deed, instrument, or document, requiring to be stamped by the rules of this Regulation, on unstamped paper or on paper not bearing the proper stamp, and not duly endorsed, or on paper bearing a counterfeit stamp, unless signed and endorsed, by a vander as prescribed, shall forfeit five times the amount of the stamp which ought to have been used, or five times the difference in case of the use of improper stamps, as prescribed in Section 13 of this Regulation. The said fine shall be imposed and levied by the presiding officer of the court in which the said vakeel or mooktar may be practising, and the amount shall be remitted to the Collector with a copy of the proceedings or order imposing the fine.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sect. 18. Cl. 1.

288. It shall further be competent to the Collector, or other officer, exercising similar powers, on discovery of any irregularity of the above description not noticed on the proceedings of the court, to move the court by petition, to be presented to the Judge of the zillah within whose jurisdiction such vakeel, or other person so offending, may be practising, for infliction of the above fine when incurred in any court within the zillah or city jurisdiction, or if the vakeel so offending be an officer of the Provincial court, or Sudder dewanny adawlut, then the Collector shall make application to those courts respectively, through the vakeels of Government attached thereto, and the case shall be tried and adjudged by the zillah Judge or by the Judges of the superior courts, and their decision respectively, as to whether the penalty has been incurred or not, shall be final.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

289. I have the honour to request the instructions of the Court whether I am competent to remit the penalty declared in Section 18, Regulation 10, 1829, being assured that a stamp of inadequate value filed in a case, is filed under circumstances which leave no doubt that the filing party was ignorant of the inadequacy of its value.—Reply.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 3781, under date the 15th ultimo, with its enclosure, from the officiating Judge of zillah Sylhet, and in reply to state that the Court concur with the Calcutta Court in the opinion that Section 18, Regulation 10 of 1829, gives no discretion to the presiding officer, but that he is bound in all cases to levy the fine, therein prescribed, from any vakeel or authorized pleader or mooktar who may file any paper contrary to the provisions of that enactment.—Con. 1120, Cal. C. 15th Dec. 1837, West. C. 12th Jan. 1838.

290. It is hereby notified, for the information and guidance of all the courts, that the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad have ruled that, by Section 18, Regulation 10, 1829, any vakeel or authorized pleader, or mooktar who shall present any paper, petition, or any deed, or document, requiring to be stamped, on unstamped paper, or paper not bearing the proper stamp, must forfeit five times the amount of the stamp which ought to have been used in the one case, or five times the difference in the other; that by Construction No. 1720, the Civil courts having no discretion left to them, must in all cases levy the fine prescribed by the section cited from any vakeel, authorized pleader, or mooktar, appointed under Regulation 12, 1833, who may file any paper contrary to the provisions of that enactment; and that from the very comprehensive terms employed, petitions of plaint, and of appeal, regular and special, and applications for review of judgment are included in those terms.—Cir. Ord. 20th Jan. 1843.

The pen^l must be levied from vakeels for any breach of the stamp regulations.

291. It has been ruled by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut that the Native judicial authorities are competent to proceed, of their own power, and without previous reference to you, to the realization, by the usual process, of any fines imposed by them under the rule contained in Clause 1, Section 18, Regulation 10, 1829, subject to the usual course of appeal.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June 1839.

N. judges may of their own power realize those fines.

292. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to request that you will exert yourself to the utmost in securing the due observance of the several provisions of the stamp Regulations in all suits and matters brought before your court [and the inferior courts in your district].—Cir. Ord. 3d Feb. 1832.

A due observance of the stamp regulations enforced.

293. The zillah and city Judges are empowered, without the previous sanction of the Provincial court, to suspend from his office any pleader attached to their courts, who may be guilty of any gross act of fraud or misconduct, but in such instances it shall be the duty of the Judge to report the circumstances of the case, with as little delay as possible, for the information and orders of the Provincial court.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 11.

Pleaders attached to zillah and city cts. may be suspended from office without the previous sanction of the prov. court. Such cases to be immediately reported.

294. The parties in a cause are authorized to prosecute their respective pleaders in the Civil courts of judicature for any damages or injury, which they may have sustained from any breach of the Regulations on the part of their pleaders, or from any fraudulent conduct or malpractices committed by their pleaders regarding the suit.—Ibid. Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

In what cases the pleaders are liable to be prosecuted in the civil court by their clients.

295. If a pleader shall fail to attend in court on any day fixed for the transaction of civil business, and shall omit to notify in writing to the court his inability to attend, in consequence of indisposition or other sufficient cause, the court is authorized to impose on such pleader, a fine, for the first offence, not exceeding the sum of fifty sicca rupees; and for the second offence, not exceeding one hundred sicca rupees. If such pleader shall be guilty of a similar offence a third time, he shall be liable to dismissal from his office.—Ibid, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Penalties for pleaders absenting themselves from court without notifying the cause of their absence.

296. The terms of Section 32, Regulation 7, 1793, (relative to fines of pleaders for non-attendance,) were not meant to restrict the Civil courts from imposing a less fine than the amount stated, in cases wherein they may consider a less fine adequate. Ruled by Sudder dewanny adawlut, on a reference from the Patna Provincial court.—Con. 18, 8th Feb. 1806.

The full fine for non-attendance need not be imposed.

297. If any pleader shall be guilty of disrespect to the court, in open court, the court is empowered to impose a fine upon him, not exceeding the sum of one hundred rupees.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 14, Cl. 2.

Pleaders may be fined 100 rs. for disrespect to the court.

The orders of zillah and city judges, and registers imposing fines on pleaders to be conclusive.

298. All orders imposing fines on pleaders, which may be passed by the Judges or Registers of the Zillah and City courts, in conformity with this Regulation shall be final; and the amount of the fines shall be levied either by a deduction from the fees, which may become due to the offender, or by the process which is prescribed for the execution of decrees. Provided however, that if a zillah or city Judge shall in any particular instance, see reason to believe, that a fine has been imposed by a Register on insufficient grounds, or that the amount of such fine is disproportionate to the offence, it shall be competent to the zillah or city Judge to remit or modify the fine at his discretion, and the order of the zillah or city Judge, in such cases, shall be conclusive.—Ibid, Sect. 15, Cl. 2.

Fines imposed on pleaders by P. S. A. or S. A.

299. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a pleader has rendered himself liable to a fine in the court of a Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen, it shall be competent to such Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen to impose such fine; provided that an appeal from all orders imposing such fines shall lie to the zillah or city Judge, whose decision thereon shall be final.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 10.

Pleaders to be censured and eventually dismissed for breach of the preceding rules.

300. The courts will carefully point out to the notice of the vakeels such parts of the pleadings as are evidently irregular, irrelevant, or otherwise objectionable, and shall record their censure of any vakeel, whose conduct in opposition to the preceding rules may, in any particular instance, demand such animadversion. If notwithstanding such recorded censure, a vakeel shall again be guilty of similar misconduct, he shall be liable to forfeit in each instance the amount of the fee to which he may be entitled in the suit, or to such other fine to Government not exceeding twenty rupees as the court may deem it proper to impose.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 9, Cl. 3.

SECTION XIX.

Vakeels in those Courts—their Duties.

Vakeels required to examine and sign the pleadings before they are filed.

301. The vakeels are hereby enjoined not to file any plaint, answer, or other pleading, without previously ascertaining that such pleading has been duly prepared in conformity with the Regulations; that it contains no unnecessary repetitions of former pleadings, no terms of personal abuse or reproach against the opposite party, his vakeels, witnesses, or other persons; and no groundless imputations on any Court of justice or public officer; but that it contains such matter only as is apparently material and relevant to the suit. Every pleading filed by an authorized vakeel, shall be signed by him in testimony of his having considered and approved its contents.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 9, Cl. 1.

A P. not bound to reveal the secrets of his client.

302. A pleader entrusted with the secrets of a cause by his client, is not bound to give evidence of any information given to him in confidence, in virtue of such trust.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 4th July 1843, p. 51.

Or to exhibit his instructions.

303. A pleader cannot be required to exhibit the instructions of his client.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th Sept. 1846, p. 86.

304. In order that the expence, trouble, and inconvenience frequently experienced by filing irrelevant exhibits, and by summoning useless witnesses, may be avoided, the vakeels are hereby further required to examine the documents, which their constituents may propose to exhibit in proof of their claims, previously to their being filed in court; and to ascertain from their constituents, previously to summoning any witnesses, the specific points which such witnesses are expected to prove by their testimony.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

Pleaders to examine exhibits previously to their being filed on the part of their clients.

And not to summon witnesses without previously ascertaining to what points their testimony is required.

305. The Sudder dewanny adawlut and the several Provincial courts will, at all times, exercise their discretion in removing from his office any pleader of their respective courts, who may be guilty of any of the acts abovementioned, or who may be otherwise deemed unfit for the situation.—Ibid, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

The S. D. A. and the prov. cts. authorized to dismiss the pleaders of their respective courts.

306. Whenever a zillah or city Judge shall be of opinion that a vakeel, attached to his court, or to that of a Registry, or any of the Sudder Ameens, is unfit for the situation, in consequence of his having been guilty of any of the acts mentioned in the preceding sections, or that is otherwise disqualified for the office of pleader, the Judge shall report the circumstances of the case, together with his own opinion upon it to the Provincial court, who will pass such orders on the case as may appear to be proper, or will call for any additional information, or direct any further enquiry that the nature and circumstances of each case may appear to demand.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Misconduct or disqualifications of pleaders attached to the zillah and city cts. to be reported by the judges of those courts to the prov. courts, who will pass such orders therein as may be proper.

307. Held on a reference from the Judge of Futtehpoore, that money deposited in court as payable to a party, should never be paid to a vakeel, save under specified authority conveyed in the vakalutnamah; and that for any sums paid away in any other mode, the officers making the disbursement must be held personally responsible.—Con. 1360, West C. 5th Aug., Cal. C. 9th Sept. 1842.

In what cases the client's money deposited in court is to be paid to the vakeel.

308. The Court observe that under the provisions of Section 34, Regulation 27 of 1814, the vakeels, entertained in a regular civil suit, are required, without any additional fee to make all motions and do all acts which may be requisite relative to such suit, not only during the trial or it, but after a decision shall have been passed, until the final judgment shall have been enforced; and as the case which has given rise to the present reference, cannot be considered to have been finally disposed of by the zillah court, the decision having been pronounced incomplete and the case ordered to be tried de novo, the Court decide that the defendant's vakeel should be required to refund the amount paid to him, leaving it to the court who may eventually decide the case, to award to him such portion of the authorized fee as may appear an adequate remuneration for the trouble which he may have taken in the matter.—Con. 1105, West. C. 8th Sept., Cal. C. 29th Sept. 1837.

When a case is sent back for re-trial, the pleaders must refund the fees received by them.

The court deciding their cause will allot them such portion as appears an adequate remuneration.

309. I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you under date the 18th instant, requesting to be informed whether a vakalutnamah, executed by a decree-holder for the conduct of an original suit when pending in your court, is sufficient authority for the vakeel therein appointed to superintend the execution of the decree on its being confirmed in appeal.—In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the section of the Regulation quoted by you, (Section 34, Regulation 27, 1814,) is conclusive on the point in question, viz. that a vakalutnamah executed on the original institution of a suit, unless cancelled by the party or otherwise set aside, must be considered operative and in full force "until the final judgment shall have been enforced."—Con. 852, West. C. 27th Dec. 1833, Cal. C. 17th Jan. 1834.

The vakeel cannot, without a special power, receive the sums realized in execution of decrees.

310. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces notify, for general information and guidance, the fact of the incompetency of vakeels in suits to receive, without a special power, sums realized in execution of decrees. They observe that the powers conferred on a vakeel cease on the enforcement of the decree, that is, on payment of the money (if money be decreed) into court. Taking the money out of court is a subsequent and separate transaction, and should not be permitted to a vakeel, except where his vakalutnamah, by a special clause to that effect, or any separate instrument, may distinctly confer on him the authority to receive it.—Cir. Ord. 28th Sept. 1842.

Pleaders may be employed as arbitrators.

311. The Courts of civil judicature are hereby empowered to permit any of the authorized vakeels of their respective courts to be arbitrators in depending suits, subject to the several rules and provisions in force for referring suits to arbitration.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 19.

Vakeels may be required to attest confessions.

312. The pleaders of the Civil court may be called upon to attest confessions before the Magistrates, and are liable to dismissal for refusing to do so.—Con. 101, 23d April 1812.

Pleaders to give written receipts for documents entrusted to them by their clients.

313. Pleaders are to give written receipts on unstamped paper for all accounts, writings, or documents, which may be delivered to them by their clients in the course of any suit, or process; if a pleader shall refuse to return such accounts, documents, or writings, the court upon a petition being presented to them for that purpose by the owners of the papers so withheld, shall cause them to be restored.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 36.

Such petitions to be written on stamp paper, of what description, and what it is to contain.

314. The petition of special appeal shall state distinctly the specific ground or grounds under clause first of this section, on which the special appeal is solicited, and it shall be presented either by the party in person, or by an authorized pleader of the court. In the latter case, the petition shall be signed by the pleader, who shall certify on the back of the petition, that he has duly considered the grounds stated for admitting a special appeal under clause first of this section, and believes them to be well founded and sufficient.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 2, Cl. 3.

Vakeels prohibited from being employed as agents or mooktars in the foudjaree courts of the zillah and cities.

315. The authorized pleaders of the Zillah and City Courts are hereby prohibited without obtaining the previous sanction of the Judges of those courts from officiating as agents, or mooktars in any prosecution, trial or proceeding before the Magistrates or their assistants. This prohibition however is not intended to apply to the cases of pleaders, who may be employed on the part of Government in conducting the prosecution of persons charged with criminal offences, or in the execution of any other duties in the criminal department, which such pleaders may be directed or authorized to perform on the part of Government under the Regulations, which are now or may hereafter be in force.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 17.

The regulations are to be exposed for public inspection, &

316. That the pleaders in the several courts as well as all other persons may have it in their power to render themselves acquainted with the Regulations enacted by the British Government, there shall be kept, for public inspection, in the several Courts of judicature, printed copies of all such Regulations and of the translations in the Native languages, bound up with the annual indexes. Until the Regulations, which may be passed in each year are so bound up, the separate copies of each Regulation with the translations, which may be printed and circulated to the courts, are to be exposed as above directed. The Regulations are to be deposited upon a table expressly allotted for that purpose in some part of the court-room, and to lie for public inspection every day, Sunday excepted, during the ordinary hours of business, when the pleaders of the courts and all other persons are to be at liberty to refer to the Regulations, or to take copies or extracts from them in the court-room: on receipt of the translations of the Regulations in the country languages, the several Courts of civil justice shall cause the same to be publicly read in their cutcherries, and shall require the Native pleaders of their respective courts to take copies of any of these translations, which relate, directly or indirectly, to the administration of civil justice.—Ibid, Sect. 40.

317. The established pleaders of the Zillah and City courts shall not be required to attend the trial of summary suits at a distance from the fixed station of the Judge or Register.—Such suits shall be tried in the presence of the parties, or any persons whom they may duly appoint to be present at the trial on their behalf.—Reg. 2, 1821, Sect. 10, Cl. 3.

Pleaders of the cts. exempted from attending the trial of summary suits when conducted at a distance from the fixed station of the judge or register.

SECTION XX.

Vakeels in those Courts—Engagements between Client and Vakeel—Change. Resignation or Death of Vakeels.

318. No part of this Regulation is to be construed to prohibit or to prevent any individual from appearing and pleading his own cause in person, in any of the Courts of civil judicature, without employing an authorized pleader.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 38.

Individuals not prohibited from pleading their own suits.

319. When a party in a cause may be desirous of retaining a vakeel for the prosecution or defence of any civil suit, he shall not be required to pay to such vakeel the retaining fee of four annas, heretofore prescribed, but he shall execute to him a vakalutnamah, constituting him pleader in the cause and authorizing him to prosecute or defend the suit, and further binding himself to abide by and to confirm all acts which such pleader may do or undertake in his behalf in the cause, in the same manner as if such party had been personally present and consenting; the party is to attest the instrument with his seal or signature, or with his mark if he cannot write, in the presence of two credible witnesses who are likewise to attest it in the same manner; and who are to attend the court and prove the vakalutnamah in all cases in which it may be judged requisite.—Ibid, Sect. 21, Cl. 1.

Retaining fee abolished.

Rules for the execution of a vakalutnamah.

320. A plaintiff, consenting, through his duly appointed vakeel, to the settlement of his suit in court by the statement on oath of the defendant, cannot object to a decree of court founded on such statement.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Aug. 1843, vol. 7, p. 131.

Plaintiff cannot object to a decree founded on his consent to a settlement, by his vakeel.

A vakeel's application on behalf of his client to be considered sufficient authority.

321. The vakeel of a judgment creditor having applied on behalf of his client, praying that certain property belonging to his debtor might be publicly sold to him at a specified sum if more was not bid for it ; it was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the client was bound by such an application, notwithstanding his subsequent declaration that he had not authorized his vakeel to make it—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d March 1842, p. 26.

A mooktar may appoint a pleader and execute a vakalutnamah.

322. I am desired to observe, that the question which has given rise to this reference seems to be simply as to the legality or otherwise of the practice of permitting mooktars to file vakalutnamahs, in suits wherein their principals are parties ; and to acquaint you, that the opinion entertained by you on the subject, corresponds in every respect with the view which this Court have taken of it. The Court observe, that to execute per alium, [that other being duly authorized,] is to execute per se ; and that the Regulations consider these acts as one and the same ; as is clear from the more explicit wording of Section 13, Regulation 27, 1814, which prescribes the performance of certain acts to be done by the party or his authorized agent. Although the wording of Section 8, Regulation 7, 1793, is not different from that of Section 21, Regulation 27, 1814, yet, from the time of its enactment (two and thirty years ago,) vakalutnamahs executed by agents duly authorized have, by all the courts, been regarded as equally good and valid with those executed by the parties themselves. The Court therefore are of opinion, that it would be inexpedient to put a stop to a practice which has been sanctioned by universal usage, which is attended with much convenience to parties in suits, and which the Regulations in force do not appear to prohibit.—Con. 417, 28th April 1826.

Vakalutnamahs and mooktarnamahs need not be verified on oath.

323. The following rules of practice, which have been adopted by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut are prescribed for the guidance of the Zillah courts and the courts subordinate to them. Vakalutnamahs, whether executed by principals or their attorneys and agents, and mooktarnamahs under the authority of which vakalutnamahs are executed, shall not hereafter be required to be verified on oath. The responsibility in regard to all such documents being properly and correctly executed shall rest entirely with the vakeels. The above rule does not apply to cases in which only mooktars or agents are employed. In all such cases the mooktarnamahs shall be verified on oath as at present.—Cir. Ord. 15th Sept. 1843.

What mooktarnamahs must be thus verified.

Vakalutnamahs to be written on stamped paper but not liable to the exhibit fee.

324. Such vakalutnamahs are to be written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, [Regulation 10, 1829,] but shall not be liable to the stamp duty on exhibits under Section 15 of that Regulation.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 21, Cl. 2.

Pleaders after accepting a vakalutnamah are prohibited from being employed in the same cause against the party who may have so retained them.

325. When a vakeel to whom a vakalutnamah may have been executed under the preceding section, shall consent to undertake the prosecution or defence of the suit, he shall affix his signature to the back of the vakalutnamah, together with the date on which such signature may be affixed ; and shall thenceforward be precluded from being employed in the same cause against the party who may have so retained him.—Ibid, Sect. 22.

Parties may withdraw the management of a depending suit from their pleaders, and may appoint new pleaders in their room.

326. Any party in a suit, who may be dissatisfied with the conduct of his pleader, shall be at liberty at any stage of the trial previously to the decision, to withdraw the power delegated to his pleader and to appoint another vakeel to plead the cause. In such cases the party is to present a petition to the court, notifying that he has withdrawn the management of the suit from such pleader, and is to file a new vakalutnamah in the name of the pleader, whom he may appoint to carry on the suit ; all acts however which may have been done by the first pleader on the part of his client, previously to his having been dismissed, are to be held valid; on the conclusion of the suit, the court will exercise its discretion in awarding to the pleader first employed, any portion of the authorized fee to which he may appear justly entitled on a consideration of the trouble which he may have undergone, and the other circumstances of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 12, Cl. 2.

327. If a pleader should be unable to attend the court in consequence of indisposition, or other sufficient reason, he is to notify the same in writing to the court on unstamped paper, and the hearing of any cause, in which such pleader may be employed, is to be postponed to a future day, unless the party or his authorized agent shall commit the management of the cause to any other pleader of the court, or unless the party himself shall be present and willing to plead the cause in person. If the management of the cause shall be entrusted to any other pleader of the court, instead of filing a new vakalutnamah, it shall be sufficient for the party or his mooktar duly authorized, to endorse on the back of the original vakalutnamah, a written declaration, that he has appointed some other vakeel of the court to conduct the cause, either permanently or during the absence of the pleader first appointed; on passing a decision in such cases, the court shall direct the amount of the authorized fee to be divided between the two pleaders in such proportions as may furnish an equitable remuneration for the trouble which they may have respectively undergone.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

Measures to be adopted when a pleader may be unable to attend the court from indisposition or other sufficient cause.

328. Whenever a vakeel attached to a Zillah or City court may die, or may be removed from his office, or may voluntarily resign his situation, the Judge of such zillah or city shall notify the same in a publication, to be affixed in his own cutcherry, and in the cutcherries of the Register, Sudder Ameens, and the Collector of the district. The publication shall contain a statement of the several depending cases, in which such vakeel may have been employed, and a requisition to the parties who have retained such vakeel to attend in person, or to substitute another vakeel in room of the pleader formerly appointed by them, within a reasonable period, to be fixed by the court, not being less than six weeks. In such instances, instead of filing a new vakalutnamah, it shall be sufficient for the party or his mooktar duly authorized to endorse on the back of the original vakalutnamah a written declaration, that he has appointed some other vakeel of the court, in lieu of the pleader, who may have died or resigned his office, or have been removed from his situation.—Ibid, Sect. 18, Cl. 1.

Publication to be issued on the death, resignation or removal of a pleader in a zillah or city court.

What the publication is to contain.

329. A publication, issued in conformity with the preceding rules, shall be held and considered to be a good and sufficient notice, and if any party shall not attend or appoint another vakeel, within the period limited in the publication, he shall be required to shew cause for the omission, and if sufficient cause be not assigned, the court shall proceed as in case of default in conformity with the provisions in force.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Such publication to be considered a good and sufficient notice.

330. A similar notification shall be issued on the death, resignation or removal of any pleader attached to the Provincial courts or to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. If the pleader shall have been attached to a Provincial court, the publication shall be affixed in the cutcherry of such Provincial court, and of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and, in the cutcherries of the several Zillah and City courts, included in the division, and the period to be allowed for parties to appear and to substitute another vakeel shall not be less than two months; if the pleader shall have been attached to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the publication shall be affixed in that court, and in such of the Provincial courts, and of the Zillah and City courts, in which it may appear necessary to publish the same with reference to the depending causes in which the vakeel may have been employed, and the period to be allowed to parties to appear and substitute another vakeel shall not be less than three months.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Similar publication may be issued in other cases.

331. The courts are authorized to apply the principle of the preceding rules to cases, in which the decision of suits may be materially delayed by the protracted indisposition of a pleader, or by his continued inability to attend the court from any other cause which may be expected to be permanent, or of considerable duration.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Courts empowered to adjudge a reasonable portion of the fee to a pleader, who may have been removed from the management of a cause without any fault on his part.

332. Whenever a pleader originally entertained by a party may have commenced the pleadings and prosecution, or defence of a suit, and from any cause, not originating in the misconduct of such pleader, another pleader shall be employed in his stead; it shall be competent to the court, in which the suit is decided or terminated, to adjudge to the pleader so employed at the commencement of the suit (or if he be dead, to his heirs or legal representatives) such part of the established fee, as may appear to be an equitable remuneration for the trouble which he may have undergone.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

In such cases one vakalatnamah only is requisite.

333. It shall be sufficient in such cases for the party employing two or more vakeels in the same suit, to file a single vakalatnamah, but the party shall be required to deposit in court, the whole amount of the fees payable to his pleaders, under the rules contained in Section 23.—Ibid, Sect. 30, Cl. 2.

SECTION XXI.

Vakeels in those Courts—Legal Opinions.

Pleaders may receive fees for legal opinions.

334. The authorized vakeels of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, of the Provincial courts, and of the Zillah and City courts, are hereby empowered to receive fees for legal opinions under the provisions contained in the following clauses of this section.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 20, Cl. 1.

A written statement of the case to be submitted to the pleader.

335. Any person, who may be desirous of obtaining the opinion of an authorized pleader regarding the legal validity and sufficiency of any claim, right or title, which he may suppose himself to possess, and on the consequent expediency of prosecuting or defending either originally or in appeal such supposed claim, right or title in the Courts of civil judicature, may submit a written statement of his claim under his seal, signature, or mark, to the pleader, whose opinion he may wish to obtain.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The pleader to give a written declaration of his opinion.

336. The pleader, to whom such statement may be submitted, after an attentive consideration of the laws, regulations, usages, or precedents, which may be applicable to the case, and of the arguments, and proofs which may be adduced in support of the claim, shall furnish to the party under his signature, a written declaration of his opinion, and of the grounds upon which that opinion may be formed.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

337. And it is hereby enacted, that so much of Section 20, Regulation 27, 1814, of the Bengal code, and of Section 20, Regulation 14, 1816, of the Madras code, as prescribes the rate of fees to be received by authorized pleaders for legal opinions, be repealed; and that persons taking such opinions from authorized pleaders shall be at liberty to settle with them by private agreement the remuneration to be paid for such opinions.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 9.

Sec. 20, reg. 27, 1814 repealed. Parties will settle by private agreement the fees for legal opinions.

338. Provided however, that it shall not be lawful for any pleader, who may have received a vakalutnamah in any suit instituted in a Court of civil judicature, to receive the fee above prescribed on account of any legal opinion, which he may subsequently furnish to his constituent respecting any subject or question connected with such suit.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 20, Cl. 5.

But pleaders who may have accepted a vakalutnamah in the case not authorized to receive such fee.

[The penalty for furnishing an opinion calculated to promote the institution of unfounded and vexatious suits is given at Rule 284.]

339. The vakeels of the Sudder Ameens' and Principal Sudder Ameens' courts are equally competent with other vakeels of the Zillah and City courts to claim fees for furnishing legal opinions on points of law, or in particular cases which may be referred to them by the parties interested.—Con. 802, West. C. 5th July, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1833.

The vakeels of the courts of P. S. A. and S. A. may claim fees for legal opinions.

SECTION XXII.

Vakeels in those Courts—their Fees.

340. And it is hereby enacted, that parties employing authorized pleaders in the said courts shall be at liberty to settle with them by private agreement the remuneration to be paid for their professional services, and that it shall not be necessary to specify such agreement in the vakalutnamah; provided that when costs are awarded to a party in any regular suit, original or appeal, decided on the merits, against another party, the amount to be paid on account of fees of pleaders shall be calculated according to the rules contained in the sections of Regulations specified in Section 6 of this Act: [No. 343—348.] and that when costs are awarded in other cases the amount to be paid on account of such fees shall be one-fourth of what it would have been in a regular suit decided on its merits.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 7.

Rules regarding the fees to be paid by suitors to the authorized pleaders of the various courts.

341. And it is hereby enacted, that private agreements between parties and their pleaders respecting the remuneration to be paid for professional services shall not be enforced otherwise than by a regular suit.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Private agreements regarding fees cannot be enforced but by a regular suit.

342. With reference to Clause 6, Section 2, Regulation 12, 1833, it is not competent to a Civil court summarily to order payment to the heir of a deceased vakeel, of the remuneration ration agreed on to the heir of a deceased vakeel.

A court cannot summarily order payment of the remuneration.

agreed by his client to be paid to him under clause 5 of the same section and Regulation.—Rep. Sum. Cases. 5th Dec. 1843, p. 53.

Specification of the rates of fees payable to vakeels in regular suits.

343. In suits for money, effects, or for other personal property, or for land or other immovable property of any description, if the amount or value of the claim estimated according to the provisions of Section 14, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829,] shall not exceed 5,000 sicca rupees five per cent.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 25, Cl. 1.

Idem.

344. If the amount or value shall exceed 5,000 rupees, and shall not exceed 20,000 sicca rupees, on 5,000 as above, and on the remainder, two per cent.—Ibid.

Idem.

345. If the amount or value shall exceed 20,000 rupees, and shall not exceed 50,000 rupees, on 20,000 as above, and on the remainder, one per cent.—Ibid.

Idem.

346. If the amount or value shall exceed 50,000 sicca rupees, and shall not exceed 80,000 sicca rupees, on 50,000 as above, and on the remainder eight annas per cent.—Ibid.

Idem.

347. If the amount or value shall exceed 80,000 rupees, the fee to the vakeel shall be one thousand rupees, and shall in no instance exceed that sum, however great may be the value or amount of the suit in which such vakeel may be employed.—Ibid.

Fractions of rupees to be rejected in the preceding calculations.

348. In all the preceding calculations, where the amount or value may be in fractions of rupees, such 'fractions' are to be rejected in calculating the fees thereupon.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Modification of the rule which requires stamp receipts for pleaders' fees.

349. The rule contained in the third clause of Section 25, Regulation 27, 1814, that for every sum which may be paid by a Civil court to a vakeel, on account of his fees, he shall give a receipt, written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 11, Regulation 1, 1814, is modified as follows.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

If the fees in several suits do not exceed 16 rs., one consolidated receipt for the whole to suffice.

350. When the aggregate amount of fees payable to a vakeel, in two or more suits, may not exceed sixteen rupees, he shall be allowed to give a consolidated receipt for the total amount, specifying the sum receivable in each suit; instead of a separate receipt for the fee payable in each suit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

No charge on vakeels' fees, but the stamp required for a receipt.

351. Vakeels are liable to no charge on their fees, beyond the value of the stamp on which the receipt for the same is to be written.—Con. 156, 21st April 1814.

Pleaders' fees how to be charged in the judgment.

352. If the decree shall be given against the defendant or respondent, and the whole of the money or property, which may be demanded by the appellant or plaintiff shall be decreed to him, a sum equal to the whole of the fees of his pleader shall be adjudged to the plaintiff or appellant, in addition to the other costs which may be awarded to him, but if only a part of the money or property claimed is decreed to the plaintiff or appellant, a sum bearing the same proportion to the money or to the value of the thing decreed, as the fee did to the demand stated in the plaint or appeal, is to be decreed and added to the costs, which may be awarded to the plaintiff or appellant.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 26, Cl. 1.

353. If the suit of the plaintiff or appellant shall be dismissed, whether upon an investigation of the merits or otherwise, the plaintiff, or appellant, is to be charged with the fees of his own pleader and with those of the defendant or respondent.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Continuation of the same subject.

354. Provided however, that if in any instance the payment of the pleader's fees, according to the preceding rules, should not appear to be just and equitable, the Courts of civil judicature may exercise their discretion in charging the fees of the pleaders to the parties respectively, in such proportions as may appear equitable and proper, under a consideration of all the circumstances of the case.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Proviso.

355. If a suit shall be withdrawn or dismissed on default without a determination upon the merits of the case before all the requisite pleadings shall have been filed in court, the respective pleaders of the plaintiff and defendants, or of the appellant and respondent, shall each be entitled to only one-fourth of the established fee which they would have received, had the suit been brought to a regular decision by the court. If a suit shall be withdrawn or dismissed on default, after all the requisite pleadings shall have been filed in court, the respective pleaders are to be entitled to one-half the fees which they would have received, if judgment had been given in the cause. The fees in both of the abovementioned cases are to be charged to the plaintiff or appellant withdrawing the suit, or suffering it to be dismissed on default, together with all the admitted costs incurred by the defendant or respondent.—Ibid, Sect. 31, Cl. 1.

Rules for the payment of vakeels' fees when the suit may be withdrawn or dismissed without an investigation of the merits of the case.

356. The same rule shall be considered applicable to cases adjusted by razeenamah, except that the fees of the pleaders and all other costs of the suit shall be paid by the parties in such manner and proportions as may have been agreed upon and inserted in the razeenamah.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Rules applicable to the fees of pleaders in suits adjusted by razeenamah.

357. The Court are of opinion that to entitle the respective pleaders of the parties in cases withdrawn or dismissed on default to one-half the amount of the established fee, under the provisions of Section 31, Regulation 27 of 1814, it is necessary that the whole of the requisite pleadings should have been filed, and not merely the answer or jowab-dawee.—Con. 1052, West. C. 14th Oct., Cal. C. 11th Nov. 1836.

Unless the whole of the pleadings have been filed in cases dismissed on default or withdrawn, the pleaders cannot receive half their fees.

358. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 24th ultimo, relative to the payment of the fees of pleaders, in a case decided in favour of the plaintiff, on the acknowledgment of the defendant without investigation of the merits, as well as without a razeenamah being filed, so as to bring it within the provision of Section 31, Regulation 27, 1814. The Court observe that in such cases, the claim of the plaintiff not being disputed by the defendant, it may generally be expected, a razeenamah will be filed, when the second clause of Section 31, Regulation 27, 1814, would of course be applicable. But if not, and the suit be allowed to proceed to a judgment in favour of the plaintiff, the Court are of opinion, that the vakeels are entitled to the full amount of the established fee: subject, of course, to the provisions of Regulation 28, 1814, in suits of paupers.—Con. 209, 1st June 1815.

Cases in which the vakeels will be entitled to their full fee, or to one half or one quarter fee.

359. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your officiating Judge's by razeenamah after the evidence has been completed, the pleaders are entitled to the full fee.

In cases adjusted

letter, dated the 24th ultimo, requesting to be informed, whether it is competent to the courts to order the whole fees to be paid to the vakeels in cases adjusted by razeenamah after evidence has been taken ; or whether the rule in Section 31, Regulation 27, 1814, for giving one-half the established fee in cases so settled, after the requisite pleadings shall have been filed, is applicable after evidence has been taken. In reply, I am desired to communicate to you, for the information and guidance of your officiating Judge, that in cases adjusted by razeenamah after evidence has been completed, the vakeels are entitled to their whole fees, in like manner as if no razeenamah had been admitted.—Con. 418, 5th May 1826.

Rules where two or more pleaders may be employed by the same party.

360. The parties in a suit are respectively permitted to entertain two or more pleaders, who shall either divide the authorized fee between them, in an equal, or in any other proportion, which may have been previously agreed upon between them and their constituent ; or shall each be entitled to receive the full established fee, as may be specified in the vakalutnamah ; but all stipulations to this effect shall be distinctly stated in the vakalutnamah which shall otherwise be construed to entitle the whole of the vakeels appointed by it to an equal division of the established fee and no more.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 30. Cl. 1.

In such cases one vakalutnamah only is requisite.

361. It shall be sufficient in such cases for the party employing two or more vakeels in the same suit, to file a single vakalutnamah, but the party shall be required to deposit in court, the whole amount of the fees payable to his pleaders, under the rules contained in Section 23.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

When two or more pleaders may be employed, the adverse party shall in no case pay more than the prescribed fee for one pleader.

362. If the party shall agree to pay to each of the vakeels employed by him the full amount of the authorized fee, the opposite party in the suit shall in no case be required to make good more than the fee of one of those pleaders, or such part of that fee as may be adjudged against him by the court. The fees of the other pleader are to be considered as a separate expence to be defrayed exclusively by the party entertaining him, and for which he is not to be reimbursed in any case whatever.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

A vakeel employed by two defendants under separate vakalutnamahs will receive the full fee from each, the whole of which the plaintiff will pay if the suit be dismissed.

363. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 28th February last, submitting the following questions for their opinion, with reference to the provisions contained in Section 30, Regulation 27 of 1814 :—First. Whether in the event of two defendants in a civil suit choosing to employ the same vakeel under separate vakalutnamahs, and each allotting to him the full amount of fees prescribed by Section 25 of the Regulation in question, such vakeel would be authorized in receiving the same ? Secondly. Whether in the event of two separate vakeels being employed by two separate defendants, they would each be entitled to receive the full amount of fees, and, in that case, what amount of fees would be chargeable to the plaintiff, on dismissal of the suit ?—In reply to your first question, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that where a vakeel is employed by two defendants, under separate vakalutnamahs, he is entitled to receive from each the full amount of fees prescribed by Section 25, Regulation 27, 1814 ; and in reply to your second question, that where two separate vakeels are employed by two defendants, they are each entitled to the full amount of fees, and that the whole amount of fees so due is chargeable to the plaintiff on the dismissal of his suit.—Con. 500, 3d April 1829.

364. All petitions of appeal from decisions of Moonsiffs are to be presented by the appellant in person, or by one of the authorized vakeels of the court; and if the appeal shall be admitted, and the appellant and respondent shall not plead their cause in person, their respective vakeels are to be allowed the same fees as in other suits tried before the Judge.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 46, Cl. 3.

How petitions of appeal from decisions of moonsiffs are to be presented.

[The above enactment is made applicable to Sudder Ameens by Section 73 of the same Regulation.]

365. On a reference from the Judge of Jessore as to whether the provisions of Clause 6, Section 2, Regulation 12, 1833, extended to pauper suits, it was held that the rule was applicable to all suits in which private engagements exist between parties and pleaders.—Con. 1297, Cal. C. 28th May, West. C. 18th June 1841.

Paupers may make private engagements with their pleaders.

[Clause 6, Section 2, Regulation 12, 1833, corresponds with Section 8, Act I. 1846, given above No. 341.]

366. I am directed to acquaint you that it has been ruled by the court, that where a party gaining a cause may have employed in the conduct of the same a special agent, under the provisions of Clause 4, Section 2, Regulation 12 of 1833, instead of a regular vakeel, such successful suitor shall not, in future, be entitled to recover from the losing party any reimbursement on account of remuneration granted by him to the special agent so employed, nor shall the court trying the cause award anything on that account.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th June 1839.

A party employing a special agent and not a regular vakeel, not entitled to be reimbursed his fees by the losing party.

367. Held that if in a claim against several defendants holding separate interests, such separate interests be specified in the plaint, the defendants may deposit their vakeels' fees in proportion to their respective interests; but that if there be no such specification of interests, each defendant must deposit according to the amount of the entire claim.—Remark.—Of course no deposit at all would be required from parties settling with their pleaders under Regulation 12, 1833.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d June 1836, p. 10.

Rule regarding the deposit of fees, where there is a claim against several defendants, and their separate interests are specified in the plaint.

368. The levying of pleaders' fees cannot be stayed by an appeal from the decision.—Con. 110, 3d Sept. 1812.

The levying of fees not to be stayed by an appeal.

[Regulation 12, 1833, has been repealed by Act I. 1846, but the principle of the above Construction and Circular order may still be considered as in force.]

SECTION XXIII.

Mooktars—Mooktarnamahs—Powers of Attorney.

369. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th ultimo, requesting to be informed, whether the prohibition against the employment of a mooktar convicted of gross misconduct is to be confined to the case in which his misconduct has been brought to light; and in reply to inform you that one proved act of gross misconduct is sufficient to warrant a general rejection of the mooktar.—Con. 809, Cal. C. 2d Aug., West. C. 6th Sept. 1833.

One proved act of gross misconduct will warrant the general rejection of the mooktar.

General mooktars admissible under the discretion of the local authority.

370. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 29th ultimo, suggesting that a rule of practice be issued by the Court, stating the extent of the powers vested in a general mooktar to act for another. In reply, I am desired to acquaint you that the Court do not consider any rule of practice to be requisite on the subject, and to refer you to the provisions contained in Sections 4 and 6, Regulation 9, 1807, and Section 2, Regulation 2, 1806, which clearly recognize the admission of general mooktars; but the Court observe that, in admitting or rejecting this description of agent, much must of course be left to the discretion of the local authority, according to the particular circumstances of each case.—Con. 512, 17th July 1829.

The copy of a general power of attorney kept for record should be on plain paper.

371. Held that the copy, kept for record in the courts in lieu of the original, of a general power of attorney to act in more than one court, should be written on plain paper.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 12th Feb. 1844, p. 56.

A general power of attorney written on a 4 rupee stamp may be returned to the party filing it.

372. I beg to submit the following points for the orders of the superior Court: A general power of attorney written on stamped paper of four rupees, as required in Schedule A, Regulation 10 of 1829, has been presented for the purpose of being attested, with a request that it may be given back to the party after acknowledgment. The practice of this court hitherto has been to retain such mooktarnamahs, allowing individuals to take copies of them on the same stamped paper as prescribed for the original deed.—In reply, I am directed to inform you that you are at liberty to return the original powers of attorney described in your letter to the parties filing them, at your own discretion.—Con. 917, West. C. 28th Nov. 1834, Cal. C. 2d Jan. 1835.

P. S. A. may be employed in attesting mooktarnamahs.

373. As doubts have been entertained whether a zillah or city Judge is competent to employ a Principal Sudder Ameen in attesting mooktarnamahs required to be filed in other courts, the Court direct me to inform you that such duty may be entrusted to a Principal Sudder Ameen whenever the measure may appear advisable. The Court direct me, at the same time, to call your attention to the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 20, 1812, which distinctly declare that no documents shall be registered but such as are enumerated in that enactment, or in Regulation 36, 1793, or Regulation 17, 1803. As mooktarnamahs are not mentioned in these Regulations, the Principal Sudder Ameen should be cautioned against registering such papers or levying any fee or gratuity for attesting them.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 6th March, Cal. C. 3rd April 1835.

S. A. and M. may be employed in attesting mooktarnamahs.

374. In supercession of the Circular order, No. 138, dated Western Provinces, 6th March, and Lower Provinces, 3d April, 1835, the Court are pleased to declare that the district Judges are competent to employ generally the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, equally with Principal Sudder Ameens, in attesting mooktarnamahs required to be filed in other courts.—Cir. Ord. 8th Nov. 1844, par. 1.

Uncov. judges will affix their official seal, as well as their signatures to mooktarnamahs.

375. The uncovenanted Judges of every class should be required to affix their official seals, as well as their signatures to mooktarnamahs, and cautioned against registering such papers or levying any fee or gratuity for attesting them.—Ibid, par. 2.

The personal appearance of the party executing the mooktarnamah, unnecessary; two credible witnesses sufficient.

376. The personal appearance and acknowledgment of the party executing the mooktarnamah is unnecessary; it being quite sufficient that the execution of the document be proved by two credible witnesses.—Ibid, par. 3.

The remuneration of the mooktar not payable by the losing party.

377. The remuneration of the special agent (mooktar) of the opposite party, cannot be made payable by the losing party.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Jan. 1840, p. 27.

378. Copies of mooktarnamahs filed previously to the promulgation of Regulation 16, 1824, must be written on a stamp of the same value as the original under the Regulations in force when such original instrument was executed.—Con. 412, 27th Jan. 1826.

Stamp on which copies of mooktarnamahs must be written.

379. I am desired by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 6th instant, together with its enclosed copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Meerut, requesting information as to whether the rules contained in Regulation 16, 1824, relative to mooktarnamahs, should be considered applicable to those documents filed in the courts of the Moonsiffs.—In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that it never could have been intended to subject mooktarnamahs filed in the courts of the Moonsiffs to the heavy stamp duty, prescribed by the Regulation above quoted.—Con. 416, 14th April 1826.

Mooktarnamahs in moonsiffs' courts not liable to stamp.

380. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your officiating Judge's letter, dated the 16th ultimo, enclosing copies of two petitions from Kasheepershad Rai, of your court's proceedings, and of a correspondence between your court and the Judge of zillah Rajshahye, regarding certain doubts entertained by Mr. Pringle upon the legality of an order passed by your court on a petition presented by the mooktar of Rajinder Mitter.—In reply, I am desired to observe, that the question which has given rise to this reference seems to be simply as to the legality or otherwise of the practice of permitting mooktars to file vakalutnamahs, in suits wherein their principals are parties; and to acquaint you, that the opinion entertained by you on the subject, corresponds in every respect with the view which this Court have taken of it. The Court observe, that to execute per alium, [that other being duly authorized,] is to execute per se; and that the Regulations consider these acts as one and the same; as is clear from the more explicit wording of Section 13, Regulation 27, 1814, which prescribes the performance of certain acts to be done by the party or his authorized agent. Although the wording of Section 8, Regulation 7, 1793, is not different from that of Section 21, Regulation 27, 1814, yet, from the time of its enactment (two and thirty years ago), vakalutnamahs executed by agents duly authorized, have, by all the courts, been regarded as equally good and valid with those executed by the parties themselves. The Court therefore are of opinion, that it would be inexpedient to put a stop to a practice which has been sanctioned by universal usage, which is attended with much convenience to parties in suits, and which the Regulations in force do not appear to prohibit. You will be pleased to furnish the Judge of Rajshahye with a copy of this letter, for his information and future guidance.—Con. 417, 28th April 1826.

Vakalutnamahs executed by mooktars valid.

381. A., before his departure on a pilgrimage to Mecca, appointed B. his attorney, with general powers of management and superintendence of his property during his absence. The power of attorney executed by A. further empowers B. to defend all suits in the Civil courts, to appoint and remove mooktars or agents, and specifically provides for the appointment of vakeels or pleaders, without any specification as regards the appointment of agents under Regulation 12, 1833. Held that a person vested with the management of the property of an absent party, under a document of the abovementioned nature, is competent to appoint special agents under Regulation 12, 1833, on behalf of his principal.—Con. 1268, West. C. 20th Dec. 1839. Cal. C. 20th March 1840.

General power of attorney by the son and next heir of the deceased sufficient to defend an appeal.

384. Pending an appeal from a decision obtained in the Provincial court by Messrs. Palmer and Co. as attorneys for Mr. Morgan, senior, that gentleman died; but the Court allowed Messrs. Palmer and Co. to defend the appeal under a general power of attorney executed by the son and next heir of the deceased.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Feb. 1820, vol. 3, p. 14.

A zillah judge not required to authenticate an English power of attorney.

385. I wish you to do me the favor of ascertaining from the Judges, whether a civil Judge is at liberty to authenticate an English power of attorney sent by a lawyer of the Supreme Court, to be executed by a Native resident of the Judge's district, and with a view to constituting a Native of Calcutta his attorney, in some matter pending or to be so before the Supreme Court.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, requesting to be informed whether a civil Judge is at liberty to authenticate an English power of attorney, and in reply to inform you that no Regulation positively requires a Judge to attest such documents; and that if it is likely that the attestation of it will entail the necessity of attendance on the Supreme Court to verify your signature, and thus cause interruption to the discharge of your regular duty, they are of opinion that you should decline doing so.—Con. 960, 19th June 1835.

SECTION XXIV.

Government Pleaders.

Rules for the appointment of pleaders on the part of Government.

386. One or more of the authorized pleaders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, of the Provincial courts, and the Zillah and City courts, shall be appointed for the purpose of conducting the prosecution or defence of any suits in those courts respectively, which may be directed to be carried on at the public expence, by any Regulation or by a special order from the Governor General in Council, or other authority competent to pass such order. Those pleaders shall be furnished with a sunnud or written authority to that purport, in the English and Persian languages, under the signature of the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department, and the sunnud shall be drawn up according to the form No. 5, of the appendix to this Regulation.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 37, Cl. 1.—Sunnud to be granted to the Pleaders of Government in the English and Persian Languages.—In conformity with the provisions of Regulation 27, 1814, you, A. B., are hereby appointed to the office of pleader on the part of Government, in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or in the Provincial court for the division of _____, or in the Zillah or City court of _____. You will not be liable to be removed from your office so long as you may conduct yourself with propriety, and discharge your duty with zeal, ability, and integrity, under the Regulations which are now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted.—App. No. 5, Reg. 27, 1814.

387. With reference to the provisions of Section 8, Act VI. of the present year, I am desired by the Sudder board of revenue to annex hereto, for your information and guidance, a copy of a letter No. 97 of this date, addressed to the Commissioner of the Jessore division. In reply to your letter, No. 119, of the 19th ultimo, relative to the employment of counsel on the part of Government in suits referred for decision to Moonsiffs under Section 8, Act VI. of the present year, I am directed by the Sudder board of revenue to instruct you, that the most advisable plan which occurs to them upon a consideration of all circumstances is, that you should procure lists of the pleaders in each Moonsiff's court of each district of your division, and require the Government pleader of the district to certify on his own responsibility the ablest and most respectable pleaders for Government employ, and these pleaders should be engaged for suits as they occur through the agency of the Government pleader of the district. The usual fees will suffice without the addition of the fixed salary, as the credit this employment will create will give them additional general practice.—Cir. Ord. 14th July 1843.

Mode of employing vakeels in govt. suits referred to moonsiffs under sec. 8, act 6, 1843.

388. The pleaders for Government are to undertake all causes which they may be directed to plead by orders from Government, or which may be directed by any Regulation to be carried on at the public expence, upon receiving an order for that purpose, either from Government, or from any officer or officers empowered by any Regulation to superintend, and to furnish instructions for conducting such suits. The order of Government, or of such officer or officers, is to be filed in court as the authority of the pleader to plead the cause, and is to form part of the record of the proceedings.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 37, Cl. 3.

Duties to be performed by pleaders on the part of government.

389. The pleaders of Government are prohibited from giving any advice to the parties opposed to Government in any civil suit or proceeding, and from being concerned, directly or indirectly, on their behalf, in suits which are directed to be carried on at the public expence; but in all other suits the pleaders of Government are to be at liberty to plead for either of the parties in the same manner as the other authorized pleaders of the court.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Such pleaders prohibited from advising parties opposed to government.

390. The pleaders for Government are to be paid the same fees in causes directed to be pleaded at the public expence, as pleaders employed in causes between individuals, and under the same rules and restrictions; provided however, that the previous deposit, prescribed in Section 23 of this Regulation, shall not be required for the fees, payable to the pleaders of Government, in the prosecution or defence of suits conducted at the public expence.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

What fees they are entitled to receive.

391. In pleading suits directed to be carried on at the public expence, the pleaders for Government are to be subject to all the rules prescribed for their guidance when pleading on behalf of individuals, except in matters or cases in which it may be otherwise especially directed by any Regulation.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

To be guided by the same rules as pleaders in other suits.

392. The Board of Revenue, the Board of Commissioners in the upper provinces, the Board of Trade, or any other authorities, entrusted with the management of suits on the part of Government, are empowered to associate with the established vakeel of Government, any other authorized pleader, in cases in which such aid may, from the importance of the suit, or any other reason, be judged necessary or advisable. Such additional pleader shall be furnished with a vakalutnamah, duly authenticated by the officer or authority employing him, and shall be entitled to receive the same fees, and under the same rules and restrictions, as if he were employed on the part of an individual, subject however to the provision contained in clause fifth of this section.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

Another pleader may be associated with the pleader of government in carrying on suits at the public expence.

Vakeels prohibited from being employed as agents or mooktars in the foudaree courts of the zillahs and cities.

393. The authorized pleaders of the Zillah and City courts are hereby prohibited, without obtaining the previous sanction of the Judges of those courts, from officiating as agents or mooktars in any prosecution, trial or proceeding before the Magistrates or their assistants. This prohibition however is not intended to apply to the cases of pleaders, who may be employed on the part of Government in conducting the prosecution of persons charged with criminal offences, or in the execution of any other duties in the criminal department, which such pleaders may be directed or authorized to perform on the part of Government under the Regulations, which are now or may hereafter be in force.—Ibid, Sect. 17.

Vakeels of government to plead the causes of invalids free of cost on the requisition of the collectors.

394. To prevent invalid jaghirdars from being harassed with law suits, and to enable them to defend or prosecute suits in the Courts of civil judicature, without being obliged to attend in person, or being subjected to trouble and expence, it shall be the duty of the vakeel of Government on the requisition of the Collector to plead the causes of such invalids free of cost.—Reg. 1, 1804, Sect. 14.

On vacancies occurring in the office of the vakeels of govt. the courts of justice are merely to report the circumstance, for information of govt.

395. On the occasion of vacancies occurring in the office of the vakeels of Government in the Courts of justice, such courts shall not nominate any individual to succeed to the office, but shall merely report the circumstance, for the information of Government, to the Secretary in the Judicial department.—Reg. 13, 1829, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

The govt. will ascertain which of the pleaders may be best fitted to succeed to the vacant office.

396. It will rest with Government to ascertain by such enquiries as they may deem necessary, which of the constituted pleaders of the court is best fitted by his qualifications and character to succeed to the vacant office, and to appoint such individual accordingly.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

The order of a govt. officer to a govt. pleader to plead, is equal to a vakalutnamah.

397. The order of an officer of Government, filed by a Government pleader, is sufficient authority to him to plead a cause, and is admissible on plain paper.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th July 1846, p. 81.

SECTION XXV.

Vakeels in Moonsiffs' Courts.

The rules passed for pleaders in the zillah courts applicable to P. in the M's. courts. Form of sunnud for vakeels in M's. courts.

398. And it is hereby enacted, that the rules applicable to pleaders in the courts of the zillah and city Judges, shall henceforth be applicable, so far as they are capable of application, to pleaders in the Moonsiffs' courts.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 11.—Form of sunnud to be granted to persons who may be appointed to officiate as vakeels in the cutcherries of the Moonsiffs.—"I, A. B., Judge of the zillah or city of ——— do hereby appoint you, C. D., to act in the capacity of vakeel in the cutcherry of the Moonsiff of ——— ;

you will not be liable to be removed from your office, unless the Judge of the district or city of ———, in consequence of misconduct on your part, or of there being no longer any necessity for your being employed in the capacity of vakeel, shall deem it proper to recal and cancel this sunnud."—App. No. 3 to Reg. 23, 1814.

399. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a pleader has conducted himself in such a manner in the court of a Moonsiff as would have rendered him liable to a fine if he had so conducted himself in the court of a zillah or city Judge, it shall be competent to such Moonsiff to impose such fine; provided that an appeal from all orders imposing such fines shall lie to the zillah or city Judge, whose decision thereon shall be final.—Act I. 1846, Sect. 12.

M. may fine a vakeel, but an appeal will lie to the judge.

400. A doubt having arisen as to whether an appeal does or does not lie to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut from the order of a zillah or city Judge, dismissing a vakeel of a Moonsiff's court; the Court are of opinion that such appeal does not lie; for the Judges were declared competent by Clause 3, Section 15, Regulation 23, 1814, to remove such vakeels (without a reference to any other authority being specifically required,) while they were required by Clause 2, Section 10, Regulation 27, 1814, to submit a report for the orders of the Provincial court, whenever they might consider a vakeel attached to their own courts, or to those of the Registers or Sudder Ameens, worthy of dismissal from office.—Con. 846, Cal. C. 6th Dec., West. C. 27th Dec. 1833.

No appeal lies to the S. D. A. from the order of a city or zillah judge dismissing a vakeel in a moon-siff's court.

401. It being believed that, under a misapprehension of Section 11, Regulation 7 of 1832, Moonsiffs are commonly in the habit of issuing separate process for the realization of vakeel's fees, not exceeding in amount the proportion of five per cent. on the value of the claim adjudicated, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower Provinces intimate, that such a procedure is unauthorized by existing law, and is to be considered by the courts strictly prohibited for the future.—Cir. Ord. 18th June 1844, par. 1.

Moonsiff forbidden to issue separate process for realization of vakeel's fees.

402. The Court observe that the terms of the enactment above cited, taken in connection with the provisions of Clause 4, Section 15, Regulation 23 of 1814, merely authorize the inclusion of fees awarded in the final judgment, and their realization simultaneously with its execution; or, in other words, that the realization of vakeel's fees, as adjudged by Moonsiffs, must form part and parcel of the process of execution, except in cases wherein the claim may be dismissed, and the defendant may move the court for the recovery of his costs.—Ibid, par. 2.

How the fees of vakeels are to be realized in those courts.

403. The civil Judges are directed to ascertain that the purport of this order is rightly understood by the courts to which it has particular application, and to enforce conformity to the practice, which it inculcates, in future.—Ibid, par. 3.

The order to be strictly enforced.

404. Vakalutnamahs in Moonsiffs' courts, and applications to them for the execution of decrees, may be received on unstamped paper.—Con. 950, Cal. C. 1st May, West. C. 10th July 1835.

Vakalutnamahs in moonsiffs' courts may be on plain paper.

405. I am directed by the Court to inform you that the Regulations do not require the zillah and city Judges to interfere in regard to the remuneration of their vakeels by parties in the Moonsiffs' courts. They therefore desire that you will refrain from doing so, further Where suits against vakeels in moonsiffs' courts for fraud, or misconduct will be received and tried.

406. Suits against the vakeels of Moonsiffs' courts for all breaches of trust, fraud or wilful misconduct, committed by them in their professional capacity, will be received and decided by the Moonsiff, but if the suit be beyond his competence, the Judge may transfer it to another and competent court, or retain it on his own file.—Govt. Ord. No. 11, 15th Jan. 1834.

SECTION XXVI.

Ameens.

No moonsiff will be employed in the miscellaneous duties described in sec. 50 to 53, reg. 23, 1814, except in special cases.

407. No Moonsiff shall in future be called upon to perform any of the miscellaneous duties described in Sections 50 to 53 of Regulation 23, 1814, except in very special cases, to be fully recorded on the proceedings of the court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 13th Jan., West. C. 10th Feb. 1837. par. 4, Cl. 1.

The judges may employ the moonsiffs in the investigation of questions respecting local rights & usages.

408. In questions which may arise in suits depending before the Judge of any Zillah or City court relating to the adjustment of accounts in revenue or mercantile transactions, or regarding the boundaries of lands or houses, or regarding the right of way in roads or pathways, or regarding any rights in forests, commons, rivers, lakes, ponds, wells, reservoirs or water-courses, or regarding the quantity or description of land and the rent to which it is liable, and generally in all questions of local rights and usages, which cannot be conveniently decided without an enquiry on the spot, the zillah or city Judge may empower any Moonsiff within his jurisdiction to make a local investigation into the merits of the question in dispute.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 50, Cl. 1.

Instructions and proceedings to be furnished to the moonsiffs in such cases.

409. The zillah or city Judges shall furnish to the Moonsiff such part of the proceedings, and such detailed instruction in each case, as may be necessary for his information and guidance, and shall enjoin the Moonsiff, either merely to take the requisite evidence in the presence of the parties or their vakeels, and to transmit the same to the court, or likewise to transmit, with the evidence so taken, a report of his own sentiments on the point at issue founded on the result of the investigation held by him.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The proceedings of the moonsiffs to be received as evidence in such cases, unless the judge may be dissatisfied with them.

410. The proceedings of the Moonsiff are to be received as evidence in the case with regard to the specific matter which he may have been directed to investigate, but if the Judge shall have reason to be dissatisfied with the proceedings of the Moonsiff, he is at liberty to make such further enquiry as may be requisite, and to pass such ultimate judgment as may appear to him to be right and proper.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Moonsiffs may be employed in giving possession of real property under decrees.

411. The zillah and city Judges are further authorized to employ the Moonsiffs in delivering over formal possession of lands, houses, or other real property in conformity with decrees, regular or summary.—Ibid, Sect. 51, Cl. 1.

412. Previously however to issuing any instructions to a Moonsiff for the performance of any of the duties described in this or the preceding section, the Judge shall require either the plaintiff or the defendant, according to the circumstances of the case, to pay into court such a sum of money as may be an adequate remuneration to the Moonsiff for his trouble, provided such sum do not exceed the probable expence which would be incurred if an ameen or a Native officer of the court were employed in the execution of the same duty.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Moonsiffs how to be remunerated for their trouble in such cases.

413. The Moonsiff shall be entitled to receive such sum as may have been paid into court under the preceding clause, except under circumstances in which he may appear to have performed the duty entrusted to him in a negligent, unjust, or improper manner ; in such cases the said sum of money shall be returned to the party who deposited it in court.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Such remuneration to be forfeited, if the moonsiff shall have been guilty of misconduct in the execution of the duty.

414. The Moonsiffs may be employed at the discretion of the zillah and city Judges in the attachment and sale of personal property for the purpose of realizing the amount of fines, or of decrees, regular or summary, and shall be entitled to receive a commission of one anna in each rupee on the proceeds of such sales.—Ibid, Sect. 52.

Moonsiffs may be employed to sell personal property by order of the judge, and shall receive a commission on the proceeds of such sale.

415. The zillah and city Judges are further empowered to employ the Moonsiffs in ascertaining and reporting upon the sufficiency of securities, and the indigence of persons suing in formâ pauperis.—Ibid, Sect. 53.

Moonsiffs may be directed to report on the sufficiency of securities, and the indigence of paupers.

416. The provisions of the preceding sections are not intended to preclude the Zillah and City courts from deputing an ameen for local enquiries, or from employing the authorized officers of the court in the execution of the various duties above detailed, whenever they may deem it expedient to do so in conformity with the existing Regulations ; and the zillah and city Judges will be careful, that the time of the Moonsiffs be not so much occupied in the miscellaneous duties above described, as to interfere materially with the early trial and decision of the regular suits depending before them.—Ibid, Sect. 54.

The preceding rules are not to preclude the employment of ameens or other officers of the court.

Judges to be careful that the time of the moonsiffs be not too much occupied in miscellaneous suits.

417. The zillah and city Judges shall select and appoint as many duly qualified persons as they may deem requisite to act as ameens, who shall perform the miscellaneous duties above-mentioned ; of course the Judges will be at liberty to nominate the city and purgunnah cazees to those duties, when their services may be available.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 13th Jan., West. C. 10th Feb. 1837, par. 4, Cl. 2.

Z. and C. J. will appoint ameens to perform miscellaneous duties. Cazees may be appointed to them.

418. The persons so appointed shall be required to furnish security for their personal appearance, and for the faithful discharge of their duty.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

A. will furnish security.

419. Each ameen shall receive a regular sunnud of appointment, describing the jurisdiction within which he is to act as ameen, and which should correspond exactly with the jurisdiction of Moonsiffs, unless special reasons exist for dividing a Moonsiff's jurisdiction, or for combining two or more jurisdictions under one ameen.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

A. will receive a sunnud. Their jurisdiction.

420. The ameens shall receive the same commission of one anna on the rupee which is allowed to Moonsiffs, by the sections above cited, and they shall perform their duties under the same rules which are applicable to Moonsiffs or ameens under the existing Regulations.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

A. not at liberty to appoint a deputy.

421. The ameen shall perform the duties entrusted to him in person, and shall not be permitted to act by deputy on any account whatever.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

List of A. to be affixed in all the courts of the district.

422. Lists of the persons so appointed shall be affixed in the courts of all the Judges, European and Native, throughout the district, and an annual list shall moreover be furnished to this court.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

Judges, E. and N., may depute their officers to perform these duties.

423. Nothing contained in these rules shall be understood to prevent the Judges, European and Native, from deputing the officers of their own establishment, to perform any of the prescribed duties, whenever they may consider such a measure necessary.—Ibid, Cl. 8.

The native judges to conform to these rules.

424. You are requested to issue the necessary instructions to the Native Judges on your establishment to conform to the orders of this Circular, whenever they have occasion to require the services of an ameen for any miscellaneous duties.—Ibid, par. 5.

Persons appointed to sell distrained property under act I, 1839, not to be appointed A. under the C. O. of 13th Jan. 1837.

425. The Court are pleased to direct that, if the practice of appointing to the office of ameen under the Circular order, No. 197, of 13th January, 1837, persons who hold the situation of ameens under Act I. 1839, obtains in your district, it be discontinued, as they consider the junction of the two offices to be calculated to retard execution of the orders of the Civil courts.—Cir Ord. 15th Aug. 1845.

No fees can be levied for the A. employed in investigating the sufficiency of securities tendered to the S. D. A., or the circumstances of paupers.

426. I am directed to inform you that no fees can be levied for the remuneration of the ameen appointed under the Circular order of the 13th January last, No. 217, in cases in which he may be employed in investigating the sufficiency of securities tendered to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut or other zillahs, and the circumstances of parties wishing to sue in formâ pauperis. Should you therefore consider it objectionable to employ, on these duties, persons who do not receive any fees, you are at liberty, as heretofore, to confide this duty to your nazir or to the Moonsiffs.—Con. 1078, Cal. C. 10th March, West. C. 31st March 1837, par. 1.

Duties and remuneration of A. appointed under C. O. of 13th Jan. 1837.

427. The Court are pleased to circulate the following directions regarding the duties and remuneration of ameens, appointed under the Circular order, 13th January, 1837.—Cir. Ord. 31st Dec. 1841, par. 1.

Classification of the duties of ameens.

428. The duties on which the Civil courts are empowered by the Circular order above-mentioned to employ ameens are detailed in Sections 50 to 53 of Regulation 23, 1814, and may be classed under these heads: 1, The investigation of accounts in revenue or mercantile transactions, regarding the boundaries of lands or houses, regarding the right of way in roads or pathways, regarding any right in forests, commons, rivers, lakes, ponds, wells, reservoirs or water-courses, regarding the quantity and description of land and rent to which it is liable, and generally all questions of local rights and usages which cannot be ascertained by reference to the Collector's records, and cannot conveniently be decided without an enquiry on the spot; 2, The delivery of formal possession of lands, houses, or other real property in conformity with decrees or orders of court; 3, The attachment and sale of houses, gardens, orchards, or small portions of lakhiraj land, as well as of personal property, for the purpose of realizing the amount of fines, or of decrees, or other orders of court; and 4, Enquiring into and reporting on the sufficiency of securities, and the indigence of persons suing in formâ pauperis.—Ibid, par. 2.

429. As regards the last class of duties, it has been ruled, by Construction 1078, that no fees can be levied for the remuneration of the ameen in cases in which he may be employed in investigating the sufficiency of securities tendered to the Sudder dewanny adawlut or Zillah courts, or in enquiring into the circumstances of parties desiring to sue as paupers; and that, therefore, if the employment on those duties of persons who do not receive any fees, should be deemed objectionable, the Judges may, as heretofore, confide the duty to the Nazir or to the Moonsiffs. The latter course, it is to be presumed, would be always followed; the gratuitous use of the services of an unsalaried agent, dependant for livelihood on the commission he may receive for work performed, being obviously improper.—Ibid, par. 3.

The last class of duties should not be thrown on an unsalaried A.; but given to the nazir or moonsiffs.

430. As respects the first two classes of cases, the Court consider that no better rule for the ameen's remuneration can be adopted than that contained in Clause 2, Section 51, Regulation 23, 1814, cited in the margin.

General remarks on the remuneration of A. employed in the first two classes of duties.

Viz. That previously to issuing any instructions to : Moonsiff for the performance of any of the duties described in that or the preceding section, the Judge shall require either the plaintiff or the defendant, according to the circumstances of the case, to pay into court such a sum Moon: the probable expence which would be incurred if an ameen or a Native officer of the court were employed on the same duty.

The law nowhere fixes the specific amount of remuneration to be paid to the ameens under the rule above referred to, but merely directs that the courts shall order such sum to be paid to the ameen as may be thought reasonable for his trouble; and enjoins care on the part of the court, that expences be not unnecessarily incurred by the ameen through delay, or other cause.—Ibid, par. 4.

431. The Court have been pleased to fix the maximum amount of remuneration to be awarded to the ameen in such cases at twelve annas per diem for himself, and three annas for the hire of two peadahs, or a total rate of fifteen annas per diem, and this rate is on no account to be exceeded.—Ibid, par. 5.

The maximum remuneration to be 12 as. a day for the A. and 3 as. for two peadahs.

432. It will be the duty of the presiding authority, at the time of directing the appointment of an ameen, to fix the period within which he should be required to make his return, and to determine the rate of his remuneration under the limits above laid down, as well as by which of the parties the amount shall be deposited; and the ameens shall on no account be appointed till such sum have been paid in. The amount having been deposited, a moiety of it shall be paid to the ameen, and the balance on the completion, to the satisfaction of the court, of the duty assigned to him. When such duty may be found to have been discharged in a negligent or improper manner, the court shall pass, in regard to the balance in deposit, such order as in each case, on a full review of the circumstances, may appear just and proper, either causing its refund to the depositing party, or appointing a second ameen, for the satisfactory completion of the work; the latter shall not, however, be entitled to receive as remuneration, more than the balance remaining in deposit.—Ibid, par. 6.

Rules fixing the period for accomplishing the duty, and the remuneration, & the party by whom the expence is to be paid. Payment of the sum to the ameen. Cases in which the duty has been ill performed.

433. Where the ameen may find it impracticable to make his return within the period fixed by the court, he shall submit a report to that effect, prior to the expiration of that term, stating fully the progress he has made towards execution of the order, and the circumstances which hinder completion within the period allowed. The court shall immediately take such report into consideration, and if it appear that the delay has arisen from neglect of the parties, or either of them, or from other circumstances beyond the control of the ameen, and in no way involving his conduct, it shall be competent to the court to grant such extension of time as may seem proper, and to direct the deposit, within a certain period, of such additional sum for the remuneration of the ameen as may be deemed reasonable. The court shall at the same time be competent to order payment to the ameen of such portion of the balance of original deposit as may suffice for his immediate expenses. In the event of the further deposit not being made within the time fixed, and the party, or his vakeel, ordered to deposit the same, not being able to shew satisfactory cause for the delay, the court shall order the ameen to strike the case off on default, and direct the payment to him of the balance in deposit. When, however, the delay may be owing to the neglect of the ameen, the court shall require him to complete the duty within such further period as it may be fit to grant, but shall not allow him any additional compensation for that period.—Ibid, par. 7.

Regarding the third class of cases, the agency of the A. will be restricted to the attachment and sale of lands, ordered to be sold by the civil courts.

434. As regards the third and most numerous class of cases, in which real or personal property has to be attached and sold in realization of sums awarded by the Civil courts,* much difference of practice is believed to prevail in the manner of employing the ameens; in some districts their agency being confined to the conduct of the sale, while it includes the attachment as well as the drawing up and issue of the sale advertisement in others; and in some instances ameens have been in the habit of receiving petitions of objection to the sale, and transmitting them to the court, whence they have been generally directed to conduct the enquiry into such objections, and report the results for orders. It has been, however, determined by the Court, that the duty of issuing the advertisement of sale, as well as the reception on their own authority, of any petition of objections to the sale, is beyond the competency of the ameens to perform, and their agency is to be restricted to the attachment and sale. —Ibid, par. 8.

The remuneration of the A. in such cases. Four contingencies which require provision.

435. For this duty under Section 51, Regulation 23, 1814, the ameens are entitled to receive a commission of one anna in the rupee on the proceeds of sales effected by them, but provision is not made for the following contingencies, on the occurrence of which under the above rule the ameen can receive no compensation, to which he is nevertheless entitled for the trouble and expence to which he may have been subjected:—1, Where no part, or only a very small portion of the property included in the schedule filed by the decree-holder, and ordered to be attached through the ameen, may, after due search and enquiry, be forthcoming; 2, Where, after attachment of the property, but prior to the date fixed for its sale, the party liable for the demand may discharge the same; or, having compromised the matter with the decree-holder, the latter may file a “razeenamah,” or where the sale may be postponed and eventually stopped by order of the court, or where, from any other cause, it may not take place; 3, Where the ameen may actually have proceeded, on the day fixed for sale, to the spot, and the sale may not take place owing to payment of the amount, or other cause; and 4, Where the sale having taken place, may afterwards be reversed for some cause not involving the conduct of the ameen.—Ibid, par. 9.

Rules regarding his remuneration in the first three contingencies.

436. Respecting the first three contingencies, the Court have resolved that the ameen, in compensation for his trouble and expence, shall be paid by the same rate of daily allowance, as that fixed in paragraph 5 of this letter, viz. 12 annas for himself and 3 annas for the hire of peadahs, the number of days being calculated according to the distance, on a fixed scale of distance per diem, which the Court are pleased to establish at ten miles per diem. Every day of detention at the place of attachment or sale, which may be compulsory, and beyond the control of the ameen, will be charged for in addition at the above rate, and the remuneration of one day will be paid to the ameen on the occurrence of the second contingency, should the sale have been stopped in time enough to prevent the departure of the ameen from his usual abode, for the purpose of effecting the sale.—Ibid, par. 10.

* It has been ruled that ameens appointed under Circular order, 13th January, 1837, have the constructive power under Clause 3, Section 2, Regulation 7, 1825, of selling real as well as personal property in satisfaction of decrees.—See Circular Order, No. 69, 7th February, 1840.

437. The Circular orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 4434, dated 31st December, 1841, prescribe rules for the remuneration of ameens, who may be employed on any specific duty by the Civil courts and make the deputation of an ameen into the mofussil for the performance of certain local acts, described in the two first clauses, subjoined to paragraph 2 of Circular order, contingent on the prior deposit in court, of the amount to which, on completion of the work committed to him, he may be entitled. While paragraph 9 of the same Circular declares the amount of commission legally receivable by ameens for the duty of attaching and selling property, and paragraph 10 makes provision for their compensation, on the occurrence of certain contingencies therein alluded to, the omission to make the pre-payment of such dues a condition of the deputation of an ameen into the mofussil, has been found productive of much inconvenience and occasional hardship.—Cir. Ord. 21st Aug. 1843, par. 1.

Reference to the preceding rules of the C. O. of 31st Dec. 1831.

438. The commission of one anna in the rupee, on the proceeds of sale can of course only be levied on completion of that process; but an ameen appointed to attach and sell property will, the Court remark, under any circumstances, be entitled to the remuneration described in the 10th paragraph of the Circular order above cited, and the exaction of pre-payment to that extent, with the condition of a corresponding allowance being made in calculating the commission receivable by the ameen on completion of sale, will secure to the ameen the timely reception of his just compensation, and will relieve the court, by which the process may have been issued, from the necessity, now too frequent, of having recourse to harsh measures for the subsequent realization of ameen's fees.—Ibid, par. 2.

Previous exactment of the remuneration of the A. necessary.

439. The Court, therefore, direct that whenever an application for the attachment and sale of property in execution of a decree shall be presented, the decree-holder shall be required to deposit in court the amount of compensation, to which the ameen will be entitled under the 10th paragraph of the Circular order, and the ameen shall on no account be deputed, until such sum have been paid in: if the sale be carried out to completion, the decree-holder will be allowed credit for the amount thus pre-paid, in calculating the demand to which he would be liable for the commission of one anna in the rupee on sale proceeds, and a comparatively small proportion will remain to be collected; and if, on the other hand, any one of the contingencies described in the three first clauses of paragraph 9, occur, the remuneration claimable by the ameen will be ready for delivery, without subjecting the decree-holder to the harassing demands of the court, or the ameen to the hardship which delay in the realization of his dues might occasion.—Ibid, par. 3.

The decree-holder must deposit the compensation of the A. in court.

Subsequent adjustment of this compensation.

440. It is at the same time provided, that the total amount receivable by the ameen under the above rule, (436) shall, in no case, exceed the amount he would have got if the sale had been effected in due course.—Cir. Ord. 31st Dec. 1841, par. 11.

Limitation of the total amount receivable by the A.

441. In the fourth and last contingency mentioned, the Court deem it just that the ameen, where the sale, having taken place, may be reversed, receive the full commission of one anna in the rupee on the proceeds of the sale, as he will have been subjected to the same labour and expence, and have incurred the same responsibility as if the sale had been confirmed. The court ordering the sale will in such case determine by which of the parties the cost incurred, on this account, as well as when the sale may be stayed by an order of the court, shall be ultimately borne. When the decree-holder may file a razeenamali, the commission of the ameen shall be recovered from him, leaving him to make his arrangements for obtaining reimbursement of the amount in any compromise concluded with the opposite party, but when the sale may be stayed owing to the payment into court, or to the ameen, of the demand by the opposite party, such payment shall also include the ameen's commission calculated under whichever of the foregoing rules may apply to the case, and which should first be paid to the ameen before any payment is made to the decree-holder.—Ibid, par. 12.

Delivery of possession of property sold by A. to the auction purchasers; and the rule of remuneration for it.

442. Ordinarily the delivery of possession to auction purchasers of property sold by ameens is to be considered as included in the duty for the performance of which the ameen receives the commission of one anna in the rupee on the sale proceeds; but where the delivery of possession may have been unduly resisted, it will form a separate case, falling within the rule laid down in paragraph 4 of this letter, and be dealt with accordingly.—Ibid, par. 13.

A mohurrir and nullees may be appointed with the A. for the measurement of land. An assistant may be appointed where the duties are heavy. No larger allowance than 12 as. a day can be given to the A.

443. The following questions were submitted by the Judge of Tipperah, with reference to the Court's printed Circular order, No. 177, dated 31st December, 1841, (Western Court, 17th January, 1842,) relative to the duties and remuneration of ameens:—1. When the measurement of lands, in addition to other local enquiries, becomes necessary, may the court appoint a mohurrir and a nullee or nullees, subordinate to the ameen, with allowances not exceeding those of the ameen, but in addition thereto? 2. In giving possession of lands, so extensive as to render it impossible for one ameen to complete the duty within a moderate period, may the court appoint an assistant or assistants on separate allowances not exceeding those of the ameen? 3. Has the court no power to appoint an ameen to give possession, with larger allowances than twelve annas per diem, however extensive the lands may be, and however important the duty?—The reply to the first and second questions was in the affirmative, and to the third in the negative.—Con. 1337, Cal. C. 13th May, West. C. 3d June 1842.

Order by a court to refund a portion of the allowance to an A. cannot be contested by a regular action against the party charged with the cost.

444. The order of a court directing a refund of a portion of the allowance granted by a lower court to an ameen for conducting a local investigation, cannot be contested by a regular suit against the party charged with the cost of the investigation.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Dec. 1841, p. 19.

Swearing the ameen to the truth of his report after it is made.

445. Where an ameen had not been sworn, previous to deputation under Section 17, Regulation 4, 1793, but had been subsequently sworn to his report, two Judges admitted a special appeal, from the doubt; but one Judge judicially determined that defect was cured.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Jan. 1833, vol. 5, p. 261.

A. who have taken a general oath of office, need not swear to the truth of each separate report.

446. A question having been raised, as to the necessity of swearing ameens, appointed under the Circular order No. 197, Lower Provinces, 13th January, and Western Provinces, 10th February, 1837, to the truth of the reports delivered in by them, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut have ruled that, as Moonsiffs, who might be employed as ameens by Sections 50 to 53, Regulation 23, 1814, were not required to attest on oath the truth of their returns, because they had taken and subscribed an oath of office as prescribed in Section 11 of that Regulation, it is in like manner, unnecessary to swear ameens to the truth of each separate return, after they have taken a general oath of office on their appointment, as they are ministerial officers of the court.—Cir. Ord. 17th Sept. 1847, par. 1.

447. Section 54 of the Regulation cited, sanctions the deputation of the ministerial officers of the courts to transact ameen's duties ; and the reports of such officers, who have been on their appointment sworn according to Regulation 13, 1793, and Regulation 12, 1803, or have subscribed the declaration substituted for oaths by Section 2, Regulation 18, 1817, may equally be received as evidence.—Ibid, par. 2.

The reports of ministerial officers of the courts, who have taken the oath of office, may be received as evidence.

448. Upon this view of the law, the Courts deem it proper that ameens, appointed under the Circular order above mentioned, be uniformly required to subscribe, on their appointment, the declaration prescribed by Section 2, Regulation 18, 1817, and that when their reports are referred to as evidence, the fact of such subscription be set forth in the decree, as indicated in Rule 8 of the Circular order, No. 8, dated the 12th February last.—Ibid, par. 3.

A. must take the oath of office on their appointment, and the fact of their having been sworn must be set forth in the decree.

449. Ameens appointed under the Circular, from whom such subscription may not have been required, are to be called upon to conform to the rule.—Ibid, par. 4.

A. who have not taken the oath of office, must subscribe it.

450. Persons deputed as occasional ameens, not being sworn ministerial officers, are to attest on solemn declaration the truth of the reports delivered in by them, as enjoined by Section 17, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 18, Regulation 3, 1803.—Ibid, par. 5.

Occasional A. must swear to the truth of their separate reports.

451. It being considered desirable that proper attention should be paid to the proceedings of the ameens appointed under the Circular order, No. 197, 13th January, 1837, to ascertain that they perform their duties in a satisfactory manner, and with sufficient promptitude, and that no more persons are appointed to the office than the amount of business actually requires, the Court request that you will direct the ameens in your district to submit to you a monthly statement showing how they are employed each day, the work assigned to them from time to time, and the period within which it is disposed of. A cursory inspection of the statements will shew you what degree of attention is paid by the ameens to their duty, and whether the number of those officers is sufficient for or inadequate to the work in the district.—Cir. Ord. 4th June 1841.

The A. will submit a monthly statement of the mode in which they are employed each day.

452. It has been ruled by the Court that ameens so appointed have the constructive power, under Clause 3, Section 2, Regulation 7 of 1825, of selling real as well as personal property in satisfaction of decrees.—Cir. Ord. 7th Feb. 1840.

Ameens so appointed may, constructively, sell real as well as personal property.

453. The power of employing Moonsiffs or ameens in any of the above mentioned duties has been extended, as regards the execution of decrees, by the provisions of Section 22, Regulation 5 of 1831, and Section 7, Regulation 7 of 1832, to the Native Judges, who are authorized to execute their own decrees under the same rules as are applicable to the zillah and city Judges.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 13th Jan., West. C. 10th Feb. 1837, par. 3.

The native judges are empowered to employ A. in the execution of their decrees.

454. In regard to enquiries directed by the Judges of other districts, the Court direct me to observe that whether any fees can be levied or not, must depend upon the nature of the enquiry.—Con. 1078, Cal. C. 10th March, West. C. 31st March 1837, par. 2.

If enquiries are ordered by the J. of other districts, the question of fees must be decided by the nature of the enquiry.

455. The Moonsiffs are competent, in the same manner as other judicial officers, to depute an ameen for the purpose of making local investigations, when such a measure may appear necessary, and, in this department of their duty, should be guided by the Regulations on the same head applicable to Zillah courts. The same rule applies in cases of resistance or evasion of process, subject to the restriction contained in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 26th July, Cal. C. 1st Nov. 1833, par. 10.

Moonsiffs may depute an A. to make local investigations.

But they cannot depute a mohurrir, or other person, to make the investigations required by other courts. When the M. cannot leave his station for this purpose he must report the case to the judge.

456. With reference to the third paragraph, I am directed to observe, that though under the Construction contained in the tenth paragraph of the letter circulated on the 1st November last, the Moonsiffs may depute ameens to make local investigations in regular suits pending before them, they cannot depute a mohurrir or other person to make such as they themselves may be required to make by the different courts. If the Moonsiff cannot leave his station for the purpose of making such investigations, without materially interfering with his more special duties, he should represent the circumstance to the Judge, who can depute any other person to perform the duty—Con. 863, 14th Feb. 1834.

Court may depute an A. where local investigations may be necessary in disputes regarding real property.

To what points the A. is to be sworn.

Report to be made by the A. duly attested on a certain day.

Court to order such sum to be paid to the A. as it may judge adequate to his trouble.

By whom the sum awarded is to be paid.

Precaution to be observed by the courts in awarding such sums.

457. In cases of disputed property regarding lands, houses, or their limits or boundaries, in which the court may deem a local investigation proper, the court is to appoint an ameen, who is to be sworn to make a true and faithful report to the court of the several matters which he may be directed to investigate, and not to take or receive, directly or indirectly, from either party, any gratuity, reward, or consideration, besides the sum which may be allowed to him by the court. The ameen is to be ordered to make his report in writing, subscribed with his name, and to deliver it into court on a certain day, which is to be specified in his commission. The report is to be received by the court, as evidence in the cause with regard to the matters which the ameen may be commissioned to investigate, and no other. The court may order such sum to be paid to the ameen as may be thought reasonable for his trouble, and the amount is to be added to the costs, and paid by the person against whom the decree may be passed. But the court is to be careful that expences are not unnecessarily incurred by the ameen by delay or other means—Reg. 4, 1793 Sect. 17.

Vakeels may be deputed to make local enquiries.

458. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, requesting to be informed whether you are at liberty to depute vakeels of your court to make local enquiries as ameens. In reply, I am directed to inform you that the Court are aware of no Regulation which prohibits the practice, but they consider the measure as of doubtful expediency in general.—Con. 901, West. C. 26th Sept., Cal. C. 24th Oct. 1834.

A zillah judge may pass an order for the dismissal of an A. subject to an appeal.

459. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Futtehpore, that as the ameens appointed under the Circular order of 13th January (Western Provinces, 10th February,) 1837, are ministerial officers of the Zillah courts, it is competent to a zillah Judge to pass an order for the dismissal of an ameen, of his own authority, subject to the usual appeal allowed by law.—Con. 1271, West. C. 16th Jan., Cal. C. 2d Feb. 1840.

SECTION XXVII.

Stamps—on Deeds, Instruments and Writings.

460. In the judgment of the Honourable the Governor of Bengal, Section 2, Regulation 10 of 1829, must be held, as ruled by the Sudder court at Allahabad, to rescind Clause 7, Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, in common with all other parts of the existing Regulations relating to the imposition, levying and collecting of stamp duties.—Con. 987, Cal. and West. C. 17th Nov. 1835.

• Reg. 10, 1829 has repealed every previous reg. relative to stamp duties.

461. Stamp duties shall be levied, raised, and paid, as heretofore, upon the deeds, instruments, and writings, and according to the rates specified in the Schedule A. annexed to this Regulation, from and after the date of the promulgation thereof, and no deed, instrument or writing executed in any place whatsoever on the continent of India and relating to the payment or receipt of any sum of money, or to the sale, conveyance, assignment, or transfer of any property, real or personal, being within any province or place to which this Regulation extends, or of any interest in such property, or relating to any agreement, contract, obligation, engagement or settlement intended to have effect within any province or place as aforesaid, (such deed, instrument, or writing being of a description chargeable with stamp duty, under the rules of this or any other Regulation,) shall be pleaded, given in, or admitted in evidence, or otherwise received or filed in any Court of judicature or other public office, within the provinces subject to the Presidency of Fort William, unless the paper, vellum, or other material on which such deed, instrument, or writing may be written, shall be stamped with the stamp prescribed for such deed, instrument, or writing in the said schedule—and the schedule aforesaid shall be deemed and considered to be, to all intents and purposes, part of this Regulation.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

Stamp duties to be levied and paid on deeds as per sch. A.

No deed executed in any place on the continent of India shall be received in any native court unless written on paper bearing the prescribed stamp.

462. Provided however, that no exception shall be taken to any deed, instrument, or writing not executed on paper or other material bearing a stamp of the specific denomination prescribed in the schedule hereunto annexed, if such deed, instrument, or writing shall bear a stamp or stamps of an amount exceeding that so prescribed, or if when of a date anterior to the passing and promulgation of this Regulation, the stamp borne by the paper or other material of the deed, instrument, or writing corresponds with the rate of duty chargeable on the same, at the time when such deed or writing was executed.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

No exception on account of overvalue.

Nor to prior deeds if stamped as prescribed at the date of execution.

463. When a different stamp may be in use for Calcutta and for the interior, no exception shall be taken to any deed, document, or writing as bearing an undue stamp, because stamped with the Calcutta die when intended to have effect in the interior, provided the deed or document and the stamp impressed thereon be in other respects correct, and the amount of duty indicated by the stamp correspond with that prescribed in this Regulation.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Nor on account of a different die in use in Calcutta being impressed on a deed intended for the mofussil.

464. If any deed, instrument, petition, pleading or other writing, required to be written on stamped paper and written on the prescribed stamped paper, shall be filed, exhibited, or recorded in any Court of judicature or public cutcherry, or before any Judge, Collector, Register or other public officer, not bearing the signature and endorsement of a licensed stamp vender, (or not procured in the manner prescribed by this Regulation and duly certified to be so when not obtained from a licensed vender,) the person or persons filing, exhibiting, or recording the said deed, instrument, petition, pleading or writing, or causing or procuring it to be filed, exhibited, or recorded, shall forfeit a sum equal to five times the value of the said stamped paper; and if any deed, instrument, petition, pleading or document shall be filed, exhibited, or recorded as aforesaid, having a forged or counterfeit stamp or signature, the person filing, exhibiting, or recording such deed, instrument, or document, that is to say, the party or his agent who may have produced the same for the purpose of being filed, exhibited, or recorded, shall forfeit to Government a sum equal to twenty times the value of the stamp, which ought to have been used, unless the material on which the same may be executed, shall bear the signature and endorsement required by this Regulation, and the party shall be able to shew to the satisfaction of the zillah Judge, or Collector, or other officer conducting the enquiry on the part of Government as hereinafter directed, that the material stamped with a forged stamp was purchased or obtained on the date and in the manner specified on the back, or was otherwise procured in some manner prescribed or permitted by this Regulation.—If the said signature and date shall be duly endorsed on the back of the material stamped as aforesaid with a forged impression, and the proof adduced to the fact, and to the date of purchase, be deemed by the Judge or other officer before whom or in whose office the deed, instrument, or other writing may have been filed, exhibited, or recorded, to be sufficient, that officer, if not himself the Collector, shall transmit the document to the Collector with a communication of his judgment in the case, in order that proceedings may be instituted against the vender; and the Collector, on payment by the party of the established duty chargeable on account of the matter of the instrument or deed in question, shall forward it to the Superintendent of Stamps, in order that it may be duly stamped, the amount so paid being recoverable from the vender, or from any fine levied from him on account of the transaction.—Ibid, Sect. 13, Cl. 1.

Rules regarding the affixing of stamps to unstamped or inadequately stamped documents.

465. The Honourable the Deputy Governor of Bengal, in concurrence with the Honourable the President in Council, is pleased to resolve that the following Rule be adopted in modification of Clauses 4 and 5 of the “Rules regarding the Superintendence of Stamp Revenue and the powers of the Board and Revenue Commissioners,” prescribed in the Resolution of the Government, dated the 4th August, 1829.—Rule.—The authority vested in Commissioners of Revenue by the 4th and 5th clauses of the “Rules regarding the Superintendence of the Stamp Revenue and the powers of the Board and Revenue Commissioners,” prescribed in the Resolution of the Government, dated the 4th August, 1829, is hereby transferred to the Superintendent of Stamps, to which officer references by Collectors or other functionaries in charge of this branch of the revenue, regarding the affixing of stamps to unstamped or inadequately stamped documents shall be made. Collectors or other functionaries aforesaid; on the presentation of such documents to be stamped, are required to levy the penalty to which they consider them liable, in addition to the value of the stamp, or the difference of value when the document bears a stamp of inadequate amount. The documents are then to be transmitted to the Superintendent of Stamps, who, if he concurs in the award of the Collector or other officer by whom the documents have been transmitted, will cause them to be properly stamped and returned immediately to that officer. If the Superintendent shall see cause to differ from the Collector in opinion in regard to the amount of the stamp to be charged or the penalty to be awarded, he shall without delay refer the proceeding of the Collector, and the reasons for his difference of opinion with that officer, to the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, whose decision shall be final. In cases which come by this rule under the cognizance of the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, where the decision of the Collector shall be modified or reversed by that authority, the Collector will refund any surcharge or levy any additional penalty, according to the award recorded by the board. The board shall nevertheless continue in the exercise of the power with which it is vested by Clause 5 of the Rules that are hereby modified, to remit penalties in excess of the Government duty, whenever under the circumstances established before that authority, a party subjected to a penalty shall appear to be a fit object for the mitigation thereof.—Govt. Rules, 26th April 1843.

466. In modification of the rules contained in Construction No. 1161, (page 19 of printed Construction Book,) and Circular order dated 3d January, 1840, (printed ed. vol. 3, part 3,) which are hereby cancelled, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces prescribe for the future guidance of the courts under their respective jurisdictions, the rules which follow.—Cir. Ord. 7th Jan. 1842.

467. It is discretionary with a Civil court to give a reasonable time to a party presenting a document requiring a stamp, but written on plain paper, to apply to the revenue authorities for the purpose of having it stamped. The above is to be considered only applicable, as regards defendants, to the occasion of a defendant presenting such a document, on which his defence is founded, or by which it is supported, when the ends of justice may appear to require the indulgence being granted, and, in respect to plaintiffs, to very special cases, as rare exceptions to the general rule, which should be to nonsuit a plaintiff, presenting a document of the above description either as the ground of his claim, or in support thereof. Whenever the indulgence is granted, the special reasons for according it should be distinctly stated in a separate proceeding.—Ibid, par 1.

Cases in which time is to be given to parties to apply for affixing a stamp to the unstamped documents they present.

468. It is discretionary with a Civil court to give a reasonable time to a party presenting a document bearing an improper stamp to apply to the revenue authorities for the purpose of having the proper stamp affixed. The above should be the general rule when such a course is thought necessary for the ends of justice, and the refusal to give time in such cases should form the exception.—Ibid, par. 2.

Civil court may at its discretion allow time for affixing a proper stamp to a document inadequately stamped.

469. The principle of the two foregoing rules, and the remarks appended thereto, is to be held applicable respectively to cases in which documents written on plain paper, or on a stamp of inadequate value, may have been already filed.—Ibid, par. 3.

These rules apply to documents which may already have been filed.

470. The courts shall reject at once documents presented in miscellaneous cases of the sort described in Rules 1 and 2, whether written on plain paper, or insufficient stamp.—Ibid, par. 4.

Documents in miscellaneous cases to be rejected if unstamped or inadequately stamped.

471. A deed is admissible as evidence in a Court of justice upon which the proper stamp Admission of a deed in evidence which has been stamped by order of any commissioner of revenue. has been affixed under the orders of any Commissioner of Revenue, on the representation of any Collector subordinate to his authority.—Ibid, par. 5.

The civil courts cannot decide on the powers of the revenue authorities in respect of each other.

472. It is not the province of the Civil courts to decide upon the powers of the revenue officers in respect to each other, but if a deed, when presented to a court bears the proper stamp, it should be received in evidence, without a question being admitted as to the competency of the authority by whose orders such stamp was affixed.—Ibid, par. 6.

A deed declared by the revenue authorities exempt from stamp duty must be received by the courts.

473. The Judge of Dacca having directed the return of a document written on plain paper, in order to have a stamp affixed, which the revenue authorities were of opinion did not require a stamp, it was held, on a reference from the former officer, that as the law vests the revenue local authorities, and the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, with the power of determining points of the kind mooted, a deed declared by such authority exempt from stamp duty, must be received by the courts.—Con. 1331, Cal. C. 1st, West. C. 15th April 1842.

Rule where a special appeal has been admitted in a case originally decided on a deed not stamped or inadequately stamped.

474. A special appeal having been admitted in a case originally decided on the evidence of a deed bearing an improper stamp, or requiring a stamp but written on plain paper, the decisions of both the lower courts should be set aside, and the Court of first instance directed to restore the case to its original number on the file, and after exercising its discretion in regard to granting or not granting the party who presented the deed an opportunity of remedying the defect in it in the mode laid down in Rules 1 and 2, (as either may apply,) to dispose of the case accordingly.—Ibid, par. 7.

Collector's receipt for penalties not sufficient, the document must be stamped.

475. The Collector's receipt for the amount of the penalty is not sufficient to legalize a document: it must be submitted to the Superintendent to be stamped.—Con. 6, 3d April 1805.

Merchants' account books need not be stamped.

476. In reply to your letter of the 7th ultimo, requesting the opinion of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut whether, with reference to Section 3, Regulation 10, 1829, and Schedule A. therein alluded to, account books kept by merchants and shop-keepers for money paid or received, or for goods delivered, &c. &c. and not written on stamped paper, are to be admitted or not as evidence in a Court of justice: I am directed to inform you, that there being no Regulation which requires account books to be written on stamped paper, the Court are of opinion, that they should be considered admissible as evidence, although written on unstamped paper.—Con. 592, 6th May 1831.

Bhye-khata, or account books need not be stamped.

477. I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that account books (khatabuhees) cannot be considered to fall within the description of any of the documents required to be written on stamped paper, by the provisions of Section 11, Regulation 1, 1814.—Con. 275, 2d July 1817.

When a person affixes his name as security for a balance, at the foot of an account in a banker's account book, the leaf in the account book must be stamped to make the security available.

478. I am directed by the Court to forward their reply to the question contained in yours of the 29th of the preceding month.—Question.—An account of a party is made up, and the balance struck and stated, according to established usage, at the foot of the sheet in the bhye-khata or banker's book of account: a third party renders himself responsible for the eventual adjustment of such balance, by affixing his name in the capacity (to all intents and purposes) of security for the debtor's discharge of the creditor's claim. Will the guarantee as above described, of the third party, be vitiated by the fact of the said security, &c. being on unstamped paper?—Answer.—To make the security available to the claimant, the leaf in the account book on which it is written must be stamped (as it still may be under Section 14, Regulation

10, 1829.) At the same time, in the event of that course not being adopted, it rests with the claimant, in order to derive benefit from the security, to adduce other sufficient evidence of its having been given, independently of the paper exhibiting it, which in its present state cannot be legally received in proof of the fact.—Con. 970, Cal. C. 7th Aug., West. C. 4th Sept. 1835.

479. Where in a separate leaf of a merchant's books an entry of a sum advanced to an individual has been made in the form of a bond by the debtor, bearing interest, and regularly signed and attested, the Court consider that the leaf having no stamp, the writing must be treated as a bond on plain paper ; and rejected in toto.—Con. 325, 18th Aug. 1820.

An entry in a merchant's account book, in the form of a bond duly signed and attested, must be rejected unless the leaf be stamped.

480. The Court having again had before them your letter, under date the 21st June last, direct me to inform you, that the Circular therein adverted to, (as is manifest as well from the preamble, as from the reference made in it to the letter addressed to the late Dacca Provincial court on the 18th August, 1820, No. 325 of the Construction book,) was intended merely to point out that bonds, tumusbooks, or other obligations for the payment of money, entered in merchants' books could not be received, as such, in evidence in a civil suit, unless the paper on which they were engrossed, bore the stamp prescribed for instruments of that nature in Article 7, Schedule A, Regulation 10 of 1829, and not in any way to prohibit the admission of books of account as evidence in like manner as heretofore, it being expressly laid down in the letter written to the Judge of zillah Tipperah on the 6th May, 1831, No. 592 of the Construction book, that there being no Regulation requiring account books to be written on stamped paper, they should be considered admissible as evidence, although written on unstamped paper, which Construction it certainly was not the intention of the Circular, referred to in your letter, to supersede.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 3d, Cal. C. 31st Aug. 1838.

Explanation of Con. 325 and 592.

481. Schedule (A) referred to in Section 3 of the Regulation, containing a specification of the duties chargeable on instruments of conveyance, contract, obligation, and security for money, and on deeds in general.

1. AGREEMENT, IKRAR, or any minute, or memorandum of an agreement concerning any matter or thing, not otherwise charged it this schedule, nor expressly exempted from all stamp duty, whether the same be only evidence of a contract or obligatory upon the party — if relating to matters capable of valuation, and with the value stated,

To be charged as hereunder prescribed for bonds of the same amount.

2. AGREEMENT for a monthly or annual payment,

To be estimated as the amount of ten years' payment, or of the total sum secured, if less.

3. AGREEMENT to perform any legal act, or for a purpose not restricted to, or specifying any amount,

To be executed on such stamp as the parties may determine, but no recovery can be made on the instrument in any court of justice of a larger amount than may be covered by the stamp at the rate prescribed in the schedule for bonds.

EXEMPTIONS.

Memorandum of agreement for the hire of labour.

Ditto all agreements carried on by letter through the public dawk between merchants and other persons.

4. BILLS OF EXCHANGE, DRAFTS, PROMISSORY NOTES, HOONDEES, TEEPS, BURATS, and other orders or obligations for the payment of money, payable (if payable within the provinces subordinate to this Presidency) at sight, or on demand, or at the periods specified below (not being deeds, instruments, or writings, bearing the attestation of one or more witnesses,) together with all bills of exchange payable out of the said provinces at whatever date.

						At sight or on demand, or not exceeding three months, to be charged.			Exceeding three months after date, and not exceeding one year, to be charged.

and a further duty of 100 rupees for every sum of one lakh in excess of the said amount of two lakhs of rupees.

The fact of two or more distinct debts due by different individuals being included in the same stamp does not vitiate the deed, if the stamp be sufficient to cover the whole amount of the sum lent.

483. I have the honour to solicit the Court's construction, as to the legality of a Judge receiving a tumusook filed by a plaintiff suing for the amount, wherein money is stated to be lent to two persons unconnected with each other. Thus five rupees in the bond is stated to be lent to A. and twenty-nine rupees to B. ; these persons are as far as I can judge unconnected, and even unknown to each other ; it is in evidence the loans are embodied in one bond to evade the stamp duty the bond comes under, (on account of its date, Regulation 1 of 1814,) which prescribes that bonds for these two sums should be written on paper of the value of two annas each. If I admit this document and decree on it, I afford means of defeating the intent of the Stamp Regulation.—I am directed by the Court to inform you that, provided the value of the stamp be sufficient, under the Regulation in force at the time the bond was executed, to cover the total amount of thirty-four rupees, the fact of two distinct and separate debts, one of five and the other of twenty-nine rupees, due by different individuals, being engrossed thereon, would not vitiate the deed.—Con. 1087, West. C. 23d March, Cal. C. 21st April 1837.

Claim to recover a debt on a bond written on an improper stamp, rejected.

484. Claim to recover a debt on bond rejected, it appearing that the stamped paper on which the bond was executed in the year 1813, was of the kind prescribed for use by Regulation 6, 1797, which had been altered by order of the Board of Revenue, in 1801.—S. D. A. Spl. Rep. 5th April 1824, vol. 3, p. 328.

The principal of a loan, without the interest payable thereon, will regulate the value of the stamped paper on which the deed must be written.

485. In the case of bonds or other engagements for a principal sum of money, bearing interest, whether the amount of interest payable at the expiration of the stipulated period be specified in the bond, or other engagement, or not, the principal of the loan being the immediate sum advanced, and for which it is executed, without the interest payable at a future period, is meant to regulate the value of the stamped paper, on which the deed is required to be executed by the provisions of Section 11, Regulation 1, 1814.—Cir. Ord. 20th April 1818.

486. Question 1st.—The sicca rupee being abolished, are all accounts in future, in suits filed in court, to be settled at par, or where the agreement was in sicca rupees, is the calculation to be made at Company's rupees 106-10-8 per 100 siccas?—Answer.—The question supposes that the agreement is for value and not for specific coins. The calculation will therefore be made at 106-10-8 Company's for 100 siccas, i. e. the intrinsic difference.—Con. 1151, 27th April 1838.

in suits filed in court is in sa. rs., it is to be calculated at 106-10-8 co.'s rs.

487. Question 2d.—From the 1st January in the present year, are parties to be allowed to write bonds, deeds, &c. in sicca rupees, and then take exchange at Company's rupees 106-10-8, or must all agreements be drawn out in Company's rupees?—Answer.—It is not necessary that bonds, &c. should be drawn out in Company's rupees; they may be drawn in siccas, and then, if for value, they will fall under the last question. If for specific coin (as where a man may covenant to deliver so many coins of the sicca currency, or so many dollars,) the payment must be in the coin covenanted.—Ibid.

Bonds need not be drawn out in co.'s rs. If drawn in siccas, and for value, the siccas must be converted into co.'s rs. If for specific coins, the payment must be in the coin covenanted.

EXEMPTIONS.

ARBITRATION BONDS.

BONDS, given to or by the officers of Government on account of any matter, or thing of, or belonging to the Government in its political or territorial capacity.

No. 13. SECURITY BONDS, which may be taken by or by order of any court, Collector, or other judicial or revenue authority, also razeenamahs, soolunamahs and rufflanamahs, filed in any suit pending in a Court of justice, } To be charged as specified and prescribed in Schedule B. for law papers.

488. In reply to the first question contained in your letter, the Court have directed me to communicate to you their opinion, that a person becoming security for the payment of a bond, and affixing his name to the deed in recognition of his responsibility, is liable to be sued as a party with the principal, the transaction being as it were a joint one; and that it is not necessary to the admissibility of an action against him, that he should have entered into a regular security bond, on separate stamped paper of the same value as that of the original obligation.—Con. 341, 1st June 1821, par. 2.

A person affixing his name to a bond as security, may be sued as a party with the principal; it is not necessary to his being sued that he should have given a regular security bond, on a separate stamped paper.

489. It has been brought to the notice of the Court that a practice obtains in some districts, of admitting as legal evidence security bonds written on the same sheet of paper with the principal deed where the stamp used was only of the value required for the latter instruments. As this practice is clearly erroneous, and deeds of the kind alluded to are wholly inadmissible as evidence against securities, the Court deem it proper to call your attention to the rule, and to request that you will make it known to the lower courts.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 27th Oct., West. C. 1st Dec. 1837.

Security bonds written on the same sheet of paper with the principal deed, of the stamp required for the latter, not admissible as evidence.

490. I am directed to request that will submit, for the consideration of the Calcutta Court, the accompanying copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Mynpooree, under date the 9th instant, relative to the Circular of the 27th October last, which originated with the Calcutta Court on the subject of security bonds. Mr. Begbie, it will be observed, considers the construction laid down in the Circular in question, opposed to that contained in the letter written to the Judge of the Jungle Mehals, under date the 21st June, 1821, No. 341, of the printed construction book. The Court direct me, however, to remark, that the construction adverted to by Mr. Begbie, referred to the case of a person becoming security for the payment of a sum of money, and Reconciliation of the apparent incompatibility of Con. 341, and the C. O. 27th October, given above.

No. 14. CHARTER PARTIES, or any AGREEMENT of CONTRACT for the charter of any ship or vessel, or any memorandum, letter, or other writing between the captain, master, or owner of any ship or vessel, and any other person, for or relating to the freight or conveyance of any money, goods or effects on board of such ship or vessel, ...

If the amount payable under the deed exceeds one thousand rupees, eight rupees—and if less than one thousand rupees, according to the scale prescribed for bonds.

Charter parties of ships or vessels taken up by Government for the conveyance of troops or military stores, or for other political purposes.

EXEMPTIONS.

All grants, leases, sales, or the like, wherein Government, in its political or territorial capacity, is a party.

Note.—This exemption shall not extend to sales made for the recovery of arrears of revenue or rent, or in satisfaction of decrees of court, in which cases the purchasers shall be required to pay the prescribed duty along with the purchase-money, and shall receive from the officer conducting the sale, a deed of sale (bynama,) executed on paper impressed with a corresponding stamp.

EXEMPTIONS CONTINUED.

All transfers of subscriptions to any of the Government loans, or other Government securities, also of bank shares.

491. Certain lessees of the ghaut dues have petitioned to be relieved of the expence of having their kubooliyuts and security papers drawn out on stamped paper. On referring to the Stamp Regulation 10 of 1829, I find it stated in Schedule A, under the title of conveyances, that "all grants, leases, sales or the like, wherein Government in its political or territorial capacity is a party," shall be exempted from the duties thereby declared generally applicable. I conclude that the ghaut renters are to be considered as holding "leases from Government, in its territorial capacity," and that they are accordingly entitled to the exemption above noticed; but as it has been the practice hitherto to employ stamped paper in this matter, I beg to refer the point for your decision.—In reply to your letter of the 21st August last I am directed by the Court to inform you that the case alluded to therein comes within the meaning of the exemption in Schedule A of Regulation 10 of 1829, and that the engagements, which the farmers of Government property are obliged to enter into, are not required to be drawn up on stamped paper.—*Con. 1111, West. Applications for copies are to be made on stamped paper, and the copy is to be written on one side only of the stamped paper.

492. The Court are of opinion that from the rules laid down in Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, it appears to have been the intention of Government that both the application for the copy (of proceeding or order) and the copy itself should be on stamped paper: the stamped paper assigned for the application being of a different value from that on which the copy is to be written. Sections 3 and 7 of the schedule seem to point out this construction as that which was intended by the Government; and this view of the subject is confirmed by Section 5 of the same schedule, which requires that even exhibits shall be accompanied by a petition when filed on the proceedings of a regular suit; it is also declared in Section 3, that the copy shall be written on one side thereof only.—*Con. 773, West. 31. The COUNTERPART of any LEASE, i. e. the KUBOOLİYUT, or the like, ...

Shall be executed on paper, vellum or parchment, bearing the same stamp as the original.

EXEMPTIONS.

All leases, where the annual rent shall not exceed twelve rupees.

All leases, or pottahs given by authority of Government, or of the Board of Revenue, with their counterparts, and all security bonds, executed as part of the same transactions; also all leases, viz. pottahs and kubooliyuts, executed and exchanged with ryots, and other actual cultivators of the soil.

Note.—Leases, pottahs, kubooliyuts, or other instruments of contract between zemindars, talookdars or other holders or proprietors of land, whether subject to the payment of revenue to Government or otherwise, or between farmers, kutkenadars, ijaradars or other tenants on one hand, and any other talookdar, kutkenadar, ijaradar or other leaseholder intermediate between the ryots or actual cultivators and the sudder malgoozar or lakhirajdar on the other, ...

Shall be written on stamped paper of the value above prescribed for leases.

494. In reply to your letter of the 12th instant I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to inform you, that all leases and counterparts (pottahs and kubooliyuts) granted to or taken from the actual cultivators of the soil should, under the exemptions needed in Article 31 of Schedule A, Regulation 10 of 1829, be written on unstamped paper whether Government be or be not a party in the transaction.—Con. 635, 20th May 1831.

All pottahs and kubooliyuts are to be written on unstamped paper.

495. The same principle is applicable to mortgage bonds, and all deeds of mortgage for the security of money lent, not amounting to an absolute sale, viz. the principal sum advanced, and specified in the bond, or other deed, without any contingent interest, may be assumed as the value of the mortgaged property, for the purpose of determining the stamped paper to be used for the mortgage bond, or other deed of mortgage.—*Cir. All receipts for money under 50 rs. paid by the civil courts, if that be the full amount in deposit, and not a fractional part, must be given on plain paper.

observe that such receipts should, under Article 45, Schedule A, Regulation 10, 1829, be exempted from stamp duty; provided the sum paid on the receipt be the full amount in deposit, and not a fractional part only of a sum, subdivided with a view to evade payment of the stamp duty.—Cir. Ord. 5th Aug. 1836.

Dukhilnamahs need not be on stamped paper.

498. Dukhilnamahs taken from parties put in possession of houses, lands, &c. under a decree of court, need not be written on stamped paper.—Con. 870, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 27th March 1834.

Acknowledgments of partial payments not to be on stamped paper.

499. Acknowledgments of partial payments of instalments are not required each to be written on stamped paper. [Receipts above fifty rupees are required by Schedule A, Regulation 10, 1829, to be written on stamped paper.]—Con. 341, 1st June 1821.

A receipt of the purchase money for a house, or other real property, must be written on a separate acknowledgment of the prescribed stamp.

500. In the transfer by sale of a house or other real property, an acknowledgment by the seller of the receipt of the purchase money, written on the back of the original deed, is not sufficient. A separate acknowledgment (kubsool wusool) should be executed on the prescribed stamp, before it can be received in evidence in the course of a suit on the subject of such transfer.—Ibid.

No. 46. SETTLEMENTS, MARRIAGE SETTLEMENTS, &c. viz.

Any deed or instrument, whereby any sum or sums of money or any Government securities, or other property, real or personal, shall be settled or agreed to be settled upon, or for the benefit of any person or persons in any manner whatsoever,

Shall be charged with the ad valorem duty chargeable for a bond for the amount of value settled, or agreed to be settled, or in cases in which the value shall be indeterminate at the rate chosen by the parties under the rule and condition prescribed for bonds and agreements.

DEEDS of GIFT and DOWER, whether to take effect on the instant or at a future period, determinate or indeterminate,

Shall be charged as deeds of settlement.

Deeds of hibeh-bila-ewuz must be charged with a stamp as "agreements."

501. I am directed to inform you that deeds of hibeh-bila-ewuz should, as directed in Article 46 of Schedule A, Regulation 10, 1829, be charged as "agreements" (Article 3, Schedule A,) with such stamp as the parties may determine.—Con. 836, West. C. 11th Oct., Cal. C. 8th Nov. 1833.

. EXEMPTIONS.

Wills, testaments, and the like, together with deeds merely declaratory of trust, pursuant to any previous settlement, deed or will.

GENERAL EXEMPTION AND RULE.

Deeds, instruments and writings of any kind, in which Government, or any board, commission, court, or public officer of Government may, in a public capacity be a party, shall not be chargeable with any stamp duty, save and except deeds, instruments, and writings relating to matters of, or belonging to the commercial department, or on account of any commercial concern of, or belonging to the Honourable Company, which shall be written on stamped paper of the same value as is or may be prescribed for the like deeds or instruments in the case of private individuals.

Note.—The foregoing exemption shall not extend to deeds, instruments and writings executed to or by the Court of Wards, local agents or officers acting under their authority, such transactions being liable to a stamp duty like the transactions of individuals.

GENERAL RULE.

If any deed, instrument, or document specified in this schedule shall not be contained in one sheet or piece of paper or other material, it shall suffice that one sheet shall bear the stamp, provided that the signature or seals of the parties and witnesses be thereupon.

SECTION XXVIII.

Stamps on Law Papers.

502. In addition to the duties chargeable on deeds, instruments, and writings specified in Schedule A, there shall further be levied, raised and paid, as heretofore, in the provinces subject to the Presidency of Fort William, duties on law papers, viz. petitions of plaint, pleadings and the like at the rates and in the manner prescribed in Schedule B, which, with the rules and provisions therein included, shall be deemed and taken to be part of this Regulation, and no papers shall be filed, exhibited, received or admitted in any Court of judicature of the description stated in the schedule to require a stamp, unless the same shall be duly stamped.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sect. 17.

Stamp duties on law papers.

Schedule (B) referred to in Section 17 of the Regulation, containing the specification of duties chargeable on law papers.

503. 1. BAIL-BONDS, MUCHULKAS, RECOGNIZANCES, SECURITY BONDS, (hazir or fial zamin) whether of specified amount, or with a penalty of a specific sum of money, or of indefinite amount, when furnished and filed under special order of a Court of justice, civil or criminal, or of any officer exercising judicial powers,

To be charged as petitions to the court or authority ordering the same.

When executed between individuals not by order of court, { To be charged as bonds. See Schedule A.

EXEMPTION.

Muchulkas taken on the release of prisoners from the Foujdaree or criminal jail.

504. It has been brought to the notice of the Court that a practice obtains in some districts, of admitting as legal evidence security bonds written on the same sheet of paper with the principal deed, where the stamp used was only of the value required for the latter instrument. As this practice is clearly erroneous, and deeds of the kind alluded to are wholly inadmissible as evidence against sureties, the Court deem it proper to call your attention to the rule, and to request that you will make it known to the lower courts.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 27th Oct., West C. 1st Dec. 1837.

Security bonds must not be written on the same sheet with the principal deed, and of the stamp required for it.

505. Held, that the object of the Circular order of the 27th October, 1837, regarding security bonds written on the same sheet of paper with the principal deed, and bearing the stamp required for the latter instrument, was to explain the law on the subject for the protection of

But such security bonds are not inadmissible, if the proper steps be taken to legalize them.

the interests of the Government, and not to declare deeds drawn up under those circumstances inadmissible, provided the proper measures were taken to have them legalized. Parties holding such documents are at liberty to apply to the revenue authorities, under Section 14, Regulation 10, 1829, to have a stamp affixed to the deeds so as to make them legal evidence in courts of law.—Con. 1147, 27th April 1838.

Muchulkas and recognizances from prosecutors and witnesses may be taken on plain paper.

506. The Court are of opinion that under the terms of exemption contained in Schedule B: viz. "Muchulkas and recognizances taken from prosecutors and witnesses to secure attendance at criminal trials," the muchulkas in question may be taken upon plain paper.—Con. 679, West. C. 7th March, Cal. C. 18th May 1832.

Security bonds from police officers should be on plain paper.

507. I am directed by the Court of Nizamut adawlut for the Western Provinces to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2d instant, with its enclosures, on the subject of security bonds taken by Police officers under the Regulations.—In reply, I am directed to inform you that the Court are of opinion, that such documents should be drawn out on unstamped paper.—Con. 710, West. C. 10th Aug., Cal. C. 14th Sept. 1832.

No. 2. COPIES—of DECREES in all regular suits for an amount exceeding one hundred and fifty rupees, calculated in the manner explained under the head "Plaint."

When passed in the courts of the Registers, or zillah and city Judges, or by Sud-

der Ameens empowered to decide the same,	1	0

Reg. 3, 1817, sec. 2, rescinded.

508. Section 2, Regulation 3, 1817,* is hereby rescinded: and the exemptions contained in the foregoing clause shall not be held applicable to any original suits or appeals of whatever amount which may be instituted in the Zillah or City courts, subsequently to the date fixed for the operation of this Regulation, whether those suits be tried by the zillah or city Judges, or be referred by them for trial to the Sudder Ameens or Registers.—Reg. 5, 1831; Sect. 9, Cl. 3.

No suits, however small the amount, instituted in the zillah courts are exempt from the stamp duty.

509. The Court having reason to believe that a practice prevails in several of the Courts of civil judicature in the Lower Provinces, of granting copies of decrees and other documents connected with suits involving an amount not exceeding 150 rupees on unstamped paper, under the supposition that they still come within the exemptions specified in articles 2, 4, 5 and 9, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, [which exemptions have been omitted, as having been superseded,] the modifications of those rules contained in Clause 3, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, notwithstanding; I am directed to call your attention to the last-mentioned enactment, and to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that under its provisions no suits, however small the amount, which are instituted in the Zillah courts, shall be held exempt from the stamp duty, whether eventually referred to the subordinate authorities, or retained on the Judge's file.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 24th Jan. 1834.

* The provisions of Clause 4, Section 25; Clause 3, Section 29; Clause 1, Section 38, Regulation 23, 1814, are extended to all suits, not exceeding in value 64 rupees, instituted in Zillah and City courts whether tried there or by Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 3, 1817, Sect. 2.

No. 3. COPIES—of REVENUE and JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS, of ACCOUNTS, STATEMENTS, REPORTS, or the like, filed on record and taken out for use or reference, or when left on proceedings in place of originals withdrawn, per sheet,

And each sheet shall be of a size not exceeding that fixed for copy paper, (No. 3 of the Stamp office,) and shall be written on one side thereof only.

510. The Court are of opinion that from the rules laid down in Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, it appears to have been the intention of Government that both the application for the copy (of proceeding or order,) and the copy itself should be on stamped paper: the stamped paper assigned for the application being of a different value from that on which the copy is to be written. Sections 3 and 7 of the schedule seem to point out this construction as that which was intended by the Government; and this view of the subject is confirmed by Section 5 of the same schedule, which requires that even exhibits shall be accompanied by a petition when filed on the proceedings of a regular suit: it is also declared in Section 3, that the copy shall be written on one side thereof only.—Con. 773. West. C. 29th March, Cal. C. 26th April 1833.

Applications for copies are to be made on stamped paper, and the copy is to be written on one side only of the paper

511. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from Mr. W. Dent, late Judge of the district of Behar, dated the 30th April last, and to inform you, in reply to the question therein proposed, that Government have been pleased, on a reference made to them, to determine that copies of deeds and other exhibits or papers not being proceedings, accounts, statements, or the like, provided for by Article 2, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, should when made for record in the courts in lieu of originals returned to the parties, be written on plain paper.—Cur. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d Jan. 1835.

Copies of deeds and other exhibits or papers not being those indicated above in No. 3, when made for record, must be on plain paper

512. Held on a reference from the officiating Judge of Hooghly, that copies or extracts of merchants' accounts and books, to be kept with the record, must be made on stamps of the value of eight annas per sheet.—Con. 1372, Cal. C. 20th Jan., West. C. 6th Feb. 1843.

Copies or extracts from merchants' accounts and books, intended for record must be on stamps of the value of 8 annas per sheet.

EXEMPTIONS.

All charges, and informations respecting crimes and offences, not bailable under the Regulations.

Petitions from prisoners, convicts, persons under examination, or otherwise in duress, or under restraint of the court or its officers.

Petitions of appeal presented to Magistrates against Chowkeedary assessment.

Communications made to Magistrates in regard to Police matters not intended for record.

Petitions to Collectors or officers making settlements, relating to matters connected with the assessment of lands, the ascertainment of rights or to other matters affecting the settlement of the Government revenue on lands, if presented pending the formation of such settlements.

Petitions to boards or Commissioners of revenue relating to the same.

Miscellaneous petitions before the moonsiffs need not be on stamped paper.

513. On a reference from the Judge of zillah Chittagong, dated the 21st May, (last paragraph,) the Court gave it as their opinion, on the 17th August, 1817, "that as the courts of the Registers, zillah and city Judges, Provincial courts, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut only are specified in these sections the provisions in them could not be considered applicable to the Native Commissioners."—Con. 183, 17th Aug. 1814.

Petitions claiming property in moonsiffs' courts under reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, cl. 4, must be on plain paper.

514. The Court are of opinion that a petition, putting in a claim to a share of the property sued for in consequence of a notice issued under clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, should be considered as an application "in relation to matters pending" before the court, and that, with reference to the omission of the Moonsiffs in Article 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, and to the provisions of clause 2, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, such application in the courts of the Moonsiffs should not be written on stamped paper.—Con. 706, Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 17th Aug. 1832.

Applications for money deposited in court must be on stamped paper, unless when payment has been specifically ordered.

515. Applications for the payment of money deposited in court must in every case be made on stamped paper, as a record, unless a specific order should, at the same time, have been passed for the payment of the amount.—Con. 1093, Cal. and West. C. 9th June 1837.

Application by a pauper appellant, to stay execution of a decree given against him pending appeal

516. A question having arisen in a case, now depending before the court, as to whether an application from a pauper appellant to stay the execution of the decree given against him, pending the appeal, is admissible on plain paper, I am directed to request that you will submit the point for the consideration of the Calcutta Court. The Court are of opinion, that as applications of the nature of that abovementioned, are not included amongst the exceptions, contained in Section 8, Regulation 28, 1814, which distinctly specifies the description of papers on which the stamp duties are to be remitted to paupers, they must be drawn out on stamped paper of the value prescribed for petitions presented to the courts in which they may be filed. The Court direct me to add that this principle has already been acted upon in regard to vakalut-namals where the pauper may himself appoint a vakeel, as well as in respect to security bonds filed under Section 6, Regulation 28, 1814, and it appears to them equally applicable to petitions presented to the court for the purpose before stated. The Court propose accordingly to adopt it as a rule of future practice.—Con. 1132, West. C. 16th Feb., Cal. C. 9th March 1838.

must be written on stamped paper.

517. Parties objecting to the transfer and sale of property in execution of decrees, may petition the Moonsiffs' courts on plain paper.—Con. 1278, West. C. 5th June, Cal. C. 26th June 1840.

Parties objecting to the transfer or sale of property in execution of decrees may petition moonsiffs on plain paper.

518. Petitions in summary suits are to be taxed as petitions under Article 7, Schedule B.—Con. 583, 7th Jan. 1831.

Petitions in summary suits to be taxed as petitions under art. 7, as above.

519. The Court are of opinion, that the exemptions referred to should be construed to allow prisoners confined under civil process to petition on plain paper only in matters relating to their treatment in jail; and persons confined under criminal process, in matters relating to their treatment in jail, and the case in which they are confined.—Cir. Ord. 28th May 1830.

Prisoners confined in jail on civil process may petition on plain paper only in matters connected with their treatment in jail.

520. A difference of practice being understood to exist in respect to the value of stamp on which petitions under Article 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, are required to be written in the Zillah and City courts, the Court intimate, in consultation with the Sudder dewanny adawlut at Allahabad, that such petitions whether concerning matters before the Zillah and City courts, as such, or as possessing the jurisdiction once held by the Provincial courts, should be engrossed on an eight anna, and not a rupee stamp.—Cir. Ord. 27th April 1842.

All petitions to the zillah and city courts must be written on an 8 anna stamp.

521. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, enquiring on what stamped paper security bonds for costs of suits, &c. entered into by order of a Civil court should be written, under the provisions of Regulation 10 of 1829; and to inform you in reply, that such bonds should be written on the stamp prescribed in No. 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, for petitions presented to the Courts requiring the security.—Con. 555, 28th May 1830.

Security bonds for costs of suit, &c. entered into by order of a civil court should be written on the stamp prescribed for petitions presented to the court requiring the security.

522. The Court observe that the Regulations make no exception in favour of such petitions [that is, petitions of complaint preferred under Regulation 2, 1814, against the officers of Government in their official capacity,] and they are, therefore, of opinion that it was intended they should be written, when first presented, on stamped paper of the value in like manner with all other plaints.—Con. 1116, Cal. and West. C. 8th Dec. 1837.

Petitions of complaint under reg. 2, 1814, must be written on stamped paper of the same value as other plaints.

No. 9. PLEADINGS—JUDICIAL—Every ANSWER, REPLICATION, REJOINDER, and SUPPLEMENTARY PLEADING, filed in any suit, shall be written as follows :

In the courts of the Register or Sudder Ameen, on paper of value,	0	8
In the Zillah and City court,	1	0
In the Provincial courts of appeal, and in the Sudder dewanny adawlut,	4	0

Note.—The pleadings in the Sudder and Mofussil special commissions, and other extraordinary courts, shall be regulated by the rules of practice established, or that may be established by those courts respectively.

Pleadings in the zillah and city court under reg. 5, 1831, to be written on paper of the value of 4 rs.

524. So much of the rule contained in Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, as prescribes that the pleadings in the courts of the zillah or city Judges shall be written on paper of one rupee value is hereby modified, and the pleadings in the courts of those officers shall be written on paper of the value of four rupees, wherever it has been or may be resolved to introduce the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, except in original suits for property not exceeding one thousand rupees in value or amount, and in cases of appeal from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs. In such cases, the pleadings shall continue to be written on stamped paper of only one rupee value.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 3.

The wujoohah-i appeal, if not stated in the petition of appeal, should be filed as a separate pleading on the stamp prescribed by art. 9, as above.

525. The fifth clause of Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814, which has not been rescinded by Regulation 10, 1829, or any other enactment, provides that the specific objections of a judgment appealed from, if not stated in the petition of appeal, shall be filed as a separate pleading. The value of the stamp to be used for such pleadings is laid down in Article 9, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829.—Con. 556, 28th May 1830.

526. I am directed to inform you that the exemption from stamp duty under Regulation 3, 1817, included all cases, in whatever courts tried, below 64 rupees. This was extended by Section 9, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, to cases not exceeding 150 rupees; by Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, cases tried before Moonsiffs to whatever amount are exempt from stamp. There is no subsequent enactment affecting this last rule. Clause 3, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, however, enacts that no suits, however small the amount, which are instituted in the Zillah court, shall be held exempt, whether eventually referred to the subordinate authorities or retained on the Judge's file. Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832, prescribes the amount of stamp in cases instituted in Zillah courts, viz. four rupees in cases above 1,000 rupees, and one rupee in original cases not above 1,000 rupees, as well as in appeals from Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs.—Con. 767, West. C. 8th, Cal. C. 29th March 1833.

Pleadings in all suits before moonsiffs are exempt from stamp. No suit instituted before a judge is thus exempt. Pleadings in zillah and city courts above 1,000 rs. must be written on a 4 rs. stamp; in original suits under that amount, and in appeal from S. ameens and moonsiffs on a 1 rs. stamp.

527. Pleadings in original suits exceeding 5,000 rupees, referred to the Principal Sudder Ameens are to be written on stamped paper of one rupee value; Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832, being applicable only to the courts of the zillah and city Judges.—Con. 1118, West. C. 15th Dec. 1837, Cal. C. 5th Jan. 1838.

Pleadings in original suits above 5,000 rs. referred to the P. S. A. must be on a stamp of 1 rs. value.

528. By Section 2, Regulation 10, 1829, all such Regulations then existing as relate to the imposition, levying and collecting of stamp duties, are rescinded; and by Section 17 of the same enactment the rules laid down in Schedule A and B are to be observed in future. In Schedule B, no exemption is to be found in favor of suits, either original or appeal, instituted in the established Courts of justice. The present is an appeal, preferred under Section 27, Regulation 2, 1819, to set aside a decision of the revenue authorities; and it follows therefore that the pleadings and other papers are liable, as in all other cases, to the full amount of stamp duty laid down in Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, subject to the modifications of subsequent enactments.—Con. 768, West. C. 15th, Cal. C. 29th March 1833.

In appeals from the decisions of collectors under reg. 2, 1819, the pleadings and other papers are liable to the same stamp duty as in other appeals.

529. I am directed to inform you that the Court are of opinion that appeals to the Judge from the decisions of Registers and Principal Sudder Ameens not being among the exceptions contained in Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832, the pleadings in all such cases should be written on stamped paper of the value of four rupees.—Con. 834, Cal. C. 4th Oct., West. C. 8th Nov. 1833.

Pleadings in appeal from the P. S. A. must be on a 4 rs. stamp.

No. 10. RAZEENAMAHS, RUFFANAMAHS, SOOLUNAMAHS, or the like, that is to say—

Any written application, whereby or according whereunto, a suit pending in a Civil court shall be adjusted, or be capable of adjustment without argument in court, an award of the presiding Judge, or other officer, Shall bear the stamp required for a pleading in the court wherein it may be filed.

If the suit be dismissed on such application before the pleadings have been completed, and the case called up, the plaintiff shall be entitled to claim from the court a certificate, stating the amount of stamp duty paid on the plaint, with specification of the number and endorsement of the paper filed, on presenting which to the Collector of the district, the plaintiff shall be entitled to receive back the entire amount of the said stamp duty—provided always, there be no exception taken to the paper or endorsement thereon.

If the pleadings have been completed, and the case has been called up for decision; or is on the list of causes ready for hearing, the plaintiff shall receive a certificate as above for half of the amount of stamp duty paid on the plaint.

If the adjustment by razeenamah or soolunamah be such as to require decree to pass on which process of execution can be taken out, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any refund of the stamp duty so paid.

Refund of the stamp duty can be sanctioned only when a razeenamah has been regularly filed.

530. I have the honour to request that you will obtain for me the opinion of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut on the following point, viz. whether the provisions of Section 10, Regulation 13, 1810, relative to the refund of the institution fee in cases adjusted by razeenamah, are to be considered as applicable to cases of dustburdaree, in which a plaintiff voluntarily relinquishes the prosecution of his claim.—In reply I am directed by the Court to inform you, that the refund of the stamp duty in lieu of the institution fee can only be sanctioned in cases in which a razeenamah has been regularly filed.—Con. 977, 28th Aug. 1835.

Unless the matter in dispute be completely adjusted, so that no farther interference of the court is necessary, the stamp duty is not to be refunded.

531. I am directed to take this opportunity of pointing out to you that the object of Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, in authorizing the courts in certain cases to refund to the plaintiff either the whole, or a portion of the stamp duty paid on the plaint, being to encourage, as much as possible, such a complete adjustment of the matter in dispute amongst the parties themselves out of court, as shall render it unnecessary for the court to exercise any further interference whatever in the case, and this object being obviously defeated where either party may apply to the court either to recover the costs of suit, or to do any other act of that nature, the plaintiff is not entitled in such cases, under the article in question, to the refund of any part of the stamp duty paid by him on the plaint. The Court see reason to believe that this distinction is not sufficiently attended to.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 3d Aug. 1838, par. 5.

No. 11. WITNESSES—PETITIONS or APPLICATIONS for the summoning or examination of witnesses, according to the number of persons named,
To be charged as exhibits.

And no witness shall be summoned or examined in a regular suit, unless his name is included in a petition or application in writing given in as above.

RULE.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed or considered to alter or affect the rules in force, in regard to paupers, nor to affect the remuneration to which Moonsiffs are, or may be entitled.

Constructions relative to Stamps for Exhibits and Lists of Witnesses.

A single petition may be admitted for several exhibits or summons, if the value of the stamp be equal to the duty established for each exhibit filed, or witness summoned.

532. A person wishing to file several exhibits, or to summon several witnesses, need not file a separate petition for each exhibit or summons. A single petition may be admitted for two or more exhibits or summons, provided the value of the stamp be sufficient to secure to Government the duty established for each exhibit filed or witness summoned.—Con. 145, 19th March 1814.

What has been considered a distinct exhibit would be admissible as such, whether composed of two or more sheets.

533. What has usually been considered as a distinct exhibit would be admissible as such under Section 15, Regulation 1, 1814, whether composed of two or more sheets.—Con. 146, 19th March 1814.

Copies of decrees in regular suits, whether the appeal be regular or special, if filed with the petition

534. A doubt having been entertained, whether copies of decrees and other documents filed with petitions for a special appeal, under Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814, should be considered liable to the rule contained in Section 15, Regulation 1, 1814, as modified by Section 22,

Regulation 26, 1814, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that all copies of decrees and other documents filed with petitions of appeal in regular suits, (whether the appeal be special or not,) must be considered within the rule above cited; with an exception to vakalutnamahs, and other documents exempted from the stamp duty on exhibits by Section 24, Regulation 26, 1814. The Court at the same time are of opinion, that Section 15, Regulation 1, 1814, and its modification in Section 22, Regulation 26, 1814, are not applicable to copies of decrees, or other documents, which may not be filed for record.—Con. 289, 16th March 1818.

535. On a reference from the Judge of zillah Bundlekund, dated 13th May, (paragraph 2,) "whether parties may be allowed to bring their own witnesses without making any application to the court, or whether it is intended that an application on stamped paper shall be made for every witness, whether summoned by the court, or offered to be produced by the parties;" the Sudder dewanny adawlut, adverting to the original object, declared in the preamble to Regulation 6, 1797, for the fee on summonses to witnesses, established by the first clause of Section 5 of that Regulation, and the provisions of Sections 15 and 16, Regulation 1, 1814, appearing to have been substituted for that clause, gave it as their opinion, on the 17th August, 1814, "that no witness could be examined in a regular suit without a durkhaust, as prescribed by Section 16 of Regulation 1, 1814."—Con. 182, 17th Aug. 1814.

536. The stamp duty for exhibits and lists of witnesses is not leviable in suits before Moonsiffs.—Con. 183, 17th Aug. 1814.

537. The stamp duty for exhibits and lists of witnesses is not leviable in summary suits.—Con. 187, 7th Sept. 1814.

538. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th instant, and in reply to refer you to the first clause of Section 20, Regulation 26, 1814, whereby the provisions of Section 16, Regulation 1, 1814, regarding applications for summoning witnesses, is expressly restricted to original regular suits and to appeals, regular or special, and declared not applicable to summary suits.—Con. 249, 15th May 1816.

539. All documents filed with petitions of appeal, except the vakalutnamah, the mooktar-namah under which the vakalutnamah may be executed, the security bond for costs, or for staying or enforcing execution, and the copy of the decree appealed, must be considered as exhibits, and accompanied by the usual petition on stamped paper. In applications for special appeal, the exhibit fee would not be required until, on the admission of the special appeal, the documents are filed with the record of the proceedings.—Con. 961, West. C. 26th June, Cal. C. 7th Aug. 1835.

540. Fees on exhibits and lists of witnesses in suits instituted prior to the operation of Regulation 5, 1831, should be adjusted by the Regulations applicable to such matters previous to the enactment of that Regulation.—Con. 764, West. C. 1st, Cal. C. 29th March 1833.

541. It was resolved, with the concurrence of the Calcutta Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that documents filed with applications for a review of judgment under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 26 of 1814, should be considered as exhibits, and made liable, as of appeal, must be liable to the rules of reg. 1, 1814, sec. 15; but not, if not filed for record.

Witnesses brought by a party without a summons cannot be examined without the usual application on stamped paper.

No stamp for exhibits and lists of witnesses in cases before moonsiffs.

Nor in summary suits.

Idem.

All documents filed with petitions of appeal, except the vakalutnamah, the mooktar-namah, the security bond and the copy of the decree must be accompanied with the usual petition on stamped paper. In special appeals the exhibit fee is not required till the documents are filed with the record.

How fees on exhibits and lists of witnesses in suits commenced before reg. 5, 1831, must be adjusted.

Documents filed with applications for review of judgment are exhibits and liable to stamped duty.

such, to the rule contained in Article 5, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, in the same manner as if they had been filed or entered on the proceedings of the original suit, or when it was before the court in appeal, whether regular or special.—Con. 1058, Cal. C. 21st Oct., West. C. 18th Nov. 1836.

All lists of witnesses must be charged as exhibits.

542. I am directed to observe that Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832, modifies Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, only so far as relates to the value of the stamp on which “pleadings” in suits in the Judge’s court shall be written, and that all “ism-nuveesees” or the names of witnesses must as heretofore be charged as “exhibits,” and written on stamped paper of the value of one rupee (see Articles 5 and 11, Schedule B.)—Con. 1088, Cal. C. 21st April, West. C. 12th May 1837.

In cases still pending before the S. D. A. if the zillah judge is ordered to take evidence on any point, the list of witnesses must be on a 2 rs. stamp; in cases sent back for re-trial, 1 rs. stamp.

543. In cases still pending before the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in which the court may direct the zillah Judge to take evidence on any particular point, the lists of witnesses filed before the Judge must be written on the same stamp as if they were filed in the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, i. e. two rupees. But in cases sent back to the zillah Judge for further investigation and re-trial, the lists must be written on a stamp of one rupee.—Ibid.

Miscellaneous Rule.

Mem. regarding the size and description of paper to be used for petitions or other documents.

544. It seems to the Vice President in Council, that the judicial officers, subject of course to the control of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the revenue officers, subject to that of the Revenue boards, will be competent to lay down as a rule of court, or of their respective kutcherries, the size and description of paper to be used for petitions, or for other documents and records of their offices, when there may be no provision on the subject in the Regulations for the department. These officers would of course consult the Superintendent of Stamps, and adapt their orders to his suggestions and to the means at his disposal of providing paper of the sizes required.—Suggestion of the Superintendent of Stamps.—On this subject I would recommend that the Sudder dewanny adawlut be requested to issue circular instructions to the different courts, desiring that the vakeels may be enjoined to use the smaller sized papers, commonly known as Nos. 5 and 6, for such purposes; [that is, for trivial purposes, such as stating the name of a witness who is to be summoned, or in filing exhibits.]—Civ. Ord. West. C. 10th Aug. 1832.

CHAPTER III.

TRIAL AND DECISION OF REGULAR SUITS.

SECTION I.

Language to be used in the Courts.

1. It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of December, 1837, it shall be lawful for the Governor General of India in Council, by an order in Council, to dispense either generally or within such local limits as may to him seem meet, with any provision of any Regulation of the Bengal code, which enjoins the use of the Persian language in any judicial proceeding or in any proceeding relating to the revenue, and to prescribe the language and character to be used in such proceedings.—Act XXIX. 1837, Sect. 1.

The G. G. in C. may dispense with any reg. which enjoins the use of the Persian language in judicial or revenue proceedings, and prescribe the language & character to be used.

2. And it is hereby enacted, that from the said day it shall be lawful for the said Governor General of India in Council, by an order in Council, to delegate all or any of the powers given to him by this Act, to any subordinate authority, under such restrictions as may to the said Governor General of India in Council seem meet.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

The G. G. in C. may delegate the powers given by this act, to any subordinate authority.

3. The President of the Council of India in Council having been pleased, on the 4th ultimo, in conformity with Section 2, Act XXIX. of 1837, to delegate to the Deputy Governor of Bengal all the powers given to the Governor General in Council by that Act, the Deputy Governor has resolved that in the districts comprised in the Bengal division of the Presidency of Fort William, the vernacular language of those districts shall be substituted for the Persian in judicial proceedings and in proceedings relating to the revenue, and that the period of twelve months from the 1st instant shall be allowed for effecting the substitution. His Honour is sensible that this great and salutary reform must be introduced with caution, involving as it does the complete subversion of an old and deeply-rooted system. He therefore vests the various heads of departments with a discretionary power to introduce it into their several offices and those respectively subordinate to them, by such degrees as they may think judicious, only prescribing that it shall be completely carried into effect within the period above mentioned.—Cir. Ord. 9th Feb. 1838.

In the districts of the Bengal presidency, the vernacular language will be substituted for the Persian in 12 months.

4. It being desirable that the proceedings of the Civil and Criminal courts recorded in the vernacular, should be generally intelligible, by the adoption of a style equally removed from the colloquial and that employed by the pundits, I am directed to request that you will pay particular attention to the subject, and refer your head ministerial officers, and the uncovenanted Judges under your control, to the Bengalee version of the Regulations of 1793 in regard both to the style which should be made use of by them and the terms which usually occur in legal proceedings.—Cir. Ord. 2d April 1841.

The Bengalee version of the regulations of 1793 to be the standard both of style and of terms.

The proceedings of the assistant of the G. G.'s agent at Hazareebaugh will be written in Oordoo.

5. I am directed to request that all proceedings addressed to the assistant to the Governor General's Agent stationed at Hazareebaugh or Lohardugga, may be written in the Oordoo language.—Cir. Ord. 23d Nov. 1838.

[The three following Rules, Nos. 6, 7 and 8, apply only to the Western Provinces.]

In the West. prov. the Hindoostanee will be substituted for the Persian in all civil proceedings, but the papers may be accompanied with a Persian translation.

6. The court direct that, from the 1st of July next, the use of Persian in all civil proceedings, pleadings, petitions, and writings of whatsoever description, both in your own and the subordinate courts, be abandoned, and the Hindoostanee substituted in lieu of it—this rule not being, however, construed to prohibit parties, who may desire it, from presenting, nor the Judge from receiving, such Hindoostanee pleadings, petitions, and other writings, with the accompaniment of a Persian translation.—Cir. Ord. 19th April 1839, par. 2.

The pleadings and proceedings must be recorded in clear intelligible Oordoo.

7. It is the wish of Government that care should be taken, especially on first introducing the measure, that the pleadings and proceedings be recorded in clear intelligible Oordoo, (or Hindee where that dialect is current,) and that the Native ministerial officers, hitherto accustomed to write a somewhat impure Persian, do not merely substitute a Hindoostanee for a Persian verb at the end of a sentence, under the mistaken idea that such a practice will be considered as fulfilling every object in view in making the change.—Ibid, par. 4.

A written Hindoostanee style and phraseology of a certain standard of correctness to be exacted from the vakeels; papers not written in a clear and legible character will be rejected.

8. In the same manner it behoves you to be equally cautious, and to impress the necessity of the like caution on the several Native judicial officers under you, with respect to exacting from the vakeels and pleaders, and generally all parties moving the court, first, a written Hindoostanee style and phraseology of a certain standard of correctness—such, for example, as a well-bred Native, not familiar with Persian, may adopt in common discourse; and secondly, the strict use and observance of a clear and legible written character in all manuscript papers filed in the courts, under a declared penalty of their rejection if this rule be not adhered to; requiring, also, particular attention to the latter point from the officers of the courts. The Court are satisfied that the exercise of some care at first in the above particulars is calculated to prevent much future embarrassment, labor, and delay.—Ibid, par. 6.

Oordoo will be the language of record in all proceedings of the S. D. A. and S. N. A.

9. The Court resolve, with the sanction of His Honour the Deputy Governor, that the Oordoo language shall in future be the language of record in all proceedings and orders in the Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut at the Presidency, and that the same shall be written in the Persian character.—Cir. Ord. 5th July 1839, par. 1.

In decrees of sudder court, &c. the points to be decided, the decision and reason thereof, injunctions for revision of decrees, and orders for review of judgment shall be written in English signed by the judges and afterwards translated into the vernacular language, &c.

10. Whereas, it is expedient that the decisions of Courts of justice, and the reasons for the decision should be written and signed by the Judge at the time of pronouncing his decision, and in the vernacular language of the Judge;—It is hereby enacted that in all the Presidencies so much of all decrees as consists of the points to be decided, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision, and all injunctions for the revision of decrees in regular suits, and all orders for reviews of judgment, which shall be passed by Judges of the Sudder courts, or by Judges of Zillah and City courts, or by subordinate or assistant Judges of zillahs, shall be written originally in English, and signed by the Judge or Judges at the time of pronouncing such decision and orders; and shall be translated into the vernacular language, commonly used in the court wherein the suit to which the decree or order relates shall have been instituted; and the translation shall be incorporated in the decree.—Act XII. 1843, Sect. 1.

11. And, whereas, it is expedient, that excepting as regards the language to be used, Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs should be guided by the same rules as are hereinbefore provided for the guidance of the superior Judges:—It is hereby enacted, that in all the Presidencies so much of all decrees as consists of the points to be decided, the decision thereon and the reason for the decision, which shall be passed by Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, or Moonsiffs, shall be written originally in the vernacular language of such Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, and signed by such Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, at the time of pronouncing such decision, and (in case such vernacular language shall not be the same as the vernacular language commonly used in the court wherein the suit to which the decree relates shall have been instituted,) shall be translated into such last mentioned vernacular language, and the translation shall be incorporated in the decree.—Act XII. 1843, Sect. 3.

Decrees, &c. of P. S. A., S. A., or M. shall be written in the vernacular language of such P. S. A., S. A. and M., and (as the case may be) translated into the vernacular language of the court.

12. A suit was remanded because the requirements of Act XII. of 1843 had not been fulfilled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th March 1845, vol. 7, p. 201.

Suit remanded for neglect of the requirements of act 12, 1843.

13. It has been ascertained, that diversity of opinion prevails in regard to the requirements of Act XII. of 1843, and it has been deemed requisite in consultation with the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the North Western Provinces, to promulgate instructions on the subject for general observance with a view to secure uniformity of practice.—Cir. Ord. 16th Aug. 1844, par. 1.

Instructions of the S. D. A. regarding the provisions of act 12, 1843.

14. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut have ruled, that the terms of the Act in question render it obligatory on Judges of all denominations to record their original decisions and the reasons thereof, in their own hand-writing, signing them agreeably to the provisions of the Act, “at the time of pronouncing such decisions,” and causing them to be correctly “translated into the vernacular language commonly used in the court, wherein the suit to which the decree or order relates, shall have been instituted,” this injunction, it will be understood, has reference to all the decisions and orders specified in Sections 1 and 3 of the Act respectively.—Ibid, par. 2.

The judges are bound by it to record their original decision when pronouncing it, and the reasons, in their own hand-writing, and to cause a correct translation to be made in the vernacular tongue commonly used in the court.

15. Where the vernacular language, and that used in the subordinate Civil courts are identical, the translation may of course be dispensed with, but the decision and the reason thereof, drawn out, originally in the hand-writing of the Native Judge should be filed with the record of the suit to which it relates, and incorporated in the final decree.—Ibid, par. 3.

Where the vernacular language, and that of the lower court are the same, a translation is unnecessary; but the N. judge must write the decision, and the reason, in his own hand-writing.

16. The civil Judges are desired to ascertain and report, after a suitable interval, that these instructions have been practically introduced, issuing such precautional injunctions on the subject, as they may deem fitting.—Ibid, par. 4.

The civil Judges will report upon the introduction of these instructions.

17. The proceedings and papers in all civil cases transmitted to this court, which may be written either in the Persian, Oordoo, or Bengalee language, shall be unaccompanied by translations; but in criminal trials referred to the Nizamut adawlut, with exception to trials for the crime of thuggee, all papers which may not be drawn up in the Persian or Oordoo language, shall be accompanied by translations in the latter.—Cir. Ord. 5th July 1839, par. 2.

Papers sent to the S. D. A. in Persian, Oordoo or Bengalee need not be accompanied with a translation.

18. All papers in the Mug, Orissa, and other dialects, shall be accompanied by Oordoo translations.—Ibid, par. 3.

Papers in the Mug, Orissa, or other languages must be translated.

In districts where the Oordoo or Bengalee prevail petitions and pleadings may be presented in any language; but they must be accompanied with a translation in Persian, Oordoo or Bengalee. The same rule applies to futwas and bewustahs.

The authorities in the Bengal districts will correspond with each other in Bengalee and with other courts in Oordoo. Rule in Cuttack.

The above rule enforced.

Regarding the introduction of the Nagree character in districts in which the Oordoo language is current.

Idem.

Idem.

19. In the districts in which either the Oordoo or the Bengalee is the current language, parties are to be allowed, in all Civil and Criminal courts, to present all petitions and pleadings in any language they think most suitable to their purpose: but any documents so presented, which may not be written either in the Persian, Oordoo, or Bengalee, shall be accompanied by translations in one of these three languages. The same rule shall be applicable to futwas and bewustahs required from the law officers.—Ibid, par. 6.

20. The authorities in the Bengal districts shall correspond with each other in the vernacular language, and employ the Oordoo in their correspondence with the courts of other districts. The same rule shall be observed, mutatis mutandis, in Cuttack and the other provinces subject to the jurisdiction of this court.—Ibid, par. 7.

21. It appearing that proceedings in Bengalee are occasionally sent to authorities of districts where Oordoo is the vernacular, I am directed by the Court to request that you will strictly conform to the seventh of the Rules circulated on the 5th July, 1839, which relates to correspondence with other districts.—Cir. Ord. 24th June 1842.

22. The authorities of the districts in which the Oordoo language is current, shall be required to take measures for introducing the use of the Nagree character in writing that language; and to report on the 1st January next, the progress which has been made in that respect.—Cir. Ord. 5th July 1839, par. 5.

23. The instructions contained in paragraph 5 of the Court's resolutions of the 5th July last, regarding the use of the Nagree character in writing the Oordoo language, being general, and it being material that that measure should be carried into effect without obstruction to public business, I am directed by the Court to request your particular attention to the necessity of introducing the change in the most gradual and careful manner. It will be proper for you, the Court observe, before taking any decisive steps, to make enquiries on the subject, as to the mode in which the wishes of the Government to render all public proceedings intelligible to the people, may be fulfilled, consistently with the disposal of the business of your court with due regularity and expedition. It will be expedient also that you put yourself in communication with the other authorities of the district, both judicial and revenue, in order to the adoption of an uniform system in all the branches of the public service.—Cir. Ord. 1st Nov. 1839.

24. In addition to the precautions which the Circular order alluded to, 1st November last, has directed Judges, &c. to take, before requiring the exclusive use of the Nagree character for writing the Oordoo language in proceedings before their courts, it occurs to His Honour in Council, that it might be well to forbid the introduction of that measure by any judicial officer before obtaining the special sanction of Government. Judges who feel prepared to introduce this change may be required previously to report what they have done in the way of precaution laid down by this Circular order; what are the grounds on which they are assured that the measure will not materially interfere with regularity and expedition in the disposal of business, and what measures they have taken, in communication with the other district authorities, for "the adoption of an uniform system in all the branches of the public service."—Cir. Ord. 13th Jan. 1840.

A European defendant filing his answer in the Persian or the

25. The Calcutta Court held on a reference from the Agent to the Governor General in Hazareebaugh, that a European defendant filing his pleadings and petitions in the Persian or vernacular language on the prescribed stamp may be permitted to add translations thereof in English on unstamped paper; and that all processes issued to him should be written in the ordinary language of the court and in English. They further held that it is no part of the duty of the court to furnish the defendant with translations, but that he should procure a person duly qualified to interpret for him.—Con. 1035, Cal. C. 12th Aug., West. C. 16th Sept. 1836.

vernacular language on stamped paper, may file a translation in Eng. on plain paper.

SECTION II.

Zillah and City Courts—Division of a Claim.

[The general rules which forbid the division of a claim, are laid down in Circular Order, 11th January, 1839, and will be found at page 71, Section 35; in addition to which the Sudder Court has more recently passed the following order:]

26. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had occasionally to notice, notwithstanding the injunctions laid down in Circular order, No. 29, dated 11th January, 1839, that plaintiffs have instituted actions for a portion of their claim, intimating their intention to sue separately for the remainder at a future period; they have therefore felt that a necessity exists for an authoritative explanation of the Circular.—Cir. Ord. 30th Sept. 1847, par. 1.

Authoritative explanation of that circular.

27. The Circular sets out with declaring that it is illegal, for the reasons stated, to divide a claim of inheritance: and, in its sixth paragraph, it is ruled that interest or wasilat shall be presumed to have been relinquished, in the event of either not being claimed on the institution of a suit for the principal of a debt or for proprietary right.—Ibid, par. 2.

It is illegal to divide a claim of inheritance; interest or wasilat not claimed on the institution of the suit deemed to be relinquished.

28. The two points involved are, whether a suit should be heard which professes to be for only a portion of the thing claimed, and whether one should be heard, which is for that portion not included in the first plaintiff.—Ibid, par. 3.

Should a suit be heard professing to be for a part of the claim, or which is for the portion not included in the first plaintiff.

29. On these two points the Courts have directed the promulgation of the following rules, as supplemental to Circular order, No. 29, January 11, 1839, but with the intention of their only having prospective effect.—First, If a plaintiff sues expressly for a portion of his claim, stating in his plaint that he will afterwards sue for the remainder, he is to be at once nonsuited. Second, If a claim is made without mention of any remaining claim, the suit is to be heard. Third, A suit brought for what ought to have been included in a previous suit, is to be dismissed.—Ibid, par. 4.

Orders by the S. D. A. on these points.

30. The Provincial court having nonsuited the appellants for having sued for only a part of their claim, the Sudder dewanny adawlut allowed a summary appeal from this decision, and directed the Provincial court to re-admit the suit, and allow the appellants to pay the institution fee on the remainder of their claim, and to amend their plaint, according to Section 4, Regulation 4, 1793.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th April 1819, vol. 2, p. 293.

Parties nonsuited for having sued for a part of their claim had their suit re-admitted and were allowed to pay the institution fee on the remainder, and amend their plaint.

31. A plaintiff being nonsuited on the ground that she sued for a part instead of the whole sum due to her from the defendant, and having subsequently instituted a new suit for the whole debt which was awarded to her, the defendant appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who reversed the nonsuit and ordered that the original suit should be re-tried on its merits; judgment being again given for the plaintiff, the Sudder dewanny adawlut awarded payment

A plaintiff nonsuited for having sued for part of the sum due, instituted a new suit for the whole, which was awarded. The dft. appealed to the S. D. A. who reversed the nonsuit and ordered the case to be re-tried on its merits; and the decree for the plff. was confirmed on appeal.

Suit for a portion of a claim remanded for a supplementary plaint, because the plaint was filed before the issue of the C. O. of 11th Jan. 1839.

of the whole debt, evidence to its being due having been furnished and there having been no irregularity in preferring the claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st April 1824, vol. 3, p. 337.

32. Suit for a portion of a claim, being opposed to the Circular order, dated 11th January, 1839, remanded, to admit a supplementary plaint, the petition of plaint having been filed before the issue of the Circular.—Rep. Reg. Cases, 16th June 1847.

SECTION III.

Limitation of Time for the Cognizance of Suits.

[Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.]

Courts not to try the merits of any suit where the cause of action shall have arisen before 12th Aug., 1765.

33. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any suit whatever, against any person or persons, if the cause of action shall have arisen previous to the 12th of August, 1765.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 14.

The limitation of time applicable to the districts of Midnapore, Burdwan and Chittagong which were ceded in 1760.

34. The prohibition against the trial of suits, the cause of action in which may have arisen previous to August, 1765, is applicable to the districts of Burdwan, Chittagong, and Midnapore, ceded in September, 1760, in common with other parts of the provinces included in the Dewanny grant in 1765; no distinction being made in the Regulations.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Aug. 1815, vol. 2, p. 156.

[Benares.]

Courts not to try the merits of any suit for lands or grounds where the cause of action shall have arisen before 1st July, 1775.

35. The City court, and the three Zillah courts, are prohibited hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any suit whatever, against any person or persons, to regain the possession of lands or grounds, if the cause of action shall have arisen previous to the 1st of July, 1775.—Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 8.

[Provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier.]

Suits not cognizable where the cause of action has arisen 12 years prior to institution of suit.

This rule to remain in force, for 12 years subsequent to the cession.

36. The Courts of adawlut are prohibited from hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any civil suit whatever, if the cause of action shall have arisen at a period, being twelve years antecedent to the date on which the petition for the institution of such suit, shall be presented to the court. This rule is to remain in force until the period of twelve years shall have elapsed, from the date of the cession of the provinces, ceded by the Nawaub Vizier to the Honourable the English East India Company, viz. the 10th day of November, 1801.—Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 18, Cl. 1.

Claim to lands in Cawnpore not in possession of the claimants for 38 years before the cession of the province, not cognizable.

37. Held, that a proprietary claim to lands situated in Cawnpore, is not cognizable, under Regulation 2, 1805, there not having been any possession on the part of the claimants or their ancestors for thirty-eight years before the Company's acquisition of the provinces; and no claim having been preferred on their part at either of the first three settlements.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Sept. 1826, vol. 4, p. 185.

The term of 60 yrs. specified in reg. 2, 1805, sec. 3, cl. 3, not applicable to a suit for lands in Allahabad instituted 12 years after the cession.

38. The term of sixty years specified in Clause 3, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, held not applicable to a suit for lands in Allahabad, instituted upwards of twelve years after the date of the cession; the cognizance of which is prohibited by Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th July 1827, vol. 4, p. 254.

[Agra, Seharunpore, Allyghur, Bundelkund.]

39. In lieu of the date prescribed by Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803, the 30th of December, 1803, in the provinces constituting the zillah of Allyghur, the northern and southern divisions of the zillah of Seharunpore, and the zillah of Agra; and the 16th of December, 1803, in the territory constituting the zillah of Bundelkund; (being the dates on which the said provinces and territories were respectively ceded to the Honourable the English East India Company) shall be considered the periods of limitation for taking cognizance of suits, subject to the several provisions contained in Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803, and in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 2, 1805.—Reg. 8, 1805, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.

What dates to be substituted in lieu of the date prescribed by sec. 18, reg. 2, 1803.

[Cuttack.]

40. The Courts of adawlut are prohibited from hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any civil suit whatever in the zillah of Cuttack, including the abovementioned purgunnahs, if the cause of action shall have arisen at a period, being twelve years antecedent to the 14th day of October, 1803, the date on which the fort and town of Cuttack were surrendered to the British arms.—Reg. 14, 1805, Sect. 5.

Courts of adawlut prohibited from hearing, trying, or deciding civil suits where-in the cause of action shall have arisen 12 years antecedent to 14th October, 1803.

41. In a suit in the Zillah court of Cuttack for possession of an estate as the plaintiff's right by inheritance from a banker, [who died nineteen years before,] it appearing that the ancestor of the defendant though not the rightful heir, had obtained a public order from the late Government, constituting him proprietor of the estate, and that possession had been held accordingly for fourteen years prior to the introduction of the British authority into the district; the claim held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut not to be cognizable under Sections 5 and 6, Regulation 14, 1805, which restrict the courts from interfering with acts of the Native Government, or with suits in which the cause of action may have arisen more than twelve years before the acquisition of the district.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Feb. 1811, vol. 1, p. 314.

Claim for an estate in Cuttack, not cognizable under the circumstances of the case, in reference to the law of limitation.

42. The Superintendant is prohibited from taking cognizance of any suit, the cause of action in which shall have arisen antecedent to the 14th day of October, 1803, the date on which the fort and town of Cuttack were surrendered to the British arms.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 4.

Suits not cognizable, if the cause of action arose before 14th October, 1803.

43. A case of succession to one of the tributary estates of zillah Cuttack: decision in favor of the plaintiff by the Superintendant reversed, and the claim dismissed, as being barred by Section 4, Regulation 11, 1816, which prohibits cognizance of suits in which the cause of action may have arisen prior to the cession of the district.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d March 1825, vol. 4, p. 39.

Claim of succession to one of the tributary estates in Cuttack, dismissed, being barred by reg. 11, 1816, sec. 4.

[Sonk, Sonsa and Sahar.]

44. Instead of the date specified in Section 11, Regulation 9, 1804, the 17th of April, 1805, being the date of the treaty concluded with the Rajah of Bhurtpore, shall be considered the period of limitation for taking cognizance of crimes and offences committed in the purgunnahs mentioned in Section 2.—Reg. 12, 1806, Sect. 4.

The 17th of April, 1805, to be considered the period of limitation for taking cognizance of offences committed in the said purgunnahs.

[Callinger.]

45. The Courts of civil judicature shall not be deemed competent to take cognizance of any civil suit, if the cause of action shall have arisen previously to the 19th of June, 1800, being a period of twelve years antecedent to the cession, as above specified.—Reg. 22, 1812, Sect. 4.

[Deyra Dhoon.]

Civil courts prohibited from taking cognizance of suits, if the cause of action shall have arisen previously to the 15th May, 1803.

46. The Courts of civil judicature shall not be deemed competent to take cognizance of civil claims in the Deyra Dhoon, the cause of action in which may have originated previously to the 15th of May, 1803, being a period of twelve years antecedent to the date of the convention, by which that tract of country was surrendered to the British Government.—Reg. 4, 1817, Sect. 3.

[Khundeh and Mahoba.]

Civil courts not competent to take cognizance of suits, if the cause of action shall have originated previously to the 1st November, 1805.

47. The Courts of civil judicature shall not be deemed competent to take cognizance of civil claims in the elakeh and villages in question, the cause of action in which may have originated previously to the 1st of November, 1805, being a period of twelve years antecedent to the cession of the elakeh and villages in question.—Reg. 2, 1818, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

[Goberdhun.]

Civil courts prohibited from taking cognizance of suits, if the cause of action shall have arisen previously to the 25th January, 1814.

48. The Courts of civil judicature shall not be deemed competent to take cognizance of civil claims in purgunnah Goberdhun, the cause of action in which may have originated previously to the 25th January, 1814, being a period of twelve years antecedent to the date on which that purgunnah was resumed.—Reg. 5, 1826, Sect. 3.

General Rule of Limitation and the Decisions of the Sudder Court.

Courts not to try the merits of any suit, if the cause of action shall have arisen before the 12th August, 1765.

Nor any suit where the cause of action shall have arisen twelve years before a suit shall have been commenced for it.

Exception to the rule.

49. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any suit whatever, against any person or persons, if the cause of action shall have arisen previous to the 12th of August, 1765; or any suit whatever against any person or persons, if the cause of action shall have arisen twelve years before any suit shall have been commenced on account of it; unless the complainant can shew by clear and positive proof that he had demanded the money or matter in question, and that the defendant had admitted the truth of the demand, or promised to pay the money; or that he directly preferred his claim within that period for the matters in dispute, to a court of competent jurisdiction to try the demand, and shall assign satisfactory reasons to the court why he did not proceed in the suit; or shall prove that either from minority, or other good and sufficient cause, he had been precluded from obtaining redress.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 14.

Decisions of the Sudder Court on the General Rule of Limitation.

A case is decided by the prov. court in 1797, no action is instituted before 1815; the right of action is barred by the law of limitation.

Claim to the possession of an estate barred by the law of limitation, the reasons urged for the delay being insufficient.

When a plaintiff had pursued his claim within twelve years,

50. A summary decision passed by a Zillah court in 1796, and confirmed by the Provincial court in 1797, left to the party out of possession the option of suing to establish his claim to certain lands: held, that as no action had been instituted till 1815, the right of action was barred by the rule of limitation.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Jan. 1825, vol. 4, p. 14.

51. Claim to possession of a talook barred by the rule of limitation, the reasons urged by the claimant for omitting to urge his claim at an earlier period being deemed insufficient.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th March 1825, vol. 4, p. 29.

52. Plaintiff, held not to be prescribed, where it was shewn, that within twelve years he pursued his claim, though not before the proper tribunal, and his petition for redress was pending, when the term expired : this was ruled in case of an illegal sale, to recover revenue where plaintiff had petitioned the revenue authorities to set aside the sale, and his petition for relief was pending when the time expired—incompetency of those authorities to afford relief notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Jan. 1832, vol. 5, p. 168.

though not before the proper tribunal, and his petition for redress was pending when the term expired, his claim was not barred by the law of limitation.

53. A petitioner's estate was sold in 1803. Objecting to the sale, but not obtaining redress from the revenue authorities, he presented a petition in 1807 to the Provincial court, by whom he was requested to apply to the Revenue Board. Ten years after 1807, he did apply to the board who on the 17th February, 1818, referred him to the Civil court. On the 5th December, 1829, [viz. after a lapse of eleven years and nearly ten months,] he instituted his suit in zillah Behar. The zillah Judge dismissed the suit as being barred by the rule of limitation ; and the Sudder dewanny adawlut confirmed the dismissal. On application for review, the question arose whether the petitioner could be considered to have saved his right of action, by suing within twelve years from the date, on which he was referred by the Board of Revenue to the Civil court ? Or must the period within which he is bound to institute the suit, be reckoned from the date of the order of the Provincial court, referring him to the board ? The majority of the Calcutta Court, and the whole of the Western Court held, that the cognizance of the claim is barred under the general rule of limitation.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Aug. and 9th Sept. 1836, vol. 5, p. 175. [Also Con. 1036.]

Plaintiff applies for redress in 1807 to the prov. court, who refer him to the rev. board, to whom he applies ten years after in 1818. They refer him to the civil court, and 11 years and ten months after, he institutes his suit; the cognizance of the claim barred under the law of limitation.

54. The rule of limitation would be barred by detention in a foreign country. In a case of inheritance it was held to be barred by remittance of money and goods by the present to the absent co-heir.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 342.

Law of limitation barred by detention in a foreign country. In case of inheritance, it is barred by remittance made by the present to the absent co-heir.

55. The courts of the Principal Sudder Ameen and the zillah Judge having decided a suit, ruling that, according to Mahomedan law, a woman is not competent to execute a deed of relinquishment [ibranameh] of her share of patrimonial property in favour of her brother to the detriment of her legal heirs :—the Sudder dewanny adawlut in special appeal, would not go into the question of the legality or otherwise of the deed, but reversing the decisions of the lower courts, dismissed the claim on proof of uninterrupted possession for a period of fifteen years.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st March 1836, vol. 6, p. 58.

In a case of the legality of a deed of ibranameh, the claim dismissed on proof of uninterrupted possession for 15 years.

56. The admission of the plaintiff's right to compensation, on account of certain khalarces taken by Government, made by a Salt Agent within the period of twelve years antecedent to the institution of the suit, held to be sufficient to render the case cognizable under the rule of limitation.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Dec. 1836, vol. 6, p. 135.

Admission of plaintiff's right to compensation for khalarces within 12 yrs. before the institution of the suit, renders it cognizable under the law of limitation.

57. A right of action, lost under the law of limitation during the life time of the party in whom the right originally vested, cannot be revived by his heir after his death.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th Jan. 1837, vol. 6, p. 139.

A right of action lost by the law of limitation during the life of the party in whom it was vested, cannot be revived by his heir after his death.

58. The plaintiffs sued for rents of land held by the defendants, due for a period of fourteen years, alleging the existence of another action for other lands between the same parties to account for the delay in the institution of the present action. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that no sufficient cause had been shewn to bar the application of the rule of limitation laid down in Section 14, Regulation 3, 1793.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th May 1838, vol. 6, p. 231.

The cause of action arose out of an order of court; calculating the period of 12 years from the date of that order, the claim barred by law of limitation though summary applications had been made subsequently to that date.

59. In an action for recovery of surplus payments of rent, the cause of action in which commenced at the date of an order of court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut applied the rule of limitation, calculating the period of twelve years from the date of such order, notwithstanding that the plaintiff had made certain summary applications to court in connection with the same proceedings, subsequently to such date.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th Oct. 1841, vol. 7, p. 50.

In calculating the period for bringing an action under the law of limitation, no allowance is made for the time in which an application to sue as a pauper was before the court.

60. In calculating the period for bringing an action, under the general rule of limitation, no allowance can be made for the time during which a mere application for permission to sue in formâ pauperis is pending in court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th June 1842, vol. 7, p. 96.

Within the 12 years of adverse possession a plaintiff sues and obtains a decree for lands sold by the sheriff. After the expiry of the 12 years he sues the defendants for the same property, under a title derived from the purchaser at the sheriff's sale. The cognizance of the suit not barred by the law of lim.

61. The plaintiff having first sued in the Supreme Court to redeem certain lands sold at a Sheriff's sale, and obtained a decree, now sues the present defendants (who could not be made parties to the suit in the Supreme Court for want of jurisdiction,) to recover possession of the same property which is held by them under a title derived from the purchaser at the Sheriff's sale. The suit in the Supreme Court having been commenced within the period of twelve years of the adverse possession of the defendants, it was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the suit in the Mofussil court, though commenced after the expiration of twelve years of such possession, was not, under the circumstances, barred by the rules of Section 14, Regulation 3, 1793, and Clause 3, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th June 1842, vol. 7, p. 97.

64. The law of limitation does not apply to a claim to a reduction of rent on account of diluvion, preferred during the course of diluvion; but if delayed beyond twelve years after its cessation, the claim would be barred.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d July 1845, vol. 7, p. 209.

A simple acknowledgment of the truth of a demand not sufficient to constitute a new cause of action so as to bring within the cognizance of a moonsiff a suit, the period for instituting which had elapsed.

65. Where the defendants having admitted the truth of the demand, by a written acknowledgment to that effect, can it be construed to constitute a new ground of action, (cognizable by a Moonsiff), although the original cause of action is beyond the period of one year? On which the Sudder Court ruled, that a simple acknowledgment to the truth of the demand would not be sufficient to constitute a new ground of action, so as to bring within the cognizance of a Moonsiff a suit, the prescribed period for instituting which had elapsed.—Con. 196, 1st March 1815.

67. A. died in 1790, his natural son, B., and his uncle, C., obtained from the Supreme Court, letters of administration to his estate, accounts of which they filed in 1796. Soon after C. died; and D., the daughter of another uncle, also died in 1808. In 1815 her representative E. sued for the real estate of A. as heir at law, and in 1820 obtained judgment for one-third, on the ground, that B., C. and D. had, with mutual acquiescence, and equal rights, jointly taken the succession, and C. had bequeathed his share to B. In 1822, E. sued B. for a-third of the personal estate generally as per schedule; but was nonsuited. By direction, he in 1827, brought an action, for one-third of a particular debt in the schedule. E. recovered, and it was ruled that he was not stopped by prescription, because D. had died within twelve years from the last instalment of the debt recovered—within twelve years from D.'s death E. had brought his action for one-third of the personal estate of A.—and B., as administrator, [as avowed by the terms of the schedule,] was trustee and depositary on behoof of D. and others.—*S. 68. A miscellaneous application to a Civil court within twelve years cannot be considered as the "preferring a claim" within the meaning of Section 14, Regulation 3, 1793, so as to enable the party to bring his action after the expiration of that period.—*Con. 813, Cal. A "miscellaneous application" is not a preferring a claim within the meaning of reg. 3, 1793, sec. 14.

Rule of Limitation on Questions connected with Real Property.

69. An estate having been sold to a person by the managing sharer of it, and the purchaser having, with the knowledge of the coparceners, retained undisturbed possession of it for upwards of ten years: this circumstance held by the pundit sufficient to give validity to the sale, and bars any plea of its having been obtained by duress.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Aug. 1801, vol. 1, p. 46.

An estate is sold by the managing sharer to a person who holds it in undisturbed possession for 10 years with the knowledge of the coparceners. This bars the plea of its having been obtained by duress.

70. Defendant pleaded adverse possession during more than twelve years: plea set aside, as he appeared to have had possession for the greatest part of the time as manager only.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Dec. 1805, vol. 1, p. 118.

A plea of adverse possession for more than 12 years set aside, as the defendant held it for the greater portion of the time only as manager.

71. Claim to the recovery of lands alleged to be the claimant's right of inheritance barred by lapse of time, under Section 15, Regulation 3, 1793, as well as under Regulation 2, 1805, the defendant, or his ancestor having held bonâ fide possession for more than twelve years antecedent to the suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Sept. 1808, vol. 1, p. 253.

When the defendant or his ancestor held bonâ fide possession for 12 years antecedent to the suit, the claim is barred by the law of limitation.

72. Claim by appellants to certain lands disallowed, as barred by the rule of limitations, twenty-one years having elapsed from the date of a proclamation inviting their ancestors to sue to the date of the institution of the suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d March 1812, vol. 2, p. 1.

Claim to lands disallowed, 21 years having elapsed from the date of a proclamation inviting the ancestors of the party to sue to the date of the institution of the suit.

73. The plaintiffs having been irregularly dispossessed from their lands by Government, were allowed the full benefit of the rule of limitation for the cognizance of civil cases.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Aug. 1815, vol. 2, p. 156.

Plaintiffs irregularly dispossessed by govt. allowed the full benefit of the law of limitation for the cognizance of civil cases.

74. Claim to a small portion of land in the city of Benares, dismissed on presumption that it had been resumed by the former Government and had been occupied by the Company for full twenty years.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th May 1824, vol. 3, p. 354.

Claim to land in Benares dismissed on the ground that it had been occupied by govt. for 20 years.

75. Claim for possession of an estate barred by the rule of limitation, the adverse party

Claim to an estate confiscated for rebellion, barred by the confiscation, and long quiet possession of the govt. grantee.

76. Government having confiscated an estate, of which the contracting and ostensible sole owner had been slain in rebellion, in which his two brothers had participated, the suit of the son of one brother, [confined for his offence,] for one-third of the estate, in right of inheritance, declared barred by the confiscation, as well as by long quiet possession of the grantee of Government.—*S. In 1225 F. S., A.'s heir sued Government and B., to recover the difference for thirteen years. Ruled that the claim was not cognizable, under general circumstances—and in particular, under Section 26, Regulation 25, 1793, his remedy under which had been indicated by the Provincial court of appeal in 1212 F. A.'s holding was found bonâ fide because the endowment was only nominal, and the purchase by him had been made with the privity of the plaintiff and his ancestor without opposition.—*S. D. A. Sel. 79. The plaintiffs under a judgment in their favour obtained possession of certain lands. On the expiration of nearly twelve years from the date of their obtaining possession they sued for mesne profits with interest. No cause for the delay being shewn, the Sudder dewanny adawlut awarded the principal only.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Feb. 1836, vol. 6, p. 52.

A suit for the recovery of property against the ostensible purchaser, instituted 12 years after the date of the purchase barred by the law of lim.

80. A suit for the recovery of property at public sale against the ostensible purchaser, on the ground that the plaintiff's ancestor was the real purchaser, instituted upward of twelve years after the date of purchase, held to be barred under the law of limitation.—*S. The law of lim. not applied in a suit by a joint proprietor to separate possession, the defendant urging exclusive possession before the Co.'s govt. without being able to prove exclusive right.

81. In a suit by a joint proprietor to separate possession of his share, the defendant urging that he had exclusive possession long before the Company's Government, without being able to prove exclusive right, held that the rule of limitation does not apply.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Jan. 1823, vol. 3, p. 202.

The claims of putteedars to possession of their shares of an estate, of which one putteedar has obtained possession, must be preferred in 12 years from the date on which the proprietor's right was adjudged by the court to the zemindar or one or more coparceners, otherwise, the law of general limitations, comes into operation.

82. Under the provisions of Clauses 2 and 3, Section 35, Regulation 22, 1795, the possession of any one putteedar within twelve years entitles the whole of the sharers to restoration, and by Clause 5 of the same section it is further enacted that such putteedars shall be entitled to restoration on any one putteedar regaining possession, although they have not held possession within twelve years. The doubt which has arisen is whether, after one putteedar has regained possession, there is any limit whatever in point of time with regard to the other sharers bringing forward their claim. The point may be more plainly stated thus ; A. obtained a decree of court in 1820 for possession as zemindar, his putteedars B. and C. are in consequence entitled to possession of their shares ; but must these claims be brought forward immediately or at any time before 1832, or is there no limitation whatever?—In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that in cases of the nature of those described in the enactment above cited, the putteedars or “other sharers” alluded to therein must prefer their claims within the period of twelve years from the date on which the proprietary right was adjudged by a decree of court to the zemindar, or one or more of their co-parceners, and that in default of so doing, their claims would fall under the operation of the general rule of limitations.—Con. 980, West. C. 18th Sept., Cal. C. 23d Oct. 1835.

83. Does the limitation prescribed in Regulation 2, 1805, apply to a claim for a share of an ancestral undivided estate, still held by a descendant of the family, in which estate the plaintiff had no manner of possession, either as a sharer of a specific portion, or as receiving a maintenance therefrom during a period exceeding twelve years antecedent to the institution of the suit, no good cause (minority and the like) of course being shown to excuse the delay? The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Western Provinces, in concurrence with the opinion of the Judges of the Court in Calcutta, ruled that the limitation prescribed in Regulation 2, 1805, was applicable to claims of the nature therein specified.—Can a person who still holds, or within twelve years has held possession of a portion of land in an ancestral undivided estate as maintenance, claim to have the estate divided, and his specific share thereof allotted to him? or can the circumstance of his having been content with a maintenance, and not having received a specific portion for a period exceeding twelve years, bar his claim to a separate possession of his own share whenever he thinks fit to demand it? The Judges of the Western Court and the majority of those of the Calcutta Court, were of opinion that, according to the spirit of Clause 10, Section 35, Regulation 22, 1795, the person who had agreed to receive a maintenance, or, as the Regulation expresses it, an allowance either in money or in land, from the principal putteedar, in consideration of his right, has no claim to personal possession or management of any part of the estate.—Con. 942, Cal. and West. C. 3d April 1835.

When plaintiff claims a share of an ancestral undivided estate, still held by a descendant of the family, and he had no manner of possession for 12 years before the institution of the suit, no good cause [minority, or the like] being shown to excuse delay, the claim barred by reg. 2, 1805.

The person who has received a maintenance for more than 12 years, either in land or money, from the principal putteedar, in consideration of his right, has no claim to personal possession, or management of any part of the estate.

84. Held, that lapse of time does not bar the right to a division of a joint estate, the several proprietors of which had entered into separate engagements for their respective shares, though such shares had never been actually separated.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th March 1823, vol. 3, p. 219.

Lapse of time does not bar the right to a division of a joint estate, when the proprietors had made separate engagements for their shares, though they had not been separated.

85. Claim for a share of an ancestral estate, adjudged, the rule of limitation not being applicable to the case of putteedars deriving a share of profit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1825, vol. 4, p. 91.

The rule of limitation not applicable to putteedars deriving a share of profit.

86. A lease granted by a zemindar to the dewan of a Collector set aside, notwithstanding the death of the zemindar took place eighteen years before, in consideration of the minority of his heirs and other circumstances.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th March 1826, vol. 4, p. 130.

A lease granted by a zemindar to the dewan of a collector, set aside 18 years after the death of the zemindar, from various causes.

Rule of Limitation regarding Personal Claims.

87. A personal claim was held not to be barred by lapse of time, where the validity of an engagement, on which it was brought, had been put in issue, [though as a collateral matter,] by the obligor, in a former action, which was finally decided, after twelve years' litigation, the claim being preferred within that period from such final decision.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Dec. 1831, vol. 5, p. 151.

A personal claim not barred by lapse of time, as it was preferred within 12 years from a previous final decision.

In the case of a bond, &c. the origin of the cause of action is reckoned from the date when the money became payable.

88. In the case of a bond or other instrument for the payment of money, the origin of the cause of action is to be reckoned from the date of the money becoming payable.—See Construction 196.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d March 1842, vol. 7, p. 77.—Vide Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 13, as noticed in Con. 196.

In suits cognizable by moonsiffs, the cause of action is not reckoned from the day of the execution of a bond, &c. but from the day it fell due.

89. In suits cognizable by the Moonsiffs, is the origin of the cause of action, in cases of bonds or other instruments, to be reckoned from the actual date of the execution of such instrument, or from the date on which the payment has become due, as provided for and specified in the bond or other instrument, and the defendant has failed to discharge it, and to make good his engagement?—In reply to this query the Sudder Court ruled, that in the case of a bond or other instrument for the payment of money, the cause of action cannot be considered to arise previous to the money becoming payable.—Con. 196, 1st March 1815.

Rule of Limitation regarding the Claims of the State.

The limitation of 12 years for commencement of civil suits, prescribed by existing regulations, not applicable to any public claims, instituted, on the part of govt., by persons duly authorized.

90. The limitation of twelve years for the commencement of civil suits, under certain provisions and exceptions, which, in pursuance of former rules and practice, has been continued and prescribed by Section 14, Regulation 3, 1793; Section 8, Regulation 7, 1795; and Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803; shall not be considered applicable to any suits for the recovery of the public revenue, or for any public right or claim whatever, which may be instituted by, or in behalf of Government, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council; or by direction of any public officer or officers, who may be duly authorized to prosecute the same on the part of Government.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

All claims on the part of govt., for the cognizance of which no special rule may be in force, declared cognizable.

91. All claims on the part of Government, whether for the assessment of land held exempt from the public revenue without legal and sufficient title to such exemption, or for the recovery of arrears of the public assessment, or for any other public right whatever, (the judicial cognizance of which may not have been otherwise limited by some special rule or provision in force) shall be heard, tried, and determined in the several Courts of civil justice, to which the cognizance thereof may properly belong, under the General Regulations which have been or may be hereafter enacted, if the same be regularly and duly preferred at any time within the period of sixty years from and after the origin of the cause of action: provided that such cause of action shall not have originated within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, before the 12th August, A. C. 1765, or within the province of Benares before the 1st July, A. C. 1775, or within the provinces ceded by the Nawaub Vizier before the 10th November, A. C. 1801; being the periods of the Company's accession to the civil government of the above provinces respectively.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Rule of Limitation in cases of Violent, Fraudulent, or Unjust Possession.

The limitation of 12 years also declared not applicable to private claims of right to immovable property if the person in possession shall have acquired possession by violence, fraud or

92. The limitation of twelve years fixed by Section 14, Regulation 3, 1793, Section 8, Regulation 7, 1795, and Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803, shall also not be considered applicable to any private claims of right to lands, houses, or other permanent, immovable property: if the person or persons in possession of such property when the claim of right thereto may be preferred in a competent Court of judicature, shall have acquired possession thereof by violence, fraud, or by any other unjust, dishonest means whatever; or if such property shall have been so acquired by any other person or persons from whom the actual occupant or occupants may have derived his or their title, and shall not have been subsequently held under a just and honest title (such as inheritance, purchase, fair donation, or any other fair title believed to have conveyed a right of possession and property,) during a period of twelve years antecedent to the time of perfering a claim of right thereto in a competent court: provided that such violent, fraudulent, unjust or dishonest acquisition be established to the satisfaction of the court in which the claim may be preferred; or, if the suit be appealable, to the satisfaction of the proper Court of appeal.—Ibid, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

93. In all such cases, viz. when the original cause of action may have arisen more than twelve years before the institution of the suit, and the claim may not be cognizable under the exceptions and provisions contained in the Regulations and sections above cited, but may be nevertheless cognizable under the provision made by the preceding clause, from the defendants having acquired possession of the claimed property by violence, fraud, or other unjust and dishonest means; or from the property after being so acquired by any other person not having been subsequently held by the present occupant and his predecessors under a just and honest title during the prescribed period of twelve years; the plaintiff shall set forth the same distinctly, either in his petition of plaint; or in his replication.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

94. The court, after taking the answer and rejoinder of the defendant, shall, if the alleged unjust and dishonest acquisition be denied by the defendant, examine any evidence that may be adduced by the plaintiff in proof of his allegation; as well as any evidence that may be brought by the defendant to prove his just and honest acquisition of the property claimed, or the just and honest possession thereof by himself and his predecessors during more than twelve years; after which the court shall determine whether the suit in question be cognizable under the present rule and section or otherwise; and if such determination be in favour of the plaintiff; or in appealed cases, if a determination for the cognizance of the suit be passed by the Court of appeal, the merits of the plaintiff's claim of right shall be heard, tried, and determined, notwithstanding the lapse of time, in like manner as if the claim had been regularly preferred within twelve years after the origin of the cause of action.—Ibid.

95. Provided that, nothing in the preceding clause of the section, or in any part of the existing Regulations, shall be held to authorize the cognizance of any suit whatever in any Court of justice, if the cause of action shall have arisen sixty years before the institution of such suit; nor shall any plea on the part of the plaintiff for the non-prosecution of his claim of right, during a period of sixty years after the origin of his alleged cause of action, nor any original defect of title on the part of the possessor of the property claimed after the lapse of such period, be deemed a sufficient ground for taking judicial cognizance of any suit so preferred.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

96. Moreover, although the property claimed may have been acquired by an inother unjust, dishonest means.

Or if the person, from whom the actual occupant derived his title shall have acquired possession by such means; and the property may not have been subsequently held, under a fair title believed to convey right, for 12 years.

Provided that such violent, fraudulent, unjust, or dishonest acquisition, be established.

Mode of proceeding to be observed in the cases provided for by the preceding clause.

Plaintiff to set forth the circumstances of unjust, or dishonest acquisition, in his plaint or replication.

Evidence to be taken from both parties, if the allegation be denied by the defendant.

Determination to be passed by the original court; and by the court of appeal, in appealed cases.

And claim of right, if declared cognizable to be tried and determined, as if preferred within 12 years after the origin of the cause of action.

No suit whatever to be held cognizable, in any court of justice, if the cause of action shall have arisen 60 years before the institution of it.

Clauses 1 and 2 of this sec. further declared inapplicable to any private claims to property acquired by an insufficient title within 60 years, if held by the actual occupant, or in his behalf, or by the persons from whom he may have obtained it without molestation and under a title believed to be just and valid, during 12 years antecedent to the institution of the suit.

Provisions already in force as stated in cl. 2 of this section, applicable to all such cases.

sufficient title within the period of sixty years, hereby fixed as the utmost limit for the cognizance of any claims in the established Courts of justice, if the property so acquired shall have descended by inheritance to the person in possession when the claim thereto may be preferred after a lapse of twelve years; or if such person shall have obtained just and honest possession thereof by purchase, fair donation, or by any other title believed to be just and valid, and not appearing to be in any respect collusive for the purpose of depriving the plaintiff of his right, and either such occupant himself or any other person in his behalf, or from whom the property may have been obtained, under any of the titles aforesaid, or the whole in succession shall have held quiet and unmolested possession, under a title believed to be just and valid, during a period of twelve years antecedent to the time of a claim thereto being preferred in a competent court; the provisions made by clauses first and second of this section, shall not be considered applicable to any private claims to property so circumstanced, which are therefore to be deemed inadmissible as heretofore after twelve years from the origin of the cause of action, unless the same be cognizable under the exceptions and provisions already in force.—Ibid.

In a claim for lands fraudulently obtained, the limitation of time counts from the date on which the fraud was discovered.

In a claim preferred after the period prescribed by the reg. if the acquisition of adverse possession by fraud or violence can be gathered from the plaint, it need not be declared.

A fraudulent holder of estates alienates them to vendees to whom no fraud was imputable, the plff., a secluded lady in a distant province allowed to recover her share which the vendees had not held for 12 years, the omission to sue for 25 yrs. notwithstanding.

A. brought an action against B. and C. for an estate sold by B. to C. 24 years before the institution of the suit, and 22 years before the death of C. Rule of prescription barred by the manifest fraud of C.

Where the fact of fraud, to bar the limitation was clear, S. D. A. did not direct a formal investigation omitted by the lower court.

97. In a claim for lands, of which possession had been fraudulently obtained, the limitation of time can only be counted against the claimants from the date on which the fraud was discovered.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th June 1808, vol. 1, p. 239.

98. In a claim preferred after the period prescribed by the Regulations, it is not requisite to declare that the adverse possession was acquired by fraud or violence, if that can be gathered from the plaint.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th July 1822, vol. 3, p. 162.

99. Where the fraudulent holder of estates had alienated the same to various vendees, to whom no fraud was imputable, it was held that under Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, the plaintiff (a secluded lady and resident of a distant province,) might recover her share in the estates, which the vendees had not held twelve years, under a title believed good,—the omission of the plaintiff to sue during twenty-five years notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st May 1831, vol. 5, p. 123.

100. A. brought an action against B. and C. to recover a share of an estate which B., his brother in whose name it had been bought, had alienated to C. twenty-four years before the institution of the suit, and twenty-two years before the death of C. Rule of prescription held to be barred by the fraud of C. indicated by the abduction, in a prior suit of a deed set aside therein, to prove assent of A. to alienations made by B. Judgment passed by two Judges in opposition to one, who inferred privity and assent of A. from other circumstances, and considered the claim barred by long adverse possession.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th Sept. 1833, vol. 5, p. 323.

101. When the fact of fraud constituting a bar to limitation under Regulation 2, 1805, had been alleged and was clear, the Sudder dewanny adawlut on appeal did not deem it necessary to direct formal investigation omitted by the lower court, and adjudicated on the incident under Section 3.—Ibid.

102. In a mixed action, real as to recovery of an estate and personal as regards its mesne profits during tortuous possession—the plaintiff by judgment of the Sudder dewanny adawlut recovers the estate, under exception of fraud, which by Clause 1, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, bars the rule of prescription. But judgment for mesne profits antecedent to action not passed.—Ibid.

In a mixed action real for the estate and personal as regards mesne profits, the plaintiff recovered the estate because fraud barred the rule of prescription, but mesne profits antecedent to the action not allowed.

103. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that notwithstanding the mention of the period of sixty years in the Regulation last cited, no claim can now be heard which had its origin beyond the date of the cession, and this without any reference to the mode in which the possession may have been, or may be alleged to have been acquired; and that consequently the rule contained in clause 3, Section 18, Regulation 2, 1803, remains in full force.—Con. 478, 18th April 1828.

No claim can now be heard which had its origin beyond the date of the cession without reference to the mode in which it was acquired.

Rule of Limitation in cases of Mortgage, Pledge and Deposit.

104. Provided further, that no length of time shall be considered to establish a prescriptive right of property, or to bar the cognizance of a suit for the recovery of property, in cases of mortgage, or deposit, wherein the occupant of the land or other property may have acquired, or held possession thereof as mortgagee or depositary only, without any proprietary right; nor in any other case whatever wherein the possession of the actual occupant, or of those from whom his occupancy may have been derived, shall not have been under a title bona fide believed to have conveyed a right of property to the possessor.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 3, Cl. 4.

Further provision for cases of mortgage and deposit.

No length of time to bar the cognizance of suits for the recovery of property in such cases.

105. “Do the provisions of Clause 4, Section 3, Regulation 2 of 1805, apply equally to real and personal property or only to the former; in other words can a suit on a deposit of money or other personal property be entertained after the lapse of twelve years from the cause of action?”—In reply, I am directed to inform you that as the terms of Clause 4, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, quoted by you, are general, including “land and other property,” its provisions must be considered applicable as well to suits on deposits of money or other personal property as to land.—Con. 965, West. C. 7th July 1835.

The provisions of reg. 2, 1805, sec. 3, cl. 4, must be considered applicable as well to suits on deposits of money or other personal property as to those for lands.

106. The rule of limitations cannot affect the right of redeeming mortgaged lands, as tenants in mortgage do not hold under a title capable of forming a right by prescription.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th May 1807, vol. 1, p. 185.

The rule of limitations cannot affect the right of redeeming mortgaged lands.

107. In a transaction partaking of the nature of a simple mortgage, in which the mortgagee was not put in possession of the property mortgaged, it was held that the mortgagee must bring his action, for foreclosure of the mortgage, within twelve years from the date of the expiration of the year of grace allowed to the mortgager for redemption.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th Sept. 1841, vol. 7, p. 45.

Where the mortgagee was not put in possession of the property mortgaged the action for foreclosure must be brought within 12 years from the date of the expiration of the year of grace.

109. Held that an entry in an account of a sum of money payable to a female on her marriage, and bearing interest ad interim is not of the nature of a deposit, provided for under Clause 4, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, but is subject to the ordinary rules of limitation.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th May 1844, vol. 7, p. 161.

Rule of Limitation in cases of Fine and Penalties.

All suits, complaints and informations, for fines or penalties, receivable by govt. or by the informer, under the regulations, for the recovery of which no specific period may have been fixed, to be preferred within one year after the act for which the fine or penalty may be demandable.

No such suit, complaint, or information, to be admitted after the prescribed period; unless prosecuted on the part of govt., and sufficient cause be assigned for the delay.

The summary proceeding of the civil court for having withdrawn attached property is limited to one year from the occurrence of the act, unless govt. being the party suing there be good cause shewn for the delay.

110. All suits, complaints, and informations, cognizable by the Civil courts of judicature, for the recovery of any fine or penalty receivable by Government, or by the informer, on account of the unlicensed manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors or drugs; the illicit manufacture or sale of salt or opium, the fraudulent evasion of the stamp duties prescribed by the Regulations or on account of any other fines or penalties recoverable, either by a regular suit or by summary process, in the Courts of dewanny adawlut, under any Regulation in force which may not have fixed a specific period for the recovery thereof, shall be preferred to the proper courts, in such manner as the Regulations require, within one year after the act, for which the fine or penalty may be demandable, shall have been committed; and no such suit, complaint or information (not otherwise specially provided for,) shall be admitted and proceeded upon in any Court of justice after the period prescribed; unless the same be prosecuted on the part of Government, and good and sufficient cause be assigned why it has not been brought forward to judicial cognizance within one year after the commission of the act whereupon the fine or penalty sued for is demandable.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 6.

111. What is the limitation of time in respect to the summary proceeding at the Collector's instance, under Section 14, Regulation 27, 1803, and Section 17, Regulation 28, 1803, in the event of the attached property being removed by force or fraud, by the defaulter, or his people. The Court hold, that the summary proceeding under Section 17, Regulation 28, 1803, which clearly involves the adjudication of a penalty by the Civil court for having withdrawn attached property, is limited in point of time, under Section 6, Regulation 2, 1805, to one year from the occurrence of the act which gives rise to the proceeding; unless Government being the party suing, (which it virtually is, in the person of the Collector,) there be good cause shewn for the delay beyond that period.—Con. 316, 2d June 1820.

Suits and complaints for penal damages allowed by the regulations to individuals, and for the recovery of which no specific period may have been fixed, to be preferred within one year after the cause of action shall have arisen; or as soon afterwards as possible.

112. All suits and complaints for penal damages (viz. for pecuniary penalties on account of any act or omission, in opposition to the Laws and Regulations, exclusive of a compensation for actual losses,) in cases wherein such damages are allowed by the Regulations to individuals, and for the recovery of which by judicial process no specific period may have been fixed, are also required to be preferred to the proper Courts of justice, within one year after the cause of action shall have arisen, or as soon afterwards as it may be in the power of the party aggrieved to prefer the same, and no such suit or complaint shall be received and proceeded upon in any Court of justice, after the expiration of one year from the time when the alleged cause of action may have arisen, without good and sufficient cause being assigned why the same has not been judicially prosecuted at an earlier period : provided, that this restriction be understood to be strictly applicable to claims to penal damages only (as above described,) and be not considered applicable to any suits for the recovery of the property, or for the value of property, appertaining to the plaintiff; or for a compensation or indemnification on account of any damage to, or loss of property actually sustained by the plaintiff; in all which cases the general rules of limitation are to be applied, as in other suits of individuals for the recovery of their rights in the Civil courts.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 7.

No such suit or complaint to be received, after one year, without sufficient cause why it was not prosecuted at an earlier period.

But this restriction is not applicable to suits for property, or the value of property, appertaining to the plaintiff; or to suits for compensation or indemnification on account of damage to, or loss of property.

The general rules of limitation, as in other suits for recovery of private rights, to be applied in such cases.

Rule of Limitation in cases of Rent.

113. The provisions contained in Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799; Section 14, Regulation 5, 1800; and Section 32, Regulation 28, 1803; for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants, and their sureties from whom arrears of rent may be due to proprietors and farmers of land, and for a summary enquiry to be made by the Judges of the Zillah and City courts when the parties so arrested for arrears of rent may be brought before them, are from the terms and objects of such provisions evidently intended to be applicable only to recent arrears of rent, due in the course of the current year, or immediately after the close of it; and it is hereby declared, that the summary enquiry and process authorized by the above Regulations shall not be applied to any arrear of rent, or other demand which may have been due more than a complete year, before the delivery of the petition of arrest, and application for such summary enquiry and process, as directed by the Regulations above cited. Provided however, that this restriction shall not be considered to preclude the Judges of the Zillah and City courts, (or their Registers, or the Collectors, to whom such enquiry may be committed by them,) from including in the adjustment of recent arrears in such cases, any arrear which may be found due beyond the period of one year, if the same shall appear equitable.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Explanation of provisions in existing regulations for summary process to recover arrears of rent.

Applicable to recent arrears of rent only.

And not to be applied to any demands due for more than a complete year before the application for such process.

But judges, registers, and collectors, in the adjustment of arrears, in such cases may include arrears due for more than one year, if it appear equitable.

114. The rule of limitation prescribed by the above clause is also hereby extended to applications for summary process by landholders and farmers, against their agents employed in the management of their estates and farms, or in the collection of their rents, under the provisions made by Section 20, Regulation 7, 1799, Section 19, Regulation 5, 1800, and Section 37, Regulation 28, 1803; which authorize such process for the arrest and imprisonment of the agents of landholders and farmers, whilst in their service, or immediately after the resignation or dismissal of agents of the above description, on account of demands for money in their hands, or for accounts which they may refuse to render, or for any matter relating to the discharge of their respective trusts.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Limitation in above clause extended to applications for summary process by landholders and farmers, against their agents, under existing regulations.

115. The rules prescribed in Regulation 2, 1805, in regard to the institution of summary suits for rent, should be applied to suits for the recovery of advances for indigo, instituted under Regulation 6, 1823.—Con. 565, 9th July 1830.

116. Under Section 63, Regulation 8, 1793, A. brought an action against B. for having refused to give him receipts for rent paid. The suit was dismissed with costs because no dishonest intention was proved against B., and because A. had not brought the suit within one year from the date when the cause of action originated as required by Section 7, Regulation 2, 1805.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th April 1835, vol. 6, p. 26.

SECTION IV.

Valuation of Suits.

General rule for the valuation of suits.

117. In suits for lands paying revenue to Government, if forming one entire mehal, or a specific portion thereof, with a defined jumma, the value shall be assumed in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, including Cuttack, at the amount of the annual jumma, payable to Government on account of the mehal or portion thereof, as aforesaid, and where the land has been assessed in perpetuity, at three times the amount of the annual jumma. In suits for lakhiraj lands, i. e. lands not paying revenue to Government, the value shall be assumed at eighteen times the amount of annual rent by computation. In suits for damages, compensation for injury, loss of caste, and the like, the amount shall be computed at the rate assumed by the plaintiff. In suits for houses, gardens, and other things of value, real or personal, not of the descriptions before specified, as well as for any interest in malgoozaree land not capable of valuation under the above rule, the amount shall be computed according to the estimated selling price, and every plaint shall specify the value of the thing claimed, and if the value thereof be understated, in the proportion of ten per cent. and the plaintiff have not before completion of the pleadings filed a second or duplicate plaint on stamped paper equal to the difference under the rule contained in Clause 1, Section 7, Regulation 26 of 1814, the defendant shall be entitled, on adducing proof of the same, to obtain a nonsuit, to which effect the courts are hereby required to pass judgment in such cases—anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sch. B, Art. 8.

Valuation of suits for talooks, &c. instituted before and after reg. 10, 1829.

118. In suits for talooks, ousut talooks, hawallahs or ousut hawallahs, if instituted prior to the enactment of Regulation 10, 1829, the Judge, in determining the value of the cause of action, will be guided by the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 26, 1814. In suits instituted subsequently, the rules contained in paragraph 4, Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, are applicable.—Con. 687, 27th April 1832.

To what suits the penalty of nonsuit in the concluding part of art. 8, sch. B, reg. 10, 1829, is applicable.

119. The penalty of nonsuit provided in the concluding part of Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, is applicable to all suits in which the conditions contained in those provisions have not been complied with.—Con. 577, 5th Nov. 1830.

A summary appeal will lie from the decision of an unconv. J.,

120. In the event of a plaintiff being nonsuited under the provisions of Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, on the ground of the value of the thing claimed being underrated in the proportion of ten per cent., though a summary appeal will not lie under Section 3, Regulation 26, 1814, the principle of Section 4, Regulation 13, 1808 may be considered to apply. Consequently a summary appeal may be had from the decision, in such case, of a Principal Sudder Ameen, or Sudder Ameen, [and since the enactment of Act XXII. 1838, of a Moonsiff.] —Con. 872, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 24th Oct. 1834.

121. The Court are of opinion that, if the land, the right of pre-emption of which is claimed, be land paying revenue to Government either as an entire mehal, or a specific portion thereof with a defined jumma, the cause of action must be estimated at three times the amount of the sudder jumma, as prescribed by Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829; if lakhiraj, at eighteen times the amount of the computed annual rent; and if it be land paying revenue to Government, but neither an entire mehal nor a specific portion with a defined jumma, at the estimated selling price.—Con. 1047, Cal. C. 23d Sept., West. C. 14th Oct. 1836.

122. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Meerut, that in suits for fractional portions of malgozaree estates, the valuation according to the note at Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, is to be computed on a portion of the jumma of the entire estate corresponding with the fractional share sued for; and not, as has been the erroneous practice in some districts, according to the estimated selling price:—Thus, for instance, if the suit be for a four-anna share of an estate, assessed at 1000 rupees, and within the range of the perpetual settlement, the valuation will be 750 rupees, or three times the jumma (250 rupees) of the fractional portion.—Con. 1340, West. C. 18th May, Cal. C. 17th June 1842.

123. The value of certain malgozaree lands, not bearing a defined jumma, having been computed at the rate of an arbitrary jumma fixed upon it by the plaintiff, instead of its estimated selling price, held that the plaintiff must be nonsuited.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Feb. 1841, vol. 7, p. 19.

124. The Government, having resumed a jaghire, situated in the district of Benares, concluded a zemindary settlement of it with the jaghirdar for a term of years; another party claiming the proprietary right of the estate, has brought the present suit to establish the same, and the question that arises is as to the manner in which he should value his claim; whether at the annual jumma at which the estate has been assessed, or at three times the amount, or under the general rule contained in para. 4 of the note annexed to the article in question, according to the estimated selling price.—The Court observe, that the first part of the note abovementioned, merely declares, that in suits for lands situated in the Ceded or Conquered Provinces, including Cuttack, the value shall be assumed at the amount of the annual jumma, or where the land may have been assessed in perpetuity at three times the amount of the annual jumma, but makes no provision for cases of the nature of that in point, where the land is neither situated in the Ceded or Conquered Provinces, nor permanently assessed. It appears, however, to the Court to be a fair and equitable principle to observe in such cases the distinction laid down in the first part of the note above cited, the reasons of which are obvious; and they propose to act upon it accordingly in disposing of the appeal now before them.—Con. 1143, West. C. 24th March, Cal. C. 6th April 1838.

125. In a suit instituted by a Collector against a farmer and his sureties under Sections 26 and 28, Regulation 27, 1803, the amount of action must be regulated by the jumma of the

How suits are to be valued in cases of pre-emption.

How the value of a suit for fractional parts of malgozaree estates is to be computed.

How the value of malgozaree lands, not bearing a defined jumma, is to be computed.

Where the settlement is not permanent, the value must be assumed at one year's jumma; where the land is permanently settled, at three times the annual jumma.

How the value of a suit instituted by a collector against a farmer and his sureties, under reg. 27, 1803, sec. 26 and 28, is left to the discretion of the court to fix.—Con. 808, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 30th Aug. 1833.

How the amount of action in suits for lands paying revenue to govt., not an entire estate or a specific portion of it with a defined jumma, is to be computed.

126. The Court having reason to believe, from instances which have come to their knowledge, that in some zillahs a practice still obtains of computing the amount of action in suits for lands paying revenue to Government, not forming an entire estate, or a specific portion thereof with a defined jumma, at the annual produce of the lands; direct me to call your attention to the 4th paragraph of the note on Article 8 of Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, which requires that the amount in such cases shall be computed according to the estimated selling price of the land sued for.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Aug. 1833.

How a suit for the possession of lands and mesne profits during dispossession is to be computed.

127. In a suit for possession of lands and mesne profits during dispossession, it is not necessary that the annual produce and profits during dispossession should each exceed the sum of 5,000 rupees, to make the suit originally cognizable in the Provincial court; but only that the aggregate amount of both should exceed that sum.—*S. Rule regarding suing for two or more distinctly assessed mouzahs in one action.

128. I am directed to state, that if the cause of action be one and the same, a plaintiff may sue for two or more distinctly assessed mouzahs, or mehals, in one and the same action, laying his plaint at the aggregate value of the whole sued for.—Con. 577, 5th Nov. 1830.

Value of suits for lakhiraj land in which govt. is not entitled to any revenue from the land, if resumed.

129. In suits for lakhiraj land in which Government would not be entitled to any revenue from the land, if resumed, the petition of plaint must be written on the stamped paper prescribed for rent-free lands, whether the claim be by an individual against a zemindar to hold land on a rent-free tenure, or by a zemindar to resume land held on an illegal rent-free tenure.—Con. 576, 1st Oct. 1830.

Value of suits for maafee estates where the jumma has been fixed by the govt. officer.

130. The Court are pleased to promulgate for general information the following rule which has received the sanction of the Supreme Government:—Suits for the proprietary right in maafee estates in cases where the jumma, payable by the proprietors to the maafeedar, has been fixed by the Government officer, may be instituted according to the rule laid down in Note 1, Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829.—Cir. Ord. 4th June 1847.

How the interest of the party claiming an ijarah or jote, is to be estimated.

131. Though the land included in an ijarah, or in the jote of a cultivating ryot, is not transferable by sale, the interest of the party claiming the ijarah or jote is capable of being valued; and that in the cases, supposed by you, the plaintiff should be allowed to lay his suit at the amount which he may consider the value of his interest in the thing claimed; to which if the defendant make objection, the court would decide thereon after making the summary enquiry directed by Section 4, Regulation 13 of 1808.—Con. 702, Cal. C. 6th, West. C. 27th July 1832.

How the value of a suit, instituted by a resident cultivator to reverse the summary decision of a collector against and ejecting him as a defaulter, is to be estimated.

132. In suits instituted in the court of a Moonsiff by a resident cultivator to obtain a reversal of a summary decision passed by a Collector, adjudging a balance against him and ejecting him as a defaulter, the value of the suit should be estimated at the amount of the rent in dispute, or in other terms, at the sum sued for in the first instance.—Con. 862, *West. and Section 5, Regulation 19, 1817, have been either formally or virtually superseded by the provisions of the note attached to Article 8 of Schedule B, referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829, but no provision is expressly made in the fourth paragraph of the note in question, to meet the description of suits contemplated in the penultimate paragraph of Section 5, Regulation 19, 1817, above quoted, as per extract in the margin. The question I would ask therefore

If the suit be not for a right of property, or for a permanent tenure, but for a farm leasehold of any denomination during a limited term; or for any interest in the land during a limited period only; the valuation of the plaintiff's claim, in pursuance of the Regulations above mentioned, is to be made according to the nearest estimate that can be formed of the actual value of the thing sued for.

is, whether the rules latest enacted, namely, those prescribed in the said fourth paragraph of the note to Schedule B, of Regulation 10, 1829, are applicable to such cases, as well as to suits of the description particularised below, and to all other actions whatsoever, not coming within the meaning of the first three paragraphs of the note. 1, Suits of khastkars against the proprietors of the land whether assessed or rent-free, to maintain, preserve, or obtain possession of their right of cultivation in a given quantity of land, held on a pottah by prescription or otherwise; or suit to reverse a summary decision of ejectment, passed against them in the zemindar's favour, under the provisions of Regulation 49, 1793. 2, Suits on the part of the proprietors whether malgozars, or maafeedars, to eject an under-tenant from lands held by him in ryoty tenure. The Court propose, with the concurrence of the Calcutta Court, to inform Mr. Smith, that Section 5, Regulation 19, 1817, as well as all other existing Regulations relating to the imposition, levying and collecting stamp duties is rescinded by Section 2, Regulation 10, 1829; and as the latter enactment contains no express provision for computing the amount value of suits of the nature of those described in his letter, they must be considered as falling under the general rule laid down in the fourth paragraph of the note to Article 8, Schedule B, of that Regulation.—*Con. 1101, West. Value of suits to fix the jumma of ryots' holdings.

135. In suits brought by a mortgager to regain possession of property mortgaged, the amount of stamp should be calculated on the value of the property, due regard being had to the rules laid down in the Regulation for estimating that value, and not on the sum for which the property was mortgaged. This appears distinctly to be the intent of Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, under which the stamp is regulated by the value of the thing claimed.—Con. 957, West. C. 17th June, Cal. C. 7th Aug. 1835.

How suits by a mortgager to regain possession of property mortgaged are to be valued.

136. The sicca rupee having ceased to be a legal tender on the 1st January, 1838, (Act XIII. 1836,) the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces have been pleased to determine, in supersession of Construction 1068, that all questions regarding the value of stamped paper, and the amount of suits recognizable by the different classes of Native Judges, shall be determined with reference to the existing, and not to the old currency. In accordance with this rule, the Moonsiffs (for instance) will not have cognizance of suits in which the amount contested may exceed 300 Company's rupees and the stamp required for a plaint in a suit for the sum abovementioned will be valued at sixteen rupees.—Cir. Ord. 15th April 1842.

All questions regarding the value of stamped paper will be determined with reference to the existing not the old currency.

137. The following question was put to the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the North Western Provinces by the Judge of Cawnpore:—"I have a suit before me for possession of a 4 per cent. note for

How the value of a suit to recover a govt. 4 per cent. note for Government Four per cent. promissory note for 5000 sicca rupees and have some doubt whether the appeal should not have been made to the superior court."—Reply.—The majority of the Court do not think any legal objection exists to the Judge hearing the appeal. They observe the suit is not brought for the recovery of 5000 sicca rupees, but for a document valued at 5000 Company's rupees, and which, if now sold in the bazar, would certainly not realize the sum at which the suit is brought. It was pledged for Rs. 4,600, the amount of which it is said to be redeemable is 4,930.—Reply of the Calcutta Court:—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 1557, of the 5th ultimo, and to state, in reply, that the suit in question having been brought to recover possession of a Government promissory note for rupees 5000, without mention of any currency, which amount is covered by a stamp of 150 rupees, and no objection having been urged against the valuation in the Court of first instance, the Court are of opinion, with the majority of the Western Court, that the appeal lies to the Zillah court.—Con. 1358, West. C. 5th Aug., Cal. C. 2d Sept. 1842.

* The sa. rs. to be taken at par with the co.'s rs. in estimating the amount of stamp duty leviable on actions.

138. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the sicca rupee is to be taken at par with the Company's rupee in estimating the amount of stamp duty leviable on actions instituted in the Company's courts. A. laid his appeal in sicca rupees 9,639, on a stamp of 250 rupees. B. pleaded that the amount appealed from ought to have been reduced to Company's rupees 10,281, and a stamp of 350 used. Plea of B. overruled.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th May 1839, p. 20.

In a suit to recover on an account in siccas, if the agreement was for value and not for specific coins, the calculation must be made in co.'s rs. 106-10-8, per 100 siccas.

139. In a suit to recover on an account kept in siccas, supposing the agreement to be for value, and not for specific coins, the calculation must be made at Company's rupees 106-10-8 per 100 siccas, or the intrinsic difference.—Con. 1151, 27th April 1838.

Petitions of persons claiming property in moonsiffs' courts under reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, must be on unstamped paper.

140. The Court are of opinion that a petition, putting in a claim to a share of the property sued for in consequence of a notice issued under Clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, should be considered as an application "in relation to matters pending" before the court, and that, with reference to the omission of the Moonsiffs in Article 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, and to the provisions of Clause 2, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, such application in the courts of the Moonsiffs should not be written on stamped paper.—Con. 706, Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 17th Aug. 1832.

A moonsiff may try a suit brought by a holder against his tenant to enhance the rent payable by the latter.

141. For the consideration and orders of your court I submit copy of a petition presented by Ramtonoo Pal, and beg to be informed whether with reference to the Regulations noted in the margin, a Moonsiff is empowered to try so important a case as that alluded to by the petitioner. Ramtonoo states that hitherto he has never paid more than 32 rupees per annum, whereas you will observe, the zemindar, Roy Gungadhur, claims 206 rupees 12 annas, in other words he demands (supposing the petitioner's account to be true) an increased yearly income of rupees 175 in perpetuity, equivalent to a principal sum of rupees 1,500 or 2,000, calculating at the rates of interest current in Bengal. My own opinion is that suits of this value should be referred for trial to the Principal Sudder Ameens.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th ultimo, and in reply to inform you that the suit alluded to by you, being for a sum of money not exceeding 300 rupees, is cognizable by the Moonsiff under Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831. The Court do not approve of the suggestion contained in the concluding part of your letter as a general rule, but observe that you are competent, in the particular case in question, to refer the suit to the Principal Sudder Ameen under Section 7 of the Regulation above quoted.—Con. 811, 2d Aug. 1833.

142. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th instant regarding the calculation of stamp on petitions of plaint, &c. In reply, I am directed to inform you that the practice of your court of excluding the fractional parts of a rupee from such calculations is irregular; any sum however small constituting an excess requiring an increase of stamp.—Con. 874, West. C. 14th March, Cal. C. 4th April 1834.

Fractional parts of a rupee are not to be excluded in calculating the value of stamps.

143. Section 2, Regulation 10 of 1829, the Court observe, rescinds all Regulations and parts of Regulations then existing in regard to the collection of stamps, and as it contains no provision exempting Clause 7, Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, from its operation, the latter enactment must be held to have been repealed by it equally with all other laws on the same subject; and it having been ruled by the two courts, [Construction 768] with reference to the provisions of the Regulation first cited, and in consequence of Section 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, making no exception in favour of petitions for special appeals in cases of the nature of those under consideration, that full stamp duty is leviable thereupon, the Court consider that by a parity of reasoning, petitions for a regular appeal in such cases as well as the pleadings, exhibits, &c. connected therewith are also chargeable with the full amount of duty, in the same manner as all other regular suits instituted in the established Courts of civil judicature.—Con. 987, West. C. 25th Sept. 1835.

Petitions of appeal from the decisions of the collector under reg. 2, 1819, must be on the full stamp.

144. A., having obtained a decree, points out certain lands for sale in satisfaction thereof, the property as he alleges of the defendant. B., a claimant, however, interposes his claim, which is allowed and the sale stopped, when A. is recommended, if he has still any claim, to file a regular suit. He accordingly brings a suit to obtain the sale of certain lands in realization of his decree. The question arises—how is A. to estimate the value of his suit, according to the note on Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829? It was held that as the suit in question was brought, not for possession, but to obtain leave to sell the interests of the original defendant in the estate, and to appropriate the proceeds of sale in liquidation of A.'s claim; or, in other words, as the suit was for the amount that the estate would sell for, the value should have been computed at the estimated selling price, (or the amount of plaintiff's claim under the decrees, supposing the selling price to have been in excess of that claim,) according to the fourth clause of the note on Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, the suit being viewed rather as for an interest in malgozaree land, not capable of valuation under the first clause of the note.—Con. 1301, West. C. 25th June, Cal. C. 16th July 1841.

How a suit to obtain the sale of lands in execution of a decree should be valued.

145. Held that the valuation of a suit to recover possession of a mela or fair, at eighteen years' produce, is unnecessary. The plaintiff may lay his action at the estimated value of the interest claimed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Jan. 1846, vol. 7, p. 225.

Valuation of a suit to recover possession of a mela or fair.

146. The Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, 20th April, 1818, which provides that in case of a money bond, the stamp is to be calculated on the principal sum lent, does not apply to the value of stamp for plaints for the recovery of money; in which case the aggregate of principal and interest is to regulate the value of the stamp.—Con. 409, 2d Dec. 1825.

In plaints for the recovery of money, the aggregate of principal and interest regulates the value of the stamp.

The sum for which the suit is instituted must regulate the stamp, not the whole amount under the bond, which is not claimed.

147. The provisions of Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, distinctly state, that the amount of the stamp on plaints shall be regulated by the amount or value of the property claimed; the Court are therefore of opinion that, as the law stands, the sum of money for which the suit is instituted should regulate the amount of the stamp, not the whole amount under the bond, which is not claimed.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 31st Aug. 1832.

If the plaintiff means to try the main question of a bond, but files his plaint on a stamp equal to an instalment only, he must be nonsuited.

148. As to the second point, supposing that the plaintiff means in reality to try the main question of the bond, but under pretence of suing merely for the instalment, files his plaint on a stamp equal to that instalment only, he will be liable to be nonsuited in whatever court his suit is taken up.—Ibid.

*Costs of suit not to be added to the original amount of action, in cases of appeal.

149. Held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, on a reference from the Judge of Sylhet, that the practice of estimating the value of the property claimed, in appeal, by adding the costs of suit to the original amount, is improper.—Con. 1190, Cal. and West. C. 14th Dec. 1838.

Valuation of a suit by the collector for the forfeiture of an estate for resistance, or evasion of process.

150. In a suit by the Collector for the forfeiture of an estate for resistance or evasion of process the amount of action must be calculated on the sudder jumma of the estate for the confiscation of which the Collector sues; and not on the amount of the arrear due.—Con. 386, 27th May 1825.

A summary appeal will lie from an interlocutory order regarding the value of property sued for.

151. Held that a summary appeal will lie from an interlocutory order, passed in the course of a regular suit, regarding the valuation of the property sued for.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th April 1841, p. 6.

The value of a suit in appeal to be calculated by the sum awarded and not that originally claimed.

153. The lower court having given a decree for a sum less than the amount claimed, the defendant is at liberty to appeal, estimating his appeal at the amount awarded, instead of at that originally claimed.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th June 1841, p. 11.

SECTION V.

Cases in which suits have been over or undervalued.

Nonsuit for understating the value of the thing claimed in the proportion of ten per cent.

154. Every plaint shall specify the value of the thing claimed, and if the value thereof be understated, in the proportion of ten per cent. and the plaintiff have not before completion of the pleadings filed a second or duplicate plaint on stamped paper equal to the difference under the rule contained in Clause 1, Section 7, Regulation 26 of 1814, the defendant shall be entitled, on adducing proof of the same, to obtain a nonsuit, to which effect the courts are hereby required to pass judgment in such cases—anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sch. B, Art. 8.

An action not liable to nonsuit unless the value be understated in the proportion of ten per cent.

155. An action is not liable to nonsuit, from the difference between the value stated and the proper value of the property sued for affecting the stamp duty on the petition of plaints, unless the value be understated in the proportion of ten per cent.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th Dec. 1845, p. 73.

156. It is no ground of nonsuit that the value of the property has been over-estimated.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th Dec. 1845, p. 74.

An over-estimate of the value of the property no ground for a nonsuit.

157. If during the trial of any regular suit it shall appear that the plaint has been written on stamped paper of a less value than that which ought to have been used under the provisions of Sections 13 and 14, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Reg. 10, 1829,] and the courts shall be of opinion that the error or omission did not arise from any fraudulent motive, or from any design on the part of the plaintiff to evade the provisions of the Regulations, it shall be competent to the court, either to permit or to direct the plaintiff, or appellant, in the suit to file a duplicate of the plaint on stamped paper of such a value, as may be sufficient to complete the full amount of the stamp duty prescribed by the sections above mentioned.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 7, Cl. 1.

In what cases the courts may authorize a plaintiff to file a duplicate of the plaint, for the purpose of correcting errors in the valuation of the cause of action.

158. In addition to the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 13, 1808, it is hereby declared, that if on the trial of any summary appeal preferred under that section, the Provincial court shall be of opinion, that the original suit was not from its amount regularly cognizable in the Zillah or City court, but that the irregularity in the institution of such suit did not arise from any fraudulent motive on the part of the plaintiff, it shall be competent to the Provincial court to direct the zillah or city Judge to refund to the plaintiff the amount of the fee or stamp duty paid by him, on instituting the suit in the Zillah or City court, and the plaintiff shall be permitted to institute his suit de novo in the Provincial court.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Provision for the repayment to a plaintiff of the stamp duty or institution fee in certain cases.

159. If the plaintiff in a Zillah or City court shall state his cause of action, as not exceeding five thousand sicca rupees, and the defendant shall, in answer, deny such statement and allege the produce, amount, or value, to be such as to render the suit not cognizable by the Zillah or City court, under this Regulation, the Judge of that court, previously to entering upon any investigation of the merits of the cause shall make such enquiry as may appear necessary to ascertain whether the suit be, or be not receivable, in the Zillah or City court; and shall pass an order accordingly; leaving either party, who may be dissatisfied therewith, to prefer a summary appeal therefrom, to the Provincial Court; whose decision shall be final upon the question, whether the suit be cognizable, or not, in the Zillah or City court. But no such objection to the plaintiff's statement of the cause of action shall be received from the defendant, unless offered, in the first instance, in answer to the plaint. Nor shall any appeal from the order of the zillah or city Judge, in such cases, be open to the Provincial court, unless preferred within one month after the order appealed from is passed; or unless sufficient reason be assigned, to the satisfaction of the Provincial court, why it was not preferred within that period.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Disputes between parties respecting causes instituted in a zillah or city court, being cognizable or not by such court under this regulation, by whom and under what rules to be decided.

160. In suits which may be instituted in the Provincial court, if the plaintiff shall state his cause of action to exceed five thousand sicca rupees, and the defendant shall, in answer, deny such statement, and allege the produce, amount or value, to be such as to render the suit cognizable by the Zillah or City court, in the first instance, the Provincial court shall cause such enquiry to be made, as may appear necessary, to ascertain whether the suit be cognizable in the Zillah, City, or Provincial court, under the provisions of this Regulation; and the determination of the Provincial court, upon this point, shall be final. Provided, that no such objection to the plaintiff's statement of the cause of action shall be received from the defendant unless offered, in answer to the plaint, in the first instance.—Ibid, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

If decided to be cognizable by a zillah or city court, to be instituted de novo in such court.

161. In the cases provided for in this section, if the Provincial court determine that the suit is cognizable in the Zillah or City court, the institution fee paid by the plaintiff shall be returned to him; and he shall be left to institute his suit, de novo, in the Zillah or City court. If any pleaders shall have been employed in the Provincial court, that court shall adjudge to them such proportion of the established fee, not exceeding one-fourth, as they may judge adequate; to be paid by the plaintiff.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Where the dft. states that the value of the property has been overvalued, the P. S. A. must enquire into the plea, before trying the merits of the case.

162. The defendant having pleaded in a case before a Principal Sudder Ameen that the plaintiff had greatly overvalued the property which formed the subject of action, such excess of valuation making the case appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut instead of to the zillah Judge, the Court held that the Principal Sudder Ameen was bound, in the spirit of Section 5, Regulation 13, 1808, to enquire into the plea before proceeding to try the merits of the case.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d July 1841, vol. 7, p. 41.

Where the dft. states that the value of the property is underrated, the plea must be examined before the pleadings are completed.

163. I am directed by the Court to request that, whenever the defendant in a regular suit may plead that the plaintiff has underrated the value of the property sued for, either with a view to evade the stamp duty, or to render the suit not cognizable in appeal to the Queen in Council, you will before the pleadings are completed, make such enquiry as you may deem proper, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of the allegation: and that having done so, you will pass an order accordingly, leaving the party, who may be dissatisfied therewith, to prefer a summary appeal therefrom to this Court. You will have the goodness to communicate this order to the Principal Sudder Ameen of your district.—Cir. Ord. 19th June 1840.

Dft.'s objection to valuation of property must be urged in the court of first instance.

164. Defendant's objection to valuation of property should be urged in the Court of first resort, and cannot be urged as a matter of right in the Court of appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th May 1836, vol. 6, p. 68.

Dft.'s objections to the valuation of property must be generally brought forward in answer to the plaint.

165. An objection by defendant to the valuation of the property sued for, cannot be entertained by the Court of original jurisdiction, unless pleaded in answer to the plaint; or by the appellate court, unless so pleaded, and the order thereon, if against the defendant appealed from, either summarily or regularly.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Dec. 1846, vol. 7, p. 284.

Idem.

166. I am directed to refer you to Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, and to observe that the objections of the defendant to the plaintiff's valuation should generally be brought forward in his answer to the plaint, when the presiding Judge, after such summary enquiry as may appear necessary, may permit the plaintiff, should the value be underrated, and without apparent fraudulent intent, to file a supplementary plaint agreeably to the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 26 of 1814. This decision will be liable to alteration or reversal by the Court having appellate jurisdiction, either summarily or on a regular appeal. Cases may also arise in which, though the defendant have not objected to the plaintiff's valuation of the property in the Court of primary jurisdiction, it would be the obvious duty of the court trying the appeal to notice and rectify the same.—Con. 1046, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 16th Sept. 1836.

167. A summary appeal may be had from a nonsuit passed under Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, if it can be shewn by the plaintiff that the value of the property claimed has not been understated by him, and that consequently the order passed by the Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen was erroneous.—Con. 872, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 24th Oct. 1834.

A summary appeal may be had from a nonsuit for undervaluation of property.

[The following are the latest rules for the guidance of the Zillah and inferior courts, regarding cases in which the petition of plaint has been written on a stamp of inferior value, or in which the defendant may object to the plaintiff's valuation of the contested property.]

168. In the event of its coming to the knowledge of the Court of original jurisdiction or appeal, that the plaint in any suit has not been written on paper of the proper value, the court in which the error may be detected shall proceed under Clause 1, Section 7, Regulation 26 of 1814, either nonsuiting the plaintiff, should any fraud be apparent, or permitting him to file a duplicate of the plaint, should no fraudulent intent be presumable.—Cir. Ord. 20th Aug. 1841, par. 1.

Course to be pursued when the court discovers that the plaint has not been written on paper of the proper stamp.

169. When the error of valuation in the original suit may be discovered in appeal, the appellate court, if the more indulgent process is determined on, shall return the plaint and the decree, retaining the case on the file, to the lower tribunal, for the purpose of having a duplicate plaint filed, and the necessary alteration made in the costs; and, on the return of the document, shall then proceed to dispose of the appeal on its merits.—Ibid, par. 2.

Procedure when the error of valuation in the original suit is discovered in appeal.

170. In suits of the nature described in Clause 4, of the note to Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, the objections of the defendant to the plaintiff's valuation of the property sued for, as well as any other objections relative to the value of the stamped paper on which the plaint is written, must be brought forward in his answer to the plaint; and no such objections can be urged as a matter of right by the defendant at a subsequent stage of the case, either in the Court of original jurisdiction or appeal; nor shall the question of inferior valuation of the property sued for be triable by the appellate court, except upon summary or regular appeal from the order of the inferior court on that particular point, when the appellate tribunal shall proceed agreeably to Clause 2, Section 7, Regulation 26, 1814, should no fraudulent intention be apparent.—Ibid, par. 3.

Stage at which the objection of the defendant to the plaintiff's valuation is to be urged.

SECTION VI.

Plaints in the Zillah Court.

171. The Court having reason to think that, in some courts, it is customary, in the enumeration of regular suits and miscellaneous cases, to maintain one consecutive series of numbers, a practice which is as inconvenient as it is useless, whereas an annual series is obviously more suitable and equally efficient for all purposes of record and reference; I am directed, therefore, to request that, if the objectionable practice adverted to should have hitherto obtained in your jurisdiction, you will discontinue it, and commence a new series of numbers with the commencement of each successive year, introducing this plan at once, and making it applicable to all suits and miscellaneous cases which may have been brought upon your files and those of the subordinate courts since the 1st instant, or which may be hereafter instituted.—Cir. Ord. 18th Jan. 1844, par. 1.

Mode in which regular suits and miscellaneous cases are to be enumerated.

Idem.

172. You are requested to forward a correct translation of this Circular to all the courts subject to your control.—Ibid, par. 2.

Only plaintiffs or defendants, or their vakeels duly empowered to be allowed to prefer or defend a suit. No other persons, excepting the witnesses of the parties, to be heard vivâ voce in a cause.

173. No complaint is to be received but from the plaintiff, nor any answer to a complaint, but from the defendant, or their respective vakeels duly empowered. Nor is any person to be permitted to do any act, or to be heard vivâ voce in any stage of a cause, excepting the plaintiff or defendant, or their vakeels or witnesses.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 2. [This enactment was modified by Act XII. 1833, which allows parties to employ agents.]

Petition of plaint may be received from any authorized agent, or any duly empowered vakeel.

174. The Court having reason to believe that the provisions of Clause 3, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, and Regulation 12, 1833, have not been duly carried into effect, and that delay consequently takes place in the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, in the disposal of the causes pending before those functionaries, direct me to inform you, that petitions of plaint may be received by you, agreeably to Section 2, Regulation 4, 1793, from any authorized agent, or from any duly empowered vakeel attached to the court of the Judge, the Principal Sudder Ameen, or the Sudder Ameen, and that, in order to expedite business, the Judge should encourage such petitions of plaint being filed by the vakeels of that court to which, under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, and Act XXV. 1837, they will ordinarily be transferred for trial.—Cir. Ord. 18th Dec. 1840.

A managing gomastah may institute and defend suits connected with the kootee which he represents.

175. A question having been agitated by the acting Judge of the city of Moorshedabad, through the Court of appeal respecting the application of this rule to the gomastahs of banking houses, the Court, in a letter dated the 31st January, 1811, gave it as their opinion, that a managing gomastah, under the general and known powers vested in him, might institute and defend suits, and carry on all concerns connected with the kootee of which he was the ostensible representative, without producing any authority from his principals for so doing.—Con. 75, 31st Jan. 1811.

What a complaint preferred to a zillah or city court is to contain.

Complaint to specify the name of the defendant and when it arose, and to be signed by the party, or his vakeel. Judge to sign, number, and date the complaint.

Complaint to be entered in a book by a native officer.

176. Every complaint that may be presented to the Court of dewanny adawlut of any zillah, or of either of the cities of Patna, Dacca, or Moorshedabad, is to state precisely the matter of complaint, [and the value of the thing sued for, as ordained in the next section.] The complaint is also to specify the name of the person complained against, the time when the cause of action arose, and is to be signed by the complainant, or his vakeel duly authorized. The complaint is to be signed and numbered, and dated in the order in which it may be received, by the Judge of the court, and is to be registered in a book by a Native officer of the court, whose particular duty it is to be made to copy and register complaints.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 3.

A judge may point out to a party, the proper mode to be followed by him in his suit.

177. The Court are of opinion that there can be no objection to a Judge pointing out officially to a party in a suit the proper mode to be followed by him when he sees occasion to do so.—Con. 705, 20th July 1832.

178. Property claimed under separate deeds, must be separately sued for.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st Jan. 1842, p. 23. Property claimed under separate deeds to be separately sued for.

179. In a suit for recovery of various portions of land from which the plaintiff alleged that he had been dispossessed at different times, but did not specify particulars, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that he was rightly nonsuited.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th March 1842, p. 25. In a suit for recovering various portions of land, failure to specify particulars was deemed a cause of nonsuit.

180. A plaintiff cannot be prevented from withdrawing his suit.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Dec. 1844, p. 62. A plaintiff may withdraw his suit.

181. A plaintiff was nonsuited for making a deceased person a co-defendant.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 24th March 1846, p. 80. Making a deceased person a co-defendant is a cause of nonsuit.

182. The error of making a deceased person a defendant, can be corrected on the motion of the plaintiff.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st Sept. 1847. But the error may be corrected by the plaintiff.

183. The omission to specify by name one of the defendants in a civil suit, who was otherwise adequately described, was held to be an insufficient ground of nonsuit.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th Aug. 1846, p. 82. The omission to specify one of the defendants by name who was otherwise adequately described, no ground of nonsuit.

184. It is hereby enacted, that so much of Section 3, Regulation 4, 1793, and of the corresponding part of Section 3, Regulation 3, 1803, of the Bengal code, as requires the transcription of plaints, be repealed.—Act XIV. 1847. Part of reg. 4, 1793, sec. 3 rescinded. The transcription of plaints unnecessary.

SECTION VII.

Zillah and City Courts—Notice to Defendants in Civil Suits—Ex-parte Decisions.

185. Upon the institution of a civil suit in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, in any Zillah or City court, the general first process against the defendant, instead of the summons and requisition of security for appearance prescribed by Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 5, Regulation 3, 1803, shall be a notice only containing a short statement of the demand, with the requisition to attend in person or by vakeel, and to deliver an answer to the plaint, on or before a certain day, to be specified in the notice.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 2, Cl. 1. The general first process to be issued by the civil courts, instead of the summons and requisition of security prescribed by sec. 5, reg. 4, 1793, and sec. 5, reg. 3, 1803, shall be a notice only. What the notice shall contain.

186. If the defendant have an accredited agent at the place where the court is held expressly empowered, either by a clause in his general mooktarnamah, or by a separate mooktarnamah granted for that purpose, to receive on behalf of his constituent notices or other judicial processes, which may not be specially ordered to be served personally, by an officer of the court; the notice to be issued under the preceding clause, shall be tendered to such agent, to be communicated by him to his principal; and the agent's acknowledgment, to be endorsed upon it, shall be accepted as a sufficient service of it; if he be desirous of giving such acknowledgment in preference to the notice being served on the person of his principal by an officer of the court.—Ibid, Cl. 2. How the notice is to be served, if the defendant have an accredited agent residing at the place where the court is held, to receive such notices or other judicial processes. Notice to be tendered to such agent, and his acknowledgment, endorsed on it, shall be accepted as a sufficient service of it.

Admission or rejection of general mooktars.

187. Section 2, Regulation 2, 1806, recognizes the admission of general mooktars ; but the Court observe that in admitting or rejecting this description of agent, much must of course be left to the discretion of the local authority, according to the particular circumstances of each case.—Con. 512, 17th July 1829.

How the notice is in other cases to be served.

To be served by a single peon or chuprassy who shall require only the endorsement of its receipt by the defendant, or, if he be absent, the acknowledgment of his principal agent or person acting for him.

How the notice is to be served if the defendant be resident in another jurisdiction.

Or, if the defendant be neither within such jurisdiction nor within that of any other zillah or city court, and the suit be cognizable notwithstanding from the property if immovable being situated in such jurisdiction, or from the cause of action having arisen therein ; in the former case, the notice to be served upon the agent in charge of such property ; and in the latter, in such manner as the judge may deem most certain and convenient.

Court how to proceed against a defendant to whom a notice may have been issued, who shall abscond, or cannot be found, or acts so that the notice cannot be served on him.

Proclamation to be issued, and what it shall contain.

Cases in which the court is to proceed ex-parte on the allegations and the evidence of the plaintiff only.

188. If the defendant shall not have an accredited agent at the place, where the court is held, or if he shall not have expressly authorized his agent to receive notices of the above description ; or if such agent shall decline receiving the notice for communication to his constituent, and the defendant be resident within the jurisdiction of the court ; it shall be served on him through the Nazir of the court, by a single chuprassy or peon ; who shall require only the acknowledgment of the defendant to be endorsed upon it, or if he be absent from his usual place of residence, the acknowledgment of his principal agent : or of any person acting for him during his absence. If the defendant be resident within the jurisdiction of any other Zillah or City court than that in which the suit may have been instituted ; the notice shall be transmitted to the Judge of the zillah or city, in which the defendant may reside, to be served in the manner above directed. If the defendant be neither resident within the jurisdiction of the Zillah or City court in which the suit may be instituted or of any other Zillah or City court ; and the suit shall notwithstanding be cognizable either in claims to landed or other immovable property, from the property claimed being situated within the jurisdiction of the court ; or in other cases from the cause of action having arisen within its jurisdiction ; the notice, if the suit be for land or other immovable property, shall be served upon the defendant's agent or representative in charge of such property ; and in other suits, the Judge shall cause notice of the claim to be conveyed to the defendant, in such manner as may appear most certain and convenient according to the circumstances of the case.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 2, Cl. 3.

189. If a defendant to whom a notice may have been issued, as directed in the preceding section, shall abscond or is not after diligent search to be found ; or shall shut himself up in any house or building, or retire to any place, so that the notice cannot be served upon him, the Judge (or the Register in causes referred to him,) on receiving the Nazir's return to this effect shall issue a proclamation, as directed in similar cases, when a summons cannot be served upon a defendant, by Section 11, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 13, Regulation 3, 1803. If the defendant shall not appear in person or by vakeel, by the time limited in such proclamation, or if a defendant, who may have been served with a notice, as directed in the preceding section, shall not appear in person or by vakeel, within the time specified ; or if, having appeared, he shall refuse to answer the plaint, or make other default ; the Court, as provided in the sections above-mentioned, shall proceed to try the cause ex-parte ; and after examining the plaintiff's evidence in support of his claim, shall give judgment, in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared, answered, and entered into proof.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Cases in which the court is to give judgment on the allegations.

190. If the defendant shall not appear at the time limited in the notice, or if a defendant who may have been served with a summons shall not appear, or, having appeared, shall refuse to give answer, or make other default, or shall admit the truth of the plaintiff's bill of complaint, the court, on examining the allegations of the plaintiff only, and the depositions of his witnesses, is to decree and give judgment, in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared, answered, and entered into proof.—Reg. 4. 1793, Sect. 11.

191. The Court are not prepared to adopt to its full extent the principle laid down in your letter to the address of Mr. Turquand, dated the 13th ultimo, namely, that "a defendant in a regular civil suit is entitled to file his answer to the plaint at any stage of the trial antecedent to final decision, although the enquiry may have been commenced ex-parte." On the contrary, under a strict construction of the rule contained in Section 3, Regulation 2, 1806, the cause should be proceeded on ex-parte, notwithstanding the defendant's subsequent appearance, if he do not appear, either in person or by vakeel, within the time limited in the proclamation prescribed by Section 11, Regulation 4, 1793. The Court, however, are of opinion, that consistently with the spirit of the rule above quoted, whenever a defendant appears, at any time antecedent to the decision of the suit, and assigns satisfactory reasons, to show that the default was not wilful, he should be permitted to file his answer, notwithstanding the commencement of an ex-parte investigation; and to adduce evidence in support of it, if the merits of the case appear to require it.—Con. 375, 4th Feb. 1825.

192. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the decision of lower court cannot be considered imperfect merely because the case was heard ex-parte; the defendant having received the usual notice, but neglected to defend the action.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th July 1836, vol. 6, p. 76.

193. The defendant having failed to appear in the Court of original jurisdiction, and having shewn no good reason for the default, the court would not entertain his appeal or enter into his objections to the claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th June 1840, vol. 6, p. 288.

194. A., having sold a house at Mynpooree to B., locked it up, and went to a foreign country leaving property in a room, the key of which he left with C. Some time after his departure, B., concluding that he was either dead or would not return, took the key from C. and gave it to the cotwal, who opened the door, took an inventory of the property, and sent it to the Magistrate, and B. instituted a suit to recover the amount of his debt from the property. The Judge, doubting whether he could entertain the suit against the property when no defendant was forthcoming, referred the question to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who held that as the cause of action arose within the court's jurisdiction, and property was forthcoming, the case was cognizable, and should be proceeded on in the manner laid down in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 2, 1806.—Con. 854, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 31st Jan. 1834.

195. On a reference from the Judge of Chittagong, as to whether a suit could be carried on against a party who had proceeded to England, it was held that a case cannot be tried ex-parte, when it is known that the usual notice has not, and cannot be served on the defendant.—Con. 1343, Cal. C. 20th May, West. C. 17th June 1842.

196. The issue of notice to heirs of defendant or respondent, deceased, to attend, and not proof of their heirship, is required from the opposite party.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d June 1845, p. 61.

tions and evidence of the plaintiff only.

If a defendant appears at any time before the decision of the suit, and satisfactorily accounts for the delay, he may file his answer, though the ex-parte investigation has begun.

Decisions of the lower court not imperfect, because the case was tried ex-parte.

Where the defendant did not appear originally or satisfactorily account for his default, his appeal cannot be received.

If there be no defendant to be sued, but property belonging to him is forthcoming, the case is cognizable.

A suit cannot be proceeded with against a deft who has left the country, and on whom notice cannot be served.

Notice to be given to heirs of deceased defendant to attend.

SECTION VIII.

Exemption from Arrest under Civil Process.

Party in attendance on a crim. court on bail not liable to arrest under civil process.

197. The Court concur in the opinion that a party being in attendance on a Criminal court on bail to answer to a criminal charge is not liable to arrest under civil process.—Con. 885, 23d May 1834.

Nor can one in attendance on a collector to defend a suit, be thus liable to arrest.

198. I am directed by the Court to inform you that they are of opinion that a person being in attendance on a Collector to defend a suit or claim pending before that officer is protected from arrest under civil process, in like manner as persons in attendance on a Magistrate to answer a criminal charge; and that in either case the protection will last only as long as the party is in actual attendance or coming to or returning from the court.—Con. 893, West. C. 4th July, Cal. C. 1st Aug. 1834.

Parties whether prosecutors, defendants or witnesses in any case before any court are exempt from arrest under civil process.

199. In continuation of Circular order, dated 1st April, 1840, No. 16, I am directed by the Sudder Board of Revenue to communicate for the information and guidance of the several revenue authorities in your division, that it has been held by the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut that parties, whether prosecutors or defendants, and witnesses, in any case before any Court of justice, are exempt from arrest under civil process while in attendance on, or going to, or returning from such court.—Cir. Ord. S. B. R. 18th May 1842.

SECTION IX.

Zillah and City Courts—Security for the Defendant's Appearance, and for Costs.

Defendant after receiving the notice & attending in person by vakeel to be allowed to defend the suit to its termination, without being called upon for security, unless it appear to the court requisite.

How the court is to proceed, if it appear on sufficient evidence that the defendant intends to abscond.

Process to be issued in such cases requiring security under specific penalties.

200. If a defendant, after receiving the notice prescribed in Section 2, shall attend in person or by vakeel, and deliver his answer to the plaint, and no reason shall subsequently appear to the court for requiring security for his appearance, during the trial of the suit; he shall be allowed to defend the cause, to its determination, without being called upon for such security. But if the Judge (or Register) shall be satisfied, by sufficient proof, that there is reason to believe the defendant intends to abscond, and withdraw himself from the jurisdiction of the court, he may either on the institution of the suit, or at any time whilst the suit is depending in the Zillah or City court, issue process against the defendant requiring him to give security for his appearance, as prescribed on the issue of summonses, by Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 5, Regulation 3, 1803; under penalty of being committed to close custody until such security be given, or the decree of the court be complied with; as provided in the abovementioned sections, or until an attachment of property shall have taken place, to secure the execution of the ultimate judgment in the cause, under the provision made by the following section of this Regulation. The security bond, to be executed in such instances, shall in substance correspond with that prescribed by Section 3, Regulation 11, 1797, and Section 29, Regulation 3, 1803; and in fixing the extent of the security to be required, the Judge (or Register) is

Security bond to correspond with that prescribed in the regulations herein quoted; and in fixing the extent of the security the judge or register is authorized to exercise the discre-authorized to exercise the discretion vested in him by Section 2, Regulation 3, 1802 ; and Section 8, Regulation 14, 1803.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 4.

tion allowed under the regulations here-in specified.

201. Regulation 2, 1806, Section 4, invests Judges with the power to commit to close custody defendants intending to abscond, or withdraw themselves from the jurisdiction of the court in default of furnishing security ; but does not specify what course is to be pursued if the defendant shall have actually withdrawn himself from the jurisdiction of one zillah Judge to that of another.—In reply, I am directed to observe, that as the defendant was not within the limits of the district in which the suit against him was instituted, at the time the process issued under Section 4, Regulation 2, 1806, was served upon him, the rule contained in that section does not apply ; and consequently that if he has been arrested by the court into whose jurisdiction he has removed, he must be released ; leaving the court in which the suit was instituted to decide it ex-parte, if he fail to appear and defend it.—Con. 888, Cal. C. 4th, West. C. 25th July 1834.

A defendant not being within the district in which the suit was instituted, cannot be arrested in default of security under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 4.

202. The section already quoted [Section 4, Regulation 2, 1806,] appears, from the wording of it (" if satisfied," " he may," &c.) to leave the demand of security entirely to the discretion of the Judge presiding in the court in which the cause is pending, and to preclude the right of appeal from his order ; and, from the circumstance of that right being specially provided for in cases falling under Section 11 of the same Regulation, it may be inferred that it was the intention of the framers of the Regulation to restrict it to the latter section.—Held by the Calcutta Court, under date the 13th June, 1835, that the order of the late Judge, Mr. Moore, refusing to take security from the defendant in the case of Mr. Donovan versus the Reverend Fre Paul Gradoly, was open to appeal to this court.—Con. 963, Cal. C. 26th June, West. C. 31st July 1835.

The order of a J. refusing to take security from a defendant who is said to be about to abscond, may be appealed to the S. D. A.

203. The following form of security bond, or an instrument to the following effect, is to be hereafter executed by the sureties for the appearance of defendants in the Zillah and City courts required by Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793:—Whereas a suit has been instituted in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah (or city) of ——— by ——— plaintiff against ——— defendant ; and whereas I ——— inhabitant of ——— have voluntarily become security for the appearance of the said defendant to answer to the above suit, and perform all such orders as may be passed thereupon, until the final decree on it shall have been carried into execution ; I do therefore hereby engage and bind myself, my heirs and successors, that the said defendant shall appear in person, or by vakeel, to make answer to the plaint against him in the suit aforesaid on the ——— being the day on which his appearance has been required in the said Zillah (or City) court ; and further that the said defendant shall personally attend at the said Zillah (or City) court whenever the same may be required by the Judge thereof, at any time whilst the above suit is depending before the Zillah court, or Provincial court of appeal, or Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut ; or before the final decree which may be passed thereupon by the above courts respectively, shall be fully and completely carried into execution ; in default of which and in the event of my not producing the said defendant when called upon, I will be answerable for such sum as may be adjudged against him ; and

Form of security bond to be executed by the sureties for defendants required by sec. 5, reg. 4, 1793.

for the performance of whatever order or decree may be passed against him on the suit abovementioned.—Reg. 11, 1797, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

The zillah and city judges authorized to exercise their discretion with respect to security for the appearance of defendants in the first instance, &c.

204. In all cases of suits preferred in the Zillah or City courts, whether by paupers or by others, the Judge before whom the suit may be instituted, is authorized to fix the extent of the security to be required for the appearance of the defendant in conformity to Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, (extended to Benares by Regulation 8, 1795,) and for which a form of bond is prescribed in Section 3, Regulation 11, 1797, viz. the Judge shall exercise his discretion with respect to the responsibility of the surety or sureties to be found by the defendant for his personal attendance when required, as specified in the above Regulations; and in the first instance, whatever may be the claim of the plaintiff, shall demand from the defendant such security only as may appear necessary to secure his appearance during the trial of the suit. Provided, that if at any time in the course of the trial the security so taken from the defendant shall appear to the Judge insufficient, he is authorized and required to take such further security as he may think necessary to secure the appearance of the defendant.—Reg. 3, 1802, Sect. 2.

The judge may require further security, if in the course of the trial the security so taken shall appear insufficient.

Sureties for defendants not appearing, or refusing to give answer, liable to be prosecuted as principals.

Option given to the plaintiff to prosecute the surety, or to proceed against the defendant as herein directed.

205. If a defendant, for whose appearance security may have been taken, shall not appear, or having appeared, shall refuse to give answer, the plaintiff is permitted to institute a suit against the sureties on their engagement, and is to be entitled to recover from them whatever he may prove to be due to him from the defendant; or he may proceed against the defendant in the same manner as defendants are directed to be proceeded against who have been served with a summons, and have not appeared, or have refused to give answer.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 12.

Exception to the rule made in favor of defendants; who may be women of the description herein specified.

How such women are to be summoned when defendants.

206. In every case in which the defendant shall be a Hindoo or Mahomedan woman of a rank or quality, which, according to the customs and usages of the country, would render it improper to compel her to appear in an open Court of justice, the Judges of the Zillah and City courts are not to issue any compulsory process against her, to compel her to appear and make answer, but are to issue a summons requiring her to appear in person or by vakeel, at a certain time to be named in the summons, in the Zillah or City court, and answer to the complaint, and abide by the orders which the court may think proper to pass in the cause.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

Guardians when parties in civil suits with their wards, exempted from giving securities.

207. In cases in which a guardian may be a party jointly with his ward, under Clause first, Section 32, Regulation 10, 1793, in any civil suit, the securities required by the Regulations to be taken from parties in suits, shall not be demanded from the guardian.—Reg. 55, 1795, Sect. 2.

A debtor confined for not giving security may have the benefit of the insolvent rules.

208. A debtor confined in consequence of inability to give security under Section 4, Regulation 2, 1806, may, after decree passed, and before execution taken out, be admitted to the benefit of the insolvent rules.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th Jan. 1840, p. 30.

Security given on other grounds no bar to the demand of security under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 4.

209. Security for the discharge of a trust, or for payment of a debt, given directly to the employer, or creditor, is no bar to the demand of security under Regulation 2, 1806.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Jan. 1843, p. 45.

210. Process of arrest under Section 4, Regulation 2, 1806, taken out against a person when within the jurisdiction of the court issuing it, may be served on him beyond it.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st April 1845, p. 67.

Process of arrest under reg. 2, 1806, taken out against one residing in the jurisdiction of the court issuing it, may be served on him beyond it.

211. An answer filed by the vakeel of a defendant in a suit, himself absconding or not furnishing security under Regulation 2, 1806, is not to be attended to.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th May 1845, p. 68.

An answer filed by the vakeel of a defendant absconding, or not giving security, not to be attended to.

212. Residents of foreign territories, instituting or defending suits in the Company's courts, must find security for costs, although they hold land, or other property, within the limits of the British territories.—Con. 1355, West. C. 5th, Cal. C. 26th Aug. 1842.

Residents in foreign territories instituting or defending suits, must give security for costs.

SECTION X.

Zillah and City Courts—Security from Defendant for the execution of the Decree—Attachment of his Property.

213. In any case if the Judge (or the Register in causes referred to him) be satisfied by sufficient proof, that there is ground to apprehend the defendant means to dispose of the property in his possession by any private transfer; or to cause the public sale of any disputed land, by withholding the assessment upon it; or to remove any personal property from the jurisdiction of the court, whilst the suit against him is depending; for the purpose of avoiding the execution of an eventual judgment against him, the Judge (or Register) is authorized to call upon the defendant for malzami security, in such sum as may appear sufficient to make good the ultimate judgment of the court; and in the event of such security not being given (within a reasonable time to be allowed for that purpose) to cause the attachment of any land, effects, or other property belonging to, or possessed by, the defendant, to the amount or value of the cause of action in the suit depending; or the attachment of which may be deemed necessary to secure the execution of the judgment to be passed in the cause.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Malzami security to be required in cases wherein it may appear to the judge or register on sufficient proof that the defendant means to dispose of the property or land in dispute, by private transfer or public sale; or in any of the modes herein specified.

If the security be not furnished within a reasonable time, any land, property or effects in the possession of the defendant, to the amount or value of the cause of action, to be attached.

214. Attachment of property, to secure the execution of eventual judgment, on other grounds than those set forth in clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, is illegal.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Sept. 1847.

Grounds of attachment of property under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, cl. 1.

215. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut promulgate the subjoined resolution for the guidance of the civil authorities in the lower provinces and information of all parties interested. With reference to the provisions of Act XIX. of 1843, and with the view to obviate the disputes which not unfrequently arise owing to the alleged alienation of property pledged as security in civil cases, the Court resolve:—That all security bonds, for whatever purpose the security may be required, whether for costs of respondent in appeals to the Queen in Council, or under the terms of Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 2 of 1806, or any other law or authoritative order, shall be duly registered according to the rules now in force or which may be hereafter enjoined, and that the registration of such bonds shall be deemed indispensable to their acceptance

Security bonds, under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, cl. 1, shall be duly registered, otherwise they will not be considered valid.

as good and valid securities. Ordered, that this resolution be communicated to the civil authorities in the lower provinces for their information, and that a translation thereof be suspended in the court-house for a period of one month for general information.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846.

There must be a reasonable time for procuring security before the property can be legally attached.

216. A reasonable time must be allowed for procuring the requisite security under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, before the property of the defendant can be legally attached.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st Nov. 1834, p. 2.

An attachment before the time fixed for giving security, illegal.

217. An attachment made (under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 2 of 1806,) previous to the expiration of the period fixed by the court for furnishing security, held to be illegal.—Ibid, p. 1.

Without proof of an intention to alienate, and a refusal, or neglect, to give security, an attachment is illegal.

218. Proof of intention to alienate and of a refusal or neglect to give security is requisite before a Zillah court can attach the property of a defendant under Section 5, Regulation 2 of 1806, see Construction 190.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st Aug. 1841, p. 16.

The judge must not attach property without proof that malzaminny is necessary, & until the defendant has neglected to furnish it.

219. The Court entirely concur with you in opinion, that in the case in question, it was clearly the duty of the Judge of Mymensing under Clause first, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, not to have proceeded to the attachment of the defendant's land till he had satisfied himself by proof that sufficient grounds as set forth in the abovementioned clause, for requiring malzaminny security from the defendant, did actually exist; and until the defendant had failed to furnish such security within a reasonable time, to be allowed for that purpose.—Con. 190, 14th Dec. 1814.

If a defendant abscond or shut himself up to avoid service of the process against him, his property may be attached to secure execution of the decree.

220. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th instant, and in reply to the first question put by you, to refer you to Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, which expressly authorizes the attachment of the property of the defendant to secure the execution of the ultimate judgment, where sufficient security is not given; and with reference to the second question, to state that a mere entry into the compound does not authorize the officer in charge of a process to break open an outer door, in order to serve it.—Con. 745, 21st Dec. 1832.

The property of a European def. equally liable to attachment under this sec. of reg. 2, 1806, as that of a native.

221. The property of an European defendant is liable to attachment in a suit legally instituted, in like manner, as the property of any other person subject to the jurisdiction of the court, upon the court's being satisfied, by sufficient proof, that there is reason to believe the defendant intends to abscond, and withdraw himself or remove his property, the detention of which is necessary to the satisfaction of eventual judgment.—Con. 588, 8th April 1831, par. 2.

The attachment of the property on the mere oath of the plaintiff premature.

222. The attachment of the property of the defendant, in the case noticed in the letter from the Judge of Chittagong, on the mere oath of the plaintiff, appears to have been premature, and the process of attachment, as exhibited in the Judge's letter, at variance with the provisions of Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806.—Ibid, par. 3.

A collector receiving the orders of a civil court under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, cannot refuse to attach the surplus proceeds of a sale for arrears in deposit.

223. Held that Section 21, Act XII. 1841, does not authorize a Collector in refusing to attach the surplus proceeds of a sale for arrears of revenue in deposit in his office, in obedience to the orders of the Civil court passed under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th April 1842, p. 28.

The profits of a of a jaghire, to meet the eventual judgment in an action for debt.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th Nov. 1834, p. 1. jaghire may thus be attached.

225. Promissory notes may be attached, under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, when found in the name of the defendant in the action, or endorsed to him or her.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th Feb. 1846, p. 76. Promissory notes may be thus attached.

226. A. obtained a decree against four defendants. B. obtained a decree against three of them. The property of all four was sold in execution of both decrees. The fourth sued to set aside the sale on the ground that he was not a party to the suit of B., and other grounds; and obtained a judgment in his favor. Held that this judgment did not in any way affect an attachment under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, taken out by A. while his suit was pending against the property of the fourth.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th July 1847. An attachment taken out under that reg. not affected by a judgment to set aside a sale of property.

227. Until the proclamation of attachment has been issued in conformity with the above rule, the defendant may legally alienate his property.—Con. 588, 8th April 1831, par. 4. Property may be legally alienated till the proclamation of attachment has issued.

228. Plaintiffs held money decrees against one Nurunjon Sing, and took out execution against his property, which was attached. The defendant pleaded a private sale to himself. Sale was stopped; and the plaintiffs referred to a regular suit to prove the liability of the property for the debts of Nurunjon Sing. This suit was brought accordingly, and decided in favor of the plaintiffs by the Principal Sudder Ameen, who found that the sale was a fictitious transaction to defeat the claims of the plaintiffs. The Court, for the same reasons, confirmed the decree of the lower court, notwithstanding the attachment under Regulation 2, 1806, which had been applied for, had not been actually issued.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 147. Where attachment under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, had been applied for, but not issued it was not held to bar the sale of property.

229. Real property had been bought from a person who was a judgment debtor, after date of judgment. The question was, whether the sale, under such circumstances, was legal? The court, as there was no attachment of the property at the time, decreed its legality.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th March 1844, vol. 7, p. 157. Where there was no attachment of property at the time, the sale of it was deemed legal.

230. Construction 588, (para. 4,) which rules that a defendant may legally alienate his property prior to proclamation of attachment under Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, held to be applicable only to bonâ fide sales.—Remarks.—A case of fictitious sale, prior to the issue of proclamation of attachment under Regulation 2, 1806, was reversed. See case of Baboo Odyet Nurrain Sing versus Juggomohun Doss, decided January 8th, 1844, reported at page 147, volume 7, Sudder dewanny adawlut Reports. The Sudder dewanny adawlut decreed the legality of a bonâ fide sale, prior to attachment of property under Regulation 2, 1806. See case of Baboo Odyet Nurrain Sing versus Juggomohun Doss, decided January 8th, 1844, reported at page 147, volume 7, Sudder dewanny adawlut Reports.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Feb. 1845, vol. 7, p. 191. A bonâ fide sale, prior to attachment of property under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, held to be legal.

231. As the provisions of Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, do not restrict the power of attachment to property within the district, the Court are of opinion that the Judge may cause the defendant's property to be attached on his inability to give the requisite security, wherever the same may be situated.—Con. 665, 6th Jan. 1832. Dft.'s property may be attached on his failing to give the security wherever it may be situated.

232. The order of a zillah Judge releasing surety (who has given security for a defendant The order of a zillah judge releasing the surety who had given security for dft. under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, cl. 1, from liability on the dismissal of the suit, does not prevent the execution against the same surety where the decree of the judge is reversed in appeal.

The lien of the decree-holder on property pledged for the eventual judgment not affected by the mortgage and sale of it to another party.

How the attachment in such cases to be made, after which any private alienation of the property in dispute by sale, gift, or otherwise, declared to be illegal and void.

Any authorized removal of the property attached to be punished on proof as a resistance of the process of the court, in the manner directed by the existing regulations.

The same process for holding lands in attachment must be pursued in cases under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, as where the attachment is made in execution of a decree.

Where property lying within the limits of another jurisdiction is attached under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, the application for the sale of it must be transferred to the judge of the district in which it is situated.

under Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806,) from liability on the dismissal of the suit in the Court of original jurisdiction, does not prevent the execution against the same surety of a decree passed by an appellate court in reversal of the Zillah court's judgment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th Dec. 1840, p. 50.

233. Property pledged to satisfy an eventual judgment of a mofussil court, was subsequently mortgaged to another party, sold by the Sheriff of Calcutta in execution of a judgment from the Supreme Court, and possession thereof given under judgment of a Zillah court. Held that the lien of the decree-holder, to satisfy whose claim the property was originally given in pledge, is not thereby affected.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 12th Sept. 1836, p. 11.

234. The attachment in such cases shall be made by a written order of the court, to be read and proclaimed upon the spot, and to be affixed in some conspicuous situation at the place where the property is situated; after which any private alienation of the property sequestered, whether by sale, gift, or otherwise, during the continuance of the attachment, shall be deemed illegal and void; and any unauthorized removal of the property so attached, during such period, with a view to oppose or evade the sequestration, shall be punishable, on proof, as an act of resistance to the process of the court according to the provisions in force concerning resistance to the process of the Civil courts.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

235. The Circular order of the 17th February, 1816, No. 50, which contains directions as to the method of preserving lands attached for sale in satisfaction of decree from the Sheriff of Calcutta, makes no reference to lands or property attached under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, though for obvious reasons the precaution in such cases is equally necessary. This court (of Dacca) has been moved to attach certain indigo factories and indigo, the property of Mr. E. K. Hume; but unless some precaution of this nature be observed, there can be no difficulty in his obtaining, by some fiction of law, a counter-attachment from the Supreme Court; and then the prosecutors may look in vain to the attached property for the execution of the decree. I request you will bring this letter to the notice of the Court without delay, and I solicit instructions to depute an officer to remain on the spot and hold the property in attachment till countermanded. Under the provisions of the Regulation I do not feel authorized to take this step without authority of the superior Court.—Reply.—I am directed by the Sudder Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 8th September last, No. 333, and in reply to the question therein proposed, to inform you that the same course should be pursued in cases of attachment under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, as when the attachment is made in execution of a decree, the ulterior object in both cases being the same.—Con. 916, Cal. C. 21st Nov., West. C. 19th Dec. 1834.

236. The Circular orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, Nos. 83 and 167, dated respectively the 8th May, 1840, and 24th September, 1841, direct that applications for the sale of property lying within the limits of another jurisdiction shall be transferred to the Judge of the district, in which the property to be brought to sale is situated, and that all proceedings and incidental investigations consequent thereon, shall be conducted by that officer in the same manner as the court issuing the process would have done had the property been situated in its own jurisdiction. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, considering that the principle of this rule is equally applicable to processes of attachment, which may be ordered under the provisions of Regulation 2 of 1806, and that the general observance of it in such cases will be productive of convenience to the community and of expedition in the determination of claims, or objections to the sequestration of property, lying within the jurisdiction of a court, other than that ordering the attachment, are pleased to extend its application to all occasions of the nature adverted to and hereby notify such extension accordingly.—Cir. Ord. 8th Sept. 1843.

237. In suits for landed property of considerable value, wherein it may appear necessary, for the purposes of justice, to divest the defendant from the management of the land until the suit be decided, or malzamin security be given, the attachment shall be made through the Collector of the district in which the land is situated; as prescribed by Section 6, Regulation 5, 1798, and by clause ninth of Section 12, Regulation 4, 1803, in appealed cases, wherein neither the appellant nor respondent may be able to give security for staying execution of the decree. But in other cases the attachments, which may be ordered under the present rule, shall not, without special cause, to be recorded on the proceedings of the court, remove the defendant or his representative from the possession and management of the land, or other property attached, until a decision be passed in the cause before the Zillah or City court: nor be understood to preclude any act of the defendant or his representative relative to such property, which may be consistent with the object of the attachment.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

238. In a case in which a Principal Sudder Ameen ordered the attachment of a share in certain shops and mercantile establishments under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806, he was instructed to limit himself to the issue of notices forbidding the alienation of the share.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th May 1847.

239. Upon the decision of the suit, the Judge (or Register) shall pass such further order relative to the property attached as may be just and conformable with the judgment given in the cause. If the decree be against the defendant, all right and interest possessed by him in the property attached (saving arrears of rent or revenue due from land, and any other bona fide claims which may be entitled to satisfaction in preference to the decree) shall be held answerable for the execution of the judgment, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations. But if the plaintiff's claim be dismissed, or be not in any considerable proportion established against the defendant, all expence and loss to the defendant, which may arise from the attachment of his property in consequence of such claim, shall be reimbursed to him by the plaintiff, as part of the costs of suit.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 5, Cl. 3.

240. Whenever any property may be attached by order of a Zillah or City court, under the provisions contained in the foregoing section, the trial of the cause shall be proceeded on, and brought to a conclusion, as speedily as possible, without regard to the order of time, with respect to other depending causes in which it may have been instituted.

Attachment in the mode directed by the regns. herein quoted to be made through the collector, in suits for landed property of considerable value if necessary until the suit be decided or malzamin security be given.

In all other cases the attachments made under this rule, shall not without special cause, remove the defendant or his representative from the possession and management of the lands attached.

Nor preclude any act of the defendant or his representative consistent with the object of the attachment.

In a case of attachment of a share in certain shops, and mercantile establishments under reg. 2, 1806, sec. 5, the P. S. A. was directed only to issue notices forbidding the alienation of the share.

How the judge or register is to proceed with regard to the property attached, after the decision of the suit.

Provision if the plaintiff's claim be dismissed, or not in any considerable proportion established against the defendant.

Cases in which an attachment of property may have taken place, to be tried and determined as speedily as possible without regard to their num.

ber on the file of depending causes.

Attachment to be taken off at any time previous to the decision of the cause, if sufficient malzaminny security be tendered.

From notes or other obligations of govt. or any other sufficient money security, to be accepted, instead of hazirzaminny or malzaminny, when either of those securities may be demandable, from a party in any civil suit or appeal.

Such securities to be kept by the treasurer of the court after the termination of the suit, or whenever the purpose of the deposit shall have been attained.

The attachment shall also be taken off on the delivery of sufficient malzaminny security, at any time previous to the decision of the cause in the Zillah or City court.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Sect. 8.

SECTION XI.

Zillah and City Courts—General Rules of Attachment of Lands by order of the Civil Courts.

Rules for the issue of precept for holding estates under attachment and for appointing managers.

242. Whenever the Zillah and City courts may deem it just and proper, under the provisions of the several Regulations abovementioned, to provide for the administration or management of landed property, the court shall issue a precept to the Collector of land revenue of the district wherein the estate may be situated, directing him to hold the estate in attachment, and to appoint a person for the due care and management of the estate under good and adequate security for the faithful discharge of the trust in a sum proportionate to the extent thereof; provided, however, that if any person holding an interest in the estate shall be dissatisfied with the selection made by the Collector of the individual to perform the duty in question, or with the conduct of the manager at any time after his appointment, it shall be competent to such person to represent his objections to the Board of Revenue, and the board will either confirm the manager chosen, or order the Collector to appoint another person, as on consideration of the circumstances of the case may appear reasonable and proper.—Reg. 5, 1827, Sect. 3.

The precept shall specifically state the property to be included in the attachment.

243. The precept of the Zillah or City court abovementioned shall state specifically the property to be included in the attachment, and the attachment shall not be withdrawn without a further precept from the court to that effect.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

The attachment must not be made by the Judge through an ameen; but by an order to the collector.

244. The Presidency Court concur in the opinion expressed by the Western Court that the zillah Judge was competent, under the circumstances stated, to attach the lands in question; but with reference to the intent and spirit of Regulation 5, 1827, as expressed in the preamble, that "it is expedient in all cases of attachment of landed property under orders of the Courts of justice, that the management of the estate attached should be placed under the superintendence of the Collectors of land revenue," they do not concur with them in thinking that the Judge ought himself to have made the attachment through an ameen, but that it was incumbent upon him to issue the orders he did to the Collector ; the attachment having been induced by a private adjustment between the parties, not making any difference in the course he was legally bound to pursue towards effecting it.—Con. 752, 1st Feb. 1833.

245. As the terms used in the preamble of Regulation 5, 1827, are general, they include rent-free land as well as land paying revenue to Government, and therefore whenever it is necessary to cause such lands to be attached, it must be done by the issue of a precept to the Collector.—Con. 1039, Cal. C. 19th Aug., West. C. 26th Sept. 1836.

Rent-free lands may be thus attached.

246. An estate having been ordered for attachment by the Civil court, under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, and attached by the Collector under Regulation 5, 1827, it is incompetent to the court to interfere with its internal management.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Jan. 1842, p. 22.

The civil court cannot interfere in the management of estates thus attached by the collector.

247. Held that the Civil courts cannot give orders with regard to the management of estates directed under Section 26, Regulation 5 of 1812, to be held in attachment by the revenue authorities under Regulation 5 of 1827.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th March 1847.

SECTION XII.

Zillah and City Courts—Process.

248. Every process, rule, order, or decree, of the Zillah and City courts (with the exception contained in this section,) is to be immediately served or executed, without application to any person or the interference of any individual whomsoever, according to the requisition of it, within the limits of the special jurisdiction of each court. The summons is to be directed to the nazir of the court.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 13.

Process of the courts to be served according to the requisition of it, without application to any person, or the interference of any individual.

249. The following rule of practice is established, with the sanction of the Government :— Writs for the apprehension of the person, or for requiring the personal attendance of Police officers under civil processes, are to be issued through the Magistrate. This rule will not of course apply to notices or proclamations, not requiring personal attendance, or to processes which give the party the option of appearing in person or by vakeel.—Cir. Ord. 25th April 1845.

Rule of practice regarding the issue of processes.

250. Whenever the Judge or Register of a Civil court, or a Magistrate or Joint Magistrate, or any other European public officer, authorized by the Regulations in force to issue process of arrest, or other judicial process, civil or criminal, upon the person or property of individuals, amenable to their respective jurisdictions, may, for any special reason, deem it necessary to be personally present at the execution of such process ; and to see that the same be duly executed, in the manner prescribed by the Regulations ; it shall be competent to the public officer, who may have issued the process, to attend personally for the purpose abovementioned ; and to adopt or direct any legal measures that may be necessary for the due execution thereof.—Reg. 1, 1825, Sect. 2.

Judicial European officers empowered to superintend in person the execution of their own process, and to adopt such legal measures on the occasion as may appear necessary.

251. The amount of tulubannah which may be demandable according to the table mentioned in the preceding clause, shall be specified on the back of each summons or other process, and the amount shall be paid, by the person taking out the process, to the nazir previously to the execution of such process : a receipt shall be endorsed on the process in each instance by the nazir, specifying the amount, and the person from whom it was received.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 14, Cl. 6.

In what language and character the process of the court is to be written.

252. All orders and process of the court which may be directed to be served or executed on any person, are to be written or printed in the Persian and Bengal languages, in Bengal and Orissa, and in the Persian language and the Hindoostanee language and Nagree character, in Behar, and are to be sealed with the seal of the court, and signed by the Judge.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 20. [By recent enactments the Bengalee language is to be used in Bengal, and the Oordoo in the North West Provinces.]

The Ooryah language to be used in Orissa.

253. In cases in which the Bengal language and character are directed to be used in the province of Bengal ; the Ooryah language and character shall be used in the zillah of Cuttack, and in the abovementioned purgunnahs.—Reg. 14, 1805, Sect. 11.

Orders of the courts not to be headed with the names of heathen deities.

254. The Court, having observed in various instances, that the proceedings and orders of the different Courts of justice are headed with the names of the heathen deities, desire me to request that such practice may be discontinued in all orders of the courts, and processes emanating therefrom.—Cir. Ord. 3d Dec. 1841, par. 1.

But this does not apply to petitions, documents or papers presented to the cts.

255. At the same time, I am directed to observe that the above order has no reference whatever to petitions, documents, or papers of any kind which may be presented to the courts in regard to which you will be careful to abstain from all interference.—Ibid, par. 2.

SECTION XIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Execution of their Process within the limits of the Supreme Court.

Writ, warrant or other process issued by any court beyond the limits of supreme courts, may be executed within those limits and in what manner.

256. It is hereby enacted, that any writ, warrant, or other process issued by any court, Judge, or Magistrate in the territories beyond the local limits of the Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay respectively, may be executed within those limits in manner following—A copy of such writ, warrant, or other process authenticated as such by the attestation of the court, Judge, or Magistrate signing or issuing the same, accompanied by a certified translation in the English language, shall be presented to any Judge of Her Majesty's courts, who may thereupon, under his hand and signature, endorse and direct the same to be executed within the local limits of any of Her Majesty's courts by the Sheriff, or by any Justice of the Peace according to the nature of such writ, warrant, or other process.—Act XXIII. 1840, Sect. 1.

The names of the parties for & against whom the process issues must be inserted, and not the names of the firms, or companies.

257. The Court direct, with reference to an opinion expressed by the acting Advocate General in a particular case that in every process which may be issued under Act XXIII. 1840, against either property or person, the names of the parties for and against whom respectively the process may be issued, be inserted and not merely the names of the firms or companies under which the respective parties may be associated for trade or business, except when any company may be empowered by a special law to sue or be sued in the name of an officer of their society or association.—Civ. Ord. 30th May 1845.

258. And it is hereby provided, that upon the delivery of every such writ, warrant or process so endorsed as aforesaid to any such Sheriff as aforesaid, every such Sheriff shall make a memorandum of the date of such delivery, and shall execute such writ, warrant or process in like manner as if the same had originally issued from any of Her Majesty's courts and had been delivered at the date as appearing by the memorandum; and such Sheriff shall make no distinction as to priority or otherwise between the execution of any writ, warrant or other process originally issued from any of Her Majesty's courts, and the execution of any writ, warrant and other process, under this Act. But every writ, warrant and other process, whether original, or endorsed, as aforesaid, shall, amongst each other, be subject to the same rules touching the mode and order of execution as are now established in respect of writs, warrants, and other process originally issued from Her Majesty's Courts of justice.—Act XXIII 1840, Sect. 2

Upon delivery to Sheriff of writ, &c. Sheriff shall make a memo. of the date of delivery, and execute it as if it had issued out of her majesty's courts. Sheriff to make no distinction as to priority between writs, &c. delivered him under this act, and writs, &c. issued out of her majesty's courts.

259 And it is hereby enacted, that every such Sheriff shall be liable to be proceeded against in Her Majesty's Courts of justice for all matters touching the execution of any writ warrant or other process executed under this Act, in like manner as if the same had originally issued from any of Her Majesty's Courts of justice. And all persons and property seized or detained under any writ, warrant or process executed by virtue of this Act shall be dealt with in like manner as if such persons or property had been seized or detained under the like writ, warrant or other process issued from any of Her Majesty's Courts of justice.—Ibid, Sect. 3

Sheriff to be liable to same proceedings in respect of acts done in execution of writs, &c. under this act as of other writs

260 And it is hereby enacted, that all persons disobeying or obstructing the execution of any writ, warrant or other process endorsed under this Act, shall be punishable in Her Majesty's Courts of justice, in like manner as if the same had issued from such courts, provided always that, in the case of process for the attendance of witnesses, Her Majesty's courts shall be governed by the like rules touching expences and other matters as are established in regard to subpoenas issued from such courts.—Ibid, Sect. 4

Persons disobeying any writ &c. endorsed under this act to be punishable in her majesty's courts

261 And it is hereby enacted, in the case of persons seized or detained by virtue of any writ, warrant or other process executed under the authority of this Act by any Justice of the Peace or by any Sheriff, it shall be the duty of every such Sheriff or Justice of the Peace, if so required by the endorsement of the Judge, to deliver the party in custody to such authority or persons as shall be particularly specified in such endorsement, and who shall have been charged with the execution of the writ, warrant or other process by the authority originally issuing the same, and for that purpose to cause the party in custody to be conveyed to any place within the Company's territories beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's courts.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Persons seized, &c. by virtue of writ &c. under authority of this act shall be delivered if so required, to such authority as is specified in the endorsement

262. And it is hereby provided, that in the case of any writ, warrant or other process required to be endorsed under the authority of this Act, it shall be lawful for the Judge who shall be required to endorse the same, to remit the same for amendment to the authoment, if defective in form.

rity issuing the same if the same shall appear to be defective in any matter of form.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

The judge whose endorsement is required may direct bail to be taken.

263. And it is hereby provided, that in the case of any writ, warrant or other process required to be endorsed under the authority of this Act for the seizure or detention of any person, it shall be lawful for the Judge who shall be required to endorse the same to direct by endorsement that bail (the amount and number of sureties to be specified in such endorsement) may be taken; and for this purpose to call for such documents and to make such enquiry as he shall think proper.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Every process to be sent under an envelope to the deputy sheriff of Calcutta.

264. In continuation of my letter No. 120, of the 15th January last, I am directed by the Court to furnish you with the following detailed instructions on the subject of Act XXIII. 1840. Every process, civil or criminal, will be forwarded in an envelope to the address of the Deputy Sheriff of Calcutta, either by dawk, or by the hands of a peon or other public officer as may be most convenient, with a letter drawn up agreeably to the annexed form marked A.—Cir. Ord. 1st March 1841, par. 1.

Money will be remitted to the deputy sheriff by a bill on the treasury.

265. Any money that it may be requisite to send to the Deputy Sheriff will be remitted by a bill on the General Treasury from the Collector of the district.—Ibid, par. 2.

The process of subordinate judicial officers will be issued through their European principal.

266. All subordinate judicial officers will submit the processes of their courts which may require execution under Act XXIII. 1840, to their European principal, to be by him forwarded in the prescribed manner to the Deputy Sheriff.—Ibid, par. 3.

Forms of processes.

267. All processes will be drawn up agreeably to the forms marked B. and C. or agreeably to such other forms as may, from time to time, be circulated by the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut.—Ibid, par. 4.

The party at whose request the witness is summoned must pay his expences.

268. The party at whose requisition any witness may be summoned, must be prepared to pay to the witness such sum for his expences as the Judges of Her Majesty's Supreme Court may consider reasonable and proper.—Ibid, par. 5.

All processes to be drawn up correctly & agreeably to the orders of government.

269. The Judges and Magistrates of the Zillah courts will be careful that their own processes are drawn up correctly, and they will also ascertain that the processes of the subordinate courts, that may be forwarded to the Deputy Sheriff, are drawn up agreeably to these rules and to the Acts and Regulations of Government.—Ibid, par. 6.

Returns of the number and description of processes.

270. You will be pleased to submit to this Court on the 1st September next, a return, shewing the number and description of processes that may have been issued from the courts of your district under the provisions of Act XXIII. 1840, giving the total expence that may have been incurred by the parties on this account.—Ibid, par. 7.

271. (A.) To the Sheriff of Calcutta.

Notice.

I beg leave to enclose you (a notice* to be served on the parties therein named) which I request you will have the goodness to present to the Judges of Her Majesty's court

* A proclamation to be affixed to the outer door of the house in which the parties reside; or, a subpoena to be served on the witnesses therein named; or, a warrant to seize and apprehend the witnesses therein named, &c. &c. "mutatis mutandis."

agreeably to Act XXIII. 1840. It will rest with the party at whose instance the process has been issued to pay the expences of serving it.

How a writ for the sale of property in Calcutta is to be drawn up or executed.

281. A writ for the sale of property situated in Calcutta, will be drawn up in the form No. 9, which the Sheriff, after endorsement by a Judge of Her Majesty's court, will execute in like manner as if the writ had been issued by that court.—Cir. Ord. 15th July 1842, par. 2.

Course to be pursued when claims are set up to property in Calcutta, for the sale of which a writ has been issued by a Mofussil court.

Opinion of the advocate general.

282. With reference to the Circular order, No. 140, 1st March, (Western Provinces, 18th June,) 1841, conveying instructions on the subject of Act XXIII. 1840, the Court circulate, for general information, the opinion delivered by the acting Advocate General on the course to be pursued when claims are set up to property, for the sale of which a writ may have been issued by a Mofussil court.—Opinion of the Officiating Advocate General, dated 12th July, 1842.
—The Sheriff is expressly enjoined by Act XXIII. of 1840, Sections 2 and 3, to execute writs, warrants, and other process issued by the Mofussil courts and judicial officers, precisely in like manner, as if the same had originally issued from the Supreme court, to which alone he is made responsible for the due execution thereof; and in order to facilitate such execution, the Judge of the Supreme Court, who shall endorse the process, is invested with certain power as to correction of the process, and other particulars. In the instance before me, the Sheriff appears to have proceeded in the regular course to seize the rights and title of the defendants in execution, in certain parcels of real property pointed out to him on the part of the plaintiffs. That right and title may be none at all, or may be qualified or subject to mortgage, prior seizures, or the like. As the Sheriff seizes and sells at his own peril, or refuses to do so at his own peril, (by return of nulla bona, &c.) he, in practice, calls upon the parties calling upon him to seize, or pointing out the property, to indemnify him whenever a third party claims an interest; and if both parties offer indemnity, he may, at his own peril, elect which indemnity he thinks the best, and either sell or release accordingly, being liable in damages to the opposite party if he shall make out his case to be the true one. I would however suggest, as an act of prudence, that the Mofussil judicial officers mix themselves up in these matters as little as possible, and leave it to the parties interested to give the directions and information to the Sheriff, which of course they must do at their own charge and peril. It would in English Judges be thought not only a loss of dignity, but an act of impropriety, to interfere in any execution whatever, unless formally applied to judicially by some of the parties litigating. The Mofussil Judge, in the instance before me, corresponds with the Sheriff, nay goes so far as to engage for his expences or fees—such a proceeding may perhaps be regular or even necessary in Mofussil execution, but will appear very strange in an English Court of justice.—Cir. Ord. 15th July 1842.

processes under Act XXIII. 1840, the Court publish the subjoined forms.—Cir. Ord. 24th Dec. 1841.

SECTION XIV.

Zillah and City Courts—Resistance of Process—Forfeiture of Land—Fines.

Zillah & city courts how to proceed against persons resisting process, who are not proprietors of land, talookdars, or farmers.

299. If any person not being a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, or a dependant talookdar, or a farmer of land holding a farm immediately of Government, shall resist, or cause to be resisted, any process, rule, order, or decree, which may at any time issue from the Court of Dewanny adawlut established in any zillah, or in either of the three cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, on proof of the resistance being made by oath to its satisfaction, the court is to cause the offender to be summoned to answer to the charge. If the person for whom the summons may be issued shall abscond, or shut himself up in his own, or any house, or building, or retire to any place so that he cannot be served with the summons, the court is to proceed against him in the manner directed with regard to other persons absconding, or otherwise acting as above specified, so that they cannot be served with the process of the court. If the offender shall not appear within the prescribed period, or if he shall appear within the limited time, and after receiving his answer, and hearing the evidence which he may have to produce in his defence, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that he is guilty of the charge, the court is to adjudge the offender to pay such fine to Government as may appear to it proper upon a consideration of his situation and circumstances in life, and the offence of which he may be convicted.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 25.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. 3, 1803, Sect. 26.

Offender to be summoned to answer for his conduct.

Court how to proceed if the offender shall not obey the summons.

300. On an enquiry, whether persons on whom a summons has been issued to answer a charge of resistance of process, are at liberty to answer a charge through a vakeel without appearing in person; the Court informed the Judge that as the object of a summons, in the case referred to, is to give the summoned party an opportunity of defending himself against the charge, which is distinct from ordering his apprehension after conviction, in consequence of non-payment of any fine that may have been imposed, with a view to his imprisonment in jail, they are of opinion that a person summoned on the charge described is clearly at liberty to answer such charge through a vakeel, without being obliged to appear in person.—Con. 1216, West. C. 17th May, Cal. C. 7th June 1839.

A person summoned to defend himself from a charge of resistance may employ a vakeel.

301. Held that a fine imposed under the provisions of Section 25, Regulation 4, 1793, may be levied under the same rules as are applicable to the execution of decrees of court, that is, either by sale of the property of the individual on whom the fine is imposed, or by the imprisonment of the individual.—Con. 1214, Cal. C. 3d, West. C. 24th May 1839.

How a fine for resistance of process may be levied.

302. If the offender shall not prefer an appeal within the time prescribed for lodging appeals, the court is to proceed to levy the amount by the same process by which it is empowered to carry its decrees for sums of money into execution.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 25.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 26.

Persons fined by any zillah or city court under this section to be allowed an appeal to the higher courts under the regulations.

303. I am further directed to add, for the information of the Judge of Patna, to whom you are requested to forward a copy of this letter, that he should himself dispose of all common cases of resistance of civil process, under Section 25, Regulation 4, 1793; and that he should make over to the Magistrate those cases only which may have been attended with acts of violence amounting to a breach of the peace.—Con. 1033, 12th Aug. 1836.

What cases of resistance a judge must dispose of himself, and what he should make over to the magistrate.

304. The Court, having had before them your letter of the 25th ultimo, requesting to be informed whether, in the event of a legal arrest, by a warrant issued from the Civil court, and a forcible rescue from the custody of its officers, the Magistrate, on proof of such rescue, is empowered to order the Police forcibly to enter the house wherein the person rescued may be, and to apprehend him and forward him to the Civil court; direct me to answer your question in the negative, and to observe that in the case supposed, the Civil court should proceed against the offender agreeably to Section 25, Regulation 4, 1793.—Con. 765, Cal. C. 8th March, West. C. 12th April 1833.

Where there has been a legal arrest by the warrant of a civil court, and there is a forcible rescue, the civil court will proceed according to reg. 4, 1793, sec. 25.

305. The Court observe, that when the Judge of one district may be called upon to aid the process of another Zillah court, the practice is for him to back the same with his official signature, and to send one or more of the peons of his court to aid in its execution; and they are therefore of opinion, that in ordinary cases any resistance to such process must be considered as a resistance to the process of the court within whose jurisdiction it took place, and is cognizable as such by the Judge of that court.—Con. 1115, West. C. 24th Nov., Cal. C. 8th Dec. 1837.

By the judge of what court a case of resistance of process is cognizable.

306. If a zemindar, independent talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, or a dependant talookdar, shall resist, or cause to be resisted, any process, rule, order, or decree of a Zillah court, the court, on proof of the resistance being made by oath to its Zillah court how to proceed against zemindars, independent talookdars, or other actual proprietors of satisfaction, is to cause the offender to be summoned to answer to the charge. If the offender shall abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place, so that he cannot be served with the summons the court is to proceed against him in the manner directed with regard to other persons absconding or acting as above specified, so that they cannot be served with the process of the court. If the offender shall not appear within the prescribed time, or, if he shall appear, and after receiving his answer to the charge, and hearing the evidence which he may produce in his defence, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that he is guilty of the charge, the court is to decree that the offender shall from the date of the decree, forfeit his zemindary, talook, or other estate, in which the resistance may have been made; or, if the resistance shall have been made out of the limits of the estate of the offender, the zemindary, talook, or other landed property that he may possess within the jurisdiction of the court, the process of which may have been resisted.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 22.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 23, Cl. 1.

A copy of the decree to be sent to the G. G. in C., if the cause shall not be appealed in time.

S. D. A. how to proceed if the suit should be appealed to them, and they should confirm the decision of provincial court.

308. If an appeal shall be received from the lower court and the Sudder dewanny adawlut should confirm the decree of that court, they are immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decrees and proceedings received from the lower court to the Governor General in Council.—Ibid.

If the lands are decreed forfeited, the G. G. in C. may confirm the decree, or commute the forfeiture for a fine within 4 weeks after he may receive the decree.

If the forfeiture is commuted for a fine, by what court and how it is to be levied.

309. It shall be at the option of the Governor General in Council, within four weeks after the receipt of a decree adjudging the estate of any person forfeited under this section, either to order it to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture for such fine as upon a consideration of the situation and circumstances in life of the offender, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed. In the event of the Governor General in Council commuting the forfeiture for a fine, the court which shall have transmitted the decree and proceedings to him, upon receiving notice of the fine that he may impose, is to levy the amount of it by the same process as is prescribed for enforcing decrees of the court. But if the Governor General in Council shall not within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, either order it to be executed, or commute the forfeiture for a fine, the decree is to stand good against the offender. In such case, or in the event of the Governor General in Council ordering the decree to be executed, the court is to issue a precept, under the seal of the court and the signature of the Register, requiring the Collector of the revenue of the zillah to depute an ameen with a proper establishment of officers (whose allowances are to be specified in the precept) to sequester the lands, and collect the rents and revenues. If the lands of the offender shall be deemed by the court too inconsiderable to admit of their being charged with the expense of an ameen, they are to direct a precept to be issued to the Collector of the zillah to order the nearest tehseldar, or any other officer who may be employed under him in the Decree of forfeiture to be final, if the G. G. in C. shall not order it to be executed, or commute it for a fine within 4 weeks.

If the decree is declared, or becomes final, the court to issue a precept to the collector to sequester the lands.

business of the collections, to take charge of the lands. The officer is to perform the duties prescribed to ameens in such cases, and under the same restrictions and penalties.—Ibid.

310. The Judge of zillah Shahabad was informed, that the court do not consider Section 22, Regulation 4, 1793, to authorize or intend a sequestration of lands, till the judgment of forfeiture be confirmed.—Con. 2, 2d May 1799.

Lands are not to be sequestered till the judgment of forfeiture is confirmed.

311. If the decree adjudging the lands of the offender forfeited, shall be confirmed or stand good under Section 22, it shall be at the option of the Governor General in Council, either to confer the rights which the offender possessed in the lands on his heirs, upon their agreeing to make good all sums whatever that may be due from him to Government on account of the lands forfeited, and to pay the fixed public revenue assessed upon them, or, if the property forfeited be a dependant talook, the revenue payable from it to the proprietor within whose estate it may be situated; or, to order the lands to be disposed of at public sale, under the rules prescribed for the sale of lands so forfeited in Regulation 45, 1793.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 23.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect 24.

If the forfeiture should stand confirmed, the G. G. in C. to confer the estate on the heirs of the offender, or to dispose of it at public sale.

The same rules which are given above regarding the resistance of process by a zemindar are made applicable by Section 24 of Regulation 4, 1793, to the case of a resisting farmer.

312. It shall be at the option of the Governor General in Council, within four weeks after the receipt of a decree adjudging the lease of a farmer annulled under this section, either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture of the lease for such fine as upon a consideration of a situation and circumstances in life of the offender, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be passed; or if the offender shall not be desirous of being continued in his farms, to fine him as above prescribed, and compel him to retain the farm during the remainder of the lease, and to hold him and his surety responsible for the discharge of their engagements until the term of them shall expire. If a fine shall be imposed upon the offender, the court which shall have transmitted the final decree and proceedings to the Governor General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine, is to levy the amount of it by the same process as is prescribed for enforcing decrees of the court. But if the Governor General in Council shall not within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, either order it to be executed, or commute the forfeiture of the lease for a fine, the decree is to stand good against the offender, and the court is without delay to cause a copy of the decree to be sent to the Collector. If the lease of the offender shall be annulled and a balance shall be due from him to government at the close of the year in which the lease may be cancelled, both he and his surety are to be held responsible for the payment of it, and the Collector of the revenue of the zillah is empowered to proceed against them for the recovery of it in the manner prescribed in Section 20, Regulation Option reserved to the G. G. in C. to confirm the decree or commute it for a fine, and to compel the farmer to perform the conditions of his lease.

By what court and how such fines are to be levied.

If the lease of the offender should be annulled, how balances due from him are to be recovered.

Farmers whose leases may be cancelled how to recover balances.

14, 1793, for the recovery of balances due from farmers whose leases may be declared annulled under that Regulation. The offender is permitted to prosecute in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah in which the farm may be situated, the dependant talookdars, under-farmers, and ryots, in the lands included in the farm, for any arrears of rent or revenue that may be due from them to him on account of the period during which his lease remained in force.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 24.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 8.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 25, Cl. 1 & 2.

An appeal against a decree of forfeiture, must be received as a regular appeal.

313. An appeal preferred under Section 23, Regulation 6, 1795, or the corresponding section of Regulation 27, 1803, against a decision in the Zillah court, decreeing the forfeiture of an estate to Government for the offence specified in Section 22 of those Regulations, is to be received as a regular appeal under the general rules applicable to regular appeals.—Con. 198, 8th March 1815.

The appeal from the judge's decree of forfeiture for resistance lies to the sudder court.

314. As by clause 3, Section 28, Regulation 5, 1831, all suits originally decided by the Judge of a zillah, into which the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, have been introduced, are appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, an appeal would lie from his decree adjudging forfeiture of lands or fines, in cases of resistance or evasion of process, without reference to the amount of the annual jumma, or produce, or fine; and in such cases the Judge should await the period of appeal to the Sudder court in the same manner as by the enactments quoted by you, they were directed to await an appeal to the Provincial court.—Con. 780, Cal. C. 12th April, West. C. 10th May 1833.

In what cases a fine may be substituted for the judgment of forfeiture directed by secs. 22, 23 and 24, reg. 4, 1793, and secs. 5, 6, 7 and 8, reg. 8, 1795.

315. In all cases of resistance to the process of any Zillah or City court of dewanny adawlut in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa or Benares, if the Judge of the court whose process may have been resisted, shall be of opinion that a fine to Government will be a more proper and adequate punishment for the offence than a forfeiture of the offender's estate or farm, under the provisions contained in Sections 22, 23 and 24, Regulation 4, 1793; and Sections 5, 6, 7 and 8, Regulation 8, 1795; he is authorized, instead of the decree of forfeiture directed by the above Regulations, to adjudge the offender to pay such fine to Government as may appear proper upon a consideration of his situation and circumstances in life, and the offence of which he may be convicted, as provided with regard to persons not being landholders or farmers of land by Section 25, Regulation 4, 1793; and subject to the provisions in that section for an appeal from the judgment of the court.—Reg. 9, 1799, Sect. 3.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 23, Cl. 1.

Decrees for the forfeiture of estates or farms under above regs. not to be deemed final or carried into execution till confirmed by G. G. in C., and notice of his confirmation be received.

316. Further, in cases wherein a decree for the forfeiture of an estate or farm may be passed and transmitted to the Governor General in Council under the Regulations abovementioned, instead of such decree being considered final and carried into execution, unless the Governor General in Council shall order its commutation to a fine within four weeks after the decree shall have been received by him, the decrees in question shall not be hereafter deemed final until confirmed by the Governor General in Council; and shall not be carried into execution until notice of his confirmation be received.—Ibid.

317. Held, that it is not competent to a civil Judge, in cases of resistance of the process of his court, to call upon the Magistrate to enforce his orders, but that he must pursue the course laid down in the Regulations.—Con. 1209, Cal. C. 12th April, West. C. 3d May 1839.

If the process of the civil court be resisted, the judge cannot call on the magistrate to enforce his orders.

318. Cases of resistance to the processes of the Zillah or City or the subordinate courts, with a view to the forfeiture of estates and the cancelling of farms, will be tried in the first instance by the court whose process may have been resisted, subject to the ordinary course of appeal if competent to try the same; if not, a report should be made to the Judge, who will exercise his discretion in referring them to any other tribunal.—Court. Ord. 15th Jan. 1834, No. 4

By whom cases of resistance of process will be tried in the first instance.

SECTION XV.

Procedure of the Zillah and City Courts—Pleadings.

319. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts are to order the causes depending in their respective courts, to be brought on for trial according to the order in which they may be filed, except in cases in which it may be otherwise directed by any Regulation, or in which the Judge may think it proper for special reasons, which he is to state at large upon the record of the trial, to bring on the cause before its turn. The Register is to enter in a book the causes for the trial of which a day may be appointed by the Judge, and on the day fixed, call on the causes for trial in the order in which they may have been entered. A paper containing a list of the causes, and the day appointed for the trial of them, is to be fixed up in some conspicuous part of the court-room seven days previous to the day of trial.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 19.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 20.

Suits to be brought on for trial in the order in which they may be filed

Exception to the rule

A paper specifying the causes for the trial of which a day has been fixed, is to be stuck up in some conspicuous part of the court room 7 days previous to the trial

320. If the defendant shall appear either in person or by vakeel, the court is to fix a day according to its discretion for him to answer to the complaint, and, if it shall deem it reasonable so to do, may at any time allow the defendant a further period for delivering his answer.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 5.

Upon the defendant appearing, court to fix a day for his answering

321. If the defendant shall not appear in person or by vakeel, by the time limited in such proclamation, or if a defendant, who may have been served with a notice, as directed in the preceding section, shall not appear in person or by vakeel, within the time specified; or if, having appeared, he shall refuse to answer the plaint, or make other default; the court, as provided in the sections abovementioned, shall proceed to try the cause ex-parte; and after examining the plaintiff's evidence in support of his claim, shall give judgment, in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared, answered, and entered into proof.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 3.

Cases in which the court is to proceed ex-parte on the allegations and evidence of the plaintiff only.

A defendant who appears at any time before the decision of the suit, and accounts for the delay may file his answer, notwithstanding the commencement of the ex-parte investigation.

322. If the defendant do not appear in person or by vakeel, within the time limited in the proclamation prescribed by Section 11, Regulation 4, 1793, the suit should be tried ex-parte: but if the defendant appears, at any time before the final decision of the suit, and assigns satisfactory reasons, to shew that the default was not wilful, he should be permitted to file his answer, notwithstanding the commencement of an ex-parte investigation; and adduce evidence in support of it, if the merits of the case appear to require it.—Con. 375, 4th Feb. 1825.

Reasons for the dismissal of a suit must be preferred in answer to the plaint.

323. Reasons preferred by a defendant for the dismissal of a regular suit, cannot be urged in a miscellaneous petition, but should be contained in the answer to the plaint.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d Feb. 1845, p. 63.

Pleadings in the zillah and city courts under reg. 5, 1831, to be written on paper of the value of 4 rs.

324. So much of the rule contained in Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, as prescribes that the pleadings in the courts of the zillah and city Judges shall be written on paper of one rupee value is hereby modified, and the pleadings in the courts of those officers, shall be written on paper of the value of four rupees, wherever it has been or may be resolved to introduce the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, except in original suits for property not exceeding one thousand rupees in value or amount, and in cases of appeal from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs. In such cases, the pleadings shall continue to be written on stamped paper of only one rupee value.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 3.

Exceptions.

Pleadings and other documents on stamped paper how to be written.

325. All pleadings, petitions and applications, all deeds, documents and other papers, whether originals, or copies, which are required by the Regulations to be written on stamped paper, are to be written in a fair legible manner, and as they have been hitherto usually prepared, as well with regard to the size of the writing, the space between the words, and the number of lines in each page, as to all other matters regarding their engrossment.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

Cases in which the plaintiff is to be permitted to prefer a supplemental complaint.

326. If from mistake, inadvertence, or other cause, the plaintiff shall have omitted to insert in his complaint any thing material to the suit, the court, on the omission being represented either by the plaintiff or his vakeel, is to allow the plaintiff to prefer a supplemental complaint, in which he is to state the matter omitted. The defendant is to be allowed to deliver an answer to the supplemental complaint on a day to be fixed for that purpose; and the plaintiff and defendant are to reply and rejoin in the same manner as on the original complaint, but no other.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 5.

Defendant to be allowed to deliver an answer to the supplemental complaint.

A plaintiff may amend the original claim before it has been investigated.

327. A plaintiff is at liberty to amend his original claim before it has been investigated.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th July 1812, vol. 2, p. 30.

A plaintiff who has omitted any party liable to the claim may include him in a supplementary bill.

328. On hearing pleadings, if it appear that plaintiff has omitted any party who may be found liable to the claim, the court may direct the plaintiff to include such party by supplemental bill.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Dec. 1832, vol. 5, p. 242.

Plaintiff and defendant to be permitted to reply and rejoin.

Cases in which defendant is to be allowed to deliver a supplemental answer.

329. In like manner, if the defendant from mistake, inadvertence, or other cause, shall have omitted to insert in his answer anything material to his defence, the court, upon his representing the omission either in person or by his vakeel, is to permit the defendant to deliver in a supplemental answer. The plaintiff and defendant are to reply and rejoin in the same manner as on the original answer. But no more than one supplemental complaint, or one supplemental answer is to be received by the court.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 5.

—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 5.

Plaintiff and defendant to reply and re-join.

Only one supplemental complaint or answer to be admitted.

The admission of supplemental pleadings.

330. No supplemental complaint or other supplemental pleadings shall be admitted in any suit, unless the court, upon a perusal of the pleadings previously filed, and from a consideration of the circumstances alleged by the parties, shall deem it just and proper to admit such supplemental complaint, or other supplemental pleadings to be filed in the suit.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 6, Cl. 3.

331. In the event of two or more defendants filing their answers to an action separately, the plaintiff, unless he obtain permission to the contrary, must reply to each within six weeks from the date of its presentation; otherwise he will incur the penalty of default.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 23d Sept. 1845, p. 71.

Where defts. file separate answers, the plaintiff must reply to each in six weeks.

332. A practice being believed to be common, though not supported by warrant of any law of the Civil courts, directing the filing of supplemental complaints, and stating the points and dictating the terms on and in which they are to be given, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces intimate that such a procedure is to be considered by the courts as strictly prohibited for the future, and that their authority is to be held to extend no further than consists in the allowing one supplemental complaint or answer to be filed on the application of the party wishing to do so, without power to dictate to the parties, or order one to be filed in the absence of such application.—Cir. Ord. 14th Oct. 1842.

The court may simply allow one supplemental complaint or answer to be filed.

333. A Civil court cannot, motu suo, order supplemental pleadings to be filed; they are admissible only on the application of the party seeking to rectify his error.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st Sept. 1847.

Idem.

334. The Sudder dewanny adawlut ordered the refund of the value of a supplementary stamp which was filed by the plaintiff after his suit had, as subsequently proved, been lost by default, and summarily altered the amount of vakeel's fees allowed by the lower court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th July 1844, p. 59.

Refund of the value of a supplementary stamp filed by the plaintiff after his suit had been lost by default.

335. Instances having frequently been brought to the notice of the Court, of substantial injustice having been committed, and needless expence imposed upon parties having suits in the Civil court, by the license assumed by some judicial functionaries, in taking cognizance of matters not set forth in the pleadings, and more especially in giving directions to one or both of the litigants to re-institute proceedings after a particular manner, to include other persons in the suit, and the like, which directions have been often found opposed to legal enactment and practice, and such as to necessitate a nonsuit, the Court desire, that the judicial officers will strictly confine themselves to the adjudication of the point or points at issue between the parties, as set forth by themselves, and that they will bear in mind, that they have no authority to declare judicially, that one or other party is entitled to bring his suit de novo, or to point out the form in which it should be revived.—Cir. Ord. 13th Sept. 1843, par. 1.

Courts cannot take cognizance of matters not set forth in the pleadings, but must simply adjudicate on the points at issue between the parties as set forth by themselves.

336. If for example, it should be pleaded by the defendant, that the cause of action in any case arose in a jurisdiction other than that in which the suit may be instituted—that the suit has been brought on a wrong valuation, or that lapse of time or any other cause bars jurisdiction, it will be incumbent on the Judge trying the case, to restrict himself in the first instance to that individual point; and if satisfied of the validity of defendant's objections to nonsuit the plaintiff accordingly, without entering upon the consideration of matters with which, as they cannot be investigated or adjudicated in his court, he can have no occasion to interfere, and without issuing any injunction for the renewal of the suit. In like manner, if in hearing appeals, any irregularity in the institution of the suit, or in the proceedings of the Court of first instance, should be observed, an order for re-trial of the case without any regard to the merits thereof, should issue.—Ibid, par. 2.

Further explanation of this order.

Reasons for prohibiting this objectionable practice.

337. The objectionable practice hereby prohibited, is opposed to the obviously correct principle of allowing suitors to bring their suits in such form, and against such persons, as they themselves may judge expedient, and has given rise occasionally to the anomaly of a Judge nonsuiting a case brought conformably to his own directions.—Ibid, par. 3.

This order to be enforced on the subordinate courts.

338. The Judges will be careful to see that the purport and object of this Circular order is fully and thoroughly understood and strictly observed in practice by all the subordinate judicial functionaries.—Ibid, par. 4.

The filing a second supplemental plaintiff no ground of nonsuit.

339. The filing of a second supplementary plaintiff, although unauthorized by law, is no ground of nonsuit.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st April 1845, p. 67.

A petition to correct an error in the name of the heir of a defendant is not a supplemental plaintiff.

340. A petition filed to correct an error as to the name of the heir of a defendant to a suit, cannot be considered as a supplementary plaintiff, to which the provisions of Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, are applicable.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th Jan. 1844, p. 55.

Plaintiff to reply to the defendant's answer.

341. When the defendant has delivered in his answer to the complaint, the plaintiff is to reply to it on the next court day, but he is not to be permitted to introduce in his reply any matter whatever which may not be contained in his complaint, but is either to acknowledge the answer of the defendant to be true, or simply and shortly deny the truth of such of the facts in the answer as he intends to dispute, or simply deny the truth of all the facts contained in it, or the competency of the answer.—Reg. 4, 1793. Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 5.

It is unnecessary to reply to a defendant who confesses judgment.

342. It is unnecessary to reply to a defendant who confesses judgment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th June 1846, p. 80.

The defendant need not reply on the next court day, but he must do so within the period of six weeks.

343. It being believed that much diversity of opinion exists, in regard to the construction of that part of Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, (corresponding with Section 5, Regulation 3, 1803) which enacts that "when the defendant shall have delivered in his answer to the complaint, the plaintiff shall reply to it on the next court day," the court are pleased to intimate for general information that the terms above cited have been held, by the majority of the two Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to leave it discretionary with the judicial authorities to admit a replication, even though it be not presented "on the next court day," or, in other words, that, while the law directs the delivery of the replication on the next court day, it does not absolutely inhibit its reception thereafter, provided that it be filed within the period of six weeks, in default of which the suit will of course be liable to dismissal under the imperative provisions of Act XXIX. 1841.—Cir. Ord. 2d July 1845.

344. On a reference from the Judge of Ghazeepore, as to the proper course to be pursued in the event of a defendant absenting himself, after having filed an answer to a plaint in an original suit :—it was held that under the rule of Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 6, Regulation 3, 1803, the proper course would be to affix in the court-house a notice of eight days as therein directed, and in the event of the defendant not appearing within that time, to decide the case ex-parte.—Con. 1317, West. C. 18th Jan., Cal. C. 11th Feb. 1842.

Course to be pursued when the defendant absents himself after having filed his answer to the plaint.

345. The defendant is to rejoin to the reply on the same day, but is not to be permitted to introduce in his rejoinder any matter not contained in his answer, but is simply to deny the truth of the reply of the plaintiff, or the parts of it which he means to dispute, and aver the truth or competency of his own answer ; and no further pleadings whatever are to be admitted in the cause.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 5.

Defendant to rejoin to the plaintiff's reply.
What the rejoinder is, and what it is not to contain.

346. Whenever a defendant in an original civil suit shall refuse, or neglect to file a rejoinder within the period prescribed for that purpose, it shall not be necessary for the Register (as hitherto required) to enter a rejoinder for him, but the court before whom the trial may be depending, after recording such refusal or neglect, shall proceed in the trial of the suit, in the same manner as if a rejoinder containing a general denial of the claim had been regularly filed.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.

Registers not required to file a rejoinder when the defendant may refuse or neglect to do so.

347. In the trial of original regular suits, as well as in the trial of appeals in such suits, the prescribed pleadings shall be completed and read in open court, before any exhibits are filed, or witnesses summoned in support of the allegations of either of the parties unless special and sufficient reason be assigned for taking the immediate deposition of a witness without waiting until the pleadings are completed and read in open court.—Ibid., Sect. 10. Cl. 1.

Pleadings to be read before exhibits are filed or witnesses summoned.

Exception.

SECTION XVI.

Zillah and City Courts—Dismissal of the Suit from the Default of the Plaintiff.

348. If a plaintiff shall at any time neglect to proceed in his suit for six weeks the suit is to be dismissed, unless he can shew good and sufficient cause to the court for not having proceeded in it; and the court is to award to the defendant the whole or such part of the costs as he may have incurred in the suit, according as it may deem equitable. The Judge is to record upon the proceedings his reasons at large for dismissing the suit of a plaintiff, or allowing him to prosecute it, after he shall have neglected to proceed in it for six weeks.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 10.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 12.

Suits of plaintiffs who neglect to proceed in them for six weeks to be dismissed unless they can show good cause for not having proceeded.

Judge to record upon the proceedings his reasons for the exercise of the powers vested in him by this section.

349. With respect to regular suits dismissed under Section 10, Regulation 4, 1793, the Zillah and City courts were informed by a circular notice from the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under date the 22d August, 1795, that the plaintiffs in causes dismissed under this rule have the option of reinstating them under the Regulations.—Con. 266, 19th Feb. 1817.

Causes dismissed under the above section may be reinstated by plaintiffs.

Plaintiff or appellant neglecting to proceed for 6 weeks, suit or appeal to be dismissed, without previous notice unless further time has been previously obtained on special grounds. The court shall record its reasons for giving further time, but not for refusing it.

350. It is hereby enacted, that if a plaintiff or appellant in any court shall at any time neglect to proceed in his suit or appeal for six weeks, the suit or appeal shall be dismissed; and it shall not be necessary to give the plaintiff or appellant any notice previous to dismissing his suit or appeal. The suit or appeal shall be dismissed as of course after the expiration of six weeks without any proceeding on the part of the court, or of the defendant, or otherwise, or assignment of any reasons, unless the plaintiff or appellant, or his representative in case of his death, upon special application, shall have previously satisfied the court of the propriety of allowing further time. The court shall record upon the proceedings the reasons at large for allowing further time in all cases in which further time may be allowed, but it shall not be necessary to specify the reasons for refusing any application for further time.—Act XXIX. 1841, Sect. 1.

Defendant or respondent to have costs if suit of appeal is dismissed.

351. And it is hereby enacted, that in all cases in which a suit or appeal is dismissed under the preceding section, the court shall award to the defendant or respondent the costs he may have incurred in the suit or appeal. But such dismissal shall be no impediment to the institution of a new suit or appeal, where the party is not precluded by lapse of time, or period of appeal, or otherwise than by the mere circumstances of having instituted the suit or appeal dismissed, and of such dismissal, and such dismissed suit or appeal shall not prevent lapse of time under the law of limitation being incurred.—Ibid. Sect. 2.

Repeals cl. 2, sec. 27, reg. 23, 1814, of the Bengal code; and cl. 2, sec. 26, reg. 6, 1816, of the Madras code. Enacts,—No appeal against dismissal of a suit or appeal, other than a summary appeal on the fact of default shall be allowed.

352. And it is hereby enacted, that Clause 2, Section 27, Regulation 23 of 1814, of the Bengal code, and Clause 2, Section 26, Regulation 6 of 1816, of the Madras code, are repealed; and no appeal shall lie against the decision passed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding clauses of this Act, other than a summary appeal on the fact of default.—Ibid. Sect. 3.

Act 29, 1841 applies to all suits pending at the date of its promulgation.

353. With reference to the provisions of Act XXIX. of 1841, I am directed to observe that you should consider them as applicable to all suits pending on your file at the date of the promulgation of the Act, in which parties may neglect to proceed with them for a period of six weeks from such date, which is to be calculated from the day of the receipt in your office of the Calcutta Gazette containing the Act, or of the printed copy of the Act itself, as the case may be. The Act will of course apply to all suits instituted after the date of its promulgation. You are requested to lose no time in making the Native Judges acquainted with the foregoing orders.—Cir. Ord. 24th Dec. 1841.

The interval of the established vacations not to be deducted in calculating the period of default.

354. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Cawnpore, in adoption of the rule of Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 25, dated 7th January, 1831, that the interval of the established vacations, must not be allowed to be deducted, in the calculation of the period beyond which default is incurred under Act XXIX. of 1841.—Con. 1368, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 23d Dec. 1842.

355. The Court have had instances before them in which plaintiffs have been allowed to file documents, and lists of witnesses, and to do other acts in prosecution of their suits, after they had incurred the penalty of default under Act XXIX. of 1841. There is reason also to believe that the appearance of regular suits and miscellaneous cases on the file, after the lapse of one year from the date of institution, is generally attributable to delays, which methodical regularity in preparing them for decision might obviate. With a view to prevent such irregular revival of suits, which had become extinct by default, and expedite the transaction of civil business, as far as may be practicable, consistently with a just regard to the requirements of law, the following rules are promulgated for the guidance of the civil Judges and their subordinates :

—Firstly, No order for the filing of pleadings, or presentation of exhibits, for the issue of legal process, whether of notice to the defendant, or proclamation, or subpoena for the attendance of witnesses, or for production of papers from the record, shall be passed without the simultaneous assignment of a specified period for its fulfilment ; provided, of course, that the order, whatever its object and purport, be susceptible of execution within a given period ; and, provided, that by existing enactments no fixed period is allowed for such execution.—Secondly, To the record of every pending suit or miscellaneous case, shall be prefixed a fly leaf, on which shall be inscribed the title of every paper filed, in the order of its presentation relatively to dates, with the date of such presentation, and of the order recorded, and specification of the period which may have been allowed for the fulfilment of that order.—Thirdly, On the expiry of that period, without execution of the order to which it relates having taken place, it shall be the duty of the Serishtadar, or other ministerial officer, to bring the fact to the notice of the presiding authority, and to lay the record of the case before him, for such instructions as he may be pleased to issue.—Fourthly, It shall be the duty of the Serishtadar, or other ministerial officer, to lay before the court the record of every suit in which the period of six weeks may have expired, since the last act done by the plaintiff in prosecution of his suit, in order that the necessary order for striking the suit off the file may be passed, agreeably to Act XXIX. 1841.—Fifthly, The Judges, both covenanted and uncovenanted, are expected, before admitting any document on the part of the plaintiff, or permitting him to do any act in prosecution of the suit, to ascertain that no default, rendering the dismissal of the suit necessary, has been committed.—Cir. Ord. 3d Jan. 1845, par. 1.

356. A strict adherence to these rules will have a beneficial effect, it is believed, in bringing to light default or neglect on the part of suitors, by reference simply to one paper, and will thus afford easy and efficient means of counteracting their dilatoriness ; while, at the same time, it will enable the judicial authorities to discover at once, and reprehend irregularity and want of method on the part of their subordinates. The controlling power of the civil Judges over the Moonsiffs, and other functionaries subject to their supervision, will be similarly enlarged, and its exercise facilitated ; for, should undue protraction of any suit or miscellaneous case be apprehended, he may, by requiring a copy of the fly leaf, and examining it, ascertain how the delay has occurred, and to whom it is to be ascribed.—Ibid, par. 2.

357. The judicial agency now employed is large, and is believed to be composed generally, of men well educated, intelligent, and efficient ; and the Court are of opinion that, except under very peculiar circumstances, no suit should remain undetermined twelve months from the date of its institution, and but few should appear on the file after the expiry of six months. To this point, therefore, the Court will in future specially refer, as an indication of the degree of diligence and judicial ability brought into exercise in the conduct of the civil administration of each district.—Ibid, par. 3.

358. Section 1, Act XXIX. of 1841, enacts that a “ suit or appeal shall be dismissed, as of course, after the expiration of six weeks without any proceeding on the part of the court or

1. No order shall be passed for filing papers or issuing process without assigning a period for its fulfilment, if susceptible of execution in a given time and no period is fixed for its execution by law.

2. A fly leaf to be added to the record of cases on which is to be inscribed the title of papers filed, and the date of filing, the order passed and the time allowed for fulfilling it.

3. If the period expires without the execution of it, the serishtadar will report the matter to the ct.

4. The serishtadar will submit the record of every suit in which there has been default.

5. The court before admitting any document, or permitting the plaintiff to go on with the suit will see that there has been no default.

Advantages of strictly attending to these rules.

The S. D. A. expect that hereafter no suit will remain undetermined for 12 months, and few after 6 mos.

Recapitulation of Ac. 29, 1841, sec. 1.

of the defendant or otherwise, or assignment of any reasons, unless the plaintiff, or appellant, or his representative in case of his death, upon special application, shall have previously satisfied the court of the propriety of allowing further time."—Cir. Ord. 5th Sept. 1845, par. 1.

This law, however, does not prohibit the courts' notifying to the heirs the fact of the decease of a plaintiff.

359. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and North-Western Provinces having had occasion to deliberate as to the force of these expressions, the majority are of opinion that while they are unambiguous in requiring the representative of a deceased plaintiff or appellant, previous to the expiry of the six weeks in which a certain prescribed act is to be performed, to move the court for an extension of that limited period; and while they admit of no interpretation, by which an intermediate act on the part of the court, notifying to the heirs the fact of the decease of the plaintiff or appellant, can by implication be held to be required, they are not actually prohibitory of the court doing of its own mere motion, previous to the expiry of the six weeks aforesaid, such act of procedure, as the general powers of the court enable it to do.—Ibid, par. 2.

It is not just that the penalty should be inflicted where there is no possibility of avoiding default.

360. The majority of the two courts further observe, that, in so far as "dismissal on default" is enacted as a penalty on the defaulter, it is not just that that penalty should be inflicted in cases where there exists a moral and physical impossibility of avoiding it, viz. when the date of the plaintiff's or appellant's decease is so near the date when default would occur, and the heir or representative at the same time so distant from the place, where the decease took place, as to render it an impossibility that he should fulfil the law's requirements. The right of appeal would thus, in numerous instances, be lost altogether, and manifest injustice be done by the law. But it is a maxim that law never enacts an impossibility, and the Court therefore conceive it imperative upon them, in pursuance of their legal privilege to act according to justice, equity, and good conscience, to prevent the injustice, that would be involved in the infliction of a penalty for failure to perform an impossible act by the institution of a rule of procedure, fitted at least to remove the impossibility of the heir of a deceased party being in court, if he be desirous to prosecute the suit.—Ibid, par. 3.

The following rule of practice is, therefore, prescribed.

361. The Court are pleased, therefore, to prescribe the following rule of practice for the guidance of all the judicial authorities, and to intimate for general information, that it will be followed in the Sudder dewanny adawlut henceforth: 1stly, Whenever it may be certified to a zillah or city Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, that a plaintiff or appellant, in any original suit or appeal, pending in the court of such zillah or city Judge, or Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, has deceased, the presiding officer of such court shall be at liberty, if he deem it just and proper, to notify the fact in a publication to be affixed in his own cutcherry, and in the cutcherries of all the judicial authorities and the Collector of the district. The publication shall contain a statement of the several depending cases, in which such plaintiff or appellant was a party, and an intimation to his heirs or representatives, that, unless they attend either in person or by vakeel for the prosecution of the depending suit or appeal before a certain day, to be fixed and named in the publication not being more than six weeks from its date, such suit or appeal will be dismissed on default under the provisions of Section 1, Act XXIX. of 1841. 2ndly, The above rule of practice shall be considered equally applicable to appeals, pending in the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, with the exception, that the publication therein prescribed shall, in such cases, be affixed in the cutcherry of the sudder court, and in the cutcherries of the several judicial authorities included in the district or districts from which the depending appeals may have been received, and that

When a plaintiff dies, the court will notify the fact in a notice to be fixed in its own cutcherry and every other throughout the district.

What the notice is to contain.

Notice to be affixed in regard to cases pending in the S. D. A.

the zillah and city Judges shall, on receipt of a precept to that effect, cause the said publication to be duly affixed in the places appointed, and certify, with all practicable expedition, the due fulfilment of such order for the satisfaction of the court.—Ibid, par. 4.

362. A form of publication is annexed for general use, and the civil Judges are informed, that lithographed forms of the same may be indented for on the Government Lithographic Press.—Ibid, par. 5.

Where govt. is a co-deft., the plaintiff need not move in the case till the answer of govt. is given in.

Failure of plaintiff to reply to one defendant without neglect or default regarding other defendants does not involve dismissal under act 29, 1841.

A mere omission to do a particular act, while the plaintiff is conducting his suit, does not incur dismissal under act 29, 1841.

The absence on leave of a pleader engaged in a cause, is no bar to its dismissal under act 29, 1841.

Where the receiver of the Supreme court is a party, no fresh notice is required on a change of the official incumbent.

The S. D. A. ordered the refund of the supplementary stamp filed by the pff. after a suit had been lost by default.

Neglect of an order, while the suit is in progress, is not a default.

A suit cannot be dismissed on its merits and for default.

363. If Government be a co-defendant in a suit, the plaintiff need not, after filing the plaint, take any steps in prosecution of the case, till the answer of Government be given in.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 24th Nov. 1845, p. 72.

364. Held that the failure of the plaintiff to reply to the answer of one defendant, within the prescribed time, while the case was proceeding without neglect or default in regard to other defendants, does not constitute the neglect involving dismissal of the action under Act XXIX. 1841.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Feb. 1846, vol. 7, p. 226.

365. A mere omission to do a particular act, while the plaintiff is otherwise engaged in carrying on his suit, does not incur the penalty of dismissal under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th May 1847.

366. The absence on leave of a pleader engaged in a cause, is no bar to its dismissal under Section 1, Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d Aug. 1842, p. 36.

367. It is not necessary to issue, to the new officer, fresh notice in a case to which the receiver of the Supreme Court may be a party on change of the official incumbent.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th March 1845, p. 66.

368. The Sudder dewanny adawlut ordered the refund of the value of a supplementary stamp which was filed by the plaintiff after his suit had, as subsequently proved, been lost by default, and summarily altered the amount of vakeels' fees allowed by the lower court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th July 1844, p. 59.

369. Neglect of an order issued in the progress of a suit, which is otherwise carried on, is not a default under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Reg. Cases, 10th May 1847.

370. A suit cannot be dismissed both on its merits, and on account of default under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st July 1847.

SECTION XVII.

Zillah and City Courts—Notification of the points to be established in the case.

Courts to require any necessary explanations of the case from the parties or their pleaders.

371. If from the pleadings in the case the points at issue cannot be clearly ascertained, or if from any other reason further explanations may be requisite, the courts shall on the day, on which the suit may be first brought to a hearing, make such enquiries from the parties or their pleaders as may appear necessary, with a view to ascertain the precise object of the action, and the grounds on which it is maintained, and shall record the result on their proceedings.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 10, Cl. 2.

The court will strictly confine itself to the points at issue between the parties as set forth by themselves. The court cannot declare judicially that either party

372. Instances having frequently been brought to the notice of the Court, of substantial injustice having been committed, and needless expence imposed upon parties having suits in the Civil court, by the license assumed by some judicial functionaries, in taking cognizance of matters not set forth in the pleadings, and more especially in giving directions to one or both of the litigants to reinstitute proceedings after a particular manner, to include other persons in the suit, and the like, which directions have been often found opposed to legal enactment and practice, and such as to necessitate a nonsuit, the Court desire, that the judicial officers will strictly confine themselves, to the adjudication of the point or points at issue between the parties, as set forth by themselves and that they will bear in mind that they have no authority to declare judicially, that one or other party is entitled to bring his suit de novo, or to point out the form in which it should be revived.—Cir. Ord. 13th Sept. 1843, par. 1.

373. If, for example, it should be pleaded by the defendant, that the cause of action in any case arose in a jurisdiction other than that in which the suit may be instituted—that the suit has been brought on a wrong valuation, or, that lapse of time or any other cause, bars jurisdiction, it will be incumbent on the Judge trying the case to restrict himself in the first instance to that individual point; and if satisfied of the validity of defendant's objections, to nonsuit the plaintiff accordingly, without entering upon the consideration of matters with which, as they cannot be investigated or adjudicated in his court, he can have no occasion to interfere and without issuing any injunction for the renewal of the suit. In like manner, if in hearing appeals, any irregularity in the institution of the suit, or in the proceedings of the Court of first instance, should be observed, an order for re-trial of the case without any regard to the merits thereof should issue.—Ibid, par. 2.

374. The objectionable practice hereby prohibited is opposed to the obviously correct principle of allowing suitors to bring their suits in such form, and against such persons, as they themselves may judge expedient, and has given rise occasionally to the anomaly of a Judge nonsuiting a case brought conformably to his own directions.—Ibid, par. 3.

375. The Judges will be careful to see that the purport and object of this Circular order is fully and thoroughly understood and strictly observed in practice by all the subordinate judicial functionaries.—Ibid, par. 4.

376. The Court request that an error detected in the second paragraph of their Circular order, No. 33, dated 13th September, 1843, may be corrected by the insertion, after the word "accordingly," occurring in the 6th line of the printed edition, of the words "or to dismiss the suit, as the case may be."—Cir. Ord. 27th Aug. 1845.

377. The Court shall then consider and record the point or points to be established respectively by the plaintiff or appellant, and by the defendant or respondent, and shall proceed to take the evidence which may be adduced by either party upon such points in the manner prescribed by the rules in force.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 10, Cl. 3.

378. In like manner if proof shall be required on any other points in the course of the trial, such points shall be recorded on the proceedings, and the proper party shall be called upon for the requisite evidence, and no exhibit shall be filed, or witness summoned, unless expressly declared to be in proof, or refutation of some point, upon which the court may have directed that evidence should be taken.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

379. A strict observance of the rules abovementioned, especially of those contained in Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, with a view to ascertain the precise object of the action; the grounds on which it is maintained; and the point or points to be established by the parties respectively, when the suit is first brought to hearing after the pleadings are completed, and before may bring his suit de novo, or point out the form in which it should be revived.

The pleas of the defendant to be disposed of in the first instance.

If in appeal, there appears to have been any irregularity in the lower court, the case must be ordered to be re-tried.

Anomaly created by any court's departing from these rules and interfering with suits.

This circular to be explained to and enforced on the subordinate courts.

Correction of an error in par. 2 of the above circular.

The courts to record the points necessary to be established by the parties.

And any additional points which may subsequently appear necessary.

And no evidence to be admitted except with regard to the points so recorded.

The courts are enjoined to pay particular attention to the rules given above in reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10.

any exhibits are filed, or witnesses summoned being of great importance towards the prevention of superfluous matter, and unnecessary delay, in the trial and decision of civil suits, the Judges and Registers of the Zillah and City courts, as well as the Judges of the Provincial courts, are required to give particular attention thereto, in the suits which may come before them respectively.—Cir. Ord. 7th Aug. 1817.

The judges are invariably to submit in appealed cases, the proceeding required in reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10.

380. Several instances having lately been brought to the notice of the Court of the record of appealed cases, submitted agreeably to the rule contained in Section 8, Regulation 9 1831, being sent up without the proceeding which the Judge is required to draw up by Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, and the omission being extremely inconvenient, particularly where the appellant pleads that the Judge has omitted to receive documents tendered, or to summon witnesses named by the party ; I am directed to request that you will invariably submit that proceeding in appealed cases that you may forward to the Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Aug. 1836.

SECTION XVIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Notice to the Parties to file Exhibits and name Witnesses.

When the courts are to proceed to the examination of the merits of the suit.

381. When the rejoinder has been filed, the court, either immediately, or on a fixed day (eight days' notice of which is to be given to the parties) as soon after the pleadings are closed as the business of the court will permit, is to examine the truth of the complaint or claim by the oaths of the parties, if they mutually consent to that mode of examination, and of the witnesses who may be produced by them, if they have any witnesses to produce.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

Previous notice to be given by the courts of the day, on which a suit is to be brought to a hearing.

382. In order that the parties in a suit or their authorized pleaders may be fully prepared to file their exhibits, and to name their witnesses, as well as to furnish any explanations of the case, which may be required, at the time when the suit may first be brought to a hearing, the several courts are enjoined carefully to attend to those provisions in the Regulations which require that eight days' previous notice be given to the parties of the day on which the court may propose to bring the suit to a hearing.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

A notification of the day duly affixed in the cutcherry, shall be a sufficient notice.

383. For this purpose it shall be sufficient for the court to affix, in some conspicuous place in the court-room, a notification, specifying the number of the suit, the names of the parties and of the vakeels respectively entertained in the suit, together with the date on which it may be intended that such suit be brought to a hearing before the court, and such notice shall be held and considered to be in force until the suit can be brought to a hearing either on the day fixed or any subsequent day.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Courts authorized to fine parties who may be unprepared to file exhibits or to name their witnesses

384. If either of the parties in a suit, which may be brought to a hearing after due notice shall have been given in the manner above prescribed, shall not be prepared to file their exhibits, or the names of their witnesses, or to furnish any explanations of the case which may be required by the court, and shall not assign sufficient and satisfactory reason for the delay, the courts are authorized to impose upon such parties such fine as may appear just and proper: provided that the fine shall in no instance exceed one-fourth of the fee paid on the institution of the suit, or of the amount of the stamp duty substituted for such fee. If a similar neglect shall occur a second time after due notice shall have been given of the day fixed for the case being again brought forward, the courts are authorized either to impose a second fine under the limitation above prescribed, or to proceed as in other cases of default.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

on the day notified for the hearing of the suit.

385. A case having been decided by the Principal Sudder Ameen and zillah Judge entirely by a reference to the records of other cases previously decided, the Sudder dewanny adawlut set aside both decisions, and remanded the case with instructions that the plaintiffs should be required to file the evidence necessary to support their claims.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Aug. 1843, vol. 7, p. 130.

A civil court cannot decide a case by a reference to the records of other cases previously decided; the plaintiffs must be required to file the evidence necessary to support their claim.

386. Held, that the eight days' notice required by Section 12, and the proceedings to be recorded under Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, must be repeated, if the parties to a suit be allowed to file any pleadings subsequently to the above provisions of the law having been once already attended to.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th Feb. 1845, p. 65.

Case in which the notice of 8 days must be repeated.

387. Held, that a Judge is not authorized by Clause 3, Section 12, Regulation 26, 1814, to fine a defendant one-fourth of the value of the stamp required for the petition of plaint, for failing to produce certain documents, the recovery of which by the plaintiff formed the subject of action.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 7th Sept. 1841, p. 17.

Cases in which a judge is not authorized to fine a defendant by reg. 26, 1814, sec. 12, cl. 3.

SECTION XVIII.

Evidence in Zillah and City Courts.

388. It is hereby enacted, that no person shall, by reason of any conviction for any offence whatever, be incompetent to be a witness in any stage of any cause, civil or criminal, before any court, in the territories of the East India Company.—Act XIX. 1837.

No one disqualified to be a witness by reason of a conviction for any offence.

389. In reply to your letter of the 27th ultimo, I am directed by the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut to inform you that the fact of a witness being afflicted with leprosy does not bar the admission of his evidence in our Courts of justice.—Con. 726, 26th Oct. 1832.

A witness afflicted with leprosy is not barred from giving evidence.

390. It is irregular in a court to examine one of the defendants in a suit as a witness in proof of the plaintiff's claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Dec. 1843, vol. 7, p. 141.

A defendant cannot be examined to prove the plaintiff's claim.

391. In the case of an appeal defended by the assignees of an insolvent firm, appointed under the 9th George IV. chapter 73, the evidence of one of the partners was received in appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th March 1833, vol. 5, p. 271.

Case in which the evidence of one of the partners was received in appeal.

392. A person who gives a bribe cannot be compelled to give evidence on oath touching the bribe alleged to have been administered by him as he would himself be liable to a criminal prosecution for giving it.—Con. 757, 28th Feb. 1833.

One who gives a bribe cannot be examined on oath regarding it.

The courts possess authority to require mahajuns to produce their books in evidence.

393. The Court observe that although no specific Regulation exists on the subject, it has been the established practice of the courts to call on mahajuns to produce books in evidence on cases pending before them, and they have reason to believe that such practice has been held by the Presidency Court to be unobjectionable. The Court therefore propose to inform the Commissioner, with the Presidency Court's concurrence that although the measure should be adopted with caution, and not unnecessarily, still the courts possess authority to require mahajuns to produce their books in evidence when an inspection of them may be necessary for a full understanding of the merits of a case pending before them.—Con. 757, West. C. 8th Feb. 1833.

What evidence has been received as proof of an unconditional sale.

394. An action for possession of real property on a sale absolute, but in reply to which defendants pleaded a conditional sale. The plaintiff could not produce a bill of sale, but the return by defendants to plaintiff of the ikrarnamahs drawn out when the sale was only conditional, held to be conclusive proof of an unconditional sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1844, vol. 7, p. 181.

The accounts of a govt. officer must be proved.

395. Held that the accounts of a Government office require to be proved, as those of an individual.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th May 1844, vol. 7, p. 170.

An act proved in a criminal court being the ground of a civil action, the civil court cannot refuse evidence to disprove it.

396. An act proved in a Criminal court being made the ground of a civil action evidence offered in its disproof cannot be refused by the Civil court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Nov. 1845, vol. 7, p. 216.

A deed of gift drawn in Calcutta on unstamped paper, not admissible as evidence in the Company's courts.

397. Under Regulation 1, 1814, a deed of gift drawn on unstamped paper by an attorney in Calcutta for the conveyance of property at Moorshedabad, the donor being at the time a resident of Calcutta, and the donee a resident of Moorshedabad, is not admissible as evidence in the Company's courts.—Con. 312, 1st April 1820.

Documents on improper stamps not admissible as evidence; but the courts may receive other evidence of the claim.

398. Documents written on paper not bearing the prescribed stamp shall not be admitted as evidence or filed in any Court of justice: but if the plaintiff can prove his claim by any other evidence, the Courts of justice are not precluded from receiving such evidence.—Con. 292, 9th July 1818.

Plaintiff may produce other evidence if his security bond is inadmissible as being on plain paper or an improper stamp.

399. When a security bond has been declared inadmissible as evidence in consequence of its being written on plain paper, or paper bearing an improper stamp, the plaintiff may adduce other evidence of the security having been given.—Con. 970, Cal. C. 7th Aug., West. C. 4th Sept. 1835.

Documents on plain paper in connection with the insolvent court admissible as evidence.

400 Documents executed on plain paper under Section 79 of the Act for the relief of insolvent debtors, (9th Geo. 4th C. 73) are admissible as evidence in the Company's courts without being stamped.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Sept. 1842, vol. 7, p. 118.

The collector's receipt for the stamp penalty not enough to legalize a document; it must be stamped.

401 The Collector's receipt for the amount of the penalty is not sufficient to legalize a document: it must be submitted to the Superintendent to be stamped.—Con. 6, 3d April 1805.

SECTION XIX.

Witnesses in Zillah and City Courts.

No witness to be

402. Petitions or applications for the summoning or examination of witnesses, according to the number of persons named, will be charged for stamps as exhibits, and no witness shall be summoned or examined in a regular suit, unless his name is included in a petition or application in writing given in as above.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sch. B, Art. 11.

examined unless his name is included in an application. The value of the stamp on which it must be written.

403. On a reference from the Judge of zillah Bundelkund, dated 13th May, (paragraph 2,) "whether parties may be allowed to bring their own witnesses without making any application to the court, or whether it is intended that an application on stamped paper shall be made for every witness, whether summoned by the court, or offered to be produced by the parties;" the Sudder dewanny adawlut gave it as their opinion, the 17th August, 1814, "that no witness could be examined in a regular suit without a durkhaust, as prescribed by the last stamp Regulation."—Con. 182, 17th Aug. 1814.

Though a party brings his witnesses without a summons, they cannot be examined without a written nomination for each on stamped paper.

404. I am directed to observe that Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832, modifies Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, only so far as relates to the value of the stamp on which "pleadings" in suits in the Judge's court shall be written, and that all "ism-nuveesces" or the names of witnesses must as heretofore be charged as "exhibits" and written on stamped paper of the value of one rupee (see Articles 5 and 11, Schedule B.)—Con. 1088, Cal. C. 21st April, West. C. 12th May 1837.

All ism-nuveesces must be written on a stamp value 1 rupee.

405. To procure the attendance of witnesses, the Zillah and City courts, on the requisition of the plaintiff or defendant, or their respective vakeels, are to issue a summons to the witnesses whom the parties may name (provided they be not Hindoo or Mahomedan women of a rank or quality, which according to the manners and customs of the country, would render it improper to compel them to appear in a Court of justice,) specifying at whose request the summons may have been issued, and requiring them to appear in the court on a day to be named in the summons, and there to depose concerning the matter in dispute between the parties.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

How the attendance of the witnesses of the parties is to be procured, provided they be not women of the rank or cast herein mentioned.

What the summons is to contain.

406. A party to an action cannot be called upon to point out the witnesses named by the opposite side.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d Sept. 1845, p. 71.

A party to an action cannot be called to point out the witnesses named by the opposite side.

407. There is no legal bar to the managing agent of one of the parties to a civil suit being summoned and examined as a witness on the motion of the opposite party.—Remarks.—The agent in the above case was not a mooktar employed in the courts, but an agent for the management of the property of his principal.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d Sept. 1836, p. 12.

The managing agent of a party may be examined as a witness.

408. The Court of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut have been advised that an extract from the proceedings of Government in the Territorial department, under date the 9th May last, relative to persons exempted from the ferry toll, established by Regulation 19, 1816, has been transmitted to the several Courts of justice, for their information. I am further directed to acquaint you, that the several revenue authorities have been instructed by Government "to consider the principle of the orders contained in that extract to extend to witnesses summoned to attend the Courts of justice."—Cir. Ord. 31st July 1817.

Witnesses summoned to attend the courts exempt from the ferry toll.

409. If a witness so summoned shall not attend on the day appointed, or attending, shall refuse to give evidence, or to subscribe his deposition as hereafter required,

How witnesses so summoned are to be dealt with, if they shall not appear, or if they shall appear and refuse to give evidence or subscribe their deposition.

the Judge, in the first case, if it shall be proved to his satisfaction on oath that the witness was material to the cause, is to issue an order to the nazir to seize and bring the witness before the court, and is to impose on such witness not having attended, or refusing to give evidence, a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to commit him to close custody, until he shall consent to give his evidence and sign his deposition.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

Zillah and city magistrates and courts of circuit and nizamat adawlut empowered to commit to custody and fine witnesses not attending or refusing to give evidence, or sign their deposition.

410. But witnesses attending and refusing to give evidence, whether in the Civil or Criminal courts, shall in the first instance, be committed to custody only; and shall be called upon a second time, after such interval as may by the court be judged sufficient. (not being less than one entire day;) when if the witness persist in his refusal to give evidence, he shall be fined in proportion to his situation in life (not exceeding the amount limited) and confined in the jail of the Civil court, until the fine be discharged; or for such period of imprisonment as may be fixed in lieu of the fine, under Section 3. Regulation 14, 1797; or, if the cause of trial, in which the evidence of the witness may be requisite shall be still depending, until he shall consent to give his evidence therein: after which, in such case, he shall be released and the fine remitted.—Reg. 50, 1803, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Course of procedure regarding witnesses fined, or confined, for refusing to swear.

411. No limitation is fixed for the confinement which the court may award in commutation of fines adjudged in cases of refusal to make oath, &c. The court must exercise its discretion according to the circumstances of each case. A witness fined for refusing to swear is to be discharged on paying the fine, if the suit in which his evidence was required have been decided; or kept in confinement, whether he have paid the fine or not, if the suit be still pending, until he consent to give his evidence on oath as required.—Con. 110, 3d Sept. 1812.

A witness fined for refusing to swear cannot be admitted to give evidence without oath after paying the fine, except at the discretion of the J.

412. A witness who has been fined for refusal to take an oath cannot, after discharging the fine, be admitted to give evidence on solemn declaration, unless the Judge, who imposed the fine, see reason to change his opinion that the prisoner was not, in the first instance, a fit object of exemption from taking an oath, in which case the fine may be remitted, and the witness admitted to give his evidence on a kulufnameh.—Ibid.

There must be proof on oath that the evidence of a witness, who has been summoned but does not attend, is material; cases in which such proof is not required.

413. In answer to a reference made by the Judges of the Calcutta Court of circuit, the Nizamut adawlut, on the 19th of May, 1814, stated it as their opinion, that this clause, which requires proof on oath (not the prosecutor's oath exclusively) that the evidence of a witness is material to the cause, is exclusively applicable to the first case therein mentioned, viz. that of a witness duly summoned and not attending; and that in the two other cases mentioned, viz. of a witness attending and refusing to give evidence, or after having given evidence refusing to sign his deposition, no new proof is to be called for that the evidence of the witness is material.—Con. 159, 19th May 1814.

The judge cannot strike a case off the file, when the plaintiff's witnesses are summoned and do

414. In a regular suit, in which the witnesses named by the plaintiff had been duly summoned, but had neglected to attend under the summons and give their evidence as required, it was held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, that it was incumbent on the Judge, under the spirit of Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, to call on the plaintiff's counsel to satisfy him by evidence on oath, that these witnesses were material to the cause ; and that he ought not to have struck the case off the file, until he had explicitly called upon the party to proceed in the manner above indicated.—Con. 1126, 26th Jan. 1838.

415. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that before an order of dismissal on default is pronounced by the lower court in consequence of the non-attendance of witnesses, it is the duty of the zillah Judge to satisfy himself by evidence, on oath, that the absent witnesses are material to the cause.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th Aug. 1840, p. 47.

416. The showing of a subpoena to a witness while passing by on an elephant, held to be a personal and actual service.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d Nov. 1846, p. 87.

417. The rules contained in Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, for the award of fines, cannot be considered applicable to the case of a person whose attendance may be required as a witness, but on whom a summons may not have been served.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Dec. 1837, vol. 4, p. 287.

418. When the summons has not been personally served on a witness, he cannot be proceeded against either by fine, or the issue of a warrant for his seizure.—Con. 172, 27th July 1814.

419. In reply to the question involved in your reference, namely, as to the propriety or otherwise of imposing a fine on a witness, on whom a subpoena may not have been served, I am desired to state, that the Court see no reason to depart from the construction laid down in their letter to the Commissioner at Moorshedabad, dated the 27th of July, 1814, that the rules contained in Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, cannot be considered applicable to the case of a person whose attendance may be required as a witness, but on whom a summons may not have been served.—Con. 465, 7th Dec. 1827.

420. A plea of disgrace attaching to a personal attendance in court, urged by a party summoned to give evidence, held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be inadmissible.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d May 1842, p. 30.

421. Can a witness, who has evaded the summons of a Civil court, be proceeded against by dustuk and fine, supposing that no doubt exists, as to the summons having been carried by the serving peada to the actual residence of the witness, and all proper means used to serve it upon him?—Reply.—A witness, upon whom a summons may not have been personally and actually served, cannot be proceeded against, either by dustuk or fine.—Con. 487, 12th Sept. 1828.

422. Are any and what further measures allowable to enforce the attendance of a witness, who, having been duly served with a summons, has neglected to attend, and evades the second process of dustuk issued against him?—Reply.—Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, contains the proper rule of proceeding in such case, namely, the imposition of a fine not exceeding 500 rupees.—Ibid.

423. It appearing from the papers transmitted by you, that Gungaram has been duly served with a summons, and has failed to attend, as promised in his written acknowledgment of the receipt of the summons, the Court remark that for such failure he is liable, under the provisions of Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, to personal arrest, and fine not exceeding five hun-not attend, till he has proof on oath that they are material.

A judge cannot dismiss a case for non-attendance of witnesses till he has proof on oath that they are material.

Shewing a subpoena to a witness while passing on an elephant, a complete service of it.

A person on whom no summons has been served cannot be fined under reg. 4, 1793, sec. 6.

A witness on whom summons has not been personally served cannot be fined or seized.

The same rule repeated.

A plea of disgrace attaching to personal attendance at court held by the S. D. A. to be inadmissible.

A witness on whom a summons has not been personally served, cannot be proceeded against by dustuk, or fine.

Where a witness has been duly served with a summons and neglects to attend, & evades the second process of dustuk, he may be fined within 500 rs.

Where a witness has been personally summoned & evades the warrant for his seizure, there must be a proclamation requiring his attendance; if he neglects it, he will be liable to a fine, to be levied by attaching his property.

dred rupees. As the witness has evaded the warrant issued for the seizure of his person, the Court are of opinion, that it will be proper to issue a proclamation requiring his attendance within a certain period; and that if he should still neglect to attend within the time limited in the proclamation, you should impose such fine upon him as you may judge proper, not exceeding the amount above stated, and proceed to levy the same by attachment and sale of his property.—Con. 172, 27th July 1814.

Though the Regulations do not require the proclamation, yet it seems to have been pointed out by the Sudder court as the proper mode of procedure in order to give the witness every advantage before proceeding to levy the fine.

A mahajun is liable to a fine of 500 rs. for not producing his books, when the court deems it necessary to order their production.

424. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 11th instant, requesting their instructions, regarding the power of the Civil courts "to enforce the production of a mahajun's books which are necessary in cases before them." The Court are of opinion, that in all cases wherein it may be necessary to call upon a witness to produce documents of the nature referred to, which are known, or presumed on strong and sufficient grounds, to be in his possession, if the witness refuse or neglect to produce the documents required from him, and fail to assign satisfactory cause for not producing the same, he is liable to be proceeded against in conformity with the spirit of the rules for compelling witnesses to give their testimony, contained in Section 7, Regulation 3, and Section 25, Regulation 8, 1803, viz. by imposing a fine not exceeding 500 rupees, and detaining him in custody until he shall consent to produce the documents required.—Con. 270, 26th March 1817.

Expence to be paid by the party summoning the witness.

Consequences attending his not paying such expence as required & the court how to enforce the payment.

What oaths are to be administered to parties or witnesses.

425. If a witness who may attend pursuant to a summons, shall have incurred any expence in consequence of his being required to appear, the court is to award to him such sum for his charges as may appear to it reasonable, whether he be examined or not. If the sum so awarded shall not be paid immediately, or secured to the witness to the satisfaction of the court, the party at whose requisition the witness may be summoned is not only to lose the benefit of his testimony, but the court, after the decree in the cause shall be passed, is to confine such party until he shall discharge the sum awarded to the witness.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

A foreign potentate cannot be summoned as a witness.

426. A foreign potentate cannot be called upon to give evidence in the Company's courts.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 26th Feb. 1844, p. 57.

Notices to witnesses how to be issued, when such witnesses are employed in the salt manufacture.

427. Notices to officers or other persons employed in the salt manufacture to appear as witnesses, shall be served during the manufacturing season in the same manner as if they were parties in the cause, but the Judges are to be careful not to issue notices to such officers, or persons, excepting when their attendance shall be necessary; and on their appearance to have them examined and dismissed with all practicable despatch, so that they may be absent from the business of the manufacture as short a time as possible.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 21, Cl. 8.

The observance of the rules in question may be dispensed with in special cases by the cts. of justice.

428. The Judges and Magistrates are empowered in particular cases in which it may appear to them indispensably necessary for the purposes of justice, to order the personal attendance of any Native officer or person in any wise concerned or employed in the salt manufacture, whether he may be a party or a witness in the suit or prosecution, at any time, during the manufacturing season, notwithstanding any thing that may be said to the contrary in those clauses, and to cause process to be executed upon him for that purpose, in the same manner as upon other individuals; but in such cases, the Judges and Magistrates are to record on their proceedings, their reasons for deviating from the provisions contained in the said clauses, which are to be considered as the general rule for issuing and executing such notices, summonses and warrants; and in the notice, summons or warrant, they are to specify that it has been specially ordered to be so executed in virtue of the discretionary power vested in them by this clause, and they are moreover strictly enjoined to refrain from every unnecessary exercise of that power.

But reasons for the deviation to be assigned.

—Ibid, Cl. 9.

429. The discretionary power granted by the ninth clause of Section 21 of this Regulation, to Judges and Magistrates in special cases of persons concerned in the provision of salt under a Salt Agent, is hereby declared to be equally vested in those authorities, in regard to persons employed in the chokey department.—Ibid, Sect. 28.

Discretion vested in the courts to deviate from the foregoing rules.

SECTION XX.

Oaths.

430. Whereas obstruction to justice, and other inconveniences have arisen in consequence of persons of the Hindoo or Mahomedan persuasion being compelled to swear by the water of the Ganges, or upon the Koran, or according to other forms which are repugnant to their consciences or feelings. It is hereby enacted, that except as hereinafter provided, instead of any oath or declaration now authorized or required by law, every individual of the classes aforesaid within the territories of the East India Company shall make affirmation to the following effect:—"I solemnly affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that what I shall state shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."—Act V. 1840, Sect. 1.

Every individual as above will make an affirmation, instead of an oath or declaration.

431. And it is hereby enacted, that if any person making such affirmation as aforesaid shall wilfully and falsely state any matter or thing which if the same had been sworn before the passing of this Act would have amounted to perjury, every such offender shall be subject in all courts to the same punishment to which persons convicted of perjury were subject before the passing of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

A false affirmation to be punished as perjury.

432. And it is hereby enacted, that any person causing or procuring another to commit the offence defined in the second section of this Act shall be subject in all courts to the same punishment to which persons convicted of subornation of perjury were subject before the passing of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

The crime of causing or procuring a false affirmation to be punished as subornation of perjury.

433. With reference to the provisions of Act V. of 1840, I am desired to transmit to you the subjoined translations, in Bengalee and Oordoo, of the affirmation enjoined to be taken by all Hindoo and Mahomedan deponents, and to request that you will make use of them, until further instructions in regard to the carrying out of the provisions of the Act shall be forwarded to you.—Cir. Ord. 3d April 1840, par. 1.

Translation of the form of affirmation.

Modification of the form in the case of Mahomedans.

434. In the event of its being necessary to use the Bengalee form of Mahomedans, the term used to designate the Supreme Being by persons of that persuasion will of course be substituted for that which now appears in the translation.—Ibid, par. 2.

Mode in which the affirmation is to be made

435. It is not required that the deponent should sign his name to any written affirmation, but he should merely read it out in court, or the declaration should be read out to him and repeated by him before giving his deposition, and at the heading of his written deposition it should be stated that he was sworn according to the provisions of Act V. of 1840.—Ibid, par. 3.

The provision of sec. 2 of the act to be clearly explained to witnesses.

436. Until general publicity has been given to the Act, the provisions of Section 2 should be clearly explained to persons giving evidence in your court.—Ibid, par. 4.

SECTION XXI.

Depositions of Witnesses in Zillah Courts

Depositions of witnesses to be reduced into writing in the language and character which they may desire

437. The deposition of every witness who may appear in court, is to be taken vivâ voce in open court, and (if he be a Native) in the Persian, Bengal, or Hindoostanee language, and is to be reduced into writing in the Bengal, Persian or Nagree character, according as the witness may desire. The deposition is to be subscribed by the witness with his name or mark.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

The deposition of an European witness must be recorded in English with a vernacular translation

438. The Calcutta Court, with the concurrence of the Western Court, subsequently held on the 27th January, 1837, that the deposition of an European witness must be recorded in English, and a Persian translation made by the principal assistant himself, and annexed thereto.—Con. 1035, Cal. and West. C. 12th Aug. 1836.

Powers vested in the zillah and city judges with regard to the mode of signing processes and examining witnesses

439. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts are further authorized to employ their Registers and assistants, or any of their principal Native officers, in taking down the depositions of witnesses, whom they may not have time to examine vivâ voce themselves; provided, that such depositions be taken in open court in the presence of the parties, or their authorized pleaders, whose attestations shall be subscribed to all depositions, so taken in testimony of their having been present; and if any question or dispute shall arise in taking the deposition of a witness so examined, the Judge shall, as soon as may be practicable, enquire into the question, and shall pass such order as may appear to him to be proper.—Reg. 24, 1814, Sect. 11, Cl. 1.

The depositions of witnesses, as far as practicable, to be taken by the presiding judge

440. The Court direct me to add, that the administration of civil justice in the courts of the zillah and city Judges and Registers will be essentially promoted and much unnecessary examination of witnesses be prevented, if the depositions of witnesses be taken by the Judges and Registers themselves, as far as practicable, instead of employing the Native officers to perform this duty, as authorized in cases of necessity, and under specific provisions in Section 11, Regulation 24, 1814.—Cir. Ord. 7th Aug. 1817, par. 8.

441. The Court are aware, that the extensive functions of the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates, will not admit of their personally examining the whole of the numerous witnesses whose depositions are required to be taken in their respective courts; and in such cases besides a careful observance of the provisions contained in the first clause of Section 11, Regulation 24, 1814, the assistant or Native officer, employed to examine the witnesses, should be clearly informed, by a roobukaree, held in pursuance of Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, of the point or points, upon which the examination is to be taken; with instructions not to allow the parties or their vakeels to question the witnesses upon other points.—But it is the evident intention of the Regulations, and is most desirable for the ends of justice, that witnesses in civil suits depending before the zillah and city Judges or Registers, should, as far as possible, be examined vicâ voce by the Judge or Register, whose duty it is to conduct the trial, and decide upon the merits of the case. The grounds of necessity which may prevent the Judge or Register from personally examining the witnesses, and compel him to employ an assistant or Native officer to examine them, should therefore in every instance be recorded on the proceedings which contain the order of examination.—Ibid, par. 9.

Farther rule regarding the deposition of witnesses.

442. You are desired to make it known as a general rule, that when a deposition may be taken before a Native officer, he is to affix his signature in token of its having been taken before him, in order that it may be seen to whom responsibility attaches in case of irregularity.—Cir. Ord. 25th Oct. 1822, par. 4.

A native officer who takes a deposition must put his signature to it.

443. I am desired further to remark, that in the opinion of the Court, it would very materially promote the ends of justice, if previously to rejecting evidence to any particular point as unnecessary, the Judge trying the cause would consider whether or not it is probable that such evidence (although not so deemed for his own satisfaction) may be deemed requisite by the Judge before whom the cause may be brought on appeal.—Ibid, par. 3.

Before rejecting evidence on any point the judge will consider whether it may not be deemed requisite if the case is appealed

444. In the event of any witness being a Hindoo or Mahomedan woman of a rank or quality, which, according to the customs and manners of the country, would render it improper to compel her to appear in a Court of justice, the Zillah and City courts of dewanny adawlut are authorized to commission three creditable women, who are to be sworn to execute the commission truly and faithfully, to administer either an oath, or the prescribed declaration to persons of the rank, cast or quality beforementioned, (according to the discretion of the Judge and the religion of the witnesses,) and to examine them on written interrogatories to be delivered to them by both parties or their vakeels, if both parties shall desire to examine the witnesses.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8. 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

Court may dispense with the personal appearance of Hindoo or Mahomedan women of a certain rank

How the evidence of such women is to be obtained.

SECTION XXII.

Zillah and City Courts—Examination of absent Witnesses.

445. It is hereby enacted, that all Regulations and parts of Regulations for taking the examination of absent witnesses in any Presidency, are hereby repealed.—Act III. 1841, Sect. 1.

Repeals all rega for taking evidence of absent witnesses.

Any court, or judge, in any civil proceeding, may order the examination upon interrogatories or otherwise, before any officer, &c. of any witnesses within its jurisdiction, or may issue a commission to a subordinate court for that purpose out of its jurisdiction, and give directions, &c. Court to which commission is directed shall examine witnesses in open court, &c. How commissions, to be executed within local limits of her majesty's courts, shall be directed.

446. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for any court within the territories under the Government of the East India Company, and the several Judges thereof, in every civil proceeding depending in such court, upon the application of any of the parties to such proceeding, to order the examination, upon interrogatories or otherwise, before any officer of any such court, or other person or persons named in such order, of any witnesses within the jurisdiction of the court where the proceeding shall be depending, or to order a commission to issue to any subordinate court for the examination of such witnesses upon interrogatories or otherwise, or to order a commission to issue to any other court for the examination of witnesses at any place or places out of such jurisdiction upon interrogatories or otherwise, and by the same or any subsequent order or orders to give all such directions for taking such examinations as well within the jurisdiction of the court wherein the proceeding shall be depending as without, as may appear reasonable and just; provided always, that any court to whom any such commission shall be directed shall take the examination in open court in all cases where witnesses are able to attend in court and are not exempted from attendance by law, absolutely, or at the discretion of the court. Provided also, that such commissions as aforesaid for the examination of witnesses out of such jurisdiction may be directed otherwise than to some court under special circumstances which may appear to the court issuing the commission to render such special direction expedient. Provided also, that all commissions issued and orders made by any court of the East India Company, and which are required to be executed within the local limits of any of Her Majesty's Supreme Courts, shall be directed in manner hereinafter mentioned.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Witnesses within the jurisdiction may be ordered to attend at their own place of residence or elsewhere and to produce documents. Disobedience to order a contempt of court. Witnesses to be entitled to indemnity for expences, &c.

447. And it is hereby enacted, that when any order shall be made for the examination of witnesses within the jurisdiction of the court wherein any such proceeding as aforesaid shall be depending by the authority of this Act, it shall be lawful for the court or any Judge thereof in and by the first order to be made in the matter or any subsequent order, to command the attendance of any person to be named in such order, and to direct the attendance of any such person to be at his own place of residence or elsewhere, if necessary or convenient so to do, and to produce all necessary documents and papers, and the wilful disobedience to any such order shall be deemed a contempt of court, and punishable as in other cases of refusing or neglecting to give testimony. Provided always, that every person whose attendance shall be required under this Act, shall be entitled to the like payment for expences and loss of time as upon attendance in court in cases where such expences are now allowed.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Courts and persons authorized to take examinations in pursuance of this act may take them upon oath or affirmation; & any person wilfully & corruptly giving false evidence shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and person procuring it, of subornation of perjury.

448. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for every court or person authorized to take the examination of witnesses by any order or commission issued in pursuance of this Act, and they are hereby authorized and required to take all such examinations upon oath or affirmation wherein affirmation is admissible or required upon a trial, and if upon such oath or affirmation any person making the same shall wilfully and corruptly give any false evidence, every person so offending shall be deemed and taken to be guilty of perjury, and every person causing or procuring another person to commit the offence of perjury hereby defined shall be guilty of subornation of perjury.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

449. And it is hereby enacted, that before any order or commission for the examination of any witness under this Act shall be issued, the court or Judge issuing the same shall be satisfied that there is good reason for believing that the witness will be unable to attend at the usual time for examination by reason of absence from the jurisdiction, sickness or other cause allowed by law. And before granting any such commission, the court granting the same shall make particular enquiry as to the present residence of the witness whose deposition is to be taken under such commission, and as to the court of the same degree as the court granting such commission, or of inferior degree to such court which may be nearest to the place of residence of the witness, and the commission shall ordinarily be directed to such court of equal or inferior degree as may most conveniently execute the same. Provided however, that if there be doubt as to which is the most convenient court of equal or inferior jurisdiction, such commission may be directed to the Judge having jurisdiction within the district within which the commission is to be executed. And the Judge shall at his discretion execute the commission in his own court, or direct it to any subordinate court within his district, which shall have the same effect for all the purposes of this Act as if the commission had in the first instance been directed to such subordinate court. And no deposition taken under this Act, except as hereinafter mentioned, shall be read in evidence without the consent of the party against whom the same may be offered, unless it be proved that the deponent is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, or dead, or unable from sickness or infirmity to attend to be personally examined, or distant without collusion more than fifty miles from the place where the court is held, or exempted by law, absolutely or at the discretion of the court, from personal appearance in court, or unless the court shall at its discretion dispense with the proof of any of the above circumstances, or shall authorize the deposition of any witness being read in evidence notwithstanding proof that the causes for taking such deposition have ceased at the time of reading the same: and after the witness shall be produced, and shall have delivered his testimony, it shall be lawful for the court at its discretion to authorize the reading of the deposition. And all depositions taken under this Act, being duly certified, may be read at the discretion of the court, without proof of the signature to such certificate.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

No order or commission to be issued for examination of a witness, unless court or judge has reason to believe the witness will be unable to attend by reason of absence from the jurisdiction, &c. The court, &c. to make particular enquiry as to present residence of witness, &c., and commission to be directed to the court nearest such place of residence. Judge may execute commission in his own court or direct it to any inferior court in his jurisdiction. Depositions under this act, except as hereinafter mentioned, not to be read unless the deponent is proved to be beyond the jurisdiction or dead, or unable from sickness, &c. to attend personally, &c. Court may dispense with proof of such circumstances, or authorize the deposition to be read notwithstanding attestation of circumstances. Depositions to be read without proof of signature to certificate.

450. And it is hereby enacted, that any court other than one of Her Majesty's courts, or any Judge thereof, may issue such commissions as aforesaid, and such orders as are indicated in the second and third sections of this Act to be executed within the local limits of the jurisdiction of any of Her Majesty's courts, and all such commissions and orders except when directed otherwise than to a court, shall be directed to a Court of Requests having jurisdiction within such limits or any part thereof.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Commissions to be executed within the local limits of supreme courts to be directed to a court of requests within those limits.

451. And it is hereby enacted, that such commissions and orders as aforesaid may be issued for execution under this Act within the territories of princes and states in alliance with the East India Company, and all persons within such last mentioned territories being in the service of the East India Company are hereby required to pay obedience thereto, and for disobedience thereof shall on being found within the jurisdiction of the court, or Judge issuing any such commission or order, be punishable Commissions may be issued for execution within the territories of princes and states in alliance with the E I Company. Persons in service of E I Company required to obey such commissions, &c.

in like manner, as if such offence had been committed within such jurisdiction; and for giving false testimony under the same shall be punishable by any Court of justice within the territories of the East India Company.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Courts to which commission is directed may punish disobedience to commission as a contempt.

452. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever the evidence of any absent witness shall be required out of the jurisdiction of the court in which the proceedings for which the evidence is wanted may be pending, and the commission shall be directed to any court, such court may punish the wilful disobedience of any such order as aforesaid as a contempt notwithstanding it shall not itself have made such order, with the same amount of punishment as in other cases of refusing or neglecting to give testimony.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Forms of commission to be used for the examination of absent witnesses.

453. The Court are pleased to prescribe the subjoined forms of commissions for use by all the Civil courts when the examination of absent witnesses is to be taken, under the provisions of Act VII. 1841.—Cir. Ord. 11th Feb. 1842, par. 1.

1. Form of commission to the ministerial officers of the court or to persons residing within its jurisdiction.

454. Form No. 1 is intended to be addressed to ministerial officers of the court, or other persons who may be residing within the jurisdiction of the court.—Ibid, par. 2.

2. Form of a commission to a court of inferior grade.

455. Form No. 2 is to be addressed to a court of the district, which may be inferior in grade to the court issuing the commission.—Ibid, par. 3.

3. Form of a commission to a court of another district equal or inferior to that issuing it, or to the judge of it.

456. Form No. 3, is intended to be addressed to a court of another district, equal or inferior in grade to the court issuing the commission, or (in cases of doubt as to which is the most convenient) to the Judge of such other district; or (under special circumstances) to any individual residing in such other district. In the event of the commission being addressed to the Judge, and that officer, under the discretion vested in him by law, deeming it expedient to direct the commission to a court subordinate to him, it will be sufficient for this purpose that he endorse on the original commission the following record :—To A. B., Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, of (as the case may be.) You are hereby authorised and directed to conform to the requisitions of this warrant of commissions, making your return direct to the court issuing it. Witness my hand and seal of office, this — day of —, &c.—Ibid, par. 4.

4. Form of a commission when the witness resides in Calcutta.

457. Form No. 4 is to be used when the evidence of witnesses, residing in Calcutta, may require to be taken.—Ibid, par. 5.

The act permits evidence to be taken otherwise than on interrogatories, but they are to be preferred.

458. The Act permits examinations to be taken otherwise as well as upon interrogatories, but the court are of opinion that in all practicable cases, interrogatories should accompany the commission.—Ibid, par. 6.

The subordinate courts will attend to this circular.

459. The attention of the subordinate courts is to be called to this Circular.—Ibid, par. 7.

Rules for facilitating the examination of witnesses in Calcutta.

464. The Court are pleased, at the request of the Commissioners of the Court of Requests, to prescribe the following rules to facilitate the examination of witnesses residing in Calcutta (Circular order, No. 440, 11th February, 1842, para. 5).—Cir. Ord. 8th July 1842.

The party for whom the commission issues will appear personally, or by mooktar, to point out witnesses, and pay the fees.

465. The party on whose behalf a commission is issued to the Court of Requests, for taking the depositions of witnesses, is to appear in that court personally or by a duly constituted mooktar, to point out the witnesses and to pay the usual fees of that court for subpœnas. —Ibid, par. 1.

In failure of which the documents will be returned.

466. In failure of this within a reasonable period, the Court of Requests will at their discretion return the whole of the documents received from any zillah.—Ibid, par. 2.

The interrogatories must be written in a plain, intelligible style.

467. The interrogatories and other papers are to be written in a plain intelligible style, and transcribed in a fair and legible hand.—Ibid, par 3.

S. D. A. may direct a lower court to issue a commission to take the evidence of absent witnesses.

468. The Sudder dewanny adawlut on cause being shewn will direct a lower court to issue a commission to take the evidence of absent witnesses, as prescribed by Act VII. 1841. —Rep. Sum. Cases, 7th Nov. 1842, p. 40.

How the evidence of a native of rank is to be taken.

469. The evidence of a Native subject of rank should be taken by a commission under Act VII. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 26th Feb. 1844, p. 57.

SECTION XXIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Perjury.

470. The crime of wilful perjury, subjecting the offender, on conviction, to the punishment stated in the foregoing section, is hereby declared to be, giving intentionally and deliberately, before a Court of judicature, Magistrate, or other authorized public officer, a false deposition, upon oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, relative to some judicial proceeding, civil or criminal, and upon a point material to the issue thereof.—Reg. 2, 1807, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Definition of the crime of wilful perjury, punishable under the preceding section.

471. The Court having had occasion to take into consideration the state of the law of perjury as ruled by precedent at page 282 of the 1st volume of the Nizamut adawlut Reports, are of opinion that the mere fact of a witness having wilfully given two statements directly at variance with each other, on a point material to the issue of the case in which he gives his testimony, must be held to be perjury, and that the deponent, on conviction, is punishable accordingly. This opinion is in conformity with the exposition of the Mahomedan law given in the paragraph at the bottom of page 21 of the 2d volume of Constructions.—Cir. Ord. N. A. 18th June 1841.

The mere fact of a deponent having given two contradictory statements on a material point constitutes the crime of perjury.

472. A false deposition, upon oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, containing a deliberate and specific criminal charge, which the deponent knows to be unfounded, and which also appears to be malicious, is within the provisions of perjury, contained in Regulation 2, 1807; notwithstanding the provision for malicious, vexatious, and unfounded charges in Section 5, Regulation 7, 1811.—Con. 233, 29th Jan. 1816.

Farther specification of the crime of perjury.

473. On the subject of the Commissioner's remarks on the crime of perjury I am directed to submit the following observations. The Court consider the Commissioner's representation of the prevalence of wilful perjury a good deal exaggerated, and they cannot concur with him in thinking that the alleged frequency of the crime is in any degree owing to the defective state of the law. They are of opinion that the law is in no wise in fault, and they are persuaded that if witnesses were examined in the courts of the Magistrates, as they should be by the Magistrates themselves, and closely questioned as to every apparent inconsistency in their deposition, care being taken at the same time to make them understand the questions asked and to write down the answers given by them so as to convey exactly their intended meaning, the crime would not be so often committed with impunity as the Commissioner says it is. The Mahomedan law as stated by the Commissioner is not the law by which the Criminal courts are guided in trials for perjury, and he should have informed himself better on the subject, ere he imputed the frequency of acquittals to the deficiency of the law. To warrant a sentence of punishment, the Bengal code only requires that the proof adduced, (it being provided by clause 1, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1807, that the crime of perjury may be proved either by the free and voluntary confession of the accused or by the testimony of credible witnesses or by strong circumstantial evidence,) shall be sufficient to satisfy the Judge that the crime defined to be perjury has really been wilfully committed by the accused prisoner. The observations of the Commissioner that the Judge before whom the evidence of witnesses to a charge of perjury is taken is more capable of forming a just estimate of the value of their testimony than a Judge who only reads the written depositions; and that the delay which the reference of trials for perjury to this Court occasions takes away from the effect of the punishment: apply equally, if at all, to all trials as well as to trials for perjury. The Court cannot think the reasons given by the Commissioner for not having committed the witnesses noticed in the 58th paragraph of his report to stand their trial for perjury sufficient. If he thought there was proof sufficient to warrant a strong presumption of their having wilfully committed the crime, it was incumbent on him to commit them for trial; and the Court cannot but consider his failure to do so, with reference to the reason stated, a perverse dereliction of duty.—Con. 638, 27th May 1831.

Opinion of the S. D. A. on the subject of perjury and the evidence necessary to prove it.

A conviction of perjury may be passed without a confession on the part of the accused

474. I am directed by the Court of Nizamut adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th ultimo, requesting the Court to ascertain from their Law officers whether the exposition of the Mahomedan law of perjury, as given by the Commissioner of Circuit for the 9th division, in his letter of the 9th February last, viz. that it is impossible to convict a person of perjury unless he confess, is correct or not. 2. I am also directed to request that you will lay before the Honorable the Vice President in Council, the accompanying copies of two letters from the Commissioner under dates the 22d September, 1830, and 23d June last, on the same question of perjury, together with a copy of a minute recorded by Mr. Ross on the 16th ultimo, on the subject of those letters. 3. The Court have not deemed it necessary to require any further opinion from their Law officers, as the question was maturely considered several years ago, and a joint futwa was then given by the three Law officers of the court, containing a full exposition of the law on the subject. A copy of that futwa, with an English translation, is submitted herewith, and it will be found to uphold the opinion already expressed by the Court, that a conviction of perjury may be had without the confession of the accused, and consequently that the view taken by the Commissioner is erroneous. In further confirmation, and as showing that practice has conformed to the law, as declared in the futwa abovementioned, the Court also submit copies of some futwas given at subsequent periods, as well by the Law officers of the Courts of circuit, as of this Court. 4. Under these circumstances, and as the provisions of Regulation 2, 1807, recognized the same principle, the Court see no necessity for any further declaratory law on the subject, especially as a reference can always be made to this Court, in cases of a difference of opinion between the Commissioners of Circuit and their Law officers. 5. In the 22d paragraph of his letter of the 23d June last, the Commissioner requests to be informed whether false depositions taken by Native officers are perjury or not? The majority of the Court hold that a false deposition on oath taken by a Native ministerial officer in the presence of the Magistrate, (in the manner prescribed in the Court's Circular order of the 12th December, 1809,) relative to some judicial proceeding, and upon a point material to the issue thereof, is perjury. Messrs. Ross and Rattray desire me to state that the Circular order above quoted allows the depositions of prosecutors and witnesses to be taken by the ministerial officers of the Foujdary courts in the room in which the Magistrate is sitting while engaged with other business, which is in fact allowing the depositions to be taken by the ministerial officers instead of by the Magistrate, by whom, according to law, they should be taken, and that this mode of taking depositions not being authorized by the Regulations they (Messrs. Ross and Rattray) are of opinion that a legal conviction for perjury cannot be grounded on a deposition so taken.—Con. 656, 2d Sept. 1831.

475. The wilful concealment of bond debts due to an insolvent debtor, examined on oath under the rules contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, is punishable on conviction as wilful perjury under Clause 1, Section 1^o, Regulation 17, 1817.—Con. 1086, Cal. C. 14th, West. C. 28th April 1837.

The wilful concealment of bond debts by an insolvent examined on oath is punishable as wilful perjury.

476. In addition to the rules contained in Sections 26, 30, and 33, Regulation 12, 1817, it is hereby declared that any person convicted before a Court of circuit, or the Court of Nizamut adawlut of having given intentionally and deliberately a false deposition upon oath, or under a solemn declaration, taken instead of an oath, before a public officer authorized to take the same, shall be deemed guilty of wilful perjury, and liable to the punishment of that offence, declared in Section 9 of this Regulation, although the deposition so taken may not relate to any judicial proceeding, provided it shall clearly appear to have been given falsely and criminally on a point material to the case, in which the deposition may have been taken.—Reg. 17, 1817, Sect. 13, Cl. 1.

Sentence to be passed on persons convicted before C. of C. or N. A. of having wilfully given a false deposition on oath, or solemn declaration before any public officer authorized to take the same 477. As Section 22, Regulation 12, 1817, does not invest revenue officers with power to examine parties on oath in regard to pensions referred to in Regulation 24, 1803, it was held that a prosecution for perjury could not be maintained against a party charged with having in such a case falsely deposed on an oath administered by a Collector. Had the act of perjury been committed in the course of an investigation into the conduct of a Native officer authorized to pay pensions, Clause 5, Section 10, Regulation 8, 1809, would apply.—Con. 1106, West. C. 5th Sept., Cal. C. 6th Oct. 1837.

A false deposition on an oath administered by a collector in a case of pensions, is not punishable as perjury

478. Subornation of perjury, punishable under the preceding section, is declared to be the crime of procuring, or causing another person to commit the offence of perjury as above described. Reg. 2, 1807, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

Subornation of perjury defined.

479. Any person convicted before a Court of circuit, or the Court of Nizamut adawlut of having procured or caused another to commit the offence described in the above clause, shall be deemed guilty of subornation of perjury and shall be liable to the punishment of that offence, declared in Section 9 of this Regulation.—Reg. 17, 1817, Sect. 13, Cl. 2.

Persons convicted of causing or procuring another to commit the above offence, deemed guilty of subornation of perjury, and punishable accordingly.

480. If a witness, or any person, shall be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury in any cause or matter depending in court, the Judge is immediately to commit the offender to close custody, to take his trial before the Court of circuit of the division in which the offence may be committed.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 14.—Banars Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 8.

Witnesses, or persons guilty of wilful or corrupt perjury to be committed to take their trial before the court of circuit.

481. The Magistrates of the several Zillah and City courts shall not receive any charges of perjury, which may be preferred by parties in civil suits, either against their own witnesses, or against the witnesses of the adverse party, or of subornation of perjury against the adverse parties in such suits; and all individuals whose attendance is required in the Civil courts either as plaintiffs, defendants, or witnesses, are hereby declared not to be liable to any prosecutions of this description, unless they shall be committed to take their trial by the zillah or city Judge, under the authority vested in him by Section 14, Regulation 4, 1793.—Reg. 3, 1801, Sect. 2.

Magistrates not to receive charges of perjury

Individuals attending in civil cases not liable to prosecutions for perjury, unless committed for trial by the judge.

Persons ordered to be tried for perjury, subornation of perjury, or forgery, not to be admitted to bail, without special cause.

482. Persons charged with the crime of perjury, subornation of perjury, or forgery, as defined in the preceding section, and appearing to the Civil or Criminal courts by whom they may be ordered to be brought to trial before the Courts of circuit, to have been guilty of the charge, shall not be admitted to bail, (notwithstanding anything declared to the contrary in any existing Regulation) unless specially authorized by the court under whose directions they are committed for trial.—Reg. 2, 1807, Sect. 5.

The rule in the sec. and reg. above cited with a discretion to the judge to commit to prison or admit to bail, declared to extend generally, to all allegations of perjury, or subornation of perjury, against parties or witnesses in any civil suit or any civil proceeding whatever before any of the authorities herein mentioned.

483. The rule abovementioned, [which corresponds with Reg. 3, 1801, Sect. 2.] (with this qualification that the zillah or city Judge may commit to prison, or admit to bail, as he shall think proper, under the discretion given by Sect. 5, Reg. 2, 1807,) shall be considered applicable to all allegations of perjury, or subornation of perjury, against parties or witnesses in any civil suit, or any civil proceedings whatever, before the Judge or Register of a Zillah or City court; or before a Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, or an arbitrator or arbitrators appointed to investigate such suits; or an officer employed by a Zillah or City civil court, in any local or other enquiry; or in the execution of any civil process. In all such cases the proceedings, on which the charge of perjury, or subornation of perjury may be grounded, if not held before the zillah or city Judge in the first instance, shall be referred to him by the Register, Commissioner, or other officer, before whom the proceedings may have been held, with the sentiments of the Register, Commissioner, or other officer, upon the case; and if the Judge be of opinion that there are sufficient grounds for bringing the accused party to trial before the Court of circuit, on a charge of perjury, or subornation of perjury, he shall record his opinion to that effect: and at the same time direct whether the accused shall be admitted to bail, or kept in custody. An authenticated copy of the order passed by him, with the whole of the original papers relative to the case, shall then be transferred to the catcherry of the Magistrate, that the order of the Judge may be carried into effect, and the case brought before the Court of circuit, in the same manner as if the charge had been instituted and proceeded upon, in the court of the Magistrate.—Reg. 17, 1817, Sect. 14, Cl. 2.

A judge is not competent to commit for trial on a charge of giving money to witnesses in a civil suit to influence their evidence.

484. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 23d instant, in the case of Government versus Sheikh Bukhtaur, charged with giving money to witnesses in a civil suit for the purpose of influencing their evidence. In reply, I am desirous to acquaint you, that, adverting to the circumstances stated in your letter, the Court entirely concur with you in opinion, that the zillah Judge was not authorized, under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 14, Regulation 17, 1817, to commit the above named individual for trial. The Court have therefore been pleased to annul the commitment in the case in question, and they direct that you adopt the necessary measures for the immediate release of the prisoner.—Con. 504, 25th April 1829.

The judge will commit, and admit bail or not. The magistrate will cause the attendance of parties and witnesses. A session judge cannot try a case committed by him as civil judge.

485. In cases of perjury in the Civil courts, (whether before the Judge or a subordinate court,) the commitment should, according to Clause 2, Section 14, Regulation 17, 1817, be made by the Judge; who will at the same time, determine whether the persons charged are to be admitted to bail or kept in custody; the duty of the Magistrate being confined to causing the attendance of the parties and witnesses before the court by whom the case is to be tried. When the civil Judge has made a commitment, he cannot try it in his capacity of Session Judge; it must be tried by the Commissioner of the division.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 29th May 1835, par. 2.

486. The Court, considering the registry of deeds to be a "civil proceeding," contemplated by Clause 2, Section 14, Regulation 17, 1817, are of opinion, that in cases of perjury before the Register of Deeds, the Judge and Register should proceed in conformity with the provisions of that clause.—Con. 611, 25th Nov. 1831.

In a case of perjury before a register of deeds, the judge & register will act according to reg. 17, 1817, sec. 14, cl. 2.

487. When perjury is committed before a Register, he should transmit his proceedings to the Judge, who, if he be of opinion that there are sufficient grounds for bringing the accused to trial, will commit the case, and the Magistrate will include it in his calendar as if the commitment had been made by himself.—Con. 285, 4th Feb. 1818.

Mode of procedure when perjury is committed before a register.

488. There is no Regulation which exempts females convicted of perjury from tusheer.—Con. 506, 8th May 1829.

Females convicted of perjury may be subjected to tusheer.

489. A deposition taken on oath in the private dwelling of a Sudder Ameen is illegal, and a charge of perjury cannot be sustained on such a deposition.—Con. 627, 28th Feb. 1831.

A deposition on oath in the private dwelling of a S. A. is illegal, and no charge of perjury can be sustained on it.

490. The order of a zillah Judge refusing to proceed against parties for forgery or perjury is final.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Sept. 1846, p. 85.

A judge's order refusing to commit for perjury or forgery is final.

SECTION XXIV.

Zillah and City Courts—Rules regarding the Admission and the Filing of Exhibits.

[For the stamp duty on the petition for filing Exhibits, vide page 209.]

491. In modification of Sections 15 and 16, Regulation 1, 1814, it is hereby declared, that in lieu of filing a separate durkhaust or application for the admission of each exhibit, and the attendance of each witness, it shall be sufficient to file one or more applications or lists, including any number of exhibits desired to be filed, and the names of any number of witnesses desired to be summoned; provided that such applications or lists be written on one, two, or more sheets or rolls of stamped paper, the total value of which shall correspond in amount with that of the stamped paper, which would have been requisite had the application for each exhibit, or witness, been written on separate stamped paper, under the rules contained in Sections 15 and 16, Regulation 1, 1814.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 22.

Modifications of sec. 15 & 16, reg. 1, 1814, with regard to the mode of filing exhibits and summoning witnesses.

492. Every exhibit or written evidence (excepting exhibits that may be proved by such absent witnesses as are hereafter mentioned,) is to be produced in open court at the trial, and if disputed, is to be duly proved by the examination of witnesses sworn as above directed, whose depositions are in the same manner to be reduced into writing and signed. Every exhibit is to be marked with some letter or number to identify it, and the letter or number is to be referred to in the deposition proving it. All exhibits proved by witnesses not present in court are in the same manner to be marked and referred to in the depositions proving them, and are to be endorsed and minuted as having Exhibits and written evidence to be produced in open court at the trial.

Such exhibits and evidence if disputed to be duly proved by witnesses, whose depositions are to be reduced to writing.

Exhibits how to be marked and referred to in the depositions proving them.

Exhibits proved by witnesses not present in court, to be marked and referred to in the same manner, & the date on which they may be read in court is to be endorsed upon them.

The record-keeper will certify, in the presence of the vakeels of the parties, the actual state of all original documents at the time of their being filed, and of their being transmitted to the court of appeal.

been read at the time they may have been read in the court.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

493. Several instances having lately occurred of objections being taken in this court to original documents filed as exhibits in the lower courts, on the ground of their having been altered since the date of their execution, which, at the time they were filed, as well as on the decision of the suit by those courts, passed without question, and without any doubts being expressed as to their authenticity; and the Court seeing reason to believe that such documents have not unfrequently been altered by interested persons, in order to throw suspicion upon them, and to suit their own views, either after the decision of the case by the lower court, or subsequently to the receipt of the record in this Court; I am directed, to request that, which a view to check, as far as may be practicable, this very serious evil, you will cause the record-keeper of your court, or any other respectable and trustworthy officer on your establishment to certify in the presence of the vakeels of the parties, or of the parties themselves, the actual state, at the time of filing, of all original documents exhibited as proofs in your court, desiring him carefully to note any interpolations, erasures, or other alterations at that date apparent on the face of them; and that you will observe a similar precaution at the time of despatching the record of causes appealed to the court, forwarding the original documents filed by the respective parties in such cases, together with the original depositions of the witnesses for the prosecution and defence, in two parcels, in a separate cover under seal, each parcel being endorsed as in the margin, and accompanied by a list of the contents and the certificates above required. By the introduction of the same rules into the courts subordinate to you, to whom you are requested to issue the necessary instructions, the Court would hope that the evils above complained of may be in a great degree remedied, if not entirely removed.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 29th July 1836.

The above rule reiterated and enforced.

494. The Court, having observed a very general and increasing disregard of the rule contained in the Circular order, No. 178, dated the 29th July, 1836, which requires that, in despatching the record of causes appealed to the Court, the original depositions of witnesses and the exhibits filed by the parties respectively, be forwarded in a separate cover under seal, each packet being properly endorsed and accompanied by a list of its contents and by a certificate of the actual state of the exhibits at the time of filing, deem it necessary to call the particular attention of the Judges to the circular instructions referred to, and to intimate that any deviation which may in future be observed from this important rule, which by the circular is also made applicable to the subordinate courts, will be visited with serious notice by the Court.—Cir. Ord. 8th Oct. 1841.

Judge how to proceed in the event of his rejecting exhibits or written evidence that may be offered.

495. If any exhibit or written evidence is offered to a Zillah or City court in a cause depending before it, and the Judge of the court shall think it just and proper to reject it, he is to endorse upon it the word "rejected," together with the names of the parties in the cause, and the name of the party who produced the document, the date on which it may be rejected, and his reasons for not admitting it, (which may be written either upon the document rejected, or on a paper to be annexed to it,) and to subscribe his name to the endorsement, and return the document with his reasons so written to the person who produced it.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 7.

496. The Court only think it further necessary, in this case, to point out to the Magistrate the mistake into which he appears to have fallen, in supposing that instruments which the Civil court may deem forged are to be returned to the parties under Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793. The Court remark, that this section refers to documents which a court may refuse to file as not being relevant, or not produced in proper time, or for other good and sufficient cause; but cannot be understood as applying to documents filed, but proved or suspected upon trial to be forgeries; to return which to the parties producing them, would obviously often tend to defeat justice.—Con. 139, 16th Dec. 1813.

Instruments the court may deem forged are not to be returned to the parties under the above sec.

497. I beg leave to forward to you, for the information and orders of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, a copy of my proceedings under this day's date in the above case in which the original exhibits, and other papers and documents and deeds are missing, but of which copies, I am led to understand, are possessed by and procurable by the parties concerned. The Court desire me to say, that they are aware of no objection to calling upon the parties to supply copies of such of the missing papers as they may have by them, or be able to furnish.—Con. 869, 14th Feb. 1834.

Where exhibits are missing, of which copies are possessed and may be procurable, the parties may be required to furnish them.

498. A document stamped under the provisions of Clause 5, Section 14, Regulation 10, 1829, was admitted; it being presumed that the requisite forms had been observed in obtaining the stamp.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Feb. 1835, vol. 6, p. 21.

Any stamped document according to law is to be admitted.

499. A claim for arrears of rent, on a special agreement executed on a stamp of inadequate value, dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Aug. 1840, vol. 6, p. 303.

A claim for arrears of rent, on a document inadequately stamped, dismissed.

500. Documents written on paper not bearing the prescribed stamp shall not be admitted as evidence or filed in any Court of justice.—Con. 292, 9th July 1818.

Documents not bearing the prescribed stamp cannot be received.

501. Documents executed on plain paper under Section 79 of the Act for the relief of insolvent debtors (9th George 4, cap. 73,) are admissible as evidence in the Company's courts without being stamped.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Sept. 1842, vol. 7, p. 118.

But those connected with the insolvent act of the 9th Geo. 4th, admissible without being stamped.

502. A bond executed, in Calcutta, on plain paper, on the 27th February, 1824, was put in evidence by plaintiffs, and had been generally admitted by defendant in his answer. Held that it was not receivable in evidence unless stamped under Regulation 16 of 1824, and was returned to exhibiting party that he might get the proper stamp affixed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th March 1833, vol. 5, p. 271.

A bond executed in Calcutta on plain paper, though admitted by the defendant, was returned to have the proper stamp.

SECTION XXV.

Zillah and City Courts—Decisions of the Sudder Court in reference to the Validity of Deeds and Documents.

503. The Sudder dewanny adawlut maintain a title to lands obtained under a deed of composition for homicide.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th April 1794, vol. 1, p. 4.

A title to lands admitted on a deed of composition for homicide.

504. A deed admitted, in conformity with the opinion of the Law officers, on the testimony of the Cazee whose seal is affixed to it [not his signature] and of the Moonshee who drew shee who drew it, it; though there were no subscribing witnesses.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Aug. 1801, vol. 1, tho' there were no subscribing witnesses. p. 52.

The validity of a deed admitted, notwithstanding a surreptitious addition.

505. The validity of a deed upheld, to which a surreptitious addition, purporting that it was void, had been made by the subscribing party.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d May 1806, vol. 1, p. 132.

A deed set aside, to which the signature had been unduly obtained.

506. A deed set aside to which the subscriber's signature had been obtained by undue means.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. July 1806, vol. 1, p. 147.

Judgment of the lower courts reversed on documents not discovered till after that judgment had passed.

507. Judgment of the lower courts, in favour of the claimant of certain lands, reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on documents, proving the title of the father of the party in possession, not discovered until after the decree of the Provincial court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Sept. 1806, vol. 1, p. 159.

A deed of trust not produced or used for 20 years, rejected as a fabrication.

508. An umanut-nameh, or deed of trust, not produced for a period of twenty years, and no claim made on the strength of it by the party in whose favour it was alleged to have been executed, rejected as a fabrication.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Aug. 1808, vol. 1, p. 245.

A deed cannot be rejected on the plea of ignorance of the contracting party.

509. A deed cannot be set aside on the plea of ignorance by the contracting party.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th July 1812, vol. 2, p. 30.

In a suit for lands, under a deed of gift, only the title of the claimant to be enquired into; if neither party has a right, the lawful heirs must regularly sue to recover it.

510. In a suit brought by a person against another for certain lands under a deed of gift alleged to have been executed in his favour by the proprietor, it is only necessary to enquire into the title of the claimant; and should it incidentally appear that neither party has a right to the property, still the rightful heirs must institute a regular suit to recover it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th April 1816, vol. 2, p. 178.

The authenticity of a deed which was declared inadmissible by a decree appealed from, but withdrawn on appeal by razeenamah, may be enquired into in a subsequent suit.

511. A deed having been declared inadmissible by a zillah decree, from which an appeal was preferred but subsequently withdrawn by razeenamah, held that the production of that decree was not sufficient to preclude enquiry into the authenticity of the deed in a subsequent suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Jan. 1823, vol. 3, p. 200.

Circumstances under which a particular deed of gift had been set aside.

512. A deed of gift, purporting to have been executed by the deceased proprietor, set aside, as it had not been produced in a former action brought by the widow against the present claimant, when, on his plea of adoption proving untenable, a deed had been filed in court, by which he admitted her right to the succession, which deed, although now disclaimed by him, had been duly recorded, and carried into effect without opposition at the time.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Dec. 1823, vol. 3, p. 275.

Reasons on which the claim of the legal heir was adjudged, in opposition to an alleged deed of gift.

513. Claim of the legal heir adjudged, in opposition to an alleged deed of gift, it being doubted whether the deed was executed at all or whether, at the time of its execution, the donor, from extreme old age, was in his sound mind.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d June 1824, vol. 3, p. 377.

An ikrarnameh executed by a female rejected on strong circumstantial evidence.

514. An ikrarnameh, or written acknowledgment, alleged to have been executed by a female, not admitted in evidence of a conveyance, it being in direct opposition to strong circumstantial evidence.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Sept. 1808, vol. 1, p. 257.

515. An ikrarnamēh, or written acknowledgment, by the defendant to the plaintiff, that the latter is proprietor of a portion of the estate belonging to the former, held to be good evidence of the transfer, though no consideration was proved; an attempt by the defendant to prove a counter ikrarnamēh by the plaintiff having failed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st July 1824, vol. 3, p. 392.

An ikrarnamēh held to be good evidence of the transfer of land, though no consideration was proved.

516. Claim to set aside a deed of sale dismissed, but the right of a third party declared not to be affected by the decree confirming the sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st March 1825, vol. 4, p. 38.

Claim to reject a deed of sale dismissed, but the rights of a third party not affected thereby.

517. Deeds of release, founded on an invalid deed of assignment, are not binding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th Feb. 1827, vol. 4, p. 210.

Deeds of release on an invalid deed of assignment, not valid.

518. A razeenamah and admission of plaintiff's claim, executed by her aunt, turning on a deed of her grandfather which had been declared invalid, were held to be legally inoperative.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Jan. 1833, vol. 5, p. 264.

Circumstances in which a razeenamah was declared legally inoperative.

519. A certain instrument, the date of which appears stated according to the Sumbut era as far as regarded the day of the month, while the year mentioned is the Fuslee year, being declared invalid in consequence of the English date of the sale of the stamped paper being ostensibly a day posterior to the date of the engrossment of the said instrument; the Sudder dewan-y adawlut see reason to presume that the person who engrossed the document intended to insert the Sumbut, instead of the Fuslee year, and having, on comparison found that such alteration renders the dates of the instrument correct, and the evidence of its execution appearing to be satisfactory, they finally declare it valid.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th July 1835, vol. 6, p. 32.

The use of the Sumbut year in lieu of the Fuslee year, which appeared to have been an inadvertence, did not render a deed invalid.

520. No claim can be founded on a document judicially declared to be false and invalid, even against the party producing it and asserting its genuineness and validity.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th Aug. 1835, vol. 6, p. 39.

No claim can be founded on a deed declared by a court invalid, even against the party producing it.

SECTION XXVI.

Zillah and City Courts—Forgery and Fraud.

521. The penalties for forgery, stated in Section 3, are meant to include all fraudulent and injurious fabrications, or alterations of written deeds, or of written or printed papers, of whatever description; as well as all counterfeit seals or signatures thereto; and the illicit imitation of any public stamp, or stamped paper, established by Government. It is further hereby declared, that persons convicted of procuring, or causing, any such forgery, will be liable to the same punishment, as those convicted of having actually committed the forgery, at the instigation of others.—Reg. 2, 1807, Sect. 4, Cl. 3.

Forgery.

522. The provisions of Regulation 2, 1807, not including the offence of fraudulently issuing and publishing as true, or otherwise fraudulently giving effect or attempting to give effect, to fabricated deeds and papers, knowing the same to be false and fabricated; or the offence of using, issuing, selling or otherwise disposing of, or attempting to dispose of, counterfeit stamped paper, bearing the imitation of a public stamp, knowing the same to be counterfeit, or the offence of paying, or tendering in payment, counterfeited coin, bank-notes, promissory notes, or other securities for money, knowing the same to be counterfeit, the following additional provisions are enacted for the punishment of these offences respectively.—Reg. 17, 1817, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

Sentence to be passed on persons convicted before a court of circuit or N. A. of any of the above offences.

523. If any person shall be convicted before a Court of circuit, or the Court of Nizamut adawlut, of any of the offences specified in the above clause, he shall be sentenced to imprisonment for such period, not exceeding seven years, as the Judge of circuit may deem adequate to the nature and circumstances of the case: and shall also, in all instances of an aggravated nature, or of a repetition of the offence, after being once convicted and discharged, be sentenced to public exposure by tusheer. In every instance of a repetition of the offence, after a previous conviction and discharge, the Judge of circuit may further at his discretion, sentence the offender to receive corporal punishment, not exceeding thirty stripes, with a corah or ratan. If a person twice convicted and discharged, be again found guilty of any of the offences specified in the preceding clause, and the Judge of circuit shall be of opinion that he ought to be imprisoned for a longer period than seven years, he shall refer the trial, with his sentiments, for the sentence of the Court of Nizamut adawlut, in pursuance of the seventh clause of Section 2, Regulation 53, 1803.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The falsification of measurement papers, subjects the party to a charge for forgery.

524. "Measurement papers" must be considered as coming within the denomination of "deeds and papers," the fraudulently publishing as true, or otherwise fraudulently giving or attempting to give effect to which, knowing the same to be false and fabricated, is declared by Section 10, Regulation 17 of 1817, to subject the offender on conviction to the penalties prescribed by that section for forgery.—Con. 1061, Cal. C. 9th Dec., West. C. 23d. Dec. 1836.

A magistrate cannot entertain a charge for forgery unless the civil judge has ordered a prosecution.

525. By analogy to the case of perjury, the perfering of accusations for which offence by parties in civil suits has been prohibited by Regulation 3, 1801, it is not competent to a Magistrate to entertain a charge founded on the alleged forgery of a document which had been exhibited in a Civil court, unless the Judge or Judges of such Civil court shall have directed a prosecution for forgery, or expressly declared that the party aggrieved by such document is at liberty to prosecute.—Con. 454, 13th July 1827.

Persons ordered to be tried for perjury, subornation of perjury, or forgery, not to be admitted to bail, without special cause.

526. Persons charged with the crime of perjury, subornation of perjury, or forgery, as defined in the preceding section, and appearing to the Civil or Criminal courts by whom they may be ordered to be brought to trial before the Courts of circuit, to have been guilty of the charge, shall not be admitted to bail, (notwithstanding any thing declared to the contrary in any existing Regulation) unless specially authorized by the court under whose directions they are committed for trial.—Reg. 2, 1807, Sect. 5.

An offender may be brought to trial for forgery in a miscellaneous case.

527. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st ultimo, requesting to be informed whether, in a miscellaneous case, you can proceed against a person whom there may appear sufficient grounds to bring to trial for forgery. In reply, I am directed to refer you to the words "to any civil proceedings whatever" in Clause 2, Section 14, Regulation 17, 1817, and to observe that they would include the miscellaneous case alluded to. I am directed to add that in the event of your making the commitment, it should be tried by the Commissioner, and not by you in your capacity of Session Judge.—Con. 838, Cal. C. 11th Oct., West. C. 15th Nov. 1833.

528. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 23d ultimo, requesting the Court's opinion, as to whether you are authorized to take cognizance of a case of forgery arising out of a civil suit tried by a Sudder Ameen. In reply, I am directed to inform you, that if the civil suit, in which the document said to be a forgery was filed, is pending before you in appeal, you are competent to commit the party, whom you may deem guilty of having forged it, (or filed it knowing it to have been forged,) to be tried by the Court of circuit ; but that if the appeal has been decided, the alleged forgery can only be brought under your cognizance, by your obtaining the sanction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut to revise your judgment.—Con. 572, 27th Aug. 1830.

How a charge for the forgery of a document arising out of a suit tried by a S. A., must be prosecuted.

529. I am farther directed to inform you, that in the opinion of the Court, the Sudder Ameen, who tried the suit in the first instance, if he thought that the document in question was a forgery, and that the party who filed it knew it to be so, should have sent the case to the Judge, who would have been competent to proceed against the person or persons whom he might have deemed guilty, in like manner as it would be in a suit instituted and pending before himself.—Ibid.

Idem.

530. Held on a reference from the Session Judge of Benares, that it is not competent to a civil Judge to commit for trial any party to a civil suit, or other person, on a charge of fraud ; but that he should make over the case to the Magistrate, with a view to that officer's investigating the charge, and disposing of it himself, or, if committable under the Regulations, committing it at his discretion for trial at the sessions.—Con. 1225, West. C. 14th June, Cal. C. 12th July 1839.

A civil court cannot commit a party on a charge of fraud. The case must be made over to the magistrate.

531. The Court ruled that in the case of a defendant charged with presenting or filing a petition in the Civil court with the fraudulent intent of obtaining money already paid to him, the Judge is not competent to commit the accused for trial, but that after completing the investigation as far as may be in his power, he should transmit the papers to the Magistrate, stating his opinion on the case, and leaving the Magistrate to commit or not as may appear to him advisable.—Con. 925, West. C. 9th Jan., Cal. C. 27th March 1835.

A civil court cannot commit a party for fraudulently endeavoring to obtain money already paid to him. He must make it over to the magistrate.

532. The Civil courts cannot interfere to stay the proceedings in the Criminal court, in the prosecution of a case of forgery at the instance of the Collector.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th Nov. 1846, p. 87.

A civil court cannot stay the proceedings of a criminal court in a prosecution for forgery at the instance of the collector.

533. While a case under Regulation 15, 1824, was pending before the Magistrate, it was competent to him to make a commitment for forgery or uttering forged deeds; but not after he had referred the investigation of that point to the Civil court. As the Sudder Ameen, who decided the civil case, did not take any notice of the alleged forgery, and the case was pending in appeal before the Judge, the Magistrate was directed to instruct the parties to apply to the Judge for permission to prosecute for forgery in the Criminal court, the deed bearing palpable marks of forgery.—Con. 820, 23d Aug. 1833.

Course of procedure in a case of uttering forged deeds before a magistrate under reg. 15, 1824.

534. A Magistrate cannot originate a prosecution for forgery of a document filed in the Civil court.—Con. 704, 13th July 1832.

A magistrate cannot originate a prosecution for forgery of a document filed in the civil court.

535. The Court anticipating that prosecutions for forgery brought to light in the course of civil judicial proceedings, may become more frequent, as the expediency of using every lawful means for the suppression of that offence becomes more obvious, think it useful to notify, that the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 3 of 1804, have been held by both Courts of Nizamut adawlut, to be capable of enforcement by the civil Judges against any party who may abscond, being at the time under a charge of forgery, brought to light in the course of civil judicial proceedings. It will be the duty of the civil Judge, in such cases, to call upon the Magistrate of the district to perform the acts described in Section 4, Regulation 3 of 1804, and the corresponding section of Regulation 20 of 1817, with a view to the apprehension of the absconding party, and it will be incumbent on the Magistrate to obey such requisitions, and to proceed as he would do, were the absconding party in question charged with a criminal offence, primarily cognizable in his court. The principle, set forth in the third paragraph of Construction 648, is declared applicable to attachment of property directed to be made under the sanction of the law above cited, and these instructions.—Cir. Ord. S. D. and N. A. 17th May 1847.

Course of procedure when a party charged with forgery, discovered in a civil suit, may abscond.

SECTION XXVII.

Zillah and City Courts—Particular Investigations.

Courts not to refer matters of fact to any person whomsoever with a view to passing a decree.

Exception to the rule.

Mode in which the trustworthiness of native account books is to be tested.

Idem.

Matters of account and of fact and of usage may be referred to the S. A. for adjustment, investigation, and report.

536. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts, are strictly enjoined not to order or allow a report of any matters of facts relating to any cause depending before them, with a view to the passing a decree, to be made to them by any officer of the court, or any other person, excepting in cases in which special authority for that purpose may be given to the courts by any Regulation.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 16.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 17.

537. The Civil courts have been in the habit of calling on the treasurer of their establishment for reports regarding the trustworthiness of account books in the Native language, as affecting the validity of claims which may be grounded thereon. But such a practice is opposed to Section 16, Regulation 4 of 1793, which prohibits Judges from obtaining a report of matters of fact relating to any cause depending before them, with a view to the passing of a decree, from any officer of the court or other person, except where special authority may have been conferred by any Regulation, or a reference may be made to the Law officers on any point concerning Hindoo or Mahomedan law. The Court are accordingly pleased to prohibit the practice alluded to, and to direct the observance of the following rule.—Cir. Ord. 4th Feb. 1840.

538. Whenever occasion may require the examination and scrutiny of Native account books in any civil case, the European Judges should, as far as possible, call in the aid of assessors for that purpose. In instances, however, where such a course may be deemed by them inexpedient, recourse should be had to the agency of ameens, to be appointed at the expence of the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be, whose duty it would be to inspect the books either at the mahajun's house or in court, as might seem fitting with reference to the circumstances of the case and the wishes of the parties. And the latter course should also be followed by the Native courts, who are not authorized to employ assessors for the purpose stated.—Ibid.

539. In the trial of regular suits by the zillah or city Judges, or in miscellaneous cases, whenever the adjustment of accounts regarding the execution of decrees, and mercantile or revenue transactions, or the investigation of disputes between landlord and tenant, or of other special matters of account, fact, or usage, may be requisite; and such adjustment or investigation, if conducted by the Judge himself, would occupy a larger portion of his time than could be conveniently devoted to it; the Judge is hereby authorized to direct any of the Sudder Ameens under his jurisdiction, to make such adjustment or investigation.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 76, Cl. 1.

540. The Judge shall in these cases furnish to the Sudder Ameen such part of the proceedings and such detailed instructions, as may appear necessary for his information and guidance, and shall direct the parties, or their vakeels, or authorized agents to attend upon the Sudder Ameen, during the adjustment or investigation.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Instructions to be furnished to the S.A. on such reference.

541. The instructions must distinctly specify, whether the Sudder Ameen is merely to transmit the proceedings, which he may hold on the enquiry, or also to report his own opinion on the point referred for his investigation.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

What the instructions are to specify.

542. The proceedings of the Sudder Ameen are to be received in evidence in the case, unless the Judge may have reason to be dissatisfied with them, in which case he will make such further enquiry, as may be requisite, and will pass such ultimate judgment or order, as may appear to him to be right and proper.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

The proceedings of the S. A. on such references, to be received as evidence.

543. By the first clause of Section 76, Regulation 23, 1814, it is provided, that “in the trial of regular suits by the zillah or city Judges, or in miscellaneous cases, whenever the adjustment of accounts regarding the execution of decrees, and mercantile or revenue transactions, or the investigation of disputes between landlord and tenant, or of other special matters of account, fact, or usage, may be requisite; and such adjustment or investigation, if conducted by the Judge himself, would occupy a larger portion of his time than could be conveniently devoted to it, the Judge is hereby authorized to direct any of the Sudder Ameens under his jurisdiction to make such adjustment, or investigation.” The second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth clauses of the section abovementioned, contain further provisions relative to the cases therein stated; and the whole of these clauses shall be still in force, except the fifth, which, in consequence of the salary to be hereafter received by Sudder Ameens from Government, is hereby rescinded; provided however, that if any necessary expence be incurred in making the enquiries or adjustments referred to, it shall be competent to the Judge on the completion of the enquiry or adjustment, to order payment of the amount of such necessary expence by one or both of the parties in the case as may appear just and proper.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 5.

The whole of cls. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of sec. 76, reg. 23, 1814, still in force except the 5th, which is hereby rescinded.

544. In continuation of my letter of the 22d February last, I am directed to inform you that under the provisions of Section 76, Regulation 23, 1814, the Judge is competent to employ the Principal Sudder Ameens in the same manner as other Sudder Ameens in the adjustment of accounts, or in the investigation of disputes, or special matters of account, fact or usage, connected with the execution of decrees passed in the Judge's court; but that under the Regulations in force no authority exists for referring to such officers application for the execution of any other decrees than those passed in the courts of the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs. [By Act V. 1836, applications for the execution of decrees generally may be referred to Principal Sudder Ameens.] —Con. 761, West. C. 22d Feb., Cal. C. 15th March 1833.

P. S. A. and S. A. may be employed in adjusting accounts & investigating disputes on matters of account, fact, and usage.

545. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, requesting the opinion of the Court regarding the applicability of Clauses 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, Section 76, Regulation 23, 1814, to Principal Sudder Ameens.—In reply, I am directed to inform you that although the clauses in question are not expressly declared applicable to Principal Sudder Ameens, the Court are of opinion that under the general spirit of Regulation 5, 1831, they should be considered applicable to those officers in common with other Sudder Ameens.—Con. 815; West. C. 23d Aug., Cal. C. 1st Nov. 1833.

Idem.

Cases in which native judges are, or are not, entitled to their travelling expences.

546. The Native Judges are not entitled to any allowance for travelling expences or other account in cases “in which, for their own satisfaction or at the request of the parties, they may deem it proper to visit and inspect the property in dispute, or to make enquiries in regard to it on the spot.” The court however consider that those authorities are entitled to the payment of their expences when deputed to make local enquiries by a superior court.—Con. 1172, 14th Sept. 1838.

Courts empowered to refer certain rent or revenue accounts to the collectors for report.

547. In causes concerning rent or revenue, or other matters heretofore cognizable in the courts of Maal adawlut, between proprietors of land, or farmers of land holding their farms immediately of Government, and their respective dependant talookdars, under-farmers or ryots; or between dependant talookdars and their under-farmers or ryots; or between under-farmers farming lands of proprietors of land, or of farmers of land who farm their lands immediately of Government, or of dependant talookdars, and their dependant talookdars, under-farmers or ryots; or between other persons concerned in the collection or payment of land rents, or revenues, either as principals or sureties; the Judge is empowered to refer to the Collector for his report, any accounts the adjustment of which may be necessary towards the decision of the suit. The reference is to be made to the Collector, by a precept under the signature of the Judge and the seal of the court, in which shall be specified, the accounts referred, and the papers which the Judge may think it necessary to send in elucidation of them, and the time by which the report is to be made. The Judge may likewise command the parties or their vakeels, and any witnesses they may have to produce, to appear before the Collector, that he may examine them regarding the accounts, and also empower the Collector to administer the customary oaths to the witnesses, or to examine the parties on oath, if they shall agree to be so examined. The Collector shall submit his report on the accounts to the court by the prescribed time, attested by his official seal and signature, or assign his reasons for not having been able to complete it by the period directed. The Judge, upon the receipt of the Collector's report shall either confirm, set aside, or alter his adjustment of the accounts, or pass such decision respecting them, as may appear to him proper. But the rules in this section are not to extend to empower the Judge to refer to the Collector any accounts relating to suits in which he or any of his public officers, or private servants, or Government, may be a party.—Reg. 8, 1794, Sect. 13.—Benares Reg. 54, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 7, 1803, Sect. 2.

Judges prohibited referring accounts to the collector in suits in which he, or any of his officers or servants, or govt. may be a party.

The civil courts may issue precepts to the collector to carry their orders into effect, and to return the precept duly executed.

548. I request that you will be pleased to obtain for me the opinion of the Court whether there would be any objection to the Zillah court issuing precepts to the Collectors, directing them to carry their orders into effect within a period fixed by the court, or to assign reasons for the order not being completed at the period prescribed by the court.—Reply.—I am directed by the Sudder Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 158, under date the 23d instant, and in reply to acquaint you that they are not aware of any objection to the measure which you have suggested, of requiring the Collector to carry into effect the orders of your court, and to return the precept, issued therewith, duly executed within a certain period, or to shew good and sufficient cause for the delay.—Con. 968, West. C. 31st July, Cal. C. 21st Aug. 1835.

ed within a given period, or to shew cause for the delay.

549. The Zillah and City courts of Dewanny adawlut and Provincial courts of appeal are authorized, whenever they may have occasion to refer to any of the registers prescribed by the above Regulations or by the present Regulation, to require from the Collectors the production of the original register, or an attested copy of such part thereof as may contain the required information. The Collectors, on the receipt of such requisition are immediately to transmit the original register if it can be sent without inconvenience, under the care of one of their Native officers, in whose custody it is to remain till returned: or if the original register cannot be conveniently sent, are to transmit without delay an accurate copy of such part thereof as may be required, under the attestation of their official signature.—Reg. 8, 1800, Sect. 15.

How the courts are to proceed whenever they have occasion to refer to any of the registers.

550. Pursuant to the orders of Government, the Court are pleased to direct that you will submit through them all references you may have to make for the opinion of the Advocate General on points of English law.—Cir. Ord. 21st April 1843.

References for the opinion of the advocate general to be made through the S. D. A.

For the rules regarding the deputation of Ameens to make local investigations, vide Chapter II. Section 26.

SECTION XXVIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Punishment of Frivolous and Vexatious Suits.

551. If any person shall commence a suit in any Zillah or City court of Dewanny adawlut, which shall appear to the Judge to be frivolous, vexatious, or groundless, he is not only to dismiss the suit, with such costs as he may deem it equitable to award against the plaintiff, but is to fine him in such amount as he may think proper, upon a consideration of the nature of the case, and the situation and circumstances in life of the offender, and commit him to close custody until he pays the fine.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 12.—Benares Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 9.

Penalty for the institution of frivolous, vexatious, or groundless suits.

552. As the law now stands, in cases coming under the provisions of Section 12, Regulation 3 of 1793, the party fined is liable to be committed to close custody until the amount be paid.—Con. 1096, Cal. and West. C. 7th July 1837.

The party fined may be confined till the amount is paid.

553. The Civil courts are not competent to impose fines on covenanted officers of Government for official acts performed by them in the course of their duty, provided such acts be done by the express orders of superior authority.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 25th Jan. 1833, par. 1.

The civil courts cannot fine covenanted officers for official acts done by the orders of a superior authority.

If a covenanted officer institute a suit without such orders, which is adjudged vexatious, he may be fined.

A covenanted officer, instituting a suit by such orders not liable to a fine.

A court cannot fine a board, &c. for ordering a suit to be instituted, tho' deemed vexatious.

An appellate court cannot fine a respondent in an appeal case which that court deems vexatious.

554. If a covenanted officer of Government institute a suit without the sanction of superior authority, and such suit be adjudged to be vexatious, the court is competent to impose a fine upon him for so doing.—Ibid, par. 2.

555. A covenanted officer of Government instituting a suit with the sanction of a board or superior authority, which, by the Regulations, he is bound to obey, is not liable to fine, although, in the judgment of the Court, the suit be vexatious.—Ibid, par. 3.

556. A court is not competent to impose a fine on the board or superior authority for directing a subordinate officer to institute a suit which, in the judgment of the court, is vexatious.—Ibid, par. 4.

557. An appellate court is not competent to impose a fine on the respondent in an appeal case, for having instituted in the lower court a suit which the appellate court may consider to have been vexatious.—Ibid, par. 5.

SECTION XXIX.

Zillah and City Courts—Assistance of Respectable Natives in the Trial of Civil Suits.

The G. G. in C. declared competent to invest any European officer presiding in a civil court, with the powers specified in the following section of this regulation.

558. The Governor General in Council is hereby declared competent to grant the powers specified in the following section of this Regulation to any European officer presiding in a court for the administration of civil justice, such powers to be exercised either in any particular suit, in any specified district, or generally by such officer in any suits that may come before him, and in any part of the country where he may be employed. Provided that it shall always be competent to the Governor General in Council to revoke and annul the grant of such powers whenever he may see sufficient cause for so doing.—Reg. 6, 1832, Sect. 2.

Europeans presiding in civil courts when thus empowered, may avail themselves of the assistance of respectable natives in the trial of suits.

As a punchaet.

559. In the trial of civil suits, original or appeal, it shall be competent to every court, in which an European officer thus empowered presides, to avail itself of the assistance of respectable Natives in either of the three following ways.—Ibid, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

560. First, by referring the suit, or any point or points in the same to a punchaet of such persons, who will carry on their enquiries apart from the court and report to it the result. The reference to the punchaet and its answer shall be in writing, and shall be filed in the suit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

As assessors.

561. Or secondly, by constituting two or more such persons assessors or members of the court, with a view to the advantages derivable from their observations, particularly in the examination of witnesses. The opinion of each assessor shall be given separately and discussed; and if any of the assessors, or the authority presiding in the court, should desire it the opinions of the assessors shall be recorded in writing in the suit.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

As a jury.

562. Or thirdly, by employing them more nearly as a jury. They will then attend during the trial of the suit, will suggest as it proceeds such points of enquiry as occur to them ; the court, if no objection exists, using every endeavour to procure the required information, and after consultation will deliver in their verdict. The mode of selecting the jurors, the number to be employed, and the manner in which their verdict shall be delivered, are left to the discretion of the Judge who presides.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

563. It is clearly to be understood, that under all the modes of procedure described in the three preceding clauses, the decision is vested exclusively in the authority presiding in the court.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

In all such cases the decision vested exclusively in the authority presiding in the court.

564. It will be observed that a large discretion is vested in the presiding officer. He is left to select either of the three modes indicated, or altogether to reject them ; and if he select either of the modes, the particular manner in which it is to be carried into effect is left to his own determination. It need only be further remarked, that no power of compulsion is granted by the Regulation. To this point the attention of all the public functionaries should be especially called, and they should be clearly informed that by no construction of Regulation 12, 1825, which enjoins punishment for contempt of court, or any other enactment, are they authorized to compel the attendance of persons who may be reluctant voluntarily to render their services. They are empowered to invite the services of Natives as arbitrators, assessors or jurors, but by no means to compel them.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 16th Nov. 1832, Cal. C. 18th Jan. 1833, par. 3.

Explanation of the mode in which the above regulation is to be carried into effect.

565. The requisition of oaths from persons so employed is not considered to be necessary, and is never to be enforced. His Honour in Council is disposed to think that it will be wise to abstain from proposing them.—Ibid, par. 4.

Persons thus employed not required to take an oath.

566. The Court are therefore requested to intimate to the civil Judges in all those districts into which the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, have been introduced, that they are considered also authorized to use the discretion conferrible under Section 2, Regulation 6, 1832. This power will also attach to all their successors, whether temporary or permanent, and will be considered as naturally consequent on nomination to the appointment. The Judges of the Provincial courts are also invested with the powers, and the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut are, of course, considered competent to use them if at any time an opportunity should present itself.—Ibid, par. 6.

The civil courts authorized to use the discretion conferred under reg. 6, 1832, sec. 2.

SECTION XXX.

Zillah and City Courts—Contempts.

567. If any person shall be guilty of contempt of court in open court, or of undue arrogations of the authority of the court, or of illegal exertions of judicial authority in his own cause, the court is immediately to punish the offender by fining him in a sum not exceeding two hundred rupees, and keeping him in custody until the fine shall be paid. The courts are to regulate the amount of the fines which they may impose under this section according to the situation and circumstances in life of the offenders.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 21.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 22.

Courts to fine persons guilty of contempt, arrogations of judicial authority, or illegal exertions of it in their own causes.

568. Whereas sufficient provision is not made for repressing obstructions to justice committed in the courts of the East India Company ;—It is hereby enacted, that all

All persons using menacing gestures, &c. or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city magistrate, joint magistrate, &c. or any superior or inferior ct., civil or criminal, may be fined not exceeding 200 rs., or if not paid imprisoned for one month. Party aggrieved may appeal within one month. Party, if not proceeded against under this act, may be indicted in her majesty's supreme court.

persons whatsoever, whether generally amenable to the courts of the East India Company or otherwise, using menacing gestures or expressions, or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or other officer under a Magistrate empowered to try criminal cases, or any superior or inferior court, civil or criminal, of the East India Company, shall be liable to be fined by the authority whose proceedings are obstructed to any amount not exceeding 200 rupees, or in case such fine be not paid to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding one month. Provided, that from the award of punishment in such cases an appeal shall lie, if preferred within one month, to the authority, civil or criminal, appointed by law to hear appeals in all other cases from the decisions of the officer by whom the fine was imposed; and provided also, that notwithstanding anything in this Act it shall be lawful to indict any person amenable to Her Majesty's Supreme Courts as for a misdemeanor in any of the cases aforesaid sustainable before this Act, if no proceeding shall have been had against the offender in the court where the offence was committed, but not otherwise.—Act XXX. 1841, Sect. 1.

Repeals sec. 42, the further proviso in sec. 74, reg. 23, 1814, cl. 2 and 3, sec. 5 and 6, reg. 12, 1825.

569. And it is hereby enacted, that Section 42, the further proviso contained in Section 74, Regulation 23, 1814, clauses second and third, Section 5, and Section 6, Regulation 12 of 1825, of the Bengal code, are repealed.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

SECTION XXXI.

Zillah and City Courts—Decrees; their Contents and Preparation.

When the court is to give judgment.

570. When the parties have been heard, and the witnesses on both sides examined, and the exhibits received and considered, the Judge is to give judgment according to justice and right, and is to order costs to be paid to the party in whose favour the decree may be made.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 9.

Judges to act according to justice, equity, and good conscience, in cases for which no specific rules exist.

571. In cases coming within the jurisdiction of the Zillah and City courts for which no specific rule may exist, the Judges are to act according to justice, equity, and good conscience.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 21.—Benares Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 11.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 17.

In cases of bankruptcy, civil courts will exercise the discretion vested in them by reg. 3, 1793, sec. 21.

572. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 8th instant, requesting their opinion as to the power of Civil courts in regard to bankruptcy, and to inform you in reply that as the Regulations do not contain any specific provisions on the subject, you should exercise the discretion vested in you by Section 21, Regulation 3, 1793, in any case that may come before you, leaving the party dissatisfied with your orders to appeal therefrom to this court.—Con. 716, 21st Sept. 1832.

A plaintiff consenting to the settlement of his suit by the sworn statement of the defendant, cannot object to a decree founded on it.

573. A plaintiff, consenting through his duly appointed vakeel to the settlement of his suit in court, by the statement on oath of the defendant, cannot object to a decree founded on such statement.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Aug. 1843, vol. 7, p. 130.

574. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited decreeing the payment or satisfaction of any sum due on a tumusook or bond, which may have been entered into after the 28th March, 1780, unless the bond shall be proved to have been executed in the presence of two credible witnesses, or the payment of the sum demanded on the bond, or some other valuable consideration for it having been received, shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court. But the restriction contained in this section is not to extend to any bills of exchange, receipts or notes of hand, in the determination on which the custom of the country is to be abided by.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 15.—Benares Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 9.

Decrees not to be given for sums of money on bonds, which may not have been executed in the presence of two credible witnesses, unless the sum or a valuable consideration shall be proved to have been given.

Cases to which this restriction is not to extend.

575. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts are to insert in their decrees the names of the witnesses whose depositions may have been taken, the title of every exhibit read in the cause, and the amount of the annual produce of the land, or the sum of money, or the value of the property or thing decreed.—The decree is to be sealed with the seal of the court, and signed by the Judge, and dated on the day on which it may be passed.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 26.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 27.

What the decrees of the courts are to contain.

To be sealed with the seal of the court, and signed by the judge, and dated on the day on which they may be passed.

576. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut having observed in several instances, a want of due attention to that part of Section 26 of Regulation 4, 1793, which directs the Judges of Zillah and City courts “to insert in their decrees the names of the witnesses whose depositions may have been taken; the title of every exhibit read in the cause, and the amount of the annual produce of the land, or the sum of money, or the value of the property or thing decreed;” particularly to the latter part of this rule, an observance of which is essentially necessary to enable the Court to judge whether decrees presented to them, with petitions of appeal, are appealable or otherwise; you are therefore desired to require from the Judges of the several courts within your division, the strictest observance of the above rule in future; and if, agreeably to Section 4 of Regulation 4, 1793, any objection should have been made by the defendant to the plaintiff’s statement of the cause of action as appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the determination passed upon such objection, or the amount declared thereby to be the real cause of action is also to be stated in the decree, for the Court’s information.—Cir. Ord. 27th April 1796.

The strictest attention is enjoined to reg. 4, 1793, sec. 26.

577. Whereas, it is expedient that the decision of Courts of justice, and the reasons for the decision should be written and signed by the Judge at the time of pronouncing his decision, and in the vernacular language of the Judge:—It is hereby enacted that in all the Presidencies so much of all decrees as consists of the points to be decided, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision, and all injunctions for the revision of decrees in regular suits, and all orders for reviews of judgment, which shall be passed by Judges of the Sudder courts, or by Judges of Zillah and City courts, or by subordinate or Assistant Judges of zillahs, shall be written originally in English, and signed by the Judge or Judges at the time of pronouncing such decision and orders, and shall be translated into the vernacular language, commonly used in the court wherein the suit to which the decree or order relates, shall have been instituted; and the translation shall be incorporated in the decree.—Act XII. 1843, Sect. 1.

In decrees of sudder court, &c. the points to be decided, the decision, and reason thereof, injunctions for revision of decrees, and orders for review of judgment, shall be written in English and signed by the judges, and afterwards translated into the vernacular language, &c.

Copy of a decision recorded in English under act 12, 1843, must be given on application.

Instructions relative to the requirements of act 12, 1843, to secure uniformity of practice.

All decisions and orders specified in sec. 1 and 3 with the reasons for them, must be written by the judge with his own hand, signed when pronouncing the decision, and translated into the N. language.

The decision and the reason, drawn out by the N. judge in the vernacular language, must be filed with the record and incorporated with the decree.

The civil judges will report whether these instructions have been obeyed.

The decisions of judges of all grades will be copied into a book and signed by the judge.

Form of the abstract index.

578. Copy of a decision recorded in English, according to Act XII. 1843, must be given on application.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th June 1846, p. 80.

579. It has been ascertained, that diversity of opinion prevails in regard to the requirements of Act XII. of 1843, and it has been deemed requisite in consultation with the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the North-Western Provinces, to promulgate instructions on the subject for general observance, with a view to secure uniformity of practice.—Cir. Ord. 16th Aug. 1844, par. 1.

580. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut have ruled, that the terms of the Act in question render it obligatory on Judges of all denominations to record their original decisions and the reasons thereof, in their own hand-writing, signing them agreeably to the provisions of the Act, "at the time of pronouncing such decisions," and causing them to be correctly "translated into the vernacular language commonly used in the court, wherein the suit to which the decree or order relates, shall have been instituted, this injunction, it will be understood, has reference to all the decisions and orders specified in Sections 1 and 3 of the Act respectively."—Ibid, par. 2.

581. Where the vernacular language, and that used in the subordinate Civil courts are identical, the translation may of course be dispensed with, but the decision and the reason thereof, drawn out originally in the hand-writing of the Native Judge should be filed with the record of the suit to which it relates, and incorporated in the final decree.—Ibid, par. 3.

582. The civil Judges are desired to ascertain and report, after a suitable interval, that these instructions have been practically introduced, issuing such precautional injunctions on the subject, as they may deem fitting.—Ibid, par. 4.

583. With a view to facility of reference, the Court direct that the decisions recorded by Judges of all grades in their own hand, in conformity to Act XII. 1843, be copied into a book, consecutively, by a writer or mohurrir, and signed by the deciding officer in attestation of the correctness of the transcript. An abstract index, in the subjoined form, will be attached to the book :—

Number of the case and year.	Names of the parties.	Substance of the plaint.	Orders in the case and date.	Deciding Judge.	Remarks.

—Cir. Ord. 28th Feb. 1845, par. 1.

When the entries in the book will commence, and the decisions of the subordinate judges be forwarded to the judge's office for deposit.

A copy of the decisions of the civil judges under act 12, 1843, to be sent for publication monthly.

584. The entries in this book will commence with the decisions of last month. The decision books of the subordinate court will be forwarded annually to the Judge's office for deposit.—Ibid, par. 2.

585. The Government having been pleased to determine that the decisions of the zillah Judges, recorded in English under Act XII. 1843, shall be printed monthly at the Presidency, I am directed by the Court to request that, from the 1st May next, the decisions of your court, instead, of being copied into a book, in the manner directed by the Circular order of the 28th

February, 1845, be transcribed on separate sheets of the paper, and forwarded, at the end of each month, to this office, with a view to their being sent to the press. Each decision is to be copied as soon after it is passed, as may be practicable, so as to allow the whole of the decisions to be despatched within a day or two of the close of the month. Proper care is to be taken in your office to ensure the perfect accuracy of the transcription.—Cir. Ord. 17th April 1846, par. 1.

586. When there are no decisions in any month, the circumstance is to be reported to the court, by the Judge ; and if there be no Judge, by the officer in charge, immediately on the expiration of the month.—Ibid, par. 2.

When there are no decisions in the month, the fact is to be reported to the court.

587. A deceased Judge having left a decision unsigned, his successor was directed to examine the vakeels of the parties in whose presence the decision was given, and the person who wrote it out, and compare it with any note book in the hand-writing of the late Judge which might be forthcoming ; and, unless the result of the enquiry should lead him to doubt the genuineness of the decision, to sign it, making a short memorandum explaining why it was signed by him.—Con. 910, 17th Oct. 1834.

Course of procedure where a deceased judge has left a decision unsigned.

588. On the 9th May last, Mr. Shakespear directed the lower court, in a case in which the separate liabilities of several defendants holding under distinct titles, were not mentioned in the decree, to amend the same, by inserting the amount due by each defendant, in order that the parties concerned might not be debarred from their individual right of appeal.—Con. 849, 20th Dec. 1833, par. 4.

The separate liabilities of several defendants, holding under distinct titles, must be inserted in the decree.

589. It was further held, that a decree for landed property should specify in detail the property of which it awards possession, without referring to any other documents to determine what that property is.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d July 1841, vol. 7, p. 41.

A decree for landed property must specify in detail the property of which it awards possession.

590. The decrees of a court below in favour of a Hindoo widow for possession of her husband's landed property, amended on the ground of their not having specified the nature of her interest, and the mode in which the property should be disposed after her death.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Nov. 1821, vol. 3, p. 114.

What a decree in favor of a Hindoo widow for possession of her husband's estate should comprise.

591. To enable the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut duly to exercise the powers hereby vested in them, the several courts of subordinate jurisdiction are strictly enjoined to conform to those parts of the Regulations in force which require them to record the point or points at issue between the parties and the grounds on which their judgment or orders may be issued.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 7.

Subordinate courts strictly enjoined to record the point or points at issue between the parties and the grounds of their judgment.

592. The Courts of civil judicature are to insert in their decrees all sums paid or payable by the parties under the Regulations, on account of fees or stamp duties, as well as on account of compensation for the expence of witnesses, and of subsistence money to peons employed in serving the processes of the courts, and of all other costs and expences of the suit. Such costs and expences shall be ultimately charged to the parties cast, or to the parties respectively, in such proportions as the court may deem equitable.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 27.

All legal expences and costs to be included in the decree and to be charged to the parties in such mode as may appear equitable.

SECTION XXXII.

Zillah and City Courts—Decrees—Consolidated Rules regarding their Contents and Preparation.

The decrees of the lower courts will in future be prepared according to the following rules.

593. As the decrees of the lower courts are not written in a regular and uniform manner, and as much time both of the court and the pleaders is wasted, of the former in seeking for the matter stated in them and in the documents filed, and of the latter in preparing the grounds of regular or special appeals, and in examining the nature of the evidence, both oral and documentary, it is therefore ordered, that in future the decrees of the lower courts be prepared according to the following rules and the annexed form.—Cir. Ord. 12th Feb. 1847, par. 1.

The paper on which the decree is to be engrossed.

594. The paper, on which the decree is to be engrossed, shall have a lateral margin of one inch on either side, and a space of about five or six inches at the top shall be left blank for the purpose of receiving the seal and signature of the deciding or attesting officer.—Ibid, par. 2.

Particulars to be given at the head of the decree.

595. At the head of decrees passed in original suits, shall be stated the number of the case "Original," and whether instituted in the trying court, or referred by a superior court or transferred from a court of co-ordinate jurisdiction, and in each case the designation of such court, as well as the aggregate value of the claim, shall be specified,—immediately after these particulars will follow the heading of the decree in the following form: "Decree of the court of _____ before _____ Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, or Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff of _____; passed on the _____ of _____ 18—, corresponding with the _____ of _____ 12 — Fussely, or Hijree, or Bungaleh," according to the eras locally known and current. In the decrees of those courts which have only original jurisdiction, the word "original" may be omitted.—Ibid, par. 3.

Decrees of courts which have only original jurisdiction.

Names of all the plaintiffs, all the defendants, all third parties, and of their pleaders.

596. Subsequently to the heading, as above, will be exhibited on the one side the names of all the plaintiffs, and all the defendants, and of all third parties (oozardars) if there be any, without the word etcetera or others, and on the other side, opposite to the names of the parties respectively the names of their pleaders, or if any of the parties plead personally, the word "in person" (asalutum) shall be entered opposite his name, and his presence or absence shall be certified in the same place by the addition of "hazir" or "ghair hazir."—Ibid, par. 4.

Entry to be made when the party pleads in person.

Description of the claim, and all other particulars regarding it which are to be specified.

597. A vacant space being left to the right and left of the paper, the description of the claim, and of the thing claimed, its valuation, and the foundation of the claim will then be entered with a specification of the order or orders of which the plaintiff seeks reversal, and of the commencement or close of the period to which the claim relates, in cases calling for such specification, (as claims for interest, wasilat, adjustment of accounts, or rents,) if the amount of the claim have been increased or reduced by a supplementary plaint, the fact shall be here stated in the decree, only of those courts of course that are entitled to receive supplementary plaints, and the whole amount of the claim, as thus adjusted, shall be distinctly declared.—Ibid, par. 5.

Note of the attendance or absence of the parties or their pleaders.

598. After the above will be stated the attendance or non-attendance of the parties or their pleaders, correspondingly with the statement given in the final proceeding; 2dly, particulars regarding the date, both according to the English calendar and the eras locally current, on which the suit was instituted, and if the plaintiff be a pauper, the date of his application to be permitted to sue in that capacity, and of his pauperism being admitted; and 3dly, the date on which the petition of plaint may have been filed or received in the office, and 4thly, an abstract of the grounds of suit. It will not be necessary to notice the several steps taken to prepare the case for adjudication, or to state the order in which the several papers were filed,* except in particular cases, as for instance when the suit may have been referred by a higher or transferred from a tribunal of equal degree, or when it may relate to property situate in different jurisdictions, though based on the same cause of action (in which case the acquisition of the Sudder court's authority for its hearing and decision in that particular court agreeably to Circular order No. 29, dated 11th January, 1839, must be mentioned), or when Government may be one of the defendants to the action, in which case the assent of the Commissioner to the formal institution and trial of the suit under Regulation 2 of 1826, must be stated; in this place, should the circumstances of the case be such as to require it, the death of any of the parties to the action and the substitution of his heir, and particulars preliminary to the adjudication of the suit ex-parte in the event of the plaintiff's claim being decreed either in whole or in part, as well as the reason of any witnesses not having been summoned, or if summoned of their evidence not having been recorded, should be entered.—Ibid, par. 6.

Date of institution of suit; and if the plaintiff be a pauper, of his application to sue in that capacity and of its admission.

Date of the filing of the petition of plaint.

Abstract of the grounds of the suit.

Farther particulars to be inserted in this place.

599. The substance of the petition of plaint is then to be given, all redundancies both of language and matter being carefully eschewed, and will include a specification of the date, on which the cause of action according to the plaintiff's statement arose, as well as genealogical tables if filed, the names of the defendants at length, with the parentage of those, who may have the same name (if that be ascertainable from the plaint or the proceedings in the case,) and the place of residence, of all the reasons given by the plaintiff for including among the defendants any person out of possession of the property sued for, and the pleas urged by him for admission of the suit notwithstanding the expiry of the period, allowed by the statute of limitations for the cognizance of civil actions. After this, the substance of the supplementary plaint, if any have been entered, with the date of its presentation will be stated with the same regard to conciseness, (notwithstanding that it do not follow next in order according to date of presentation) and the property claimed will be here specified; then will follow an abstract of the answer, and the supplemental answer (with date of presentation as in the case of a supplemental plaint) including only those parts which do actually reply to the subject matter of the plaint; the substance of the replication, if it contain any matter touching on the statements of the defendant's answer, and similarly of the rejoinder, with dates of their presentation respectively, will be next entered, and last of all the abstract of the petitions and objections of third parties will be stated. If no rejoinder be filed, the fact should be mentioned.—Ibid, par. 7.

Substance of the petition of plaint with various other details.

Substance of the supplementary plaint.

Abstract of the answer, and supplementary answer.

Substance of the replication.

Substance of the rejoinder.

Abstract of the petitions and objections of third parties.

600. Next in order will be inserted a brief abstract of the proceedings prescribed by Section 10, Regulation 26 of 1814, in the decrees only of those courts of course, to which that enactment applies (vide Construction 1226, and Circular order No. 163, dated 20th August, 1841.)—Ibid, par. 8.

Abstract of the proceedings prescribed by reg. 26. 1814, sec. 10.

* This object is attained by Circular order, No. 33, dated 16th December, 1843, (W. P.) and L. P. No. 79, dated 3d February, 1845.

List of the documents, filed and the names of the witnesses called by the plaintiff. Case in which the substance of a document is to be given.

Documents presented and witnesses subpoenaed by the defendant.

Orders rejecting applications of the parties.

Stamp fines inflicted on the pleaders.

Orders admitting a review of judgment.

Notice of ameens' reports.

Copy of futwa, or bewustah, or award of arbitration, or soolunamah.

The ground of judgment, and the evidence on which it is based.

In the order of the court, the thing decreed is to be stated when it does not correspond with the claim preferred.

The exact sum, principal and interest decreed; costs of the parties.

The title of each paper to be inserted in the margin of the decree; a line to be drawn, that any particular matter may be easily found.

Particulars to be inserted in the decrees of the appellate courts.

601. A list of the documents filed and the names of the witnesses called on the plaintiff's part, with the titles and numbers of the several papers in order of presentation, and a specification of the matter, which they were respectively intended by the plaintiff to prove, will here be entered, and the substance of any document which may be declared by the plaintiff to be the foundation of his claim, or to be adminicular to its proof, should be given, provided that the purport and the terms of the said document be contested. In like manner the documents presented and the witnesses subpoenaed on the part of the defendant should be particularized, and any orders rejecting applications of the parties for the admission of proofs offered, or fining pleaders for filing documents on unstamped paper or paper of insufficient value, or returning documents to be stamped under Circular order No. 179, dated 31st January, 1842, or relating to the admission of review of judgment (if that have occurred,) with their respective dates should be mentioned; and if the decision of the case turn on the report of an ameen, its substance and the fact of his having been sworn to the faithful discharge of his duty (an observance which is essential* to the reception of his report as evidence) should be stated with its date. Next in order will appear a copy of the futwa or bewustah, or the award of arbitrators, or the soolunamah of the parties, if the case have been determined with special reference to such papers, and, subject to the same condition, the enquiries made from parties or their pleaders, and the answers received, together with the date of the proceeding in which they are recorded, will be entered. Here will be recorded the reasons, given by the deciding officer in the precise terms in which the judgment drawn up agreeably to Act XII. of 1843 may be expressed, and the Court would take the opportunity of warning the judicial functionaries to specify distinctly the grounds of their judgment, and the evidence, oral or documentary, on which it is based, and to state in their "order" the thing decreed, whenever the decree may not exactly correspond with the claim preferred, specifying the articles or portions of property or other thing claimed, which may have been exempted from the judicial award made in favour of the plaintiff.—Ibid, par. 9.

602. Immediately under the "order" will be entered an account, showing the exact sum, principal and interest, to which the plaintiff may have been declared entitled up to the date of decree, and subsequently to this account will be inserted the costs of the parties payable either at the time or thereafter in the event of appeal being preferred by the losing party.—Ibid, par. 10.

603. The civil authorities will be careful to insert the title of each paper, viz. plaint, answer, oral, interrogatory, or other matter in the margin of the decree, opposite that part in which the subject matter of each paper, &c. may be recorded, and at the beginning of the subject matter in question will draw a line (Hindice "mul,") so that when any particular matter be sought for, it may be quickly found.—Ibid, par. 11.

604. In the decrees of the appellate courts, instead of the words "original," will appear "appeal regular" or "special appeal," with the number of the same, and the amount both of the original claim, and the claim in appeal, and the parties will be distinguished as plaintiffs, appellants, defendants, respondents, or vice versa, as the case may be. Next, the description of the claim, its amount or valuation, and its foundation, the attendance or non-attendance of the parties and their vakeels will be shortly adverted to, as directed above for the decrees of Courts of first instance, and after this will come an abstract of the judgment or judgments passed by the lower courts, and the substance of the reasons for appeal, and of the answer, with the dates on which they were filed respectively. With regard to any other papers, that may be presented, the rules already laid down for observance in the Courts of original jurisdiction will be followed, but it will be unnecessary to give an abstract of any other part of the record of the lower court than the judgment of the deciding officer.—Ibid, par. 12.

605. When the original decree shall have been prepared according to the above rules, the date of its being completed and ready for transcription, the date of notice thereof being given to the parties or their representatives, the date of first delivery of stamped paper, whether in whole or in part, for a copy of the decree, the date of delivery of additional sheets after the preparation of the decree, and notice given to the parties or their representatives, with the number of sheets, and the date of copy being ready, and of its being tendered or delivered to the parties or their representatives shall be entered on the back of the decree not only in figures but in words at length, and not only on the copies delivered to the parties but on the original decree, which is intended to be kept with the record of the case.—Ibid, par. 13.

Various particulars to be inserted on the back of the decree, not only in figures, but in words, when the decree has been prepared according to the above rules.

606. It is only necessary to add, that whenever a date which may affect the decision of the case, may be mentioned either in the heading, or in the body of the decree, the date corresponding thereto, which may be locally current, shall be invariably stated, and that the names of parties, as well as villages and purgunnahs, wherever occurring, shall be written in clear legible characters, each letter being correctly punctuated.—Ibid, par. 14.

When important dates are mentioned, the era locally current should be invariably stated; names must be written in clear legible characters & each letter correctly punctuated.

607. An abstract or recapitulation of the above instructions is published in the vernacular language for the guidance of the decree-writers, attached to the several courts.—Ibid, par. 15.

An abstract of these rules is published in the native tongue for the decree-writers.

SECTION XXXIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Decrees—Copies furnished to the Parties.

608. The Judge, or the Register, either at the time of making the decree, or on a subsequent day (of which the court is to give notice to the parties or their vakeels) within ten days after passing the decree, is to deliver or tender in open court to each party, or their vakeels, a true copy of the decree authenticated as above directed, with an endorsement made upon it by the Register of the date on which the copies may be delivered, and an entry of the delivery or tender, with the date on which it may be made, is to be inserted by the Register in the margin of the record opposite to the decree. If either of the parties, or their vakeels, shall not be present at the time the decree may be passed, and the prescribed copy of it may be produced in the court to be delivered, or shall not attend on the subsequent day which may be fixed for the delivery of the copies, after previous notice of the day shall have been given to them, or shall refuse to take the copy of the decree when tendered as above directed, the copy is to be deposited amongst the records of the court, and the cause of the non-delivery of it to the party, is to be noted upon it in writing, and in the margin of the record opposite to the decree, under the official signature of the Register.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 26.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 27.

Judge or register within ten days, to tender in open court, a copy of the decree to the parties on a day of which previous notice is to be given.

Register to endorse on the decree the date on which it may be delivered or tendered.

Court how to proceed in the event of parties or their vakeels not being in attendance to receive a copy of the decree, or of their refusing to take it.

Every decree to be ready for transcription within ten days after it is passed.

609. As regards your own court, it will be incumbent on you, and you are hereby directed to have every decree and final order prepared and ready for transcription within ten days after passing it.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 8.

Stamped paper for copies of decrees.

610. Copies of decrees in all regular suits calculated in the manner explained under the head "plaint," when passed in the courts of the Registers, or zillah and city Judges, or by Sudder Amceens empowered to decide the same, will be charged one rupee.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sch. B, Art. 2.

Parties requiring a copy of a decree to furnish the requisite stamp paper.

611. For the purpose of obtaining an authenticated copy of the decree in such cases, the party desiring it shall furnish to the court by whom the decision may have been passed, one, two or more sheets or rolls of the stamped paper prescribed in Section 19, Regulation 1, 1814, (now Reg. 10, 1829,) as may be necessary for transcribing the decree.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 8.

Courts how to proceed when such stamped paper be furnished.

612. When such stamped paper shall be furnished, the Serishtadar or such other principal officer, as may be authorized by the court to discharge that duty, shall endorse on it the date of its being furnished, the name of the party on whose account it may be presented, and the number of the suit to which it may be intended to be applicable, and shall grant to the party a corresponding receipt for the same on unstamped paper; the copy of the decree shall then be prepared and duly authenticated, and shall be delivered or tendered to the party by whom the stamped paper may have been furnished, or to his vakeel in open court, and the date of the delivery or tender of such copy shall be also endorsed on the copy.—Ibid, Cl. 9.

Care to be taken that the amlah do not detain the stamped paper. Information which the serishtadar will insert on the back of the copy of the decree, explaining the cause of the delay.

613. The Court having observed, that the amlah of the lower courts sometimes keep the stamped paper, supplied by the parties for copies of decrees, for months, without preparing the copies required, thereby unnecessarily prolonging the period allowed for appealing; direct me to request that you will take care that the officers of your court make no unnecessary delay in the execution of this part of their duty, and that you will cause the Serishtadar of the court to state by an endorsement on the back of the copy furnished, the information required by Clause 9, Section 8, Regulation 26 of 1814, with an explanation of the cause of delay, whenever the copy cannot be furnished within one month from the date of the stamped paper being supplied.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 18th May 1832, par. 1.

Instructions similar to the above to be issued to the subordinate courts.

614. You are requested to issue similar instructions to the courts subordinate to your authority.—Ibid, par. 2.

The time which elapses between the date on which the stamp paper was given in and the decree delivered or tendered, must be excluded in calculating the period of appeal.

615. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your officiating Judge's letter, dated the 20th ultimo, with its Persian enclosure, stating that it has been the practice of your court, in calculating the periods limited for admitting regular appeals preferred direct to the court, not to allow the deduction of the interval, between a party furnishing the prescribed stamped paper in the Zillah court, and the copy of the decree being tendered or delivered to him as prescribed by Clauses 7, 8, 9, 10, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814; and stating also his opinion, that it was decidedly intended by Clause 10, to provide for the deduction in question.—In reply, I am desired to observe, that the Court entirely concur with your officiating Judge in the construction which he has adopted, and that the deduction in question should be considered applicable to all, regular as well as summary and special, appeals.—Con. 413, 3d March 1826.

616. I am directed to acquaint you for the guidance of your own, and the Principal and the other Sudder Ameen's courts, that it has been ruled by the Court that as a general practice the whole of the stamped paper required for the copy of a decree, should be given in at once, by the party applying for such copy ; but that if only a portion has been given before the preparation of the decree the entire quantity required shall be made up by the time the decree is ready for transcribing, and that no allowance on the score of deduction in calculating the time for appeal is to be made for any delay which may occur, after that period, in completing the quantity of paper needed.—Cir. Ord. 8th May 1840, par. 1.

If all the stamped paper be not given in by the time the decree is ready for transcription, no allowance in calculating the period of appeal will be made for any delay that may occur.

617. The decree-nuvees is to certify on the back of each decree, as soon as it may be ready for transcribing the date on which it was ready, and his having notified to the party requiring the copy what quantity of additional paper may be needed for engrossing the same—procuring, at the same time, a written acknowledgment of such intimation on the back of the original decree by the party or his vakeel. Should neither the party nor his vakeel be in attendance, the decree-nuvees is to report to the Judge, who will record the fact, after ascertaining its correctness, for future reference.—Ibid, par. 2.

Intimation to be given by the decree-nuvees to the party of the date on which the decree was ready—and he will certify this on the back of the decree.

618. From the period of his certificate, or from the date of the Judge's order recording the absence of the party and of any person on his behalf, until the date of filing such additional stamp, no allowance will be made in calculating the period of appeal ; and if, in transcribing the copy of the decree, it should be found that a further supply of paper is required the same principle is to be followed in that case also. The latter contingency, however, I am desired to say, ought not to occur, provided due care be exercised by and enforced from the copyist, in allotting to the transcript the same space of paper as was occupied by the original decree.—Ibid, par. 3.

From the period of this certificate till the filing of the additional stamped paper, no allowance of time to be given in calculating the period of appeal.

Mode of procedure if more stamped paper is required.

619. The Court take this opportunity of observing that, owing to the want of the requisite information on the back of copies of decrees and orders appealed from, doubts have frequently arisen as to the precise time an appellant is entitled to claim as a deduction from the period prescribed for appealing in consequence of the stamped paper given in for the copy of the decree or order remaining in the serishta of the lower courts, and also whether any delay which may have occurred is fairly attributable to the party petitioning for the admission of an appeal. The Court are accordingly pleased to direct that in future on the copy of every decree and order granted by you, you cause to be endorsed the particulars noted below, and that you strictly enjoin the observance of the same rule by the Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen and Moonsiffs, within your jurisdiction.

Various particulars regarding the preparation of the copy to be endorsed on every decree and order.

On Copies of Decrees or Judgments.

On the — 1840, the original of this decree was signed.

On the — 1840, A. B., plaintiff (or defendant, appellant or respondent, as the case may be) gave in so many sheets of stamped paper for a copy of the decree.

On the — 1840, this copy was signed and sealed.

On the — 1840, the copy was delivered to —.

On the — 1840, copy of the decree was prepared and delivered to the pauper or other party, or, owing to his refusal to take it when tendered, deposited among the records.—Ibid, par. 4.

Particular instructions.

What stamped paper to be used for copies of decrees furnished to parties.

620. In explanation of clause second, Section 5, Regulation 1, 1814, it is hereby enacted that paper of European manufacture, bearing a stamp of the value specified in Section 19, Regulation 1, 1814, (now, Reg. 10, 1829,) shall be used for all copies of decrees in regular or summary suits, which may be furnished to the parties by the Judges, Assistant Judges, or Registers of the Zillah and City courts, by the Provincial courts, and by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 16, Cl. 1.

On what paper copies of decrees for record are to be written.

621. Copies of decrees, which may be prepared by those courts, to remain with their own records, shall be written on stamped* paper of European manufacture, of the same size and description as that, which may be stamped for the copies of decrees to be delivered to the parties.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Copies of decrees intended to remain with the records of courts passing them to be written on unstamped paper of European manufacture.

622. The Court, having recently had under their inspection some decrees of the lower courts the legibility of which has been destroyed, (by insects, damp, and frequent reference,) and attributing this serious inconvenience to the fact of such decrees having been engrossed upon Native paper; direct me to request your attention to Clause 2, Section 16 of Regulation 26 of 1814, whereby it is required that copies of decrees which are intended to remain with the records of courts passing the same, shall be written on unstamped paper of European manufacture.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 30th June, West. C. 4th Aug. 1837.

Copies of papers made for records or official use not required to be written on stamped paper.

623. Copies of proceedings and orders, accounts, statements, or other papers made for records of court, or for transmission to other courts, or public offices, may be written as heretofore on unstamped paper, except in cases in which it may be otherwise specifically provided for by the Regulations.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 16, Cl. 3.

Copies which individuals may be authorized to make for their own use, need not be written on stamped paper, but shall not be authenticated by any official seal or signature.

624. It is hereby declared, that the provisions of Regulation 1, 1814, are not intended to preclude individuals from making for their private use and at their own expense, copies of judicial or revenue papers, with the permission of the court, Collector, or other public officer having charge thereof, on any paper which they may prefer; but if such copies be not made on stamped paper, they shall not be authenticated by the seal or signature of any court, Collector, or other public officer, and shall not be received as evidence in any Court of justice or in any public office whatever.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

SECTION XXXIV.

Zillah and City Courts—Decrees—Copies to be furnished to the Public Authorities.

In suits and appeals wherein govt. may be one of the parties, a copy of the decree to be sent, as soon as it can be prepared, to the secy. to govt. in the jud. department.

625. In all original suits, or appeals, wherein Government may be one of the parties, the court which may pass judgment, whether for or against Government, shall in addition to the copies of decrees required by the existing Regulations to be delivered to the parties, transmit a copy of the decree, as soon as the same can be prepared, to the Secretary to the Government in the Judicial department, for the information of the Governor General in Council. Such copies of decrees are not required to be upon stamped paper ; but are to be duly authenticated by the official seal and signature of the Judges, by whom the same may have been passed ; and are to be accompanied with an English translation.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 9.

Such copies of decrees not required to be upon stamped paper, but to be duly authenticated, and accompanied with translations.

626. That the quinquennial register of landed property paying revenue to Government directed to be prepared by Regulation 48, 1793, may be kept complete, the Zillah and City courts are strictly enjoined to transmit to the Collector of the zillah and the Board of Revenue, a copy of every decree that they may pass, or which may be sent to them to be enforced by the Provincial courts of appeal or the Sudder dewanny adawlut, regarding any zemindary, independant talook, or other land, paying revenue immediately to Government, or in any wise concerning the possession of such land. The Judge is to transmit the copy of the decree within ten days after he may pass or receive it. The decree is to be attested with the signature of the Judge and the seal of the court, and is to be accompanied with a short abstract of it specifying the date of the decree, the names of the purgunnah or purgunnahs, the talook or talooks, the turf or turfs, the village or villages, or the portions of each, which may be decreed, the name or names of the person or persons last in possession, the person or persons to whom the lands may be decreed, and, if the land be decreed to two or more persons, the shares awarded to each person.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 9.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1808, Sect. 11.

Zillah & city courts to transmit to the board of revenue, and the collector of zillah, a copy of every decree regarding malgozance land, which they may pass.

And of every such decree that may be transmitted to them by the provincial ct. of appeal, or the S. D. A., to be enforced together with an abstract of the decree.

What the abstract is to contain.

627. It having been brought to the notice of the Court that the transmission to the revenue authorities, of copies of all decrees passed by the Civil courts regarding lands paying revenue to Government, under the provisions of Section 9, Regulation 4 of 1793, is productive of considerable inconvenience in consequence of the decrees being subsequently modified or reversed in the Courts of appellate jurisdiction, I am directed to request that in future you will furnish the revenue authorities with copies of those decrees only which are final and of which execution shall have been taken out. You are requested to communicate these instructions to the Native Judges of your district for their information and guidance.—Cir. Ord. 5th Oct. 1838.

The revenue authorities to be furnished only with decrees which are final, and of which execution has been taken out.

628. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts in the four provinces shall furnish the Collectors of the districts in which the land may be situated, and the Board of Revenue, with a copy of every decree in suits between individuals, which they may pass, or which may be sent to them by, superior courts to enforce, by which the right in, or possession of, any lands held exempt from the payment of public revenue, under whatever description of grant the same may be so held, may be affected, in order that the Collectors may be enabled to make the necessary entries of the alterations in such right or possession, to be inserted in the quinquennial registers of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, directed to be kept by Regulations 19 and 37, 1793, and 41 and 42, 1795. The copies of such decrees shall be transmitted by the Judge within twenty days after the same may be passed or received by him.—Reg. 58, 1795, Sect. 3.

Zillah & city courts to furnish copies of certain decrees by which the right to, or the property in, any lands exempted from the payment of public revenue may be altered.

SECTION XXXV.

Zillah and City Courts—Decrees—Effect of previous Decrees and Decisions.

The courts cannot decide a new suit contrary to a former final decree, or go into its merits.

629. The courts are not competent to decide a new suit contrary to the provisions of a former final decree, relative to the same property. The merits of that decree cannot be gone into.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th April 1826, vol. 4, p. 146.

The merits of the final decision of any competent authority cannot be questioned, on any ground.

630. Held that the courts are not at liberty to question the merits of a final decision of any authority having competent jurisdiction, whether on allegation of such decision being contrary to law or wrong as to the merits. The decisions here alluded to were passed by the Patna Council in 1777, and by the Patna City court in 1796.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th April 1826, vol. 4, p. 137.

A decision of the Khalsa, in 1773, upheld & a subsequent judgment of the Calcutta dewanny adawlut in 1785 pronounced illegal.

631. In a suit by the widow of a talookdar, for possession of the talook held by her husband, under an unexecuted decree in her favour, passed by the Calcutta Dewanny adawlut in 1785, it appeared that a prior claim which she had preferred before the Khalsa, in 1773, was dismissed on trial of its merits. On the ground, therefore, that the decision of the Khalsa was a judicial sentence, precluding the question being again agitated, the judgment of 1785 was pronounced illegal by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the claim dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Aug. 1810, vol. 1, p. 307.

A decree of the provincial court for land passed during an appeal to the S. D. A. of another cause regarding the same property, and concealed from the S. D. A., cannot be affected by its decision.

632. A decree of the Provincial court, in a suit for landed property, passed during the appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, of another cause relating to the same property, and concealed from the knowledge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, cannot be affected by the eventual decision of the latter court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Sept. 1802, vol. 1, p. 61.

Appellant's claim to an estate not affected by incidental judgment against him in another case.

633. Appellant's claim to an estate not precluded from cognizance by incidental judgment against him in another suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Nov. 1811, vol. 1, p. 355.

Case in which the plea of two previous decisions was overruled.

634. In a suit of A. against B. for lands, B. pleaded two previous decrees in his favour as barring the claim of A.; but, as the decision in those cases did not affect the merits of the present action, the plea of B. was overruled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th March 1815, vol. 2, p. 49.

Case in which a judgment against one who had farmed the lands of a zemindar, was not deemed conclusive against the latter.

635. A judgment given against the dependant of a landed proprietor, who had taken a farm of his lands, by the desire of the proprietor, not held to be conclusive against the latter, as the suit was not defended under his directions, or with his knowledge.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Feb. 1817, vol. 2, p. 223.

A claim brought 21 years after the decision of a case by the same plaintiff, against the same defendant, for the same property, deemed inadmissible.

636. A claim having been preferred by the sister, against the widow of a deceased Musulman, for half the property left by him, which was finally adjudged to be the widow's right in lieu of dower, and, twenty-one years after that decision, the same plaintiff brought an action against the same defendant for the same property, on the plea that, even supposing the dower to have amounted to the sum claimed, she had realized the full amount from the profits of the estate, it was held that the claim was inadmissible.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th Feb. 1820, vol. 3, p. 12.

SECTION XXXVI.

Zillah and City Courts—Razeenamahs, Soolunamahs and Compromise.

637. Razeenamahs, ruffanamahs, soolunamahs, or the like, that is to say—Any written application, whereby or according whereunto, a suit pending in a Civil court shall be adjusted, or be capable of adjustment without argument in court, and award of the presiding Judge, or other officer, shall bear the stamp required for a pleading in the court wherein it may be filed.—Reg. 10, 1829, Sch. B, Art. 10.

Stamp on which razeenamahs, ruffanamahs, soolunamahs, & the like are to be written.

638. If the suit be dismissed on such application before the pleadings have been completed, and the case called up, the plaintiff shall be entitled to claim from the court a certificate, stating the amount of stamp duty paid on the plaint, with specification of the number and endorsement of the paper filed, on presenting which to the Collector of the district, the plaintiff shall be entitled to receive back the entire amount of the said stamp duty—provided always, there be no exception taken to the paper or endorsement thereon.—Ibid.

If the suit be dismissed before the pleadings have been completed and the case called up, the plaintiff will receive back the whole of the stamp duty.

639. If the pleadings have been completed, and the case has been called up for decision; or is on the list of causes ready for hearing, the plaintiff shall receive a certificate as above for half of the amount of stamp duty paid on the plaint.—Ibid.

If the pleadings have been completed and the case called up, he will receive half the stamp duty.

640. If the adjustment by razeenamah or soolunamah be such as to require decree to pass on which process of execution can be taken out, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any refund of the stamp duty so paid.—Ibid.

If the adjustment by razeenamah, &c. be such as to require a decree, and execution of process, no stamp duty will be refunded.

641. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 17th ultimo, relative to a refund of the stamp duty, substituted for the institution fee, in cases decided in favour of the plaintiff on the acknowledgment of the defendant, without investigation of the merits. The Court observe, that, in such cases, where the plaintiff's claim is not disputed by the defendant, it may generally be expected that the suit will be adjusted by razeenamah, in which case the provisions in force for the return of the institution fee, or the stamp duty substituted for it, in suits adjusted by razeenamah would of course be applicable. But the Court are of opinion, that the existing Regulations do not authorize a return of the institution fee, or of the stamp duty substituted for it, in the case stated by you without a razeenamah.—Con. 208, 1st June 1815.

In cases decided in favor of the plaintiff, on the acknowledgment of the defendant, without investigation of the merits, the stamp duty will not be returned.

642. I have the honour to request that you will obtain for me the opinion of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut on the following point, viz. whether the provisions of Section 10, Regulation 13, 1810, relative to the refund of the institution fee in cases adjusted by razeenamah, are to be considered as applicable to cases of dustburdaree, in which a plaintiff voluntarily relinquishes the prosecution of his claim.—Reply.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th instant, and in reply to inform you, that the refund of the stamp duty in lieu of the institution fee can only be sanctioned in cases in which a razeenamah has been regularly filed.—Con. 977, 28th Aug. 1835.

In cases of dustburdaree, where the plaintiff voluntarily relinquishes his claim, the stamp will not be refunded.

Observations regarding the filing of a "bazdaweh."

643. A doubt having arisen as to the admissibility of a claim to restitution of the stamp duty, levied on plaints and petitions of appeal, in cases in which the plaintiff or appellant may file a "bazdaweh," the Court request the attention of the civil authorities in the lower provinces to the following remarks.—Cir. Ord. 23d Jan. 1846, par. 1.

Difference between a "bazdaweh" and a "razeenamah."

644. It has been sometimes argued, that a "bazdaweh" and razeenamah, or soolunamah, having the same effect of removing the pending suit from the file of the court, must be considered identical for all the purposes contemplated by Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, or in other words, that whether the instrument represent the act of one party, as a "bazdaweh," or of both parties to the suit, as a soolunamah, ruffanamah or razeenamah would do it, will equally entitle the party delivering it to refund of stamp duty.—Ibid, par. 2.

Definition of a "bazdaweh," a "ruffanamah," and a "soolunamah."

645. The majority of the two Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, however observe, that the adjustment mentioned in Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, and Section 2 of Regulation 13 of 1810 implies an amicable settlement of the claim by the mutual consent of both parties, and that, consequently, "bazdaweh," if its terms purport simply a withdrawal of the claim, or appeal on the part either of plaintiff or appellant, cannot be held to confer upon the party delivering it a right to re-imbursement in the amount of stamp duty, levied on the plaint or petition of appeal. It may be added in support of the above distinction, that though the document designated a razeenamah may be executed by one party, it should imply some act of concession or consent on the part of his adversary, and cannot in the absence of such act of concession, or mutual agreement, be deemed a bonâ fide instrument of the kind denoted. By a "soolunamah" and "ruffanamah," also the Court understand an instrument requiring and bearing the acknowledgment and verification of both parties to the suit, which would ordinarily entitle the plaintiff or appellant to a refund of the stamp duty.—Ibid, par. 3.

The stamp duty to be refunded only when there has been an amicable settlement of the dispute, by the mutual consent of both parties.

646. The Court desire by the foregoing observations to intimate, that a written application under whatever denomination, notifying an "adjustment" of the point in dispute, that is to say, an amicable settlement thereof by the mutual consent of both parties, provided such document bear the acknowledgment and verification of both parties to the suit, is sufficient to entitle the party, presenting it, to the benefits of Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829.—Ibid, par. 4.

Reference to Con. 977, on the bearing of the word "dustburdaree."

647. The authorities, who may presume that this point has been already ruled by Construction 977, will be pleased to observe, that the term "dustburdaree" occurring therein signifies a verbal relinquishment of the claim and not any written instrument of the nature of a "bazdaweh."—Ibid, par. 5.

The stamp duty refunded on a razeenamah, is not to be paid to the vakeel or mooktar without special authority, but will remain in deposit.

648. The treasurer should be prohibited from paying money under the above circumstances (viz. the value of the stamp duty refunded on the adjustment of a suit by razeenamah,) to any vakeel or mooktar, unless he shall be authorized to receive it by a special clause in his vakalutnamah or mooktarnamah; and when no such authority is produced, the money should remain in deposit, until the party entitled to receive it shall apply to the court for an order for payment, and such order be obtained.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 3d Jan. 1834.

Discontinuance of the practice of sending to the superin-

649. His Honour the Deputy Governor of Bengal is pleased to sanction the discontinuance of the existing practice of forwarding to the office of the Superintendant of Stamps, for examination, petitions of plaint filed in suits adjusted by razeenamah previous to making the refund of the stamp duty levied upon those documents.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d Aug. 1839.

tendant of stamps for examination documents on which the stamp duty is to be refunded, on filing a razeenamah.

650. Paragraph 3 of the Circular of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 60, dated 6th December last, appearing calculated to induce the inference that the Civil courts are not to forward to the Collector the stamped paper on which the petition of plaint is written in cases adjusted by razeenamah, unless expressly called for by that officer, I am directed to inform you that it was not meant thereby to alter or disturb the practice of transmitting to the Collector's office the original petitions of plaint on all occasions of a refund being ordered, which is in force under existing Circular orders, and to request, therefore, that you will consider the final paragraph of the Circular, No. 60, above referred to, as cancelled.—Cir. Ord. 29th May 1840.

But the stamped paper on which the petition of plaint is written, is to be sent to the collector in cases adjusted by razeenamah.

651. If a suit be decided in favour of the plaintiff, on the acknowledgment of the defendant without an investigation of the merits, the vakeels will be entitled to the full fee; but if it be dismissed on razeenamah, no formal judgment being passed, the vakeels will be entitled to quarter or half the full fee, according as the razeenamah may have been filed before or after the filing of the pleadings.—Con. 209, 1st June 1815.

The vakeels entitled to $\frac{1}{2}$ or $\frac{1}{4}$ the full fee, as the razeenamah may be filed before, or after, the pleadings.

652. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your officiating Judge's letter, dated the 24th ultimo, requesting to be informed, whether it is competent to the courts to order the whole fees to be paid to the vakeels in cases adjusted by razeenamah after evidence has been taken; or whether the rule in Section 31, Regulation 27, 1814, for giving one-half the established fee in cases so settled, after the requisite pleadings shall have been filed, is applicable after evidence has been taken.—In reply I am desired to communicate to you for the information and guidance of your officiating Judge, that in cases adjusted by razeenamah after evidence has been completed, the vakeels are entitled to their whole fees, in like manner as if no razeenamah had been admitted.—Con. 418, 5th May 1826.

In cases adjusted by razeenamah after the completion of the evidence, the vakeel will receive the full fee.

653. The evidence of a single witness supported by circumstantial evidence is sufficient to prove a compromise.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th April 1831, vol. 5, p. 107.

A compromise may be proved by a single witness supported by circumstantial evidence.

654. A petition by the plaintiff withdrawing his claim having been rejected by the zillah Judge, held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that, as such withdrawal could not affect the right of other parties, it ought not to have been rejected.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th Sept. 1837, vol. 6, p. 181.

Petition of a plaintiff withdrawing his claim ought not to be rejected.

655. In a case in which a razeenamah and solunamah were executed by both parties, a decision in conformity therewith, although in reversal of the judgment of the lower court, was passed by a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th April 1845, vol. 7, p. 202.

Where a razeenamah and solunamah were filed by both parties, the S. D. A. decided accordingly, reversing the judgment of lower court.

656. The Sudder dewanny adawlut refused to carry into execution a razeenamah or deed of adjustment and compromise between the parties, no final decree having been passed, and the value of the stamp for the petition of appeal having been returned.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th Nov. 1840, and 16th June 1841, p. 49.

S. D. A. refused to carry a razeenamah into execution, no final decree having been passed, and the stamp duty having been refunded.

657. A suit for property, real and personal, in right of inheritance, having been adjusted between the parties, held that such adjustment does not bar an action by the same plaintiff

A deed of compromise not to be annulled on a charge of fraud and intimidation unless clearly proved; nor on a plea of ignorance of facts.

A compromise was settled on the promise of a consideration, which was not inserted in the release. On proof of the fact, the compromise enforced and the consideration awarded.

against the same defendants for his share of certain ancestral property alleged to have been fraudulently concealed by the latter, at the time of the adjustment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Sept. 1843, vol. 7, p. 131.

658. After a razeenamah had been filed, the plaintiff pleaded that execution thereof had been forced, but though repeatedly desired to prove his assertion failed to do so. The Provincial court dismissed the suit, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut confirmed the decision.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d July 1825, vol. 4, p. 80

659. A compromise, entered into between the parties while the suit was pending, set aside, in consequence of one of them not having performed the condition of it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th June 1807, vol. 1, p. 188.

660. If one party do not comply with the conditions of a compromise, the other party is not bound by it.—Ibid.

661. A written engagement of the defendant to the plaintiff (his uncle,) which had been the ground of the plaintiff's withdrawing a law suit against the defendant, and which contained an allotment of dewutter lands, to the plaintiff, on an implied condition, viz. the partition of a joint property within a stated period, upheld by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on the circumstances of the case, though the condition was as yet unperformed; and judgment passed, providing, that the plaintiff might obtain the lands, on a partition being carried into effect.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Dec. 1807, vol. 1, p. 222.

662. Two parties execute a deed of compromise [soolunamah]. One of them afterwards pleads, that fraud and intimidation had been resorted to. Such plea, unless clearly substantiated, cannot, neither can a plea of ignorance of existing facts, excuse the party engaging.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th July 1812, vol. 2, p. 23.

663. Pending a suit of A. versus B., terms of a compromise were settled between the parties, by which they mutually released each other, and B. agreed to pay a consideration. No clause to this effect was inserted in the release, signed by A. and lodged with C., but on proof of the fact by C, the compromise is enforced, and the consideration awarded to A., costs being made payable in equal shares.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th April 1831, vol. 5, p. 107.

664. A. sued B. for possession of an estate held jointly : and B. in answer asserted right to the whole. A.'s suit is withdrawn on a compromise, by the terms of which A. assures to B. reversion of the moiety held by him, and generally his entire estate, real and personal. In a subsequent action, brought against B., by the heirs of A., held that the claim as to the moiety of the estate specified, is repelled by the compromise.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1831, vol. 5, p. 143.

665. A deed of compromise should be construed liberally : so that, where an item of property was left out of a contemporary schedule of properties partible among the litigants, the plaintiff shall have the benefit of the principle of the compromise.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Jan. 1832, vol. 5, p. 159.

666. A composition, the terms of which have not been fulfilled by one of the parties, cannot be admitted in his favor as proof of the amount of the claim of another party.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th April 1837, vol. 6, p. 160.

SECTION XXXVII.

Decisions of the Sudder Court regarding Fines.

667. Respondent fined 100 rupees by the Sudder dewanny adawlut for misstating facts to the court, respecting a decree of the Provincial court, affecting the property in dispute, with a view to obtain an order for the enforcement of a decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which the Provincial court had delayed till further instructions.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Sept. 1802, vol. 1, p. 59.

Case in which a respondent was fined 100 rs. for misstating facts.

668. Respondents fined 200 rupees each and their mooktar 50 rupees, for endeavoring to impose on the Sudder dewanny adawlut a false copy of a record.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Sept. 1804, vol. 1, p. 85.

Respondents and their mooktars fined for endeavoring to impose on the S. D. A.

669. The zillah Judge, decreeing summarily to a farmer possession of lands which the under-tenants, though in balance, refused to give up, fined them 100 rupees to Government for having retained possession by force; the Court held that the fine was not authorized by the Regulations and remitted it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Aug. 1807, vol. 1, p. 206.

Fine imposed by the judge on under-tenants for retaining lands by force, remitted by the S. D. A.

670. In a suit by certain landholders against a tehseeldar, for undue exactions, a fine of three times the amount exacted was decreed to Government against the tehseeldar, in addition to the refund to the landholders.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Feb. 1808, vol. 1, p. 229.

A tehseeldar fined three times the amount he had exacted.

671. In a suit for money and property embezzled, the Provincial court adjudged the payment of one-third of the amount claimed to be made by one of the defendants as a fine for his connivance. But on an appeal preferred by him, the Sudder dewanny adawlut reversed this order, as unwarranted by the Regulations and inconsistent with the practice of the Civil courts.

A defendant fined for conniving at embezzlement; and the fine remitted on appeal by the S. D. A.

672. The rules contained in Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793, for the award of fines, cannot be considered applicable to the case of a person whose attendance may be required as a witness, upon whom a summons has not been served.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Dec. 1827, vol. 4, p. 287.

A witness on whom a summons has not been served, cannot be fined.

673. A zillah Judge having fined a defendant 100 rupees for the temerity of his defence, the Court considered the order unjust and contrary to practice.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th April 1833, vol. 5, p. 292.

Fine imposed on a defendant for the temerity of his defence remitted.

SECTION XXXVIII.

Zillah and City Courts—Costs.

674. The Court observe that it has not hitherto been the practice of this (the Western) Court, nor, so far as they are informed, of the Calcutta Court, to award costs in miscellaneous cases. Upon general principles of equity and justice, however, the Court can see no good reason why a party in a miscellaneous case should not be reimbursed, by the opposite party, any reasonable costs to which he may be subjected in prosecuting or defending a just claim, in the like manner as in a regular suit; and they are, therefore, of opinion, there being nothing prohibitory that they are aware of in the Regulations, that the same rules which govern the award of costs in the one case, should equally extend to the other.—Con. 1155, West. C. 22d June, Cal. C. 13th July 1838.

The civil courts are competent to award costs in miscellaneous cases.

Case in which appellant was not allowed costs, though judgment passed in his favor.

675. The appellant, having denied that the respondent was a son, or heir of his father, was not allowed his costs, though judgment was passed in his favour; the costs in all the courts were made payable by the parties respectively.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th July 1801, vol. 1, p. 48.

Order for costs of suit to be paid by the winner, reversed.

676. Order for costs of suit to be paid by the successful party, reversed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Aug. 1820, vol. 3, p. 44.

Case in which the amount of costs due on a first decree were considered so far a set-off against the amount due on the second.

677. A plaintiff having been nonsuited in an action for debt, and made chargeable with costs, sues again and obtains a decree. In the meanwhile the defendant sells the decree in the nonsuit, to a third party. Held that the sale, being evidently collusive, is no bar to the amount of costs due on the first decree being considered so far a set-off against the amount due on the second decree.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Oct. 1846, p. 86.

The civil court cannot order execution for costs not mentioned in the decretal order, unless the decree is corrected.

678. Where costs have not been awarded in the decretal order, the Civil court cannot order execution for costs without first correcting the decree on the application of the decreeholder.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th July 1847.

Costs allowed to a party unnecessarily made a defendant in a case subsequently compromised.

679. Costs were allowed to a party unnecessarily made a defendant in a case, subsequently compromised between the plaintiff and the other defendants.—Rep. Reg. Cases, 27th April 1847.

Institution of a suit for a debt before the period of payment has arrived, sufficient for a refusal of costs.

680. Held, that the institution of a suit for the recovery of a debt before the period specified for payment, is not a sufficient ground for depriving the creditor of interest after the debt has become due; though sufficient for refusal of costs or for nonsuit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1821, vol. 3, p. 68.

Case in which S. D. A. made the losing party pay costs only on the sum originally sued for.

681. The plaintiff suing to recover a sum of money taken from him under an award, the zillah Judge decreed the sum claimed, and damages and costs under Section 6, Regulation 28, 1803, which plaintiff had not sued for. This part of the decree was reversed, and costs made payable by the losing party only on the sum originally sued for.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Dec. 1827, vol. 4, p. 293.

Costs are to be paid in a suit for damages, not on the sum sued for, but the sum awarded.

682. A., an officer of Police, illegally though for a short time arrested B., and offered to strike him. On B.'s suit for damages, laid at 10,000 rupees,—the Provincial court awarded 100 rupees damages and costs on the sum sued [amounting to 637 rupees.] The Sudder dewanny adawlut decreed that the defendant should only pay costs in proportion to the damages awarded.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Aug. 1832, vol. 5, p. 229.

Attorney's costs incurred by a creditor, in a demand on a mofussil resident who was not amenable to the supreme court, are not recoverable in the mofussil courts.

683. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that attorney's costs incurred by a creditor for making a demand on a resident in the mofussil, who was not amenable to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, is not recoverable by action in the mofussil courts.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1836, vol. 6, p. 75.

SECTION XXXIX.

Zillah and City Courts—Damages.

684. A decree for damages against A., who alleged himself to be the guardian of B. and C., held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be personal, and not to confer on A. any exemption from liability, nor subject the estate of B. and C. to be sold in execution thereof.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th Jan. 1839, p. 16.

A decree for damages against one who alleged himself to be the guardian of others held to be personal.

685. A. sued to recover a given sum as profits of a defined quantity of land. The decree of a lower court, awarding a less sum arbitrarily taken as damages, affirmed in the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Aug. 1832, vol. 5, p. 231.

Decree of a lower court awarding a sum less than that sued for, arbitrarily taken as damages, affirmed.

686. The plaintiff agreed to receive a fixed sum from the defendant as damages for an assault and false imprisonment, which sum the defendant failed to pay; the plaintiff sued for damages in excess of the amount agreed between the parties. The Sudder dewanny adawlut under the circumstances gave judgment for the plaintiff for the amount he had originally consented to receive, together with all costs of suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Dec. 1839, vol. 6, p. 275.

Case of damages for an assault & false imprisonment.

687. Damages were awarded against a Police darogah for the illegal search of the plaintiff's house in a case of theft.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Aug. 1835, vol. 6, p. 39.

Damages awarded against a police darogah.

SECTION XL.

General Rules regarding the Control of the Zillah Judges over the Uncovenanted Judges, and the transfer of business to Principal Sudder Ameens.

688. All original suits instituted before the Judge to be at once transferred to the proper tribunals for decision.—Civ. Ord. 15th Jan. 1841, par. 1.

All original suits instituted before the judge to be transferred to the uncov. J.

689. All appeals from the uncovenanted Judges to be heard and revised as soon as practicable after the prescribed forms can be observed.—Ibid, par. 2.

Appeals from the uncov. judges to be heard and revised speedily.

690. The zillah Judges will obtain, under Circular order, No. 65, 19th October, 1832, the sanction of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to the transfer of a proportion of the appeals from the decisions of the Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens, to the Principal Sudder Ameen for decision, agreeably to Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831. These applications to be submitted whenever the number of suits pending before the Principal Sudder Ameen may be less than 200.—Ibid, par. 3.

Transfer of a proportion of the appeals from M. and S. A. to the P. S. A.

691. They will carefully superintend the state of the civil business before the uncovenanted Judges, and ascertain that the suits are brought to an early decision, and not allowed to lie over beyond six or eight months without special reasons.—Ibid, par. 4.

Zillah judges to superintend carefully the state of civil business before the uncov. judges.

692. They will transfer, agreeably to Section 8, Act XXV. 1837, (for which authority is hereby granted) to the Principal Sudder Ameen, for disposal, all miscellaneous cases instituted and pending under headings Nos. 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11 and 12, together with any other miscellaneous matters legally transferable under the Regulations, to that officer.—Ibid, par. 5.

Certain miscellaneous cases to be transferred to the P. S. A.

Zillah judges will check irregular pleadings, and enforce the duty on the uncov. judges, and the proper preparation of their decrees.

Care to be observed in the admission of special appeals and reviews of judgment.

Zillah judges will bring to the notice of S. D. A., the gross neglect and incapacity, as well as the zeal and diligence of uncov. judges.

Notice to be taken of any delay in the disposal of suits by the uncov. judges.

Farther instructions regarding the reference of miscellaneous business to the P. S. A.

The revised form of statement No. 2 to be brought into use.

693. They will check all irregular pleadings, and ascertain that the uncovenanted Judges pay due attention to this important subject, as well as to the proper preparation of their own decrees.—Ibid, par. 6.

694. They will strictly abide by the provisions of the Regulations and the instructions of the Court, in the admission of special appeals and reviews of judgment.—Ibid, par. 7.

695. They will bring to the immediate notice of the Court, in the prescribed manner, all instances of gross neglect or incapacity on the part of the uncovenanted Judges, and in like manner take every proper opportunity of bringing forward the claims of those officers, who, from their zeal, diligence, and attention, are deserving of promotion to a higher grade.—Ibid, par. 8.

696. The Court are pleased to direct the general adoption of the plan pursued in some districts of noting in the quarterly statements, "explanation of part 3 of the civil statement No. 1, regarding the cause of delay in the disposal of suits pending beyond one year,"* whether the explanations of the uncovenanted Judges are satisfactory or the contrary. Similar notes are to be made in the half-yearly statements of explanations regarding the miscellaneous business.—Cir. Ord. 25th Nov. 1842.

697. In modification of former orders† regarding the descriptions of miscellaneous business referrible to Principal Sudder Ameens, under Section 8, Act XXV. 1837, the Court authorize the transfer to those officers, at the discretion of the Judges of the undermentioned miscellaneous cases: No. 13, Petitions from paupers on the point of pauperism, under Section 5, Regulation 28, 1814. No. 14, Petitions from insolvents under Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806. No. 15, Petitions for the redemption and foreclosing of mortgages under Section 2, Regulation 1, 1798, and Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806. No. 16, Applications for the execution of decrees, under Section 15, Regulation 26, 1844. No. 17, Petitions from parties praying for reversal of sales, or objecting to orders passed on the execution of decrees, under Clauses 3, 4 and 6, Section 3; Clauses 4 and 5, Section 4; and Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 7, 1825, and petitions of every other nature connected with the execution of decrees. No. 18, Cases of resistance of process whether in execution of decrees or otherwise. No. 19, Applications for the execution of awards of arbitrators, under Clause 2, Section 3, Regulation 6, 1813.—Cir. Ord. 5th Dec. 1845, par. 1.

698. The Court at the same time direct the use of the revised form of statement No. 2, from the first January next. The alterations made in this statement are such as have been called for by the abrogation of former laws and by the enactment of others for extending the jurisdiction of the Native Judges. The mention of the laws relating to each class of cases will obviate doubts as to the heading under which any given order is to be entered; while the asterisks inserted in the columns for the Principal Sudder Ameens, opposite to headings other than those specified in paragraph 1, will prevent the transfer through inadvertence of any other cases than those above indicated as referrible.—Ibid, par. 2.

SECTION XLI.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—General and Miscellaneous Rules.

699. Moonsiffs are themselves to investigate the suits cognizable by them in a public cutcherry, or court-room, and are not to allow their officers, servants, or dependants, or any other person to interfere therein. In receiving, trying and determining suits, they shall be guided by the rules prescribed in the following sections, and in points not expressly provided for in this Regulation, they shall observe as nearly as may be practicable the rules prescribed in the Regulations for the guidance of the Zillah and City courts in the trial and decision of civil suits.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 14.

Suits to be tried by the moonsiffs themselves in a public cutcherry, and under what rules.

700. Moonsiffs are directed to act in strict conformity with Circular order, 13th September, 1843, Nos. 372, 373, 374 and 375, page 287.

M. will act in strict conformity with C. O. 13th Sept. 1843.

701. Moonsiffs will also take for their guidance the rules contained in Circular order, 18th January, 1844, Nos. 171 and 172, page 246.

M. will be guided by C. O. 18th Jan. 1844.

702. The Moonsiffs shall try all suits depending before them, in the order in which they have been filed or numbered; provided however, that the zillah or city Judge be at all times authorized either upon a report from the Moonsiff, or upon other grounds of information to direct the Moonsiff to bring any particular suit or suits to a hearing at the termination without attending to the regular order of the file.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 26.

Suits to be tried according to their order on the file.

Proviso.

703. The rules prescribed in the existing Regulations in regard to the period within which suits may be admitted in the Zillah and City courts, as well as in regard to the mode of computing the value of the property in litigation, shall be held applicable to suits preferred to the Moonsiffs.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 5, Cl. 6.

Rule for computing the period within which suits are cognizable, and the value of the property in litigation in the moonsiff's court.

704. In a suit cognizable by a Moonsiff, the origin of the cause of action must be reckoned from the time when money became payable, not from the date of the bond. A simple acknowledgment of the truth of the demand will not be sufficient to constitute a new cause of action, so as to bring within the cognizance of the Moonsiff a suit, the prescribed period for instituting which had elapsed.—Con. 196, 1st March 1815.

Period from which the cause of action must be reckoned, in a suit before a M.

705. All suits within the competency of a Moonsiff, to decide under the foregoing provisions, shall ordinarily be instituted in the Moonsiffs' courts. Provided nevertheless, that it shall be competent to a zillah or city Judge to receive such suits, and to try them himself, or to refer them for trial to any other court subordinate to his authority, whenever he may see sufficient reason for so doing.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 7.

Suits within the competency of the moonsiffs to be ordinarily instituted in their court's proviso.

706. It having been determined that the Moonsiffs appointed under Regulation 5, 1831, shall be required to give an explanation, on their failing to decide on their merits twenty-five suits per mensem, and the Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens, when they do not decide on their merits twenty suits, (except in the case of Principal Sudder Ameens having appeals pending before them, who will be required to furnish an explanation when they do not decide on their merits twenty-five suits per mensem,) I am directed to request that you will consider the rule laid down in the third clause of paragraph 11 of the letter from the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department, dated the 28th February, 1817, circulated for general information on the 12th March of the same year,* applicable, with the above limitation, to the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs of your district.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 21st Sept. 1832, par. 1.

The common excuses made for not deciding the requisite number will not be admitted, unless the judge considers them satisfactory.

707. You will be pleased to communicate this information to these officers, and inform them that the Court cannot in future admit as valid the common excuses of, "the unforward state of their files," "the failure of parties to attend and to file their proofs," "the non-attendance of witnesses," &c. unless the Judge shall distinctly certify that he considers the reasons assigned to be sufficient.—Ibid, par. 2.

M. are required to pay strict attention to reg. 4, 1793, sec. 5, 6 & 10; reg. 23, 1814, sec. 19, 21, 22 and 27, and reg. 26, 1814, sec. 12.

708. The Court are inclined to believe that the neglect of the parties may, in some measure, be attributable to the want of method on the part of the courts themselves in the preparation of the suits on their files. They therefore request that you will impress on the Native Judges in your district the necessity of paying strict attention to the rules laid down in the Regulations, particularly in Sections 5, 6, and 10, Regulation 4, 1793; Sections 19, 21, 22 and 27, Regulation 23, 1814, and Section 12, Regulation 26 of 1814, for their guidance in this branch of their duty. It is probable that when the parties see that their cases will be taken up regularly when they do attend, and that they will be liable to have them dismissed on default, or tried in their absence, on their failing to do so, a more regular system will be introduced into the practice of the courts, which will render the administration of civil justice more speedy and efficient.—Ibid, par. 3.

M. may call for the record of a case from any court through the judge of the district.

709. Held on a reference from the Judge of Mymensing, that a Moonsiff has the power to call for the record of a case from any court, (such call being made through the Judge of the district to which he is attached,) whenever any peculiar circumstances may render it necessary for him to do so, but that in general if any particular paper is required, the party who wishes to file it should obtain an attested copy in the usual manner.—Con. 1259, Cal. C. 1st Nov., West. C. 6th Dec. 1839.

A ryot sued for rent in the court of a M. cannot remove it to the court of the collector by affirming that the land is rent-free.

710. With reference to the second paragraph of your letter of the 20th March last, and to your letter of the 2d instant, I am directed to observe that the question for consideration appears to be, whether a ryot sued for rent in a Moonsiff's court can remove the suit to the Collector's court, merely by affirming that the land for which the rent is demanded is not liable to rent. The Court are of opinion that he cannot. The point at issue is, not the validity of the alleged rent-free tenure, but the fact of the ryot's having paid or not rent for the year previous to that for which the suit is instituted. The Moonsiff is competent to try and determine this point; and if it be proved by the village accounts duly authenticated, or other legal evidence, that the ryot did pay rent for the preceding year, to pass a decree for such amount of rent as may appear to be due, leaving the ryot to establish his right to hold the land as lakhiraj by a suit instituted under Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819.—Con. 696, Cal. C. 25th May, West. C. 6th July 1832.

* That the Sudder Ameens, in submitting the prescribed monthly reports of causes decided by them, be required to explain the reason of more causes not having been determined, whenever the monthly number of causes decided by them on trial, exclusively of nonsuits on default, and adjustments by razeenamahs, may be less than thirty; and that the zillah and city Judges record on such report, whether the reasons assigned are, in their judgment, sufficient and satisfactory, or otherwise.—Cir. Ord. 12th March 1817, par. 11.

711. Mooktarnamahs in the Moonsiffs' courts are not subject to any stamp duty.—Con. 416, 14th April 1826.

Mooktarnamahs in M.'s courts not subject to stamp duty.

712. Section 10 [which requires a record of the points at issue] and Section 12 [which requires the issue of an eight days' notice before the hearing of a suit] of Regulation 26, 1814, are not applicable to Moonsiffs.—Con. 1226, West. C. 21st June, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1839.

M. need not record the points at issue, or give eight days' notice before hearing the suit.

713. Moonsiffs may depute ameens to make local investigations on regular suits pending before themselves. But they cannot depute a person to make such investigation as they themselves have been directed to make by other courts. If the Moonsiff cannot leave his station to make such investigations without materially interfering with his special duties, he should represent the circumstance to the Judge, who may depute another person to perform the duty.—Con. 863, 14th Feb. 1834.

M. may depute an ameen to make a local investigation, but not as that which he himself has been directed to make by other courts.

714. With regard to the eleven suits in which a decision has been already passed, the Court deem it desirable that every means should be tried of ascertaining the nature of the judgment already passed, previous to the adoption of any further measures which would be attended with much inconvenience; you will be pleased therefore to make strict enquiry among the parties and their vakeels, the Moonsiff himself and the books of his office, for a copy or notes containing the substance of the decree. If such should be obtainable the Moonsiff would be enabled from them to draw up another decree. It would also be advisable, where such documents are not to be found, that the parties and vakeels be questioned as to the nature of the decree passed, and if they agree on this point, the Moonsiff may draw up his decree from their statement. If after every method has been tried some cases should still remain, regarding the judgment in which no information can be obtained or any doubt may remain, you will be pleased to report specially to this Court regarding them; stating fully the measures which you have adopted ineffectually with the view to discover the contents of the decree.—Con. 896, West. C. 5th Sept., Cal. C. 3d Oct. 1834.

Mode of procedure when the records of a M.'s court have been destroyed by fire.

715. The Sudder dewanny adawlut directed the restoration to the file of a Moonsiff, of a suit for false imprisonment against a Police darogah, struck off by the orders of the Judge.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th Jan. 1844, p. 55.

Case in which the S. D. A. ordered a suit to be restored to the file of the M.

SECTION XLII.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Plaints.

716. In suits instituted before the Moonsiffs under the foregoing rules, the plaint shall be written upon stamped paper agreeably to the rates specified in the Schedule B, referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 8, Cl. 2.

Value of the stamped paper on which the plaints shall be written.

717. To remove doubts which are believed to exist, I am desired by the Court to intimate to you, with the sanction of the Government, that in cases in which more than one stamp is required for engrossing petitions of plaint or appeal, or petitions presented by persons desirous of appealing as paupers under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 12, Regulation 28, 1814, it is optional to parties to file several stamps, the aggregate value of which will be equal to the amount prescribed by law, or one stamp of the full value, with as much plain paper attached thereto as may be required.—Cir. Ord. 28th Aug. 1840.

Where more than one stamp is required for petitions of plaint, the party may file several stamps equal to the legal amount, or one stamp of full amount and the rest blank paper.

What matters are required to be stated in the plaint.

718. The plaint shall state precisely the grounds of complaint, the time when the cause of action arose, the name and residence of the person or persons complained against, the total sum of money or amount of personal property claimed, and all material circumstances, which may elucidate the transaction, and may tend to bring the matter in dispute to a distinct issue.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 17.

The insertion of irrelevant matter and terms of abuse in the plaint to be restrained and discouraged.

Plaint to be signed, numbered, and dated.

And to be inserted according to a prescribed form in a book to be kept for that purpose.

719. It shall be the duty of the Moonsiff to restrain and discourage as much as possible the insertion in the plaint of irrelevant matter and of terms of abuse and reproach against the character of the defendants or others. The plaint shall be signed and numbered, and dated in the order in which it may be received by the Moonsiff, and the number of the suit, the names of the parties, the date on which the petition is received, the amount claimed, and the subject matter of the suit, shall be carefully entered in a book, to be kept by the Moonsiff according to the form No. 4, of the Appendix; two blank columns shall be left in the book, in the first of which shall be inserted the date of the decision and an abstract of the final order passed in each suit, shewing whether the claim be decreed in whole or in part, or nonsuited, or adjusted by razeenamali or dismissed on investigation of the merits, or otherwise disposed of, and the amount of the costs adjudged against either or both of the parties. In the second blank column shall be inserted the date on which the copies of the decrees may be furnished or tendered to the parties. With a view to ascertain that the register books are regularly kept in the manner above prescribed, and that depending suits are brought to a hearing according to their order on the file, the zillah and city Judges are respectively required to inspect them once at least in each year, and for this purpose shall require the several Moonsiffs to transmit them to the court either during the period of the Dusserah or Mohurrun vacation as may be most convenient.—Ibid, Sect. 18.

Case in which M may receive an amended plea, which is not considered a supplemental plaint

720. A. suing B. for possession of real property in virtue of a deed of sale in the Moonsiff's court, the rights and interests of B. in the property are sold by the Collector in satisfaction of a decree to C. after the institution but before the decision of the suit. Held, that it is competent to the Moonsiff to receive an amended plea, including C among the defendants, such amended plea not being considered a supplemental plaint which a Moonsiff is not competent to receive.—Con. 1308, West. C. 28th Aug., Cal. C. 17th Sept. 1841.

Farther explanation on the subject of supplemental plaints

721. With reference to Construction No. 1308, which declares that Moonsiffs are incompetent to receive supplementary plaints or answers, the Court promulgate, for general information, that the restriction does not extend to petitions designed to rectify evident errors in plaints or answers. According to Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, (corresponding with Section 5, Regulation 3, 1803,) the supplemental plaint or answer is intended to supply "any thing material to the suit," which "from mistake, inadvertence, or other cause," the plaintiff or defendant "shall have omitted to insert" in the plaint or answer. But an omission to insert is different from an evident mistake in regard to that which has been inserted. For instance, if a plaintiff had omitted to sue for the interest as well as the principal of a debt, he could not be allowed, in the Moonsiff's court, to supply the omission, but having sued for both principal and interest, he ought to be allowed to correct an evident error of calculation.—Cir. Ord. 3d June 1847.

722. The direction of a Principal Sadder Ameen to a Moonsiff to receive a supplemental complaint was declared to be illegal.—Rep. Reg. Cases, 27th May 1847.

A. E. S. A. cannot direct a M. to receive a supplementary plaint.

SECTION XLIII.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Notice—Proclamation.

723. When the complaint shall have been thus received and entered in the book according to the prescribed form, the Moonsiff shall cause to be served on the defendant a written notice under his seal and signature, containing only the number of the suit, the names of the parties, and a short statement of the demand, and requiring the defendant to attend in person or by vakeel, and to deliver an answer to the plaint on or before a certain day, which must be specified in the notice.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 19, Cl. 1.

What notice to be served on the defendant.

724. The Moonsiff shall deliver the notice to the plaintiff or to his vakeel, and the plaintiff may either himself serve the notice on the defendant, or through any other person whom he may choose to employ for that purpose. Provided however, that the name of the person intended to be employed in this duty be in all cases endorsed on the notice by the Moonsiff previously to its being delivered to the plaintiff or his vakeel for execution.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

To whom the notice is to be delivered

[The rules regarding the service of processes from Moonsiffs' courts will be found at Chapter II. Section 11, at the 138th and subsequent rules.]

725. The person through whom this notice may be served, shall require from the defendant a written acknowledgment, to be endorsed on the back of the notice, signifying that it has been duly served upon him, and he shall further cause some of the defendant's neighbours, or any mundul or putwaree or other principal inhabitant of the village, or the mohulladar of the ward, to witness the due execution of the service, and he shall at all times state in his report, the name or names of such witness or witnesses.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 19, Cl. 3.

And how it is to be served.

726. When the defendant may be a weaver or a person employed in the provision of the Company's investment under the Commercial Residents, or in the provision of salt or opium in those departments, the notice above prescribed shall be enclosed within a sealed cover, addressed to the Resident or Agent, or to the assistant, or to the gomashlah, ameen, or head officer of the nearest aurung, kothee, or chowkey, subordinate to them, and shall be superscribed with the official seal and signature of the Moonsiff. The Resident, or Agent, or his assistant, or head Native officer, shall cause the notice to be duly served and acknowledged by the defendant, and shall then return it to the Moonsiff.—Ibid, Sect. 20.

Notice how to be served on weavers & other persons employed in certain departments on account of government.

727. If a defendant who may have been served with a notice as directed in the two preceding sections shall not appear in person or by vakeel, within the time specified, or if having appeared, he shall refuse to answer the plaint, the Moonsiff shall proceed to try the cause ex-parte, and after examining the plaintiff's evidence in support of his claim,

Under certain circumstances the cause may be tried ex-parte.

shall give judgment in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared and answered to the plaint.—Ibid, Sect. 21, Cl. 1.

But moonsiffs required to ascertain that the notice was duly served on the defendant.

728. It shall however be the duty of the Moonsiff previously to trying the case ex-parte, to make such enquiries from the person who served the process, and from the persons who witnessed such service, as may satisfy his mind, that the notice was duly served on the defendant.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

In cases tried ex-parte, evidence shall be taken in proof of the plaintiff's claim, as if the defendant had appeared and answered.

729. Instances having been brought to the notice of the Court, of ex-parte decrees having been passed for the rent of lands of which the decree-holder was not in possession : I am directed by the Court to request you will call the attention of the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs of your district, to the rule contained in Section 21, Regulation 23, 1814, which prescribes that evidence shall be taken in proof of the plaintiff's claim in cases tried ex-parte, in like manner as if the defendant had appeared and answered the suit.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 24th Sept. 1832.

The absence of the defendant or his refusal to acknowledge the service, how to be certified.

730. In cases in which a defendant to whom a notice may have been issued in conformity with the preceding sections, may abscond or conceal himself, or cannot after diligent search be found, or shall refuse to give the required written acknowledgment, the person entrusted with the execution of the process shall certify the same on the back of the notice, and shall require some person or persons being neighbours of the defendant, or a mundul, or a putwaree, or other principal inhabitant of the village, or a mohulladar of the ward in which the defendant may usually reside, to certify on the back of the process, that after diligent search the defendant cannot be found, or that he has refused to give the required written acknowledgment.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 22, Cl. 1.

Proclamation to be issued after it shall have been certified that the defendant cannot be found or has refused to acknowledge the service.

What the proclamation shall contain.

731. When a return to this effect is made, the Moonsiff shall cause a proclamation, written in the current language and character of the country, to be affixed in a conspicuous part of his own cutcherry, and a copy of the same on the outer door of the defendant's usual place of residence, or some other conspicuous place near it. The proclamation shall contain a copy of the original notice, and shall state that if the defendant do not appear in person, or by a vakeel, within the period of fifteen days from the date of the proclamation, the suit will be brought to a hearing and determination, without the appearance or answer of the defendant.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Other evidence than that of the serving peon is required to prove the issue of process to defendants in M.'s courts.

732. The provisions of Clause 2, Section 21, Regulation 23, 1814, which require the evidence of witnesses besides the person who served the process, have reference to the circumstance that the process of Moonsiffs' courts was then served either by the plaintiff himself or any other person whom he chose to employ for that purpose ; under the present system of issuing process through registered peons the same necessity does not however exist, and the evidence of the peon may be considered sufficient unless there are grounds to suspect his statement. Mr. Turnbull is of opinion that under the existing law the Moonsiff is competent to exercise his discretion ; but Mr. Colvin considers the provisions of Clause 2, above cited, to be imperative, and that the evidence of witnesses to the service of process of others than the peon serving it must be taken in every instance. The point is therefore referred for the decision of the Presidency Court. The Calcutta Court, on the 3d May, 1833, concurred in the opinion expressed by Mr. Colvin.—Con. 775, West. C. 4th April, Cal. C. 3d May 1833.

733. If the defendant shall still not appear either in person or by vakeel, the Moonsiff, on the expiration of the period limited in the proclamation, shall proceed to try and determine the suit ex-parte, with the same precautions, and in the same manner, as is prescribed in Clause 2, Section 21 of this Regulation.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 22, Cl. 3.

If the defendant shall fail to attend within the period limited in the proclamation, the suit is to be tried ex-parte.

734. When a defendant in a suit pending before one Moonsiff resides in the division of another, the Court are of opinion that it would be sufficient to have the process backed by the Moonsiff in whose division the defendant resides.—Con. 701, Cal. C. 6th July, West. C. 17th Aug. and 26th Oct. 1832, par. 3.

Course of procedure if the defendant resides in the division of another M.

735. The principle which formerly regulated the correspondence of Moonsiffs with the covenanted officers of Government, having been superseded by the Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 7, dated 15th April last the Court are pleased to notify, for general information, that the second paragraph of Construction No. 1235, which in pursuance of that principle imposed on the functionaries named the obligation of issuing their processes to be served in other districts, through the channel, and under the seal and signature of the Judge to whom they might be subordinate, has been rescinded.—Cir. Ord. 11th Aug. 1843.

The process of the M. to be served in other districts need not be sent under the seal and signature of the judge.

736. And it is hereby enacted, that such parts of Regulation 23, 1814, as prohibit the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs from requiring security from defendants; or from attaching their property in cases pending before them; or from realizing fines imposed by them without first obtaining the sanction of the zillah Judge, be repealed.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 3.

Repeals parts of reg. 23, 1814, prohibiting S. A. and M. from requiring security, &c.

737. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs to demand security from the defendant, under the provisions of Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 2, 1806, in cases pending before them; and also to proceed, without reference to the zillah Judge, to the realization of fines imposed by them provided that all orders passed by the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs under this section, be subject to an appeal to the zillah Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

S. A. and M. may demand security under sec. 4 and 5, reg. 2, 1806, and may proceed for realization of fines without reference to zillah J.

738. The provisions contained in the existing Regulations relative to the trial and decision of suits already cognizable by the Moonsiffs, are hereby declared to be equally applicable to suits which may be instituted before those officers under this Regulation.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 8, Cl. 3.

Suits to be tried & decided by Moonsiffs under rules heretofore in force.

739. Held on a reference from the Judge of Purneah, that the rule in Section 24, Regulation 12, 1817, which requires putwarees to produce their accounts when required by the Courts of Justice, is applicable to the subordinate courts. Moonsiffs who may require to put the rule in force should send the putwaree with a proceeding to that effect to the zillah Judge.—Con. 1346, Cal. C. 24th June, West. C. 2d Aug. 1840.

M. may require putwarees to produce their accounts, thro the judge.

SECTION XLIV.

Trial of Suits before Moonsiffs—Pleadings.

740. Vakalutnamahs filed in cases before Moonsiffs should be received on plain paper.—Con. 798, Cal. C. 14th June, West. C. 19th July 1833.

Vakalutnamahs in M.'s courts will be on plain paper.

Defendant to file an answer to the plaintiff if he shall appear at any time before the plaintiff's evidence shall have been received.

741. When the defendant shall attend either in person or by vakeel, within the period limited in the notice or proclamation, or at any subsequent period, before the plaintiff's evidence or proofs shall have been received in the case, shall be allowed to take a copy of the plaintiff's petition, and to file his answer to the complaint.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 24.

Moonsiffs to prevent the insertion in the answer of irrelevant matter and abusive terms.

742. It shall be the duty of the Moonsiffs to restrain and discourage as much as possible, the insertion in the answer of any matter evidently irrelevant to the suit, and of terms of abuse and reproach against the character of the parties or other persons.—Ibid, Sect. 25, Cl. 1.

What cases the plaintiff may be permitted to file a reply

743. If the answer of the defendant shall be a simple admission or denial of the matter contained in the plaint, no further pleading shall be necessary in suits before the Moonsiffs, but if the answer shall contain any plea or allegation, which may require a reply on the part of the plaintiff, in order to bring the matter in dispute to a distinct issue, or to which the plaintiff may be desirous of replying, such reply shall be filed on the next court day after that on which the defendant may have given in his answer. The plaintiff shall not introduce in his reply any matter not contained in his complaint. He shall either acknowledge the answer of the defendant to be true or simply and shortly deny the truth of such of the facts in the answer, as he intends to dispute, or simply deny the truth of the facts contained in it, or the competency of the answer.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

What is to be contained in the reply.

When the rejoinder is to be filed, & what it is to contain.

744. The defendant shall rejoin to the reply on the same day. He shall not introduce in his rejoinder any matter not contained in his answer. He shall simply deny the truth of the reply of the plaintiff, or of those parts of it which he means to dispute, or aver the truth or competency of his own answer, and no further pleadings whatever shall be admitted in suits before the Moonsiffs.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Stamped paper not requisite for certain documents.

745. In all suits tried in the courts of the Moonsiffs, the pleadings, the applications of parties for the filing of exhibits, as well as for the attendance of witnesses, and the copies of decrees, need not be written on stamped paper.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

The moonsiff will not postpone the suit because the plaintiff delays to file his reply or the dt. his rejoinder.

746. In suits in which the plaintiff may delay to file his reply, or the defendant to file his rejoinder, within the fixed periods; the Moonsiffs are not required to postpone the trial of the suit on that account, but may proceed in it in the same manner, as if the reply or the rejoinder had been actually filed.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 25, Cl. 5.

Notice to be affixed in the cutcherry, if either of the parties shall be absent when the suit is first called over for trial.

747. In cases, in which the answer shall have been filed, and the parties or either of them shall fail to appear in person or by vakeel at the time, when the suit is first called over for trial, the Moonsiff shall suspend the trial, and shall affix in some conspicuous place in his cutcherry, a notice that the suit will be again called over for trial after the expiration of a fixed period not being less than ten days. If the plaintiff shall not appear before the Moonsiff in person, or by a vakeel duly authorized within the limited time, the Moonsiff shall dismiss his claim; if the defendant shall not so appear by the prescribed time, the Moonsiff shall proceed to try the cause ex-parte.—Ibid, Sect. 27, Cl. 1.

Mode of proceeding, if notwithstanding such notice either of the parties may fail to attend.

748. On a reference from the Judge of Moradabad, whether Act XXIX. of 1841 is to be considered as superseding the rule of procedure laid down for Moonsiffs, in cases of default of plaintiffs, in Clause 1, Section 27, Regulation 23 of 1814, and whether it is therefore incumbent on Moonsiffs to wait until the expiration of six weeks before dismissing suits for default:—It was held, that Act XXIX. of 1841 does not repeal any clause or Regulation allowing a Moonsiff to dismiss a case, after a prescribed and notified time, on default of plaintiff, within the period of six weeks, but only provides for the disposal of suits by dismissal, which under the rule heretofore in force, have been wont to remain longer than that term.—Con. 1321, West. C. 18th Feb., Cal. C. 8th April 1842.

Act 29, 1841 repeals no regulation allowing a M. to dismiss a case for default after a prescribed time; but orders suits to be positively dismissed at the end of six weeks.

749. On a reference from the Judge of Allahabad, relative to the applicability or otherwise of the provisions of Act XXIX. 1841, to the Moonsiffs' courts, in the stage of a case prior to the filing of the answer, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut were of opinion that the Act in question must be held applicable in supersession of Construction No. 758, and that no suit can be struck off on default, prior to the filing of the answer, before the expiration of six weeks.—Con. 1339, West. C. 18th May, Cal. C. 10th June 1842.

No suit can be struck off on default prior to the filing of the answer, before the end of six weeks.

750. If the plaintiff absent himself previous to service of notice on the defendant or before the reply be filed, the suit cannot be proceeded in and must be dismissed.—Con. 870, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 27th March 1834, par. 4.

If the plaintiff absent himself before the service of notice, or the filing the reply, the suit must be dismissed.

751. On the dismissal of a suit under Section 12, Regulation 3, 1803; Clause 1, Section 27, Regulation 23, 1814; Clause 3, Section 12, Regulation 26, 1814, the plaintiff is at liberty to institute a new suit for the same claim, as if the case had not been heard.—Ibid, par. 2.

On its dismissal the plaintiff may institute a new suit.

752. If there has been no decision on the merits of a case, but merely a dismissal pronounced on default, the omission of the word nonsuit, in the proceedings of the officer who disposed of the case, cannot be considered to bar the claim of the plaintiff to the admission of a summary appeal.—Ibid, par. 3.

If the case be dismissed on default, the omission of the word nonsuit does not bar the plaintiff's right of a summary appeal.

753. The Construction No. 859, having been under consideration of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and North Western Provinces, is hereby rescinded; and it is hereby declared, in modification of Construction No. 1226, that Sections 10 and 12, Regulation 26, 1814, are applicable to the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, but not to those of the Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. 20th Aug. 1841.

Reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10 and 12, are not applicable to M.

754. The Moonsiffs are to try the suits depending before them by hearing the pleadings of the parties, by examining their documents, and by taking the depositions of their witnesses in the presence of the parties, or of their vakeels duly constituted. They may also examine the truth of the claim by the oaths of the parties, if they mutually consent to that mode of examination.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 28.

Rules for the trial of suits depending before moonsiffs.

755. Repeated instances having been lately brought to the notice of the Court, evincing much want of attention on the part of the uncovenanted Judges, and of the vakeels and agents attached to their courts, to the rules prescribed for the preparation of pleadings, I am directed by the Court to request, that you will ascertain that every uncovenanted Judge in your district is furnished with translations of Section 25, Regulation 23, 1814; Clauses 2 and 4, Section 5, Regulation 26, 1814; and Section 9, Regulation 27, 1814. You will at the same time inform

The M. will be careful that the pleadings are drawn up in strict conformity with the regulations. The inattention of vakeels and agents will be severely punished.

the uncovenanted Judges, that it is their duty to see that the vakeels and agents, attached to their courts, draw up "the plaint," "the answer," "the reply," and "the rejoinder," as also "the reasons of appeal," and "the reply" thereto, in strict conformity to the Regulations, and the Court will hereafter hold any officer, who may be proved to be generally inattentive to this important subject, to have been guilty of gross neglect of duty, bringing him within the provision of Section 26, Regulation 5, 1831.—Cir. Ord. 8th Jan. 1841.

SECTION XLV.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Witnesses.

Stamped paper not requisite for certain documents.

756. In all suits tried in the courts of the Moonsiffs, the pleadings, the applications of parties for the filing of exhibits, as well as for the attendance of witnesses, and the copies of decrees, need not be written on stamped paper.—Reg. 5, 1831. Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

Cl. 1 and 2, sec. 31; cl. 1, sec. 32, reg. 23, 1814. repealed.

757. It is hereby enacted, that Clauses 1 and 2, Section 31, and Clause 1, Section 32 of Regulation 23 of 1814, of the Bengal code, are repealed.—Act XVII. 1845, Sect. 1.

M. may, if necessary, issue process for the attendance of witnesses, which will be served by the M. in whose jurisdiction he is.

758. And it is hereby enacted, that within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, if any Moonsiff shall require the evidence of a person not within his local jurisdiction, and such person shall not attend at the requisition of the parties, the Moonsiff shall issue the necessary process for procuring the attendance of such person, and send the same to the Moonsiff within whose local jurisdiction such person is, who shall endorse such process and cause it to be duly served and executed.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

All the powers exercised by zillah J. for enforcing the attendance of witnesses will be exercised by moonsiffs; but an appeal will lie from their order to the judge.

759. And it is hereby enacted, that within the said territories all powers now exercised by zillah Judges for enforcing the attendance of any person upon whom a summons to appear as a witness has been duly served, and who has failed to attend in their courts, shall, from and after the passing of this Act, be exercised by Moonsiffs for enforcing the attendance of any person upon whom a summons to appear as a witness has been duly served, and who has failed to attend in their courts; provided that all orders passed by Moonsiffs under this Act shall be subject to an appeal to the zillah or city Judge, whose decision thereon shall be final.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Moonsiffs authorized to summon witnesses who may not attend on the requisition of the parties.

760. If the plaintiff or defendant shall be desirous of summoning any witnesses to appear before the Moonsiff, and such witnesses shall not attend at the requisition of the parties, the Moonsiff is authorized to summon as witnesses, any persons subject to his jurisdiction, excepting women whose rank may be such as to render it improper to require their appearance in public. When the evidence of such women is necessary, it is to be taken in the mode prescribed by Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793; Section 2, Regulation 8, 1795; and Section 7, Regulation 3, 1803.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 29, Cl. 1.

Cases in which the evidence of witnesses required by moonsiffs may be taken on written interrogatories.

761. If however the residence of the witness shall be at a considerable distance from the Moonsiff's cutcherry, or if other circumstances should render it inconvenient or improper to compel the personal attendance of any witness, the Moonsiff is hereby authorized and required to transmit to the Judge any written interrogatories, which he may think necessary, or which may be suggested by the parties or their vakeels, in the suit. On the receipt of such written interrogatories, the Judge will proceed to obtain the evidence of the witness in the mode prescribed by Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793; Section 2, Regulation 8, 1795; and Section 7, Regulation 3, 1803.—Ibid, Sect. 32, Cl. 2.

[For the mode of obtaining the examination of absent witnesses, vide Section 22 of this Chapter.]

762. The summons shall specify the number of the suit on the file, the name of the party, at whose request it may be issued, and the names and residence of the witnesses, and shall require them to appear at the cutcherry of the Moonsiff on a specific day; and there to depose concerning the matter in dispute between the parties.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 29, Cl. 2.

What the summons shall contain.

763. The Moonsiff shall deliver the summons to the party applying for it, or to his authorized vakeel, and such party or vakeel may either serve the summons himself or through any other person whom he may choose to employ for that purpose; provided however, that the name of the persons intended to be employed in this duty be in all cases notified to the Moonsiff, and endorsed on the summons previously to its being delivered to the party or his vakeel for execution.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Mode in which the summons shall be served.

764. By clause third, Section 29, Regulation 23, 1814, the Moonsiffs are prohibited from demanding or receiving any fee or issuing the prescribed summons for the attendance of witnesses, and by clause fourth the party or his vakeel is required to serve the summons in person. But as the strict observance of this rule may (especially in suits of the higher description such as the Moonsiffs are now competent to decide,) be attended with inconvenience, it is hereby declared that whenever the party at whose suit the process may be sued out, may be desirous of having the summons carried by a peon instead of serving it himself, or through any other person, it shall be competent to the Moonsiff to levy tulubana for that purpose.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Moonsiffs competent to levy tulubana for the serving of process on the demand of the party who sues it out.

765. In cases in which a witness duly summoned may attend before the Moonsiff, but shall refuse to give evidence, or to subscribe his deposition, the Moonsiff shall impose such fine upon him as may appear proper.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 31, Cl. 3.

Where the witness attends, but refuses to give evidence, or to subscribe his deposition, he may be fined.

766. Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs may also proceed, without reference to the zillah Judge, to the realization of fines imposed by them, provided that all orders passed by the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs under this section, be subject to an appeal to the zillah Judge.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 4.

The fine may be realized, but it is subject to an appeal to the zillah judge.

767. The Moonsiffs are hereby strictly prohibited from confining or otherwise punishing witnesses, and they are enjoined to take the depositions of witnesses attending before them with all due expedition, so that they may not be exposed to any vexatious delay or unnecessary detention from their respective homes and employments.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 33.

Witnesses not to be maltreated by moon-siffs or detained from their homes longer than may be necessary.

The oath or solemn declarations of witnesses may be dispensed with by consent of the parties.

768. The Moonsiffs are at all times authorized to cause the examination of a witness to be taken on a solemn declaration, or even without such solemn declaration whenever the parties in the suit, or their respective vakeels, may voluntarily and mutually agree to such witness being so examined.—Ibid, Sect. 35.

Witnesses are not to be instructed or intimidated, and all leading & irrelevant questions are to be avoided.

769. In the examination of witnesses, the Moonsiffs are enjoined carefully to prevent the parties and their vakeels or agents from instructing or intimidating the witnesses or from putting to them leading questions, or questions suggesting a particular answer; questions also with regard to the personal character of the parties, or on points evidently irrelevant to the matter in dispute, are to be avoided as much as possible.—Ibid, Sect. 36.

What is to be contained in the deposition of a witness and how it is to be attested.

770. The deposition of every witness shall commence by specifying the name, the father's name, (or, if the deponent be a married woman, the name of her husband,) the religion, cast, profession, age, and place of residence of the deponent, and shall be subscribed by the witness with his or her name or mark.—Ibid, Sect. 37.

Mode of summoning weavers and certain other persons employed on the part of govt., whose evidence may be required before moonsiffs.

771. If any individual whose evidence is required shall be a person employed in the provision of the Company's investment under the Commercial Residents, or in the provision of salt and opium under the Agents of Government, the summons shall be served in the same manner as is prescribed in Section 20 of this Regulation, respecting the issue of notice to a defendant. The Moonsiffs will be careful not to summon such persons unnecessarily, and on their attendance shall cause them to be examined and dismissed with all practicable dispatch.—Ibid, Sect. 30.

Particular instructions regarding the mode in which the depositions of witnesses are to be taken in moonsiffs' courts.

772. The Court desire that all the civil authorities, in recording the depositions of witnesses, will, on all occasions, observe the rules described in the following extract (paragraph 21,) from the report of the Judge of Goruckpore on the administration of civil justice for the past year :—"My attention has been called to this subject partly from observing that there was no uniform mode of recording depositions of witnesses in the Moonsiffs' courts, and partly from the record itself primâ facie giving no refutation to the slander, easily insinuated by a disappointed suitor, that depositions in the lower court had been trimmed. I believe, that in some cases, depositions were taken in the rough, and afterwards copied fair. It has come too under my observation, that the Native Judges have, in an off-hand fashion dismissed a claim upon the ground of gross discrepancies in the evidence, which could not be detected by me after the most careful perusal. From a consideration of these circumstances I directed that the depositions of all witnesses, in every court, in lieu of the old bi-columnar arrangement, with question on one side and answer on the other, should be continuously written according to the Sudder Nizamut's exemplar, appended to their Circular order, No. 54, 16th July, 1830; that the interrogations put to witnesses should be in order; first, by the party or his vakeel, at whose summons they attended; next, by the opposite party; last, by the Native Judge; that all the questions put should be numbered in a regular series; and that if by accident or other cause, it became necessary to make a fair transcript of the deposition that the original rough draft, of course similarly attested, should invariably be placed on the file. I am thus enabled to ascertain the care and attention with which depositions have been taken, and the latter is discernible from the Native Judge's own questions. They too have only, when they allude to discrepancies, to point out the numbers of the different questions in which the deponent's replies are open to this imputation.—Cir. Ord. 18th May 1846.

SECTION XLVI.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Exhibits.

773. In all suits tried in the courts of the Moonsiffs, the pleadings, the applications of parties for the filing of exhibits, as well as for the attendance of witnesses, and the copies of decrees, need not be written on stamped paper.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

Stamped paper not requisite for certain documents.

774. No fees shall be levied on exhibits filed before the Moonsiffs, and exhibits shall be received in suits depending before them, without any durkhaust or written application for that purpose.—The Moonsiffs are strictly prohibited from admitting or filing as an exhibit, or from receiving in evidence, any obligation, instrument, bond, deed, or document, whether it be the original, or a copy, of a description which is or may be required to be written on stamped paper, unless it shall have been duly executed on stamped paper of the description, value, and denomination prescribed by the Regulations.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 38, Cl. 1.

Exhibits in suits before moonsiffs are not liable to the payment of fees or stamp duties.

But no exhibits to be admitted which are not written on the prescribed stamped paper.

775. In cases in which a Moonsiff shall entertain doubts whether a document presented to him as an exhibit has been duly executed on paper bearing the prescribed stamp, he shall transmit such document, with a statement of the case, to the Judge for his opinion, and shall be guided by the instructions he may in consequence receive from the Judge, either in rejecting, or admitting such exhibit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Moonsiffs to report to the judge instances in which exhibits may appear to be written on stamped paper differing from the prescribed stamped paper.

Vide Circular order, 7th January, 1842, page 191, No. 466.

Vide Circular order, 29th July, 1836, and 8th October, 1841, page 308, Nos. 493 and 494.

776. When an exhibit is filed in a suit before the Moonsiff, it shall be dated and signed or sealed by him, and shall be marked with some letter or number to identify it, and such letter or number shall be distinctly referred to in those parts of the depositions of the witnesses, or of the proceedings, or of the decree, as may allude to such exhibit.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 38, Cl. 3.

Exhibits are to be dated, signed and marked, and are to be described according to that mark in the proceedings and decree.

777. Whenever occasion may require the examination and scrutiny of Native account-books in any civil case, the European Judges should, as far as possible, call in the aid of assessors for that purpose. In instances, however, where such a course may be deemed by them inexpedient, recourse should be had to the agency of ameens, to be appointed at the expence of the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be, whose duty it should be to inspect the books either at the mahajun's house or in court, as might seem fitting with reference to the circumstances of the case and the wishes of the parties. And the latter course should also be followed by the Native courts, who are not authorized to employ assessors for the purpose stated.—Cir. Ord. 4th Feb. 1840, par. 3.

When a N. judge requires to examine native account books, he will depute an a-meen to inspect them in the mahajun's house, or in court.

SECTION XLVII.

Administration of the Mahomedan and Hindoo Law of Inheritance by Moonsiffs.

Provision for the due administration of the Mahomedan and Hindoo civil law in certain cases.

778. In all cases of inheritance of, or succession to, landed property, the Mahomedan laws with respect to Mahomedans; and the Hindoo laws with regard to Hindoos, are to regulate the decision; and the Moonsiffs, in all such cases where doubts exist, are to obtain an exposition of the law from the Law officers of the Zillah court, to whom they are to transmit a written abstract of the case for this purpose: such exposition however is not to preclude a further reference to the Law officers of the Zillah courts, upon such points of law as may arise upon the cause, in the event of its being tried in appeal. In causes in which the plaintiff is of a different religious persuasion from the defendant the decision is to be regulated by the law of the latter, provided that this rule is limited to cases in which the defendant is either a Mahomedan or a Hindoo.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 6. Cl. 2.

In all other cases M. to act according to justice, equity, and good conscience.

Idem.

779. In cases in which the above rules cannot be applied, the Moonsiffs are to act according to justice, equity, and good conscience.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

780. The rules contained in the above clause, regarding cases of succession to real property, are intended exclusively for the guidance of Moonsiffs, such being the express tenor of the enactment.—Con. 706, Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 17th Aug. 1832.

For the subsequent modification of the law of inheritance, vide Regulation 7, 1832, Section 9.

Rules to be observed in cases of succession to real property.

781. In all suits concerning the succession or right of inheritance to a zemindary, talook, land, house, or other real property, the Moonsiffs are to affix in some conspicuous part of their cutcherries and to publish in the village, in or near to which the property is situated, a written notification of the claim preferred, with a requisition to all persons who may have any claim to the property sued for, to prefer the same within a limited period; and they are not to pass a decree in such suits, when there are more claimants than one, who by the Hindoo or Mahomedan law (respect being had to the religion of the claimants) would be entitled to a portion of the property, excepting the property be by the decree adjudged to all the claimants in the proportions to which they may be respectively entitled.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 6, Cl. 4.

The written notification as above, must precede the notice to defendant. Claimants coming forward will bear a share of the costs.

782. The written notification prescribed by Clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, should precede the usual notice to defendant. Claimants coming forward in obedience to such proclamations are liable to bear a proportion of costs.—Con. 1293, West. C. 30th April, Cal. C. 30th July 1841.

The enquiry to be made under reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, cl. 4 must refer only to the rights in the property actually sued for, and not to the whole estate.

783. The enquiry to be made by the Moonsiff, under the provisions of Clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, is to be limited to the rights of claimants in the property actually sued for, and cannot extend to the entire estate of the deceased.—Con. 1300, Cal. C. 18th June, West. C. 9th July 1841.

The application in consequence of the notice, issued under

784. The Court are of opinion that a petition, putting in a claim to a share of the property sued for in consequence of a notice issued under Clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, should be considered as an application "in relation to matters pending" before the court, and that, with reference to the omission of the Moonsiffs in Article 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, and to the provisions of Clause 2, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, such application in the courts of the Moonsiff should not be written on stamped paper.—Con. 706, Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 17th Aug. 1832.

SECTION XLVIII.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Obstruction of Justice—Resistance of Process—Fines.

785. Whereas sufficient provision is not made for repressing obstructions to justice committed in the courts of the East India Company;—It is hereby enacted that all persons whatsoever, whether generally amenable to the courts of the East India Company or otherwise, using menacing gestures or expressions, or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or other officer under a Magistrate empowered to try criminal cases, or any superior or inferior court, civil or criminal, of the East India Company, shall be liable to be fined by the authority whose proceedings are obstructed, to any amount not exceeding 200 rupees, or in case such fine be not paid to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding one month. Provided, that from the award of punishment in such cases an appeal shall lie, if preferred within one month, to the authority, civil or criminal, appointed by law to hear appeals in all other cases from the decisions of the officer by whom the fine was imposed; and, provided also, that notwithstanding any thing in this Act it shall be lawful to indict any person amenable to Her Majesty's Supreme Courts as for a misdemeanor in any of the cases aforesaid sustainable before this Act, if no proceeding shall have been had against the offender in the court where the offence was committed, but not otherwise.—Act XXX. 1841, Sect. 1.

786. And it is hereby enacted, that Section 42; the further proviso contained in Section 74, Regulation 23, 1841; Clauses 2 and 3, Sections 5 and 6, Regulation 12 of 1825, of the Bengal code, are repealed.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

787. And it is hereby enacted, that such parts of Regulation 23, 1814, as prohibit the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs from requiring security from defendants; or from attaching their property in cases pending before them; or from realizing fines imposed by them without first obtaining the sanction of the zillah Judge, be repealed.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 3.

788. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs to demand security from the defendant, under the provisions of Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 2, 1806, in cases pending before them; and also to proceed, without reference to the zillah Judge, to the realization of fines imposed by them, provided that all orders passed by the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs under this section be subject to an appeal to the zillah Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

789. The attention of the district civil authorities is called to the effect of Section 3, Act XXX. 1841, under which the prohibition against Moonsiffs realizing fines imposed by them

reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, cl. 4, need not be on stamped paper.

All persons using menacing gestures, &c. or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city magistrate, &c. or any superior or inferior ct., civil or criminal, may be fined not exceeding 200 rs., or if not paid imprisoned for one month. Party aggrieved may appeal within one month. Party, if not proceeded against under this act, may be indicted in her majesty's supreme courts.

Repeals sec. 42, the further proviso in sec. 74, reg. 23, 1814; cl. 2 & 3, sec. 5 & 6, reg. 12, 1825.

Repeals parts of reg. 22, 1814, prohibiting S. A. and M. from requiring security, &c.

S. A. and M. may demand security under sec. 4 and 5, reg. 2, 1806, and may proceed for realization of fines without reference to zillah judge.

Act 30, 1841 is the sole law under which contempt of court can be penally visited by the native tribunals.

for disrespectful behaviour in open court, without previous report to the Judge, is removed, and according to which Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens are left at liberty to realize by their own authority any fines which they may impose under the general Regulations; Section 42, and the further proviso of Section 74, Regulation 23, 1814, (the latter having been applicable to Principal Sudder Ameens agreeably to the first part of Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831,) having been both rescinded. Act XXX. 1841 is thus the sole law under which contempt of court can be penally visited by the Native tribunals.—Cir. Ord. 16th Sept. 1842.

The N. judges may of their own power proceed to realize fines imposed in reference to the stamp laws.

790. It has been ruled by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut that the Native judicial authorities are competent to proceed, of their own power, and without previous reference to you to the realization, by the usual process, of any fines [in reference to the breach of the stamp laws] imposed by them under the rule contained in Clause 1, Section 18, Regulation 10, 1829, subject to the usual course of appeal.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June 1839.

SECTION XLIX.

Decrees and Orders of Moonsiffs.

The decision is to be passed after consideration of the pleadings, exhibits & evidence.

791. When the parties have been heard, and the exhibits received and considered, and the witnesses on both sides examined, the Moonsiff shall give judgment according to justice and right.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 39.

What shall be contained in the decree.

792. The decree shall specify the names of the parties, and the names of the witnesses examined, and the titles of the exhibits read. It shall also contain an abstract statement of the material facts alleged in the pleadings of both parties, and an elucidation of the principal grounds and reasons on which the decision may be passed. It shall state specifically the sum of money, or the value or amount of personal property adjudged and the amount of the costs or damages payable by the parties respectively.—Ibid, Sect. 40.

Decrees, &c. of P. S. A., S. A., or M., shall be written in the vernacular language of such P. S. A., S. A. and M., and (as the case may be) translated into the vernacular language of the court.

793. And whereas it is expedient, that excepting as regards the language to be used, Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs should be guided by the same rules as are hereinbefore provided for the guidance of the superior Judges:—It is hereby enacted, that in all the Presidencies so much of all decrees as consists of the points to be decided, the decision thereon, and the reason for the decision, which shall be passed by Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, or Moonsiffs, shall be written, originally in the vernacular language of such Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, and signed by such Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, at the time of pronouncing such decision, and (in case such vernacular language shall not be the same as the vernacular language commonly used in the court wherein the suit to which the decree relates shall have been instituted,) shall be translated into such last mentioned vernacular language, and the translation shall be incorporated in the decree.—Act XII. 1843, Sect. 3.

794. Moonsiffs will also be guided by Circular order, 16th August, 1844, p. 322, Nos. 579—582, and by Circular order, 28th February, 1845, Nos. 583 and 584.

795. If any claim shall appear to the Moonsiff to be evidently litigious and vexatious, he shall adjudge suitable costs and damages against the plaintiff, and insert the same in the mode above directed in the decree.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 40.

Costs and damages to be awarded in the decree in suits which may appear to be litigious or vexatious.

796. Section 40, Regulation 23, 1814, does not authorize the imposition of a fine for a litigious or vexatious suit. Fines are leviable only on account of Government. If damages are awarded, they belong to the party declared by the decree to be entitled to them. In such case the damages form part of the decree, and unless the party dissatisfied with its appeal, the decree will be executed, without reference to the Judge, in the same manner as other decrees of court.—Con. 966, Cal. C. 17th July, West. C. 28th Aug. 1835.

Reg. 23, 1814, sec. 40 does not authorize the imposition of a fine for a litigious & vexatious suit.

797. When the decision shall have been thus passed, the Moonsiff shall cause two copies of it to be prepared, and after attesting them with his seal and signature shall, within one week after the date of the decree, tender the said copies in open cutcherry, both to the plaintiff and defendant or to their vakeels respectively; he shall endorse on the back of the said copies the actual date on which they may be tendered to the parties in open cutcherry, and if either or both of the parties shall fail to attend, or shall refuse to receive the copies so tendered, he shall certify the same on the back of the copies.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 41, Cl. 1.

Two copies of the decree to be prepared and tendered to the parties.

The date of the tender and the cause of the non-delivery of the copies to be certified by the M. and endorsed on the back of the copies.

798. The rule prescribed to the Judges and Registers of the Zillah and City courts, for endorsing on the copies of decree delivered or tendered by them, as well as inserting in their records, the date of delivering or tendering such copies, is also to be carefully observed by the Native Commissioners, that the exact period of such deliveries or tenders may be at all times ascertainable; and the Judges are to communicate this rule to the Native Commissioners within their respective jurisdictions, for their information and guidance.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 8.

Rule prescribed to the zillah judges and registers endorsing and recording the date of delivering, or tendering copies of decrees, to be also carefully observed by the native commissioners.

799. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Allahabad, that the period allowed for appealing from the orders of Moonsiffs in miscellaneous cases (copies of which orders are to be granted on plain paper,) should be calculated from the date of the order appealed from, deducting the interval that may elapse between the date of the copy being applied for, and its being ready for delivery. The Moonsiffs should always note on the copy the date of application for the copy, and that of its being ready for delivery.—Con. 1323, West. C. 26th March, Cal. C. 8th April 1842.

Mode in which the period for appealing from an order of the moonsiff is to be calculated.

800. The Moonsiffs will, as heretofore required to do, prepare and tender to the parties copies of each decree or final order which they may pass, within one week from the date thereof, the rule being equally applicable to Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens in suits referred to them under Section 5, Act XXV. of 1837; in all other cases, the functionaries of the two latter grades are hereby required to have every decree and final order prepared within the same period.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 7.

M. will prepare and tender to the parties copies of each decree or final order, one week from the date of it.

801. Any Moonsiff who may be guilty of wilfully misstating, or falsifying, or of causing to be misstated or falsified, the date and purport of the endorsement above directed to be written on the copies of the decrees, or of keeping back such copies of de-

Penalty for falsifying the date and purport of the endorsement and for keeping back copies of the decree from either of the parties.

crees from either of the parties, with the view of defeating or opposing a bar to their right of appeal shall, on proof thereof to the satisfaction of the Provincial court, be liable to dismissal from office, and to such discretionary fine to Government as may be deemed proper by that court.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 41, Cl. 2.

Stamped paper not requisite for certain documents.

802. In all suits tried in the courts of the Moonsiffs, the pleadings, the applications of parties for the filing of exhibits, as well as for the attendance of witnesses, and the copies of decrees, need not be written on stamped paper.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

The particulars which are to be noted on the copy of every decree and order by the M.

803. The Court take this opportunity of observing that, owing to the want of the requisite information on the back of copies of decrees and orders appealed from, doubts have frequently arisen as to the precise time an appellant is entitled to claim as a deduction from the period prescribed for appealing in consequence of the stamped paper given in for the copy of the decree or order remaining in the serishta of the lower courts, and also whether any delay which may have occurred is fairly attributable to the party petitioning for the admission of an appeal. The Court are accordingly pleased to direct that in future on the copy of every decree and order granted by you, you cause to be endorsed the particulars noted below, and that you strictly enjoin the observance of the same rule by the Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen and Moonsiffs, within your jurisdiction.—[Where a pauper may be a party, or where the decree may have been passed in a Moonsiff's Court.] On the ——— 1840, the pauper or other party failed to attend, after due notice, in person or by vakeel; and the copy was accordingly deposited among the records.—Cir. Ord. 8th May 1840.

SECTION L.

Razeenamahs in Moonsiffs' Courts.

The institution fee when to be returned in cases adjusted by razeenamah before the moonsiffs.

804. The provisions of clauses second and third, Section 3, Regulation 13, 1824, are declared applicable to cases adjusted by razeenamah in the Moonsiffs' courts.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.

Stamp duty in original suits & appeals referred to S. A. how to be disposed of when such suits are adjusted by razeenamah.

805. In original suits and appeals referred to Sudder Ameens, and adjusted by razeenamah, after the 1st May, 1824, if the razeenamah be filed before the pleadings are completed and read, the full amount of the stamp duty paid on the institution of the suit or appeal shall be returned to the party who may have paid the same, or to his legal representative; or a moiety of the stamp duty so paid shall be returned if the razeenamah be filed after the pleadings have been completed and read.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

A monthly statement of stamp duty receivable by the parties entitled thereto to be furnished by the S. A.

806. The several Sudder Ameens are required to submit to the Judges and Registers, with whom they are respectively stationed, a monthly statement of the stamp duty receivable by the parties entitled thereto under the above clause; and the Judges after ascertaining the correctness of such statements, will take the necessary measures for causing payment to the parties entitled thereto in pursuance of Section 25, Regulation 26, 1814.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

807. It appearing from the returns to the circular issued by the Court, under date the 27th October last, that several of the Moonsiffs in these provinces refuse to receive razeenamahs in cases depending before them if not written on stamped paper, I am directed to inform you that as by Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, it is provided that razeenamahs shall bear the stamp prescribed for pleadings in the court wherein they may be filed, and under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 9, Regulation 5 of 1831, the pleadings in the Moonsiffs' courts are not required to be written on stamped paper, the practice above referred to is irregular, and should be strictly prohibited wherever it may exist. You will consider this prohibition to extend equally to razeenamahs filed in the Moonsiffs' courts in cases of execution of decrees. —Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 3d Aug. 1838.

Razeenamahs filed in M.'s courts should not be on stamped paper.

808. With reference to my Circular letter of the 10th May last [vide Rule below, 810,] I am directed by the Court to forward to you the accompanying copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Purneah, dated the 28th June last; and to request that in the event of there being no tehseeldars in your district, or, any particular purgunnahs of it, you will adopt the mode of practice detailed in the 4th paragraph of that letter, for the repayment to plaintiffs in suits decided by razeenamah of the value of stamp to which they are entitled.—Cir. Ord. 9th Aug. 1833, par. 1.

Mode to be adopted for the repayment to plaintiffs in suits decided by razeenamah in the courts of M., the value of the stamp to which they are entitled.

809. I beg accordingly to submit the following plan; that on the adjustment of a case by razeenamah, the plaintiff, wishing to have refunded the amount of the plaint paper, should petition the Moonsiff for the same, on plain paper of course; that the Moonsiff, endorsing on the petition the number of the suit and date of decision, should forward it to the Judge, who, on ascertaining the correctness of the application by reference to the nuthee can give the certificate prescribed in Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, and transmit it with the paper on which the plaint is written, (all nuthees of cases decided are sent by the Moonsiffs at the end of the month for record in the Judge's office) to the Collector; that officer having taken the necessary measures for ascertaining the genuineness of the paper, can return the plaint, with the amount to be refunded, to the Judge; the plaint would be again filed with the nuthee and the money sent to the Moonsiff, who would pay it to the party entitled to it, and having done so would forward his receipt to the Judge.—Ibid, par. 4.

Idem.

810. Any Moonsiff or Sudder Ameen above described, who may direct the re-payment of the institution fee to a party in a case adjusted by razeenamah, shall send to the Collector the stamped paper on which the petition of plaint is written, with the certificate required by Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829. The Collector shall, on the receipt thereof, transmit the stamped paper to the Stamp Office for examination. On its return to his office, duly examined, the Collector shall return the same to the Moonsiff or other deciding officer, together with an order for the amount in favor of the party entitled to receive it, addressed to the tehseeldar, whose cutcherry may be nearest to that of the Moonsiff or officer who decided the suit; or where there are no tehseeldars, on the treasurer of the district. This order will be delivered by the Moonsiff or other officer to the party, with directions to apply to the tehseeldar, or treasurer, as the case may be, for the sum due to him; and, as it will form the authority for the payment by that officer, it should be carefully retained as such in his office.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 10th May 1833.

Idem.

Idem.

811. In continuation of the Circular order, under date the 25th October, 1833,* prescribing certain rules for the repayment of the amount of stamp in certain cases adjusted by razeenamah before Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens at out-stations, I am directed to transmit for your information the annexed extract of a letter from the officiating Accountant in the Revenue and Judicial department, dated the 30th September last, to the Government, and to request that you will adopt the practice suggested by that officer. The rules of practice adopted by the Sudder dewanny adawlut in the Western Provinces, under the orders of Government of 7th October last, and detailed in the 2d paragraph of Mr. Register Jackson's letter of the 18th July last, are unobjectionable. I would, however, beg leave to suggest that the Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens be instructed to deliver to the parties both the authenticated certificate and the Collector's orders for payment, with the view to the delivery of both documents by the party claiming the refund to the tehseeldar, to enable that officer to forward them to the Collector's office for transmission to this department, as vouchers in support of the debits to be made under "stamp duties" in the Collector's treasury account.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 14th Nov. 1834.

SECTION LI.

Trial of Suits by Sudder Ameens—General Rules.

Suits for claims of what amount, and of what nature cognizable by S. A.

812. The zillah and city Judges are hereby declared competent to refer to any of the Sudder Ameens subject to their authority for trial and decision any original suits depending or instituted in their courts for money or other personal property, or for the property or possession of land, or of other real property, the amount or value of which, calculated according to the rules specified in No. 8 of the Schedule B, referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829, may not exceed one thousand rupees. Provided however, that no suit shall be referred for trial to a Sudder Ameen in which he himself or his relatives, or dependants, or the vakeels or officers of his court shall be a party, or in which an European British subject, an European foreigner, or an American shall be a party.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 15, Cl. 2.

Proviso.

Original suits how to be tried and determined by S. A.

813. Original suits referred to a Sudder Ameen under the preceding clause, shall be tried and determined in conformity with the provisions of Regulation 23, 1814.—Ibid., Cl. 3.

Rules to be followed in cases not expressly provided for.

814. In points not expressly provided for by the foregoing rules, the Sudder Ameens shall observe as nearly as may be practicable the rules prescribed in the Regulations for the guidance of the Zillah and City courts in the trial and decision of original civil suits.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 74.

Sudder ameens are themselves to investigate suits referred to them.

815. The Sudder Ameens are themselves to investigate the suits referred to them in a public cutcherry or court-room, and are not to allow their officers, servants, or dependants, or any other person to interfere therein.—Ibid., Sect. 71.

* See Circular orders of 10th May, and 9th August, 1833, above.

816. The provisions contained in Sections 18 and 23 ; clause fourth, Section 25 ; in Sections 26, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 43, 44, 46, 47, 48 and 49 of this Regulation, are hereby declared to be equally applicable to original suits referred to Sudder Ameens as to those tried by Moonsiffs. The special rules prescribed in Sections 57, 58 and 59, shall likewise be strictly observed by the Sudder Ameens in all suits, which may be referred to them relative to the inheritance of or succession to landed property.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 73.

Recital of the provisions of this regulation which are applicable to suits tried by sudder ameens.

817. I am directed to request you will submit, for the consideration of the Calcutta Court the accompanying copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Ghazee-pore, under date the 2d instant, soliciting the opinion of the Court as to whether suits, in which the Government or its officers may be a party are referrible, under the provisions of Act XXV. of 1837, to Principal and other Sudder Ameens.—Reply.—The Court are decidedly of opinion that it was not the intention of the Legislature to exclude cases of the nature of those described by Mr. Smith from the cognizance of the Principal and other Sudder Ameens, and that consequently they are referrible to those officers at the discretion of the Judge in like manner with all other cases legally within their competency to dispose of.—Con. 1112, 10th Nov. 1837.

Suits in which govt. and its officers are parties are referrible to principal and other S. A.

818. A Sudder Ameen should decide a suit in which the parties are Mahomedans according to the Mahomedan law, taking a futwa from the Law officer if necessary.—Con. 424, 30th June 1826.

How a S. A. is to decide a case connected with Mahomedan law.

The Sudder Ameens are desired strictly to conform to the provisions of Circular Order of 13th September, 1843, (p. 287, Nos. 372—375.)

Farther rules regarding the reference of suits to Sudder Ameens are given in Act IX. 1844, (p. 88, Nos. 490—492.)

The rules in Circular Order, 18th January, 1844, (p. 245, Nos. 171 and 172,) apply to Sudder Ameens.

The rules regarding default, Act XXIX. 1841, Sections 1, 2, 3, (p. 282, Nos. 350—352,) and the Circular Order, 3d January, 1845, paras. 1, 2, 3, (p. 283, Nos. 355—357,) are also applicable to Sudder Ameens.

Regarding the number of suits which a Sudder Ameen is required to decide in the month, vide No. 706 of this Chapter.

Plaints and Stamps.

Regulation 23, 1814, Section 18, (Rule 719 of this chapter) is applicable to Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 73.

For the value of the stamped paper on which petitions of complaints must be written, vide Chapter II., page 211.

819. A summary appeal may be had from a nonsuit passed under Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, if it can be shewn by the plaintiff that the value of the property claimed has not been understated by him, and that consequently the order passed by the Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen was erroneous.—Con. 872, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 24th Oct. 1834, par. 2.

Case in which there may be a summary appeal from a nonsuit under art. 8, sch. B, reg. 10, 1829.

For the stamp duty on petitions, applications and durkhaasts presented to the Sudder Ameen, vide Chapter II., page 209.

Course of procedure where more than one stamp is required for engrossing plaints.

820. To remove doubts which are believed to exist, I am desired by the Court to intimate to you, with the sanction of the Government, that in cases in which more than one stamp is required for engrossing petitions of plaint or appeal, or petitions presented by persons desirous of appealing as paupers under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 12, Regulation 28, 1814, it is optional to parties to file several stamps, the aggregate value of which will be equal to the amount prescribed by law, or one stamp of the full value, with as much plain paper attached thereto as may be required.—Cir. Ord. 28th Aug. 1840.

Suits referred by zillah judge, under sec. 7, reg. 5, 1831, to a S. A., or P. S. A., shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamps and appeal as if they had been tried by a M.

821. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a zillah or city Judge within the said territories in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by Section 7, Regulation 5, 1831, of the Bengal code, shall refer for trial to a Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, a suit within the competency of a Moonsiff to decide, such suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties, and to the same rules in regard to appeal as the said suit would have been subjected to had it been received and tried by the Moonsiff in the first instance.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 5.

Case in which such a suit is subject to the stamp duty prescribed for S. A.'s courts.

822. When a suit for an amount not exceeding 300 rupees is referred to a Sudder Ameen, in consequence of some special circumstance taking it out of the cognizance of a Moonsiff, it falls within the rule of Section 5, Regulation 25, 1837, and is subject to the stamp duty prescribed for suits in the Sudder Ameens' courts.—Con. 1277, Cal. C. 10th, West. C. 24th April 1840.

The same stamp to be sufficient in any other court as in that of sudder ameen, for the like cause.

823. And it is hereby enacted, that in all suits which in respect to value are cognizable by a Sudder Ameen, the same stamps shall be sufficient in any other court as would have been sufficient in the court of a Sudder Ameen.—Act IX. 1844, Sect. 5.

Notice.

Process of the sudder ameen how to be issued.

824. So much of the rule, contained in Section 74 of the said Regulation (Regulation 23, 1814,) which requires that every notice, summons, attachment, or other process relative to any cause depending before a Sudder Ameen shall be issued under the official signature of the Judge or Register, is hereby rescinded, such processes, signed and sealed by the Sudder Ameen, shall issue through their own officers, and not as heretofore under the signature of the Judge through the nazir of the court.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 15, Cl. 4.

Particular instructions relative to the serving of the processes of S. A.

825. Application having been made to the Court for information as to the manner in which the process of Sudder Ameens, in suits pending before them, is to be issued under Clause 4, Section 15, Regulation 5, 1831, I am directed to inform you, that such process is to be issued through peons, entertained in the same manner, and subject to the same rules, as those employed heretofore under the nazir of the court; but without the interference of that officer, which is expressly prohibited by the concluding words of the clause quoted. The Sudder Ameens are not entitled to any profit from this source, being prohibited from receiving any emolument from their office beyond the salary allowed by Government. The peons entertained should be registered and distinguished by badges, as provided for by Section 14, Regulation 26 of 1814, see Section 5, Regulation 7, 1832.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th May 1832.

826. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Dinagepore, that the processes of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, required to be enforced in another zillah, should be issued under their seal and signature, as prescribed by Clause 4, Section 15, Regulation 5 of 1831, and with reference to Clause 3, Section 2, Regulation 2, 1806, be sent by the Sudder Ameen to the Judge of the Zillah or City court in which they are to be executed.—Con. 1235, West. C. 19th July, Cal. C. 9th Aug. 1839.

How the process of the S. A. is to be served in another zillah.

827. The Construction No. 859, having been under the consideration of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and North Western Provinces, is hereby rescinded; and it is hereby declared, in modification of Construction No. 1226, that Sections 10 and 12, Regulation 26, 1814, are applicable to the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, but not to those of the Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. 20th Aug. 1841.

The rules in reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10 & 12, are applicable to the courts of P. S. A. and S. A.

828. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Purneah, that the rule in Section 24, Regulation 12, 1814, which requires putwarees to produce their accounts when required by the Courts of justice, is applicable to the subordinate courts; Moonsiffs who may require to put the rule in force should send the putwaree with a proceeding to that effect to the zillah Judge.—Con. 1346, Cal. C. 24th June, West. C. 2d Aug. 1842.

S. A. may require putwarees to produce their accounts.

The rules regarding decrees, Act XII. 1843, Section 1, and Circular order, 16th August, 1844, and 28th February, 1845, Nos. 577, and 579—584, pages 321 and 322, apply to Sudder Ameens.

S. A. will prepare and tender to the parties, copies of each decree or final order within one week of its date.

829. The Moonsiffs will, as heretofore required to do, prepare and tender to the parties copies of each decree or final order which they may pass, within one week from the date thereof, the rule being equally applicable to Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens, in suits referred to them under Section 5, Act XXV. of 1837; in all other cases, the functionaries of the two latter grades are hereby required to have every decree and final order prepared within the same period.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 7.

Razecnamah.

Stamp duties in original suits & appeals referred to sudder ameens how to be disposed of when such suits are adjusted by razecnamah.

830. In original suits and appeals referred to Sudder Ameens, and adjusted by razecnamah, after the 1st May, 1824, if the razecnamah be filed before the pleadings are completed and read, the full amount of the stamp duty paid on the institution of the suit or appeal shall be returned to the party who may have paid the same; or to his legal representative; or a moiety of the stamp duty so paid shall be returned if the razecnamah be filed after the pleadings have been completed and read.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

A monthly statement of stamp duty receivable by the parties entitled thereto to be furnished by the sudder ameens.

831. The several Sudder Ameens are required to submit to the Judges and Registers, with whom they are respectively stationed, a monthly statement of the stamp duty receivable by the parties entitled thereto under the above clause; and the Judges after ascertaining the correctness of such statements will take the necessary measures for causing payment to the parties entitled thereto in pursuance of Section 25, Regulation 26, 1814.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

Obstruction of Justice—Resistance of Process—Fines.

832. Whereas sufficient provision is not made for repressing obstructions to justice committed in the courts of the East India Company ;—It is hereby enacted, that all persons whatsoever, whethor generally amenable to the courts of the East India Company or otherwise, using menacing gestures or expressions, or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or, other officer under a Magistrate empowered to try criminal cases, or any superior or inferior court, civil or criminal, of the East India Company, shall be liable to be fined by the authority whose proceedings are obstructed, to any amount not exceeding 200 rupees, or in case such fine be not paid, to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding one month. Provided that from the award of punishment in such cases an appeal shall lie, if preferred within one month, to the authority, civil or criminal, appointed by law to hear appeals in all other cases from the decisions of the officer by whom the fine was imposed ; and, provided also, that notwithstanding any thing in this Act, it shall be lawful to indict any person amenable to Her Majesty's Supreme Courts as for a misdemeanor in any of the cases aforesaid sustainable before this Act, if no proceeding shall have been had against the offender in the court where the offence was committed, but not otherwise.—Act XXX. 1841, Sect. 1.

All persons using menacing gestures, &c. or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city magistrate, joint magistrate, &c. or any superior or inferior court, civil or criminal, may be fined not exceeding 200 rs. or if not paid imprisoned for one month. Party aggrieved may appeal within one month ; party, if not proceeded against under this act, may be indicted in her majesty's supreme courts.

833. And it is hereby enacted, that such parts of Regulation 23, 1814, as prohibit the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs from requiring security from defendants ; or from attaching their property in cases pending before them ; or from realizing fines imposed by them without first obtaining the sanction of the zillah Judge, be repealed.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 3.

Repeals parts of reg. 23, 1814, prohibiting S. A. and M. from requiring security, &c.

834. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs to demand security from the defendant, under the provisions of Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 2, 1806, in cases pending before them ; and also to proceed, without reference to the zillah Judge, to the realization of fines imposed by them, provided that all orders passed by the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs under this section, be subject to an appeal to the zillah Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

S. A. and M. may demand security under sec. 4 & 5, reg. 2, 1806, and may proceed for realization of fines without reference to zillah judge.

835. The attention of the district civil authorities is called to the effect of Section 3, Act XXX. 1841, under which the prohibition against Moonsiffs realizing fines imposed by them for disrespectful behaviour in open court, without previous report to the Judge, is removed, and according to which Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens are left at liberty to realize by their own authority any fines which they may impose under the general Regulations ; Section 42, and the further proviso of Section 74, Regulation 23, 1814, (the latter having been made applicable to Principal Sudder Ameens agreeably to the first part of Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831,) having been both rescinded, Act XXX. 1841 is thus the sole law under which contempt of court can be penally visited by the Native tribunals.—Cir. Ord. 16th Sept. 1842.

Act 30, 1841, is the sole law under which contempt of court can be punished by the native tribunals.

836. Held by the Western Court, in concurrence with the Calcutta Court, on a reference from the Judge of Furruckabad, that it would be objectionable to allow the Native judicial functionaries to exercise, at their discretion, the power of imposing fines on the Collectors

Native judges may not fine collectors for not conforming to their orders ; when their orders are not executed a report of their respective districts for not conforming to the orders of their court ; and that their proper course, where their orders are not carried into effect, is to report the particular circumstances of each case, as it may arise, to the Judge, leaving that officer to take such steps in the matter as he may deem proper consistently with the Regulations.—Con. 1193, 21st Dec. 1838.

SECTION LII.

Trial of Suits by Principal Sudder Ameens—General Rules.

Suits where & how to be investigated by P. S. A.

837. The Principal Sudder Ameens are themselves to investigate the suits referred to them in a public cutcherry or court-room, and are not to allow their officers, servants, or dependants, or any other person to interfere therein.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 2.

Rules to be observed by P. S. A. in the trial and decision of cases.

838. In the trial and decision of original suits and appeals referred to them, the Principal Sudder Ameen shall be guided by the rules established for the conduct of business in the courts of the Sudder Ameens. And in points not expressly provided for by those rules, they shall observe as nearly as may be practicable the rules prescribed in the Regulations for the guidance of the Zillah and City courts.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Modifies cl. 4, sec. 18, reg. 5, 1831, P. S. A. to be guided by the rules established in courts of zillah and city judges.

839. In modification of Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 5 of 1831, Bengal code, it is hereby enacted, that in the trial and decision of all original suits referred to them by the Judge, the Principal Sudder Ameens shall be guided by the rules established for the conduct of business in the courts of the zillah and city Judges.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 1.

Vakeels.

What vakeels to practise in their courts.

840. It shall be competent to the zillah and city Judge to authorize any of the vakeels of his court, or of those attached to the Sudder Ameens, to practise in the court of the Principal Sudder Ameen.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 3.

Nazirs.

The P. S. A. and S. A. shall retain on their establishment nazirs.

841. The Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens shall retain on their establishments, officers denominated nazirs, to whom the provisions of Clause 8, Section 14, Regulation 26, 1814, shall be applicable.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 5, Cl. 5.

Stamps.

Duties chargeable on law papers in the P. S. A.'s courts.

842. The duties chargeable on law papers in the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall be regulated according to the rates fixed in Schedule B referred to in Section 17, Regulation 10, 1829, for the courts of the zillah and city Judges.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 20.

Stamp duties chargeable in the courts of the P. S. A. in cases above 5,000 rs.

843. The Court observe that under the rule contained in Section 20, Regulation 5, 1831, the pleadings in all cases up to 5000 rupees in amount or value, referred for trial and decision to the Principal Sudder Ameens, are required to be written on stamped paper of one rupee value ; and as Act XXV. 1837, in enlarging the powers of those officers makes no provision on the point under reference, they are of opinion that as the law now stands the same rule must be held to apply in respect to cases made over to the Principal Sudder Ameens under Section 1, of Act XXV. 1837.—Con. 1118, West. C. 15th Dec. 1837, Cal. C. 5th Jan. 1838, par. 2.

844. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a zillah or city Judge, within the said territories, in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by Section 7, Regulation 5, 1831, of the Bengal code, shall refer for trial to a Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, a suit within the competency of a Moonsiff to decide, such suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties and to the same rules in regard to appeal as the said suit would have been subjected to had it been received and tried by the Moonsiff in the first instance.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 5.

Suits referred by zillah judge, under sec. 7, reg. 5 of 1831, to a S. A., or P. S. A., shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamps and appeal as if they had been tried by a M.

845. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a zillah or city Judge within the said territories shall refer for trial to a Principal Sudder Ameen a suit within the competency of a Sudder Ameen to decide, such suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties, and to the same rules in regard to appeal, as the said suit would have been subjected to, had it been referred to and tried by the Sudder Ameen in the first instance.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Suits referred for trial to a P. S. A., shall, if within the competency of a S. A., be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties and appeal, as if they had been referred to the S. A., in the first instance.

846. In the case of a suit transferred from the court of the Sudder Ameen to that of the Principal Sudder Ameen, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that the latter was bound to take the evidence de novo, instead of deciding upon the evidence taken by the Sudder Ameen.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th March 1842, vol. 6, p. 78.

In a case transferred from the S. A. to the P. S. A., the latter must take the evidence de novo.

Notice—Notification of the points at issue.

847. In the trial of original suits and appeals, the Principal Sudder Ameens are enjoined to conform strictly to the mode of procedure directed to be observed by Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, before any exhibits are filed or witnesses summoned in support of the allegations of either of the parties.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 21.

Rules in sec. 10, reg. 26, 1814, to be observed by P. S. A.

848. The Construction No. 859, having been under the consideration of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and North Western Provinces, is hereby rescinded ; and it is hereby declared, in modification of Construction No. 1226, that Sections 10 and 12, Regulation 26, 1814, are applicable to the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens, but not to those of the Moonsiffs —Cir. Ord. 20th Aug. 1841.

The rules of reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10 & 12 are applicable to the courts of the P. S. A.

Decrees.

849. Decrees passed in the courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall be executed by those courts under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by the zillah and city Judges—provided however, that in such cases an appeal from the orders of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall lie, in the first instance, to the zillah and city Judges, and specially to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 22.

Decrees passed by the P. S. A., how to be executed.

850. The Moonsiffs will, as heretofore required to do, prepare and tender to the parties copies of each decree or final order which they may pass, within one week from the date thereof, the rule being equally applicable to Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens, in suits referred to them under Section 5, Act XXV. of 1837 ; in all other cases, the functionaries of the two latter grades are hereby required to have every decree and final order prepared within the same period.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 7.

The P. S. A. will prepare and tender to the parties copies of each decree or final order one week from its date

The P. S. A. will certify to the judge that every decree has been prepared within seven days.

851. With each monthly return the Principal Sudder Ameen will likewise furnish you with a certificate in Oordoo,* (unless he happen to be acquainted with the English language when it shall be written in that tongue,) to the effect that all decrees exceeding rupees 5,000 passed by him in the month to which the statements relate, were prepared by him within seven days from the date of such decree. The above mentioned certificate you will then attach by a thread to statement No. 1, Part 1, and submit with your periodical papers for the information of the Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 14.

The decrees of P. S. A. intended to remain with the record, must be written on Europe paper.

852. The printed Construction No. 1109 has ruled that the Circular order, dated 4th August, 1837, was only intended to apply to the Zillah and City courts, and that consequently the copies of decrees of Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, destined to remain with the records of suits are not required to be written on paper of Europe manufacture. The Court having reconsidered that part of the Construction cited which concerns Principal Sudder Ameens, it has been resolved to modify the same so far as to extend the rule of the circular to that class of officers, and it is therefore enjoined, that decrees of the Principal Sudder Ameens which are intended to remain with the record, be in future engrossed on Europe paper.—Cir. Ord. 21st May 1841.

Confinement of Defendants.

The P. S. A. may not confine a defendant without the sanction of the judge.

853. I am directed to inform you that in the opinion of the Court the proviso contained in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, was intended to apply to Principal Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, and that consequently the former are not competent to confine a defendant without the sanction of the Judge.—Con. 947, West. C. 1st, Cal. C. 22d May 1835.

But, the P. S. A. may order the imprisonment of a defendant in suits above 5,000 rs. The judge will order the jailor to receive or release him on the order of the P. S. A.

854. It has been ruled by a majority of the Allahabad and Calcutta Courts, that by Act XXV. 1837, the Principal Sudder Ameen has full power to pass any order connected with the case before him that the Judge himself could pass, subject to an appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut : he is therefore competent to order the imprisonment of a defendant in suits above rupees 5000 ; and it is not necessary that the Judge should have jurisdiction in the case to enable him to direct the civil jailor to take charge of the defendant or to release him on the requisition of the Principal Sudder Ameen, the Judge's duty, in such case, being merely to issue the warrant, the jailor to receive (or release) the prisoner in the same way that he was required to give lodgment to prisoners under revenue process, before the issue of Circular order, No. 76, of the 4th January, 1833, which empowers Collectors to issue their own orders for the imprisonment and release of their own defaulting assamees.—You are requested to make known the purport of this construction to the Principal Sudder Ameen of your district.—Cir. Ord. 18th Sept. 1840.

Reports.

Reports to be furnished by the P. S. A.

855. The Principal Sudder Ameen shall furnish such monthly and other periodical reports of business done in their courts as the Sudder dewanny adawlut may be pleased to direct.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 23.

* Bengalee in the Bengal districts and Oorya in Cuttack.

SECTION LIII.

Transmission of Reports and Records of decided Cases by Native Judges to the Zillah Courts.

856. It shall be the duty of the Moonsiffs to transmit to the Judge on the fifteenth of each month, or as much sooner as may be practicable, a report of all the suits decided by them in the preceding month, drawn up according to the annexed form No. 5, of the Appendix. These reports shall be accompanied by all the original papers and documents in the case, that they may be deposited among the records of the court.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 43, Cl. 1.

Monthly report of suits decided and proceedings on such suits to be transmitted to the judge.

857. The Moonsiffs shall likewise be required to transmit on the 15th of January and 15th of July of each year, or as much sooner as may be practicable, a report of the causes depending before them on the 1st of January and 1st of July, drawn out according to the annexed form No. 6, of the Appendix.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Half-yearly report of depending suits to be transmitted to the judge according to a prescribed form.

858. The required monthly and half-yearly reports shall be enclosed in a cover addressed to the Judge, and sealed with the seal of the Moonsiff. The packet shall be forwarded to the Judge either by the public dawki, (the officers of which are hereby required to receive and convey such packets free of postage,) or by a servant of the Moonsiff, or the Moonsiff may deliver it to the nearest Police darogah who shall give a receipt for it, and convey it to the Judge. The Moonsiffs are directed to seal and fasten the public packets and reports which they may have occasion to transmit to the court, in such manner as may enable the court to detect any instance in which the packets may be opened or the seals broken, during their transmission to the court.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Monthly and half-yearly reports how to be forwarded to the judge.

These rules are made applicable to Sudder Ameens by Regulation 23, 1814, Section 73, and also to Principal Sudder Ameens by Regulation 5, 1831, Section 18, Clause 4.

859. The Moonsiffs shall accompany the monthly reports required from them by Section 43, Regulation 23, 1814, with a statement of the suits instituted before them in the preceding month.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 10.

Moonsiffs to furnish monthly statements of suits.

860. I am desired to point out to you that the provisions of Clause 1, Section 43, Regulation 23, 1814, which require the transmission by the Moonsiffs, (and under Section 73 of the same law, by the Sudder Ameens, the rule applicable to whom is extended by Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 5 of 1831, to Principal Sudder Ameens,) on or before the 15th of each month of reports of all suits decided by them in the preceding month, to the Judge, together with the original papers and documents in each case, for deposit among the records of his court, although the section itself has in fact been rescinded by Section 2, Regulation 7 of 1829,—are still, under Clause 2, Section 3 of the last mentioned enactment, in force, never having been specially dispensed with or ordered to be discontinued by the Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 4.

The unconv. judges are still required to transmit these reports of suits decided by them in the month, by the 15th of the next month to the judge, notwithstanding the repeal of the reg. ordering them.

861. The Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens will forward, along with their regular returns of business, the dispatch of which must be regulated with reference to the period within which, as

The same injunction repeated. P. S. A. will forward in like manner reports and documents in suits not exceeding 5,000 rs.

declared in paragraph 4 of Circular orders, No. 28, dated 7th December last, you are yourself expected to submit your statements to this Court, viz. ten or at furthest fifteen days from the close of the month to which they relate, the same reports of suits decided, with the original papers and documents of each suit, (including of course the final decree,) as under Clause 1, Section 43, Regulation 23 of 1814, they were bound to do; and the same course will be followed by the Principal Sudder Ameen in so far as regards all suits not exceeding 5000 rupees in amount.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 9.

The unconv. judges will also transmit the records of all cases of execution of decrees and miscellaneous cases of the preceding month.

Exception.

862. With the records of regular suits the Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameen, and Principal Sudder Ameen, will also transmit, for deposit, the records of all cases of execution of decrees and other miscellaneous cases that may have been disposed of in the preceding month, with exception to cases of enforcement of decrees, struck off the file in that period, in which an application may have been made, to sue out execution anew, prior to the date of transmission, in which event they will send, in lieu of the record, copies of the order striking the case off the file, of the petition for revival, and of the proceeding thereon.—Ibid, par. 10.

The judges will occasionally inspect these reports, especially the cases of execution of decrees struck off in default.

863. It is highly desirable that you should occasionally inspect the records of such cases, especially those which concern the execution of decrees that have been struck off in default, with a view of satisfying yourself that no abuse or irregularity has been practised in so proceeding, and of taking proper steps to correct the same, if detected.—Ibid, par. 11.

P. S. A. will retain the records of suits above 5,000 rs. in value for six months, & then forward them to the judge's office. The report of such cases will be forwarded monthly.

864. As regards suits decided by the Principal Sudder Ameen, which exceed 5,000 rupees in value, the Court except them from the above rule, and direct that the records of such cases shall be retained by that officer for a period of six months, so as to enable him to execute any orders issued to him thereon by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on occasion of appeals being preferred; after which they are to be forwarded for deposit in your office. The usual report, submitted monthly, will of course include these decisions also.—Ibid, par. 13.

Rules regarding the transmission of records of monthly decisions to the sudder station.

865. The Court are pleased to issue the following remarks and orders, regarding the transmission, by the several subordinate courts, of the records of monthly decisions to the sudder station.—Cir. Ord. 17th Jan. 1845, par. 1.

Difficulty of transmitting these documents periodically by the occasional thannah dawk of police darogahs.

866. By Clause 8, Section 10, Regulation 20, 1817, Police darogahs are required to forward, by the thannah dawk, or by their burkundauzes, as "occasions may offer," papers sent to them by the subordinate civil Judges for that purpose. On the other hand, the transmission of the records of monthly decisions is directed to be periodically made, and cannot, if the rules prescribed by Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 49, dated 20th September, 1839, are to be enforced, be allowed to depend on the occasional opportunity, which a Police darogah may think fit, either to improve, or on the other hand, to leave unheeded. Independently of this, the Court observe the increased bulk of the records of the subordinate tribunals, arising from the enlargement of their powers, and the consequent accession of judicial business, before them, opposes a serious obstacle to the employment of the thannah dawk, as a means of conveying them to the sudder station.—Ibid, par. 2.

The unconv. judges will send the monthly records to the nearest thannah for transmission to the sudder

867. The Court, however, are not disposed to dispense with the attendance of a Police burkundauze, which is authorized by law, and affords some security for the safe arrival of papers in transit; and they are pleased accordingly, with the permission of Government, to direct that the subordinate judicial officers forward the records of monthly decisions by a specified date, to the nearest thannah, for transmission to the sudder station, taking a receipt from the darogah, or, in his absence, from the head officer present at the thannah. The judicial officers will provide the requisite coolies for the conveyance of the records, and indent on the Judge for the expence incurred thereby. It shall be the duty of the Police darogah to despatch the papers in question, without delay, to the sudder station, under charge of a burkundauze. A chellan, under the signature of the judicial officer exhibiting the date of transmission to the thannah, and the number of misls will accompany the records, and serve to show whether there has been any delay on the part of the Police in forwarding them to the sudder station.—Ibid, par. 3.

station. They will provide coolies, and the darogah, a burkundauze to accompany them.

868. The Judges are requested to determine the period, within which each Moonsiff shall be required to have his records of monthly decisions delivered to the Police darogah, with due advertence to the necessity of enforcing the provisions of Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 49, dated 20th September, 1839, and with reference to the distance of each receiving thannah from the sudder station.—Ibid, par. 4.

The judge will determine the period within which the M. must deliver his records of monthly decisions to the darogah.

869. By Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 49, dated 20th September, 1839, paragraph 13, the Principal Sudder Ameens are permitted to retain in their own custody the records of suits, exceeding rupees 5,000 in value, for a period of six months from the date of their decision, an appeal in such cases lying direct to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under the provisions of Section 4, Act XXV. of 1837. The considerations in which this order originated, equally indicate the expediency of a similar course being pursued in regard to the records of appeals, adjudicated by the Principal Sudder Ameens, agreeably to Section 16, Regulation 5, of 1831, since by Act III. of 1843, authority to hear and determine special appeals from their judgments passed in those cases, is restricted to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the Court are pleased accordingly to direct, that henceforward the papers connected with cases of the latter description, shall be retained in the office of the Principal Sudder Ameens for six months, in case either of the parties should desire to present an application for the admission of a special appeal from their decisions.—Cir. Ord. 15th May 1845.

The papers connected with appeals decided by the P. S. A. will also be retained in their office six months.

870. An instance of the destruction by fire, in the Goruckpore district, of the greater part of the records of pending suits in a Moonsiff's court, having been the cause of much embarrassment and delay, the Court call the attention of the Judges to the importance of assigning a distinct place of deposit for the records of the subordinate courts, (which, under the rule requiring the monthly transmission of suits decided by them to the Judge's office, ought not to comprise more than the papers of cases under investigation,) with a view to their security from fire or other injury.—Cir. Ord. 18th Feb. 1842.

The judges will assign a distinct place for the deposit of the records of the subordinate courts to secure them from fire and injury.

871. The Court have reason to believe that it is the practice of Moonsiffs to deposit their records at the nearest thannahs when they are absent from their stations, during the vacations, or at any other time. As this is an objectionable practice, the Court are pleased to direct that, except at the vacations, Moonsiffs, who are about to avail themselves of leave of absence, will leave their records in the custody of their amlah; and that at the vacations when the amlahs are permitted to go to their homes, they will pack up the records in boxes sealing the boxes in the usual manner and placing a guard of peons over the catcherry during their absence.—Cir. Ord. 9th Jan. 1846.

Course to be pursued by the moonsiffs with their records when they are merely absent on leave, and when absent at the vacations.

SECTION LIV.

Criminal Jurisdiction of the Native Judges.

Foregoing rules applicable to S. A. empowered under sec. 5, reg. 2, to try civil suits exceeding 150 rs., and to those appointed to the stations of joint magistrates.

872. The foregoing provisions (given below, Rules 873, 874 and 875,) are hereby declared to be equally applicable to any of the Sudder Ameens, who may be empowered under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1821, to try civil suits exceeding in value or amount the sum of one hundred and fifty rupees, and likewise to all Sudder Ameens whether vested with such powers or not, who may be appointed to the stations of the Joint Magistrates, and the latter officers are hereby authorized to employ such Sudder Ameens in the manner above specified.—Reg. 3, 1821, Sect. 4.

Magistrates may refer petty complaints to their native law officers.

873. The zillah and city Magistrates are authorized to refer for trial to the Hindoo and Mahomedan law officers of their respective courts, all complaints or charges brought before them for petty offences, such as abusive language, calumny, inconsiderable assaults or affrays, and all charges of petty thefts when unattended with any aggravating circumstances.—Ibid, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

And also cases heretofore referrible to assistants in the mode prescribed by the existing regulations.

874. The Magistrates of the Zillah and City courts shall be competent to refer to their Law officers any criminal cases, which they are already authorized by former Regulations to refer to their assistants, and in the mode of making the reference, and in the subsequent stages of the proceeding, the Magistrates and the Law officers shall be guided by the provisions hitherto in force relative to such cases.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Such law officers empowered to exercise the powers vested in assistants to magistrates under the regulations in force.

Exposition of the rules referred to in such case.

875. The Law officers of the Zillah and City courts in the decision of criminal cases so referred to them, are hereby authorized to exercise the same powers as those vested in the assistants to the Magistrates, by Section 20, Regulation 9, 1807, and by the other Regulations therein referred to; that is, in cases referred to them for trial, they shall not sentence a person convicted of abusive language, or calumny, or inconsiderable assault or affray, to a more severe sentence than fifteen days' imprisonment, and a fine of fifty rupees with an eventual commutation, if the fine be not paid, to further confinement for fifteen days more, making the entire term of imprisonment, if the fine be not paid, one month of thirty days. Nor shall they sentence a person convicted of petty theft to a more severe corporal punishment than thirty ratans, and imprisonment for a period of one month. Persons sentenced to imprisonment by the Law officers shall not, during their imprisonment, be confined in irons or in fetters, except in cases in which the misconduct of such individual, during his imprisonment shall appear to the Magistrate to render such measure necessary for his safe custody.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

No officer under the grade of a Magistrate can now inflict corporal punishment.

Repeals sec. 42; the further proviso in sec. 74, reg. 23, 1814; cl. 2 and 3, sec. 5 and 6, reg. 12, 1825.

876. It is hereby enacted, that Section 42; the further proviso contained in Section 74, Regulation 23, 1814; Clauses second and third, and Section 5 and Section 6, Regulation 12 of 1825, of the Bengal code, are repealed.—Act XXX. 1841, Sect. 3.

All persons using menacing gestures, &c. or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any

877. Whereas sufficient provision is not made for repressing obstruction to justice committed in the courts of the East India Company;—It is hereby enacted, that all persons whatsoever, whether generally amenable to the courts of the East India Company or otherwise, using menacing gestures or expressions, or otherwise obstructing justice in the presence of any zillah or city Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or other officer under a Magistrate empowered to try criminal cases, or any superior or inferior court, civil or criminal, of the East India Company, shall be liable to be fined by the authority whose proceedings are obstructed, to any amount not exceeding 200 rupees, or in case such fine be not paid to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding one month. Provided, that from the award of punishment in such cases an appeal shall lie, if preferred within one month, to the authority, civil or criminal, appointed by law to hear appeals in all other cases from the decisions of the officer by whom the fine was imposed; and provided also, that notwithstanding any thing in this Act it shall be lawful to indict any person amenable to Her Majesty's Supreme Courts as for a misdemeanor in any of the cases aforesaid sustainable before this Act, if no proceeding shall have been had against the offender in the court where the offence was committed, but not otherwise.—Ibid, Sect. 1.

878. A recent Circular, No. 3465, dated 16th September, 1842, having noticed to the judicial authorities that Act XXX. 1841, is the only law under which contempt of court can now be punished, and "prevarication" not appearing to be correctly classable under the "obstructions to justice," rendered punishable by that enactment, it has accordingly been ruled by the Courts of Nizamut adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad, that Construction No. 1177 must be held to be rescinded.—Cir. Ord. 3d Feb. 1843.

Prevarication not to be classed under obstructions to justice.

Con. 1177 rescinded.

879. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 27th ultimo, requesting to be informed, whether cases pending in the Criminal court, under Regulation 15, 1824, (Act 4, 1840,) may be referred for trial to a Sudder Ameen, vested with special powers, under Section 5, Regulation 2, 1821. In reply, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that cases of the nature specified are not properly cognizable by the officers in question.—Con. 415, 14th April 1826.

Cases under reg. 15, 1824, (act 4, 1840,) may not be referred for trial to a S. A.

880. In cases referred for investigation and decision to the Sudder Ameens by the Magistrate, under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 3, 1821, have the Sudder Ameens authority to issue perwannahs to the thannadars, police darogahs, or other mofussil Police officers?—In reply, I am desired to acquaint you, that the Court entirely coincide with you in opinion, that no power is vested by the Regulations in the Sudder Ameens, in any of the three mentioned cases, and that it is the duty of the Sudder Ameens, where the necessity may exist, to represent the matter to the Judge, Magistrate, or Additional Register, as the case may be, and that the order should issue from the superior court.—Con. 451, 30th March 1827.

S. A. cannot issue perwannahs to police officers; the order must issue through the superior court.

881. As Sudder Ameens are to be guided, under Sections 3 and 4, Regulation 3, 1821, in criminal cases referred to them, by the rules prescribed for the guidance of assistants to Magistrates, the Court are of opinion that their processes in such cases should be issued under their own signatures, but under the seal and through the officers of the Magistrate.—Con. 741, Cal. C. 7th Dec. 1832, West. C. 11th Jan. 1833.

The processes of S. A. in criminal cases should issue under their own signatures, but under the seal and through the officers of the magistrates.

882. It may of course occasionally (though the Court would suppose rarely) happen, that a case, apparently trivial, may, on investigation, turn out to be of a serious nature; in which event it would be necessary for the Law officer, (or Native Judges) to whom the case had been sent for trial and decision, to return it to the Magistrate, unaccompanied however by any opinion as to the merits of the case; and the Court are, upon the whole, clearly of opinion that

The magistrate will refer to his law officer only cases of a trivial nature.

Mr. Smith's view of the existing rules on this subject is erroneous, and that the Magistrates are authorized to refer such cases only to their Law officers, as are of a trivial nature, and admit of their being finally disposed of by those officers.—Con. 516, 24th July 1829.

A deposition taken on oath in the private dwelling of a S. A. is illegal, and the deponent cannot be punished for perjury.

883. I beg the favor of the Court to decide whether a deposition taken on oath in the private dwelling of a Sudder Ameen, distant nearly three miles from the court-house, is legal evidence; and if so, whether a witness can be punished for perjury, in the event of it afterwards appearing that what he stated on oath in the dwelling house of the Sudder Ameen was false.—In reply to your first question, I am directed to observe that a deposition taken in the manner above stated is illegal, and cannot be received; consequently the deponent cannot be considered liable to the penalties of perjury if such deposition be false.—Con. 627, 28th Feb. 1831.

Law officers to furnish the magistrates with monthly statements of decisions passed by them.

884. The Law officers of the Zillah and City courts shall forward to the Magistrates, on the fifth day of each month, a statement shewing the manner in which the cases referred to them may have been disposed of, in order that the same after having been carefully inspected by the Magistrates, with the view of noticing and eventually correcting any irregularities, may be incorporated in the periodical reports required to be submitted to the superior courts.—Reg. 3, 1821, Sect. 3, Cl. 4.

Sec. 3, reg. 3, declared applicable to P. S. A.

885. In addition to the rules contained in Section 3, Regulation 3, 1821, which are hereby declared applicable to the Principal Sudder Ameens appointed under this Regulation, it shall be competent to the Magistrate to refer to a Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen, not being a Mahomedan Law officer, any criminal case for investigation, though such case may not be finally cognizable by such Sudder Ameen, provided however, that no commitment be made by those officers, and that their powers of awarding punishment in criminal matters, under the existing Regulations, be not exceeded.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 6.

Additional powers to be exercised by the P. S. A. & S. A. in criminal matters.

The magistrate cannot refer cases under act 4, 1840, to sudder ameens.

886. The Court are of opinion that under Clause 6, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1833, which is adduced by the Magistrate as his authority for making the reference, he is not empowered to adopt this course in the disposal of cases, under Regulation 15, 1824 (Act IV. 1840); that section being intended to refer to cases of a strictly criminal nature.—Con. 689, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 18th May 1832.

Cases under reg. 7, 1819, may be referred to P. S. A.

887. Decided by the Government, in concurrence with the Western Court, that all cases under the provisions of Regulation 7, 1819, are referrible to the Principal Sudder Ameen for investigation and report.—Con. 1265, West. C. 6th Dec. 1839, Cal. C. 10th March 1840.

SECTION LV.

Appeals from the Sentences and Orders passed by Native Judges in Criminal Cases.

Repeal of those parts of the Bengal code which concern the powers, &c. of criminal courts in respect to appeals, &c.

888. Those parts of the Bengal code which concern the powers and duties of the Criminal courts in respect to appeals and revision of sentences of a lower court by a higher, are repealed.—Act XXX. 1841, Sect. 1.

From every sentence, &c. in criminal trials within sec. 8 &

889. And it is hereby enacted, that from every sentence or order in criminal trials, within the limitation prescribed by Sections 8 and 9, Regulation 9, 1793; Section 4, Regulation 16, 1795, and Sections 8 and 9, Regulation 6, 1803, or in judicial proceedings other than criminal trials passed by an assistant to a Magistrate, or by a Sudder Ameen, or by a Law officer, or by any other officer under a Magistrate empowered to try criminal cases, there shall be permitted one appeal to the Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or officer exercising the powers of Magistrate, within one month from the date of such sentence or order. And from every sentence or order in criminal trials beyond the limitation prescribed by Sections 8 and 9, Regulation 9, 1793, Section 4, Regulation 16, 1795, and Sections 8 and 9, Regulation 6, 1803, or in judicial proceedings other than criminal trials passed by a Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, Assistant to a Magistrate vested with special powers, or other officer empowered to try criminal cases, there shall be permitted within one month as aforesaid one appeal to the Sessions Judge. And from every sentence or order passed in criminal trials by a Sessions Judge, there shall be permitted within three months, one appeal to the Court of Nizamut Adawlut. And except as provided in the next section of this Act the sentences or orders passed upon such appeals shall be final.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

9, reg. 9, 1793; sec. 4, reg. 16, 1795; and sec. 8 & 9, reg. 6, 1803, or in judicial proceedings other than criminal trials passed by an assistant to a magistrate, a S. A., &c. or by any officer inferior to a magistrate, there shall be one appeal to the magistrate, &c. within one month.

890. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be at all times lawful for the Courts of Nizamut adawlut to call for the records of any criminal trials of any subordinate court, and to pass upon them such orders as may seem fit.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

S. N. A. may call for the records of any criminal trials of any subordinate court, & pass upon them such orders as may seem fit.

891. Provided however, and it is hereby enacted, that it shall not be lawful for the Court of Nizamut Adawlut in cases so called for, or for any Criminal court in appeals preferred to it, to enhance any punishment awarded, or to punish any person acquitted by the court below.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

But may not enhance any punishment or punish persons acquitted.

892. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be at all times lawful for a Sessions Judge and for a Magistrate, Joint Magistrate, or officer exercising the powers of Magistrate, to call for and examine the records of any court immediately subordinate to their respective courts, for the purpose of satisfying themselves as to the regularity of the proceedings of such subordinate courts. But it shall not be lawful for any court under the decree of the Nizamut adawlut to alter any sentence or order of any subordinate court, except upon appeal by parties concerned, duly made according to the provisions of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Sessions judge, magistrate, joint magistrate, &c. may call for the records of any court subordinate to them, to examine as to regularity of their proceedings: but not to alter, except upon appeal, any sentence or order, &c.

893. I am directed to draw your attention to the provisions of Act XXXI. of 1841, and to communicate to you the following observations on the subject of criminal appeals.—Cir. Ord. 7th Jan. 1842, par. 1.

Observations on act 31, 1841.

894. You will observe first, that every order of an assistant to a Magistrate not exercising special powers, of a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Law officer, passed in a criminal trial or proceeding, is appealable to the Magistrate or other officer exercising the power of Magistrate, whose decision on the appeal is final.—Ibid, par. 2.

Every order of a P. S. A. or S. A. is appealable to the magistrate, whose decision is final.

The above rule is modified by the following Circular :

895. The Courts of Nizamut adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces, have ruled that every order of an assistant to a Magistrate not vested with special powers, of a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Law officer, passed in a criminal trial, or proceeding awarding

Every order of a P. S. A. or S. A. awarding a higher punishment than that prescribed by reg. 9, 1793, sec. 8, is appealable to the sessions judge.

a higher punishment than that prescribed by Section 8, Regulation 9, 1793, is appealable to the Sessions Judge. The Circular order. No. 100, dated Lower Provinces, 7th, and Western Provinces, 18th January, 1842, is to be corrected accordingly.—Cir. Ord. 9th Feb. 1844.

A monthly statement of the appeals preferred from the sentences and orders of the P. S. A., S. A. and law officers to be forwarded to the S. N. A.

896. With reference to the foregoing remarks, (No. 894) the Court request that you will furnish the Sessions Judge with a monthly statement, (after the form of the statement No. 11 for the Sessions Judge's office*) of the appeals preferred to you from the sentences and orders of the assistants, Principal Sudder Amcens, Sudder Amcens, and Law officers subordinate to you. The statement should accompany the rest of your monthly criminal statements.—Cir. Ord. 7th Jan. 1842, par. 3.

Every order of a P. S. A., S. A. and law officer awarding punishment within the limitations of act 31, 1841, sec. 2, is appealable to the magistrate.

897. The Courts of Nizamut adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces, have ruled, in modification of the 3d rule of the Circular order, No. 100, (dated Lower Provinces, 7th, and Western Provinces, 28th January, 1842,) that every order of an assistant to a Magistrate, Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Law officer, vested with special powers passed in a criminal trial or proceedings awarding a punishment within the limitations expressed in Section 2, Act XXXI. 1841, is appealable to the Magistrate.—Cir. Ord. 25th July 1845.

The sessions judge and the magistrates will report to the sadder, any cases the circumstances of which suggest the propriety of interference.

898. With reference to the provision in Section 5, Act XXXI. 1841, for the sessions and magisterial authorities being empowered to call for and examine the records of courts immediately subordinate to them, to satisfy themselves as to the proceedings of such courts being regular, but without power to alter any sentence or order of such courts, save on appeal regularly made under the Act; the Court notify that it is the duty of the authorities alluded to, to report any cases the circumstances of which, on revision, may suggest the propriety of interference, to the Nizamut adawlut, in order that that Court may proceed respecting them as shall appear proper.—Cir. Ord. 18th March 1842, par. 1.

Such reports will be accompanied by the record of the case to which the reference relates, and by an English letter. The magistrates will send their report through the sessions judge.

899. Such reports will always be accompanied by the record of the case to which the reference relates, and by an English letter commencing—"Under Section 5, Act XXXI. 1841 and Circular order of the Nizamut adawlut, dated 18th March, 1842, I herewith transmit the record of the case noted in the margin, to be laid before the Nizamut adawlut with the following report." Thereafter will follow a concise account of the irregularity, or other matter, on which the interference of the Court is sought. The magisterial authorities will send these reports, for submission to the Court, through the office of the Sessions Judge to whom they may be subordinate.—Ibid, par. 2.

Those officers will exercise a sound discretion in making references to the sadder under the foregoing rule.

900. In thus apprising the local officers of the duty devolving on them under the Act recited, the Court abstain from entering into any detail of the particular occasions on which such reports may require to be made, or attempting to define what descriptions of grave irregularity of procedure, undue severity of punishment, &c., may call for the adoption of the course. It is deemed sufficient to enjoin the officers in question, generally, to exercise a sound discretion in making references to the Court under this rule, so that neither important errors and omissions may escape correction, nor the time of the Court be needlessly engrossed by matters not demanding their interference.—Ibid, par. 3.

All criminal appeals pending at the date of act 31, 1841, must be disposed of in reference to the provisions of that act.

901. Held that all criminal appeals pending at the date of the promulgation of Act XXXI. 1841, must be disposed of with reference to the provisions of that Act.—Con. 1318, West. C. 28th Jan., Cal. C. 11th Feb. 1842.

* See Circular order, No. 6, dated 2d February, 1839. The heading of the 4th column should be "preferred during the month," and the note prescribed by paragraph 2 of the Circular order should be omitted.

902. Held on a reference from the Sessions Judge of Azimgurh, that the words "sentence or order" in Act XXXI. 1841, do not refer to interlocutory orders in cases under trial, and that the provisions of the Act do not preclude the interference of the higher, with such intermediate orders of the lower court.—Con. 1322, West. C. 18th March, Cal. C. 1st April 1842.

The words "sentence or order" in Act 31, 1841, do not refer to the interlocutory orders of the lower courts.

903. Held, on a reference from the Sessions Judge of Sylhet, that appeals under Act XXXI. of 1841, are not admissible unless preferred within one month from the date of sentence or order, and that in this respect the law leaves no discretion to the appellate authority.—Con. 1332, Cal. C. 1st, West. C. 28th April 1842.

Appeals under act 31, 1841, must be preferred within one month from the date of the sentence or order.

904. A Sudder Ameen cannot appeal from the order of a Magistrate in a case originally investigated by the former, the right of appeal possessed by the party dissatisfied being sufficient for the ends of justice.—Con. 1185, West. C. 19th Oct., Cal. C. 19th Nov. 1838.

Sud. ameen cannot appeal from the order of a magistrate in a case originally investigated by the former.

SECTION LVI.

Arbitration—Reference of Cases to Arbitration by the Courts.

905. In suits that may be brought before any of the Courts of civil judicature concerning disputed accounts, partnerships, debts, doubtful or contested bargains, or non-performance of contracts, in which the cause of action shall exceed two hundred sicca rupees, the courts are to recommend the parties to submit the decision of the matters in dispute to arbitration.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 2.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 2.

What suits exceeding 200 rs., the courts are to recommend to the parties to refer to arbitration.

906. Held, that under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 16, 1793, Principal Sudder Ameens are competent, with consent of parties, to refer suits to arbitration.—Con. 1292, Cal. C. 26th March, West. C. 10th April 1841.

P. S. A. may refer cases to arbitration.

907. Held, that under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 16, 1793, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs are competent, with consent of parties, to refer suits to arbitration.—Con. 1320, Cal. C. 11th Feb., West. C. 4th March 1842.

S. A. may refer cases to arbitration.

908. In all suits for money or personal property, the amount or value of which shall not exceed the sum of two hundred sicca rupees, the courts are empowered, with the consent of the parties, to refer the suit to the decision of one arbitrator. The parties or their vakeels, upon agreeing to the reference, shall on or before the next court day, mutually choose some one common friend or indifferent person who may be willing to undertake the arbitration. If the parties shall not agree with respect to the person to be appointed arbitrator, or, if the person nominated by them shall refuse to accept the arbitration, and the parties or their vakeels cannot agree in the appointment of another person willing to undertake the arbitration, the court, with the consent of the parties, is to appoint as arbitrator in the cause, the proprietor of the estate in which the cause of action shall have arisen, or the farmer, if the estate be held in farm of Government, or the cazee of the purgunnah, or the tehseeldar, or any other creditable person, provided that the person so to be nominated by the court, be not in any respect interested in the matter in dispute. But if the parties cannot agree in the nomination of an arbitrator, or, if the person whom they may nominate, shall refuse to accept the trust, and the parties cannot agree upon the appointment of any other person willing to undertake the arbitration, or shall not consent to the appointment of an arbitrator by the court, the cause is not to be referred to arbitration, but is to be tried by the court, or the Register, if the cause be depending in a Zillah or City court, and the Judge shall think it proper to refer it to him for decision. In the event of the parties, or their vakeels, agreeing in the nomination of an arbitrator willing to accept the arbitration, or to an arbitrator being appointed by the court, the person so chosen or appointed, shall be the arbitrator in the cause. The parties however in suits of the nature of those described in this section, are to have the option of choosing two or more arbitrators to decide their cause in the same manner as the parties in the causes specified in Section 2.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 3.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 3.

Cases in which the courts are empowered to nominate one person to arbitrate with the consent of the parties.

Parties to have the option of referring their causes to the decision of two or more arbitrators.

A judge cannot refer to a single arbitrator, a suit for money or personal property exceeding in value 200 rs. This restriction applies also to summary suits, but not to cases under reg. 6, 1813, sec. 3.

909. Under the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 16, 1793, a Judge is empowered to refer to a single arbitrator any suit for money or personal property, the amount or value of which may not exceed 200 rupees; suits exceeding that amount cannot be referred by the Judge to a single arbitrator. A doubt has arisen whether this restriction applies to summary suits for arrears of rent or merely to regular suits. The Court are of opinion that under the terms of the Regulation, which are general, the restriction must be construed to apply to suits of all descriptions. The Court observe that the above restriction is not intended to apply to suits referred to private arbitration by individuals under Section 3, Regulation 6, 1813.—Con. 936, West. C. 6th, Cal. C. 27th March 1835.

Courts to encourage but not oblige persons to become arbitrators.

When persons are disqualified from becoming arbitrators.

Courts to recommend parties to submit to the arbitration of one person.

Parties to choose the arbitrators. Exception.

Arbitrators to decide without fee or reward.

910. The Judges of the courts are enjoined to afford every encouragement in their power to persons of character and credit to become arbitrators; but they are not to employ any coercive means for that purpose, nor to permit any of their public officers, or private servants, or any of the authorized vakeels, to be arbitrators in a cause. In all cases, the courts are directed to endeavour, but without using any compulsion, to prevail upon parties to submit their cause to the arbitration of one person to be mutually agreed upon by them. In every case (with the exception of the cases specified in Section 3, which the courts are empowered to refer to one arbitrator with the consent of the parties) the parties are to choose the arbitrators, who are to decide the matter in dispute without fee or reward.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 4.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 4.

Explanation of the rules of arbitration. In cases under 200 rs. the judge may appoint the arbitrator; in cases above that amount the parties themselves must nominate the arbitrator.

911. There appearing reason to believe that some of the Civil courts consider themselves precluded by the terms of Sections 3 and 4, Regulation 21 of 1803, [vide Rules 907 and 909 of this chapter] from referring suits of the nature of those described in Section 2 of that enactment to the arbitration of a single arbitrator, when the amount or value of the claim may exceed the sum of 200 rupees; I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that such was not the intention of those sections, the Civil courts being strictly enjoined in the latter section to endeavor in all cases to prevail upon parties to submit their cause to the arbitration of one person to be mutually agreed upon by them. The Court observe that where a reference to arbitration may be agreed to by the parties to a civil suit, the only difference that the Regulation in question makes between cases in which the amount or value of the claim may not exceed 200 rupees, and those in which it may be above that sum, is that while in the former the Judge may, under certain circumstances, with the consent of the parties, appoint as arbitrator any of the individuals mentioned in Section 3 ; in the latter the parties are themselves to nominate the arbitrator, it not being competent to the Judge to interfere in any way whatever, either directly or indirectly, as respects such nomination. You are requested to act upon this construction in future, and to communicate it for the information and guidance of the subordinate judicial functionaries of your district.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 12th Oct. 1838.

912. With reference to Section 4, Regulation 16, 1793, (Ceded and Conquered Provinces, Section 4, Regulation 21, 1803,) can a Sudder Ameen or a Law officer of a Zillah or City court legally become an arbitrator in a cause before the Judge : or in a cause pending before a superior court, in appeal from a decision of the zillah or city to which he may be attached ?—The Presidency Court are of opinion, that a Sudder Ameen or Law officer is not a public officer of the Judge's court, coming within the prohibition contained in the section above referred to ; that rule applying to ministerial officers, which a Sudder Ameen or Law officer cannot be considered to be.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 9th Nov. 1832.

S. A. and law officers are not officers of the judge's court, who are prohibited from becoming arbitrators.

913. The Courts of civil judicature are hereby empowered to permit any of the authorized vakeels of their respective courts to be arbitrators in depending suits, subject to the several rules and provisions in force for referring suits to arbitration.—Reg. 27, 1814, Sect. 19.

Pleaders may be employed as arbitrators.

914. Canoongoes cannot be compelled to attend punchaets, or act as arbitrators. When the nomination of an arbitrator may rest with the Civil courts, they should avoid as far as practicable the appointment of canoongoes ; and when such selection may be unavoidable, they should immediately notify the appointment to the Collector that he may provide for the due discharge of the duties of the office.—Con. 286, 4th. Feb. 1818.

Canoongoes cannot be compelled to act as arbitrators. Course to be pursued when they are selected for that duty.

915. A Cazee and a Sudder Ameen are not public officers, whom the zillah Judge, under Section 4, Regulation 16 of 1793, is not to permit to perform the office of arbitrator.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Jan. 1833, vol. 5, p. 261.

A cazee and a S. A. may be appointed arbitrators.

916. Whenever a suit shall be submitted to arbitration, the court in which it may have been instituted, previous to the arbitrator or arbitrators entering upon the arbitration, is to cause the parties to execute arbitration bonds, binding themselves to abide by the award, and agreeing that it be made a decree of the court. The court is to fix such time as it may think reasonable, upon a consideration of the nature and circumstances of the case, for the delivery of the award, and the period so fixed is to be specified in the bonds. If the cause shall be referred to two or more arbitrators, the following provisions are to be made for completing the award in the event of the arbitrators not delivering it by the limited time, either from disagreement or other cause. If the decision of the suit shall be referred to two or more arbitrators, whether an odd or an even number, the parties are to have the option of nominating jointly one person as umpire, or, if the number of arbitrators appointed shall be three or more, being an odd number, to agree that the award given by the majority shall be final, or, to permit the arbitrators to nominate an umpire. The name of the umpire, and the time by which he is to make his award, in the event of the arbitrators not delivering it by the limited period, is to be specified in the bonds, which Court how to proceed upon the parties agreeing to refer a cause to arbitration.

Provisions to be made against the arbitrators not delivering in their award by the limited time from disagreement, or other cause.

are to be executed before the arbitrators enter upon the enquiry. In the event of an umpire being appointed, and the arbitrators not agreeing in award by the limited period, their authority is to cease from such period, and the umpire is to give his award.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 5.

Course to be pursued by the court previous to the arbitrator's entering upon his duty. Where these preliminary measures have not been taken, the case must be tried denovo.

917. I am desired to acquaint you, that whenever a suit shall be submitted to arbitration, the court in which it may have been instituted is required, previous to the arbitrator or arbitrators entering upon the arbitration, to cause the parties to agree to some one of the provisions detailed in Section 5, Regulation 16, 1793, for completing the award, in the event of the arbitrators not delivering it by the limited time, either from disagreement or other cause; and that where these preliminary engagements may not have been specified in the bond and the arbitrators may not be unanimous in their decision, their proceedings must of course be considered void and of no effect, and the case must be tried de novo; but I am desired to observe, that no difficulty can occur where the precautionary measures prescribed by the Regulation, as to the conditions of the bond, have been duly executed.—Con. 395, 24th June 1825, par. 2.

Courts how to proceed when the arbitration bonds have been executed.

918. When a cause shall be referred to arbitration, and the bonds specified in the preceding section shall have been executed, the court is to transmit to the arbitrator or arbitrators a copy of the bill of complaint, and by a short writing under the seal of the court refer to him or them the matters in dispute between the parties. In the trial of the suit, the arbitrators are to investigate the matters in dispute, by hearing the pleadings of the parties, and examining their respective witnesses, and documents. The court is to issue the same process to the parties, and to the witnesses, whom the arbitrator or arbitrators, or the parties, may desire to have examined, to appear before the arbitrator or arbitrators, and to administer such oaths to the parties and witnesses as the court is authorized to administer, in causes tried before it, and persons not attending in consequence of such process, or making any default, or refusing to give their testimony, or to sign their depositions, or being guilty of any contempt to the arbitrator or arbitrators during the investigation of the suit, are to be subject to the like disadvantages, penalties and punishments, by order made by the arbitrator or arbitrators, as they would incur for the same offences in suits tried before the court, provided that the arbitrator or arbitrators shall report the order with the reason for making it to the court, and obtain its consent thereto, which is to be signified by the Judge or Judges signing the order. In cases in which an arbitration may be held at a considerable distance from the court, the court may grant commissions to the arbitrators to administer the proper oaths to witnesses whom they may be desirous of examining upon oath.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 6.

Cases in which the courts may extend the period for the delivery of an award.

919. In cases where arbitrators, or umpires, shall not have been able to complete the award by the limited time from want of the necessary evidence or information, or other good and sufficient cause, the courts are empowered to allow a further time for the delivery of the award. In the first mentioned case, the courts are to fix a period by which the umpire (if an umpire shall have been appointed) for the delivery of his final award, in the event of the arbitrators not completing their award by the expiration of such further time.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 7.

920. Held that in consequence of excessive delay in the disposal of a case by arbitrators, the Civil court was justified, under the circumstances, in refusing execution of the award.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Aug. 1842, p. 37.

Excessive delay in the disposal of a case justifies a refusal to execute the award.

921. When a final award in a cause shall be made either by the arbitrators, or the umpire, it is to be submitted to the court under the seal and signature of the person or persons by whom it may be made, together with all the proceedings, depositions, and exhibits in the cause. The court is to pass a decree conformably to the award, and the decree is to be carried into execution in the same manner as other decrees of the court.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 8.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 8.

Arbitrators to deliver all documents and papers into the courts.

Award to become a decree of the court.

922. The award of an arbitrator or arbitrators, is not to be set aside, except it be fully proved to the satisfaction of the court by the oaths of two credible witnesses, that the arbitrator or arbitrators has or have been guilty of gross corruption or partiality in the cause in which the award may be made.—Reg. 16, 1793, Sect. 9.—Benares Reg. 15, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 21, 1803, Sect. 9.

Award not to be set aside but upon proof of corruption or partiality against the arbitrators.

923. It is not necessary to have corruption or partiality on the part of arbitrators proved by evidence, when it may be proved by the records of the case, as in the instance of contradictory awards by the same arbitrators.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th Feb. 1845, p. 64.

It is sufficient if corruption or partiality in the arbitrators be proved by the records of the case.

924. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the award of arbitrators cannot be set aside, but, if it be not sufficiently specific, the matter may be referred back to them for their award to be amended.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Nov. 1844, vol. 7, p. 185.

If the award be not sufficiently specific, the matter may be referred back to amend the award.

925. Claim to set aside the award of arbitrators after a silence of ten years dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d March 1825, vol. 4, p. 46.

Claim to set aside the award after 10 years' silence dismissed.

SECTION LVII.

Arbitration regarding Land—Private Arbitration.

926. Parties in suits depending in the Civil courts of judicature respecting the property in land, or limited tenures therein, or rights dependant thereon, shall be at liberty to refer their suits to arbitration and shall by all due means be encouraged by the courts to resort to that mode of adjusting their differences.—Reg. 6, 1813, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Parties in suits respecting land, are at liberty to refer their suits to arbitration.

927. The rules contained in Regulation 16, 1793, and Regulation 21, 1803, respecting the reference of suits to arbitration, the appointment of arbitrators and umpires, the investigation of suits referred to arbitration, the time and mode of making the award, and the setting aside or confirming the same, are declared applicable to suits referred to arbitration by the Courts of judicature under this Regulation.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Rules contained in reg. 16, 1793, and reg. 21, 1803, to be considered applicable to suits referred to arbitration under the present regulation.

Persons between whom disputes may exist respecting land are at liberty to refer the same to private arbitration.

928. Persons between whom disputes may exist respecting the property of land or limited tenures therein, or rights dependant thereon, whether the same be or be not depending in the Courts of judicature, are at liberty without any application to the courts, to refer the same to private arbitration ; and the awards made by the arbitrators and umpires appointed in such case by the parties, shall be supported and enforced by the courts, under the following rules and limitations.—Ibid, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

How the award is to be carried into execution and during what period.

929. Whenever a dispute respecting the matters above enumerated shall have been referred to private arbitration, and an award shall have been duly made, if either party shall refuse to perform the award, it shall be competent to the other party within the period of six months from the date of the award, to apply summarily to the Dewanny adawlut ; and upon such application, if the court, after calling upon the opposite party for his answer, be satisfied that the award was duly made by arbitrators or umpires appointed by the free will and consent of the parties, and such award shall be liable to no impeachment, which would have warranted the setting it aside, if it had been made under the authority of the court, shall cause the same to be summarily executed as a decree of court, calling upon the arbitrators and umpires, if necessary, to attend and give their assistance in the execution of their said award ; provided always, that if such application for the enforcement of a private award shall not be made within the period above prescribed, the court shall not admit any plea whatever for the delay ; but shall reject such application and refer the party preferring it to a regular suit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Explanation of the mode in which the 6 months allowed for applying for the execution of the award is to be calculated.

930. The following letter was addressed to the Judge of Nuddea in reply to a reference from that officer :—The Court having had before them your predecessor's letter, No. 216, of the 20th September last, direct me to observe, that the award in question being dated 28th December, 1840, the period of six months within which parties are required by Section 3, Regulation 6, 1813, to apply to the courts for enforcing such awards, did not expire till the 29th June, 1841. But as the 28th, the last day available to the petitioner in the present case, was a holiday, together with the following day, the 29th, the Court hold that it was allowable to him to present his application on the next first court day. In considering the question raised by the Judge of Nuddea, it was recognized as a general principle that a party under legal obligation to move a court within a given period may be allowed to postpone such motion to a day beyond the period, supposing the last day of the latter to be a Sunday or holiday.—Con. 1342, Cal. C. 18th, West. C. 29th March 1842.

Farther explanation of the subject.

931. The Zillah court having been closed the last day allowed by the law for application to enforce an award of arbitration, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that the applicant, in presenting his application on the next first court day, was in time.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th May 1842, p. 31.

Whenever private awards are tendered by the parties in regular suits, the courts how to proceed in those cases.

932. Whenever private awards shall be tendered by the parties in regular suits, the courts, if such awards shall appear to have been performed, and the possession of the contested property to have been held under them, shall allow equal validity to the same, as if they had been made under the authority of the courts. But if the awards tendered shall not have been performed at all, or shall have been performed only in part, the courts shall not admit the same, unless they be established by clear and satisfactory proof, shall be distinct and intelligible so as to admit of easy execution, and the delay which may have occurred in the performance of them shall also be duly accounted for.—Reg. 6, 1813, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

933. The Court had on a former reference to them, determined that applications made to the Zillah or City courts for the execution of private awards under the second clause of Section 3, Regulation 6, 1813, are to be received and enforced under the rules applicable to summary process as directed in that clause.—Cir. Ord. 24th Feb. 1816, par. 2.

Application for executing private awards, are to be enforced under the rules applicable to summary process.

934. They are further of opinion, that such summary process is subsidiary to a regular suit, either in the Zillah or City court, or in the Provincial court, according to the value of the disputed property, calculated according to Section 14, Regulation 1, 1814, and Section 23, Regulation 26, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829.] But as it is evidently intended by the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 6, 1813, that the private awards therein mentioned, when summarily confirmed and enforced by a Zillah or City court, should have the same validity as if made under the authority of a Court of judicature, pursuant to the rules noticed in the preceding section, (viz. those contained in Regulation 16, 1793,) the Court are of opinion, that on trial of a regular suit or appeal, instituted by the party against whom the award may have been given, it should “not be set aside, except it be fully proved to the satisfaction of the court, by the oaths of two credible witnesses, that the arbitrators have been guilty of gross corruption or partiality,” as expressly provided in Section 9, Regulation 16, 1793.—Ibid, par. 3.

Reasons on which alone an award is to be set aside on trial of a regular suit or appeal.

935. I am directed to state, that as no mention is made of arbitration bonds in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 6, 1813, the Court are of opinion, that the mere circumstance of such bonds not having been executed, cannot of itself be held to bar the summary jurisdiction of the Civil courts in cases referred to private arbitration under the provisions of those sections; but that if the reference of the case to arbitration be not denied, the Court should proceed summarily to enforce the award, subject of course to all the rules and limitations laid down in the enactment in question.—Con. 1153, Cal. and West. C. 11th May 1838, par. 1.

The mere circumstance of bonds not having been executed in cases of private arbitration does not bar the summary jurisdiction of the courts.

936. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower Provinces, having reconsidered the terms of Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 6 of 1813, are pleased to rescind paragraph 2 of Construction No. 1153, and such part of Paragraph 1, likewise as rules, either directly or by implication, that when the agreement to abide by the award of arbitrators may be disputed, the summary jurisdiction of the Civil court is barred, and to notify that only so much of the Construction in question now remains in force, as declares the execution of written bonds of arbitration supererogatory under the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 6 of 1813.—Cir. Ord. 14th Nov. 1845.

The execution of written bonds in cases of private arbitration supererogatory.

937. The provisions of this Regulation, [viz. Regulation 16, 1793,] being extended generally to suits respecting property in land or limited tenures therein, by Regulation 6, 1813, the Court are of opinion, that under Section 2 of the latter Regulation, all suits of this description may be referred to arbitration for whatever amount.—Con. 253, 7th Aug. 1816.

All suits for land or limited tenures therein for whatever amount may be referred to arbitration.

938. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 8th instant, requesting the Court's opinion on a point connected with Regulation 6, 1813; the defendant in a civil process for the summary execution of an award of arbitration under the provisions of Section 3 of the abovementioned Regulation, having put in a plea, that the provisions of the Section and Regulation above quoted exclusively provide for awards respecting lands and rights dependant on them, and that an award for debts, disputed accounts, and partnerships, &c. is not cognizable under that Regulation.—In reply, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that Regulation 6, 1813, as appears from its preamble, relates exclusively to contests and suits respecting lands, and is inapplicable to other matters.—Con. 472, 22d Feb. 1828.

Reg. 6, 1813, refers exclusively to suits regarding lands and is inapplicable to other matters.

No former decree of court on awards of arbitration respecting land shall be amended or reversed after the promulgation of the present regulation.

Exception in what case.

Magistrate, with consent of parties, may refer matters under act 4, 1840, to arbitration.

The judge is not at liberty to refer a case of execution of an award from the civil to the criminal court.

A particular objection to an award of arbitration overruled.

Particular case of arbitration decided by the S. D. A.

Idem.

939. There being reason to believe that decrees have been passed by many of the Civil courts of judicature, founded both upon awards made under the authority of the court, and also private awards respecting the property in land and limited tenures therein and rights dependant thereon, it is hereby declared that after the promulgation of this Regulation, no decree relating to the matters above enumerated, shall be amended or reversed upon the ground of the same being founded on an award of arbitration not authorized by the Regulations, at the time the award was made unless such award be in itself open to just cause of impeachment.—Reg. 6, 1813, Sect. 4.

940. And it is hereby enacted, that in cases instituted under this Act the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid is authorized, with the consent of all the parties, to refer the matter in dispute, so far as it is cognizable under this Act, to an arbitrator or arbitrators for decision, whose award shall be executed as if it were the award of such Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid.—Act IV. 1840, Sect. 9.

941. On the application of one of the parties to the Civil court, to cause execution of an arbitration award, the Judge is not authorized to refer the case from the Civil to the Criminal court. It was his duty as civil Judge to determine whether the award should be executed or not, without reference to a certain order of the Nizamut adawlut annulling certain orders of the Magistrate relating to the case; the said order not being held to affect orders passed by the Judge in the Civil court.—Con. 609, 18th Nov. 1831.

942. An objection having been raised to an award of arbitration, to the effect, that one of the two arbitrators had not accompanied the other to the disputed lands for the purpose of local investigation, the objection was overruled, and the decision of the arbitrators upheld.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Feb. 1836, vol. 6, p. 51.

943. The appellant, a Hindoo woman, who had embraced the Mahomedan faith, sued her husband to recover property which devolved on her at the death of her parents. A punchaet decided that she [previous to her apostacy] had forfeited all claim to the property in question by her profligacy. The award was upheld and his claim dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st April 1818, vol. 2, p. 257.

944. A., a Hindoo, repudiated a settlement made by his elder brother of estates therein alleged to be the sole acquisition of B., by which a quarter was allotted to him, and sought to recover a moiety of a part by title of community. Pending litigation an award of arbitration under bond of submission was passed in conformity with the deed; and a compromise was had in pursuance of which A. signed a retraction, which he subsequently denied and failed to file in court. His claim to half by title of community was disallowed, but he obtained a decree for a quarter on the deed, and in a later suit brought by A. against the heirs of B. it was held that the judgment of the court must be ruled by the prior decision, and that A. should recover quarter share under the deed of compromise, his repudiation and denial notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th April 1832, vol. 5, p. 187.

945. Where arbitrators had made an extra judicial award of partition amongst brothers, one of the brothers receded from it, and the others in suing claimed their full legal right according to their allegation as to facts. Defendant did not claim benefit of the award; but the Sudder dewanny adawlut adopted the partition proposed by the arbitrators as equitable; and disregarded the rest of the awards.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Dec. 1833, vol. 5, p. 335. Decision of the S. D. A. in a case of arbitration.

946. A., by receding from an award made by arbitrators on his contest with B., to which both at first assented, compelled B. to sue for his legal claim. A. defended and B. was non-suited for some informality, by the lower court, and instead of appealing sued de novo. The second suit is tried on special appeal by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which decreed the right of B. to be according to the award as to part, and more than the award as to part.—Ibid. Idem.

SECTION LVIII.

Orders in Miscellaneous Cases, and Registry of Interlocutory Orders passed in Suits.

947. The zillah Judges, the Principal Sudder Ameens, the Sudder Ameens, and the Moonsiffs are hereby severally directed to have each a book, to be called the "Buhee Yaddasht," prepared; the pages of which are to be numbered, and every leaf attested by the signature of the serishtadar, paishkar, or other superior ministerial officer of the court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 15th May 1835, par. 2. The zillah judges and the uncov. judges are each one to prepare a book to be called the "buhee yaddasht."

948. The first and last leaves of this book are to be signed by the Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, as the case may be, who is thereon to specify the number of pages which the said book contains. Into the book thus prepared, every order, final or interlocutory, on every regular suit or appeal is to be briefly entered as soon as it is passed, and the Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff is to sign the same before he leaves his court. When the order is one finally disposing of a suit or appeal, the vakeel or vakeels of the party or parties are to attest the said entry by their signatures.—Ibid, par. 3. Mode of paging the book. Every order, final, or interlocutory, will be entered in it, and signed by the judges. If the order be a final one, the vakeels will attest it by their signature.

949. It is not required that orders on miscellaneous petitions should be thus entered, though it would be better that this should be done, if not attended with embarrassment; but the Court do not exact this of the inferior tribunals, because they are anxious to render the present order so simple, that no difficulty whatever may attend its observance, upon which they feel incumbent on them to insist. It is also to be understood that it is merely the order passed, and not the reasons for it, that are required to be entered. These latter, demanding time and deliberation, cannot, the Court are well aware, always be put down at the instant; but there can never be any thing to prevent every officer from recording, without delay, whether a case is decided in favor of the plaintiff or defendant; whether a decision in appeal is to be confirmed, amended, or reversed; and whether decision is postponed for the appearance of witnesses the production of documents, or any other cause. The books in question are, when completed and filled up, to be deposited by all the judicial authorities subordinate to the zillah judge in the record office of the district, and the record-keeper is to grant a receipt for the same on their being so deposited. It is discretionary with the zillah Judge to entrust the books for his own office to any officer on his establishment, or to deposit them with the record-keeper, as he may deem best; provided that the books shall be forthcoming should their production ever be required, and that on quitting his office, he shall be bound to hand them over to his successor.—

Orders on miscellaneous petitions need not be entered in it. The reasons for the order are not required. The nature of the order to be entered in it. Disposal of the books when completely filled up. The judge will use his discretion in depositing the volumes.

Ibid, par. 4.

Heading of all orders issued by all judges.

950. The Court are pleased to direct that all Judges, covenanted and uncovenanted, shall invariably head all orders passed by them, where no formal roobukaree is written, in the following manner :—

বৈঠক জিহুত অমুক জজ সাহেব বা প্রথম প্রধান সদর আমীন কি দ্বিতীয় প্রধান সদর আমীন বা সদর আমীন কি মুনসেফ অমুক জিলা হুকুম তারিখ সংযুক্ত।—Cir. Ord. 19th May 1843.

Mode in which the judges and P. S. A. will head their orders.

951. The Court request, that in passing orders in all miscellaneous cases coming under any particular Act or Regulation, the case be designated on the face of the roobukaree, thus—“Sursuree Mocudduneh Act Ye Kanon fulana, sun fulana ke.” The same rule will be observed by Principal Sudder Ameens.—Cir. Ord. 29th Dec. 1843.

SECTION LIX.

Applications for Copies of Papers or Orders to the Civil Courts, and taking Copies.

All persons interested in cases pending in, or decided by the civil courts, are entitled to an authenticated copy of the orders issued, on their furnishing stamped paper.

952. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut are of opinion, that under the rule prescribed for the several Civil courts, which directs that a copy of the order passed upon any representation made in writing to the court, “be delivered to the person making the representation, or to his vakeel, under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register;” all persons interested in cases depending before, or decided by, the Civil courts, are entitled to receive authenticated copies of any orders passed in such cases, on furnishing the stamped paper required by Section 19, Regulation 1, 1814, (now Regulation 10, 1829).—Cir. Ord. 14th May 1818, par. 2.

The civil courts will exercise their own discretion in giving, or refusing, copies of proceedings or documents not adverted to above, or which the regulations do not expressly direct to be delivered.

953. With respect to applications for copies of proceedings and documents, not falling within the rule adverted to in the second paragraph of this letter, and for the delivery of which no express provision has been made by the Regulations in force, the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawluts are of opinion, that the Provincial courts of appeal and circuit, and the zillah and city Judges and Magistrates must be considered to possess a discretion, either to comply with applications for copies, on sufficient cause being stated for granting them on stamped paper, or for allowing them to be taken on any paper, in pursuance of the fourth clause of Section 16, Regulation 26, 1814, or to refuse compliance when satisfactory cause may not be assigned for granting a copy, or allowing it to be taken, especially when the application may be from a person not a party, or immediately interested in the case.—Ibid, par. 4.

Applications for copies in cases before the native judges, must be made to them, and they will comply with, or reject, such applications; but the copies they

954. Applications for copies shall be made to the Native Judges in whose courts the suits in which the papers were filed may be pending; and those officers shall decide on the propriety of complying with or rejecting such applications, on their own authority, and shall themselves authenticate the copies which they see fit to grant. The Court observe, however, that as regards final orders in miscellaneous cases, as well as all interlocutory orders, no option is possessed by those tribunals of rejecting the applications for copies which parties may desire to obtain, and to which they are entitled, from the Moonsiffs on plain paper and from the courts of the other Native Judges upon the prescribed stamp.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 15th Nov. 1839, West. C. 16th Jan. 1840, par. 2.

give must be authenticated. Copies of final orders in miscellaneous cases and of interlocutory orders, they must give.

955. There being reason to believe that specifications of additional documents are sometimes inserted in applications for copies of papers, after the presentation of the application and the passing of an order for granting copies of the papers originally applied for, the Court, with a view to prevent such a practice, direct that petitioners be in future required to mention in words the number of documents of which transcripts are required and to insert the date of application immediately after the list of papers.—Cir. Ord. 7th April 1843.

Applicants will mention in words the number of documents of which they require copies, and will specify the date of their application.

956. The Court request that, whenever applications are made to you for copies of any letters from, or resolutions passed by them, you will refer the applicants to the Court, instead of granting the copies asked for.—Cir. Ord. 19th April 1844, par. 1.

Applications for copies of letters from, or resolutions passed by, the S. D. A. must be referred to that court.

957. When the records of suits decided by the Native Judges have been transmitted, in the prescribed manner, to the Judge's office, applications shall be presented to and disposed of by the Judge.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 15th Nov. 1839, West. C. 16th Jan. 1840, par. 3.

When the records of cases decided by the unconv. judges have been sent to the judge's office, application for copies must be made to him.

958. With a view to uniformity of practice, the Court are pleased to resolve that henceforward the authorized rate of remuneration to copyists of papers in the Persian, Oordoo, or Bengalee language, in your court, to which parties are not entitled free of charge, shall be a rupee for 4,000 words, correctly written in a clear and legible hand, figures counting as words; which is the same as the rate recently sanctioned by the Government for paying temporary mohurrirs employed to copy the proceedings of cases appealed direct to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from the Principal Sudder Ameens' courts.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1840.

Authorized rate of remuneration for copying papers in the native languages.

959. The principles and the rules contained in clauses eighth, ninth and tenth of this section, are to be considered applicable to all copies of decrees, from which a party may be desirous of preferring a special or a summary appeal; and to all copies of orders passed by the Judges and Registers of the Zillah and City courts, by the Provincial courts, and by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which those courts may be required to furnish to parties under the provisions of any Regulation.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 11.

The provisions of the three preceding clauses applicable to copies of decrees or orders from which a party may desire to prefer a special, or a summary appeal.

960. The revenue authorities cannot demand that the records of the Civil courts be sent to them for inspection.—Con. 693, 18th May 1832.

The revenue authorities cannot demand that the records of civil courts be sent to them.

961. The prohibition contained in Section 2, Regulation 8, 1825, against the employment of other than the duly constituted officers of the Court, need not be construed to preclude other persons than the regularly appointed officers of the court from taking copies of public documents, with the sanction of the Judge or Magistrate, for the use of private individuals, at the expence of those who may employ them.—Con. 407, 11th Nov. 1825.

Others than the regular officers of the courts may be employed in taking copies of public documents for the use of private individuals.

962. Clause 4, Section 16, Regulation 26, 1814, not having been rescinded by Regulation 16, 1824, private persons may be allowed to take copies of public papers for their own use, at their own expence, on any paper they please.—Con. 408, 2d Dec. 1825.

Private persons may take copies of public papers for their own use at their own expence on plain paper.

SECTION LX.

Records of the Zillah and City Courts.

Two native keepers of the record to be appointed to keep the records of the civil and criminal courts.

963. Two Native keepers of the records shall be appointed to keep the dewanny adawlut and foudarry records in each zillah, and each of the cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, and in each of the Provincial courts of appeal and Courts of circuit, and in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the Nizamut adawlut.—Reg. 18, 1793, Sect. 2.

Record-keepers come under the denomination of ministerial officers of the Native courts, and their removal and appointment follow the same rules.

The record-keepers will keep a list of the records in a book pagged and attested as herein directed.

964. The keepers of the records are to keep a register, in the Persian and Bengal languages in Bengal and Orissa, and in the Persian language in Behar, of all the dewanny and foudarry proceedings, documents, and other records belonging to the courts to which they may respectively be attached, in a book, each leaf of which shall be attested by the official signature of the Register, and assistant to the Judges and Magistrates of the zillahs and cities, and the Registers to the Provincial courts of appeal and the Courts of circuit, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut and the Nizamut adawlut, and on the last leaf of which they shall specify in their own handwriting, the number of pages contained in the book. The existing records are to be first registered, and the keepers of records are to prepare a list of them immediately upon the receipt of this Regulation.—Reg. 18, 1793, Sect. 4.

Registers to be immediately commenced by the mohurrir, engaged in every court to keep up the records.

965. The Government having been pleased to authorize the entertainment of a mohurrir in every zillah, on a salary of 12 rupees per month, to be employed exclusively in keeping up the registers prescribed by Section 4, Regulation 18, 1793, I am directed by the Court to request that you will cause the following registers to be immediately commenced upon, in the language now in use in your court. No. 1, Register of civil suits disposed of by the Judge, Additional Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, and Sudder Ameen of zillah _____ in the year 183—, and deposited in the records of the court of that district, as per annexed form. No. 2, A similar register of suits disposed of by Moonsiffs. No. 3, Books containing the usual list of papers comprising the record of cases disposed of by the Judge, Additional Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, and Sudder Ameen, of zillah _____ for 183—. No. 4, Similar books for the cases disposed of by the Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 10th Aug., West. C. 23d Nov. 1838, par. 1.

Entries to be made in the first two register books.

966. The first two register books will be kept up, under the immediate orders of the record-keeper, by the mohurrir specially appointed for the purpose. In them will be entered all regular suits disposed of by the Judge and the subordinate judicial officers, whether decided on their merits or otherwise. In entering in the proper column the final order in each case the record-keeper must be directed to state the nature of that final order, that is, in cases dismissed or decreed for the whole claim to enter merely the word dismissed or decreed, but where the decree affects only a part of the matter or thing in dispute to record the substance of such order.—Ibid, par. 2.

Form of Register Book No. 1.—Register of Civil Suits, disposed of by the Judge, Additional Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen and Sudder Ameen of Zillah ——— in the year 183—, and deposited among the Records of the Court of that District. Form of register book No. 1.

No. 2. The same as above for the Moonsiffs.

967. The books (Nos. 3 and 4,) which are to contain a list of the papers composing each case, are to be kept up in the courts to which they severally belong. The lower courts will forward to the Judge, at the end of every month, the original records of all cases disposed of within the month, for the purpose of being placed in his record office, and will accompany each case with a list, taken from those books, specifying the nature of the papers comprising the misl. The Judge's amlah, after comparing such list with the original misl and finding the two to correspond, will immediately fill up column No. 7 of the registers Nos. 1 and 2. The labour of compiling the books in question, which will be entailed on the establishment of the lower courts, is not more than, with the recent addition to their allowances, they may fairly be expected to undertake.—Ibid, par. 3.

968. In those districts in which the registers have been allowed to fall into arrears or have been totally neglected, the Court expect the Judges will avail themselves, as far as possible, of their regular establishments to supply in an abstract form the information for past years which ought to have been entered in the neglected registers.—Ibid, par. 4.

969. The keepers of the records are to endorse upon the back of every paper or document which they may enter in the register, the number of the page in which it may be registered, and the endorsement is to be attested with the official signature of both or either of them.—Reg. 18, 1793, Sect. 5.

970. It shall be the duty of the keepers of the records to see that the records of the court are not destroyed by insects, damp, or otherwise, and that they are not removed without the orders of the court.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

971. If any records entered in the register shall be destroyed in consequence of the neglect or any omission of the keepers of the records, or if any such records shall not be

Contents of books Nos. 3 and 4. The lower courts will forward monthly to the judge the original records of cases disposed of, and a list of them. The judge's amlah, after comparing them, will fill up column 7, of the registers Nos. 1 and 2.

When the registers have fallen into arrears or have been totally neglected the regular establishments of the courts will furnish an abstract of the information for past years. Number of the page in which papers are registered, to be endorsed.

Keepers of the records to be careful that papers are not destroyed by damp or otherwise.

neglect, or shall not be forthcoming, and they shall not be able to give a satisfactory account of them.

Any officer who permits the records of his office to fall into disorder, will pay for their re-adjustment. Any officer receiving charge of an office, when the records are in confusion, who does not report it immediately, will pay for their re-assortment.

forthcoming, and they shall not be able to give a satisfactory account of them, they shall be liable to dismissal from their offices.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

972. With the sanction of Government, it is notified, for the information and guidance of all public officers at the head of establishments containing records, that in future, any officer who permits the records of his office to fall into disorder shall be held responsible to Government for the expences incurred in their re-adjustment ; and any functionary receiving charge of an office, the records of which may be in disorder, or so immethodically arranged as to prevent the ready production of papers when called for, who shall fail to make a timely report of their state, will be similarly held answerable for the outlay attending the assortment of the records.—Cir. Ord. 4th Nov. 1842.

Recapitulation of this order.

973. The Circular order of this Court, No. 232, dated 4th November, 1842, declares, “ that any officer who permits the records of his office to fall into disorder, shall be held responsible to Government for the expences incurred in their re-adjustment ;” and, further, that any functionary receiving charge of an office, the records of which may be in disorder, who shall fail to make a timely report of their state, will be similarly held answerable for the outlay attending their assortment and arrangement.—Cir. Ord. 23d Jan. 1845, par. 1.

In many districts the judicial records have been methodically arranged, and the department is efficient.

974. It is known, that in many districts a considerable expenditure has been incurred in the methodical adjustment of the judicial records, and it is believed that in the majority of others, the record department has been brought into a state of practical efficiency and order by the personal assiduity of the Judges, and the unassisted efforts of their ministerial establishment, acting under their supervising direction.—Ibid, par. 2.

To maintain this efficiency, and to detect delinquency, the judges will annually notice the condition of their record department, mentioning any defects, and their causes, and the measures taken to remedy them.

975. With the object of securing the maintenance of this efficiency in those offices where it has been attained, as well as of ascertaining the existence of disorder or immethodical arrangement of the records in others and enforcing with regard to them the responsibility above declared to rest on those functionaries, who may have permitted such disorder to supervene, the Court are pleased to direct that the several civil Judges will include in their annual reports on the administration of civil justice for the past and all subsequent years, a brief notice of the condition of the record department of their respective offices, after personal ascertainment thereof, mentioning any defects that may have been detected, the causes to which their existence may be ascribable, and the measures that may have been taken for their immediate correction.—Ibid, par. 3.

Contents of the first report after this order, and of subsequent reports.

976. In the first report, submitted agreeably to this order, the Court will expect to find the system, followed in the arrangement of the records described, and the outlay incurred in its completion, as well as the period thereof specified. In subsequent reports a reference to these details, and a brief notice of any changes or improvements, that may have been introduced within the period embraced in such reports, will sufficiently answer all the purposes contemplated by the Court in issuing these instructions.—Ibid, par. 4.

The record-keepers will observe any rules prescribed to them by any regulation printed and published in the manner directed by reg. 41, 1793.

977. The keepers of the records are to be careful to attend to any rules or orders respecting the duties of their office, that may be prescribed to them by any Regulation, printed and published in the manner directed by Regulation 41, 1793, and also to any directions that may be given to them by the court to which they may be attached, or the Register thereof, for the better keeping, preserving or registering the records.—Reg. 18, 1793, Sect. 8.

978. The Courts of Dewanny adawlut established in the several zillahs, and at the cities of Patna, Dacca and Moorshedabad, are to keep a book in which the daily proceedings in each cause, and every order or act of the court, are to be minuted in the Persian or Bengal language in Bengal and Orissa, or in the Persian language, or the Hindoostanee language and Nagree character in Behar, and attested with the signature of the Judge. The plaint, answer, reply, and rejoinder of the parties, and every deposition, exhibit, and paper whatever, read and filed in each cause, is to be minuted and referred to in this book, by marks or numbers, corresponding to marks or numbers, to be endorsed on each document when it may be read in the cause.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Book of daily proceedings to be kept in each zillah and city court.

Entries to be made in it.

979. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3d instant, forwarding copy of one from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, and requesting the Court to state what objection they perceive to permitting the Board of Revenue to procure from the established Courts of justice their original records for inspection. The Court direct me to observe, that the measure appears to them open to the following objections: 1st, the permission, if granted to all parties, would be attended with much risk of the records being fraudulently altered or lost; 2ndly, it would be attended with inconvenience, from the records not being at hand, when a reference to them might be necessary; and 3rdly, if it could not be granted to all parties, it would be wrong to grant it to any, more especially to the conductors of Government suits; as it behoves the Courts of justice to guard against the possibility of affording ground for suspicion that they might be influenced by the Government in allowing an indulgence to them, which would not be allowed to their opponents.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Dec. 1832, par. 2.

Objections to permitting the B. of Revenue to procure original records from the civil courts.

980. The Court further observe that there exists in their opinion no necessity for deviating in favor of the revenue authorities, from the general rule of practice. They are not aware that the Superintendent of Legal Affairs ever claimed to be furnished with original records of the Civil courts, though he may have been allowed to inspect them in the court-houses within his reach, in common with other individuals. The same thing could be done by the Board, the Commissioners of Revenue, and other officers conducting public suits, through the agency of their assistants or amlah; and they could obtain through their vakeels on unstamped paper, in the same manner as the parties in private suits and their agents do, copies of all documents or papers they may wish to refer to, at the trifling expence of having them transcribed.—Ibid, par. 3.

There is no necessity for deviating from this rule of practice in favor of the board, as they may easily obtain copies of all documents or papers they wish, at little expence.

981. I am directed to communicate to you, in reply to your letter of the 26th December last, the opinion of the Court that you ought not, in ordinary cases, to furnish the officers employed in the resumption department with the original records of your court, but that you should inform the Special Commissioner and Deputy Collector that you will furnish them with copies of any papers that they may require, on their authorizing you to defray the expence of transcribing them. Should an inspection of the original records, or any papers filed therein, be indispensably necessary, you will then, previous to forwarding the same, retain an attested copy, the expence of making which must be defrayed by the revenue authorities.—Con. 1070, Cal. C. 27th Jan., West. C. 10th Feb. 1837.

The original records of the civil courts not to be furnished to officers in the resumption department; they may obtain copies. When the originals are indispensable, copies of them must be made at the expence of the revenue authorities before they leave the court.

982. I am directed to transmit to you the accompanying copy of correspondence as per margin, on the subject of arranging the records of the Civil courts, and to request that you will take measures for giving immediate effect to the plan laid down in the extract from the letter of the Judge of Cuttack.—Cir. Ord. 18th June 1841, par. 1.

Plan proposed by the judge of Cuttack for arranging the records.

Plan proposed by the Judge of Cuttack for arranging the records

983. Extract from a letter from the Judge of Cuttack to the Court, No. 223, dated 21st December, 1839.—The object in arranging voluminous records both of cases decided (but to which occasional reference is required) and of cases pending, appertaining to several courts is apparently twofold, viz. preservation and facility of reference.—Ibid, par. 2.

Idem.

984. The system of arrangement ultimately adopted by the Judge of Allahabad appears for the most part unobjectionable ; but I am of opinion that with reference to the various forms of record rooms, and shapes of ranks, in different zillahs, no fixed rules for the disposition of records can be laid down. If functionaries will only see that the record-keeper keeps the papers of each jurisdiction separate, subdividing them again according to departments or rather description of cases, and arranging them by years and months, (each bustah containing the produce of one month carefully docketed outside) no difficulty can occur.—Ibid, par. 4.

Idem.

985. In regard to case spending, it is the practice in this office, and I think unobjectionable, that during the day they remain in charge of the officer of the department until disposed of, and at night are placed in the record office for safe custody. The papers appertaining to cases finally disposed of, are handed over to the record-keeper as soon as the final roobukaree has received the Judge's signature.—Ibid, par. 5.

Idem.

986. The records of this office are arranged upon the principle alluded to in the latter part of paragraph 4, and, with exception of the racks not bearing tickets of their contents and the Moonsiff's records not being in bustahs and some miscellaneous cases requiring more detailed subdivision (all of which has been directed to be done forthwith,) I am not aware of any alteration which could be suggested in this office as an improvement and at the same time absolutely requisite.—Ibid, par. 6.

Consultations of the sudder courts and boards for the means of preventing the fraudulent abstraction of stamped papers filed in the courts and re-filing the same a second time, after obliterating the original writing.

987. Numerous recent instances of the detection of fraud in the surreptitious abstraction from civil records, of stamped paper already once filed in court and applied to its destined use, and of the re-filing of the same a second time after washing, or otherwise obliterating the original writing thereon, sometimes in real, but often in fictitious cases, have led the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad, in conjunction with the Board of Customs and Revenue, to consider what are the most effectual means of checking the recurrence of such frauds, with a view to prescribing some general precautionary rule for the prevention of practices which cause serious loss to the State, and which it is obvious, the warning conveyed by Circular order of the Court, No. 142, dated 10th April, 1835, Western Provinces, announcing a discovery of similar malpractices in zillah Futtehpoore, has not served to repress.—Cir. Ord. 5th May 1843, par. 1.

Description of the two modes in which such frauds have been usually effected.

988. Frauds of the nature alluded to are understood to have been usually effected in two ways :—1st, By abstracting from the old "nuthees" of decided suits, sheets of blank stamped paper not unfrequently found to have been filed with the record, in consequence of no paper of the exact value wanted having been in store at the time with the stamp officer or vender, and appropriating the same for a fresh suit. 2d, By abstracting from the record old written stamps, and re-filing the same as new, after erasure of the former writing by washing or some chemical process.—Ibid, par. 2.

989. The Court observe, that in the Futtehpore frauds, and on an occasion lately reported by the Judge of Cawnpore, the connivance or confederacy of Government servants, connected with the record office was proved, or suspected; and it will be obvious, that the abstraction of stamps from the misl could seldom occur without the knowledge, or culpable negligence of the amlah of the record department. But as a penal visitation on those officials, by dismissal or criminal prosecution, can only meet the particular occasion of fraud without producing any general or extensive moral effect in deterring others, beyond the locality or district where it may occur, it appears desirable to devise a plan, that may operate as an effectual preventive and bar to the acts now denounced.—Ibid, par. 3.

The connivance or confederacy of the govt. record officers in these frauds has been proved or suspected; and it is desirable to devise a plan, which may operate as an effective bar to these acts.

990. The Court are accordingly pleased to direct as follows :—To prevent a repetition of the first kind of fraud, described in paragraph 2 of this Circular, Judges will cause the records of decided suits deposited in the dufters, both of their own and the subordinate Civil courts, to be inspected, and where any blank stamps may be found, will destroy the same, certifying in Oordoo, attested by their full English signature, on the back of the paper on which the plaint has been written to the left hand side of the lower stamps, that a piece of stamped paper of such a value, bearing such a number and endorsement of the vender, filed with the stamp whereon the certificate is written, as having been required to make up a given amount of stamp duty, has been destroyed in their presence—a similar course will be followed in regard to blank stamps of this kind, that may hereafter be filed in any court, when the case shall have been finally decided—but not prior to such decision.—Ibid, par. 4.

The judges will examine their records, and destroy any blank stamps which may be found, entering a full certificate of the transaction. The same course to be pursued regarding any blank stamps hereafter filed, when the case is finally decided.

991. To obviate the commission of the second kind of fraud, the Court have resolved on directing the punching of all stamped paper once given into any court applied to its destined use, and not liable to be returned to the party filing it, and consequently no longer legally available for any other purpose, by which means both a permanent mark will be affixed, and the written stamp remain uninjured for objects of record.—Ibid, par. 5.

All stamped paper given into any court and not liable to be returned to the party filing it, will be punched.

992. It is, therefore, ordered that no writing shall be engrossed on the face or reverse of any stamp impression, and that each sheet of stamped paper filed in any Civil court, Native or European, for permanent retention with the record, shall have a circular piece of 3-8ths of an inch diameter, cut out from the upper circular stamp, (whether of the Stamp Office or the Treasury,) by the aid of an instrument similar to the wadcutter of a gun, it being essential to enjoin one uniform mode and part of the stamp for performing the operation, as a guide to the eye where to look in order to the detection of any filling up of the hole in the punched paper, which must be supposed to have been effected, or attempted, prior to a fraudulent presentation over again, of an already used stamp. While the removal of a part of the inscription of the stamp will render the restoration of the characters defaced extremely difficult, the size of the part so removed cannot in any case so mutilate the impression but that sufficient must remain to indicate the value of the stamp and the office in which it was impressed, independently of the impression at the lower end of the paper.—Ibid, par. 6.

No writing to be engrossed on the face or the reverse of the stamp impression. Dimensions of the circular piece to be cut out of every upper circular stamp.

993. It is meant, that the stamps in all decided cases, as well as those now filing or to be filed shall be subjected to this process. In the former case, Judges will confide the duty to their serishtadar or record-keeper, themselves afterwards inspecting each case, in bundles of 20 or 40 at a time, to satisfy themselves before return of the record to the dufter, that what was required has been duly performed. This will also present a good opportunity for examining whether any stamps are missing from old decided suits, which may have been abstracted for the purpose of being filed over again. As respects cases now pending the same course will be followed after decision, before their final consignment to the dufter of the Zillah court.—Ibid, par. 7.

The stamps in all decided cases, and in all now filing or to be filed to be subjected to this process. The serishtadar will perform this duty in reference to former cases.

The serishtadar will punch all stamps and other papers filed in future. The zillah and uncov. judges will sign no order for such papers to be filed, or sign them, till they are punched.

994. As regards complaints and other stamped papers, liable to be punched, which may be filed after this order takes effect, the duty of using the instrument for punching will be assigned, in each court, to the serishtadar or other officer who receives the paper, and Judges of both the Zillah and subordinate courts, who sign the order for such stamped paper being filed, are cautioned to attach their signature to no paper of the kind requiring to be punched, which has not undergone that process.—Ibid, par. 8.

Documents which are liable to be returned to the parties are to be carefully exempted from the punching process.

995. Officers are, at the same time, warned to exercise special care, that documents or exhibits, copies or other authenticated writings, engrossed on stamped paper, which are not required to be kept in the offices to which they may be presented, and which are liable to be returned to the parties, are exempted from the punching process; otherwise confusion and further occasion for fraud are likely to arise.—Ibid, par. 9.

Remark of the S. D. A., that the foregoing orders have not been complied with.

996. By an inspection of the records of appealed causes, recently received in this court, it has been ascertained that in some districts the requirements of Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 16, dated Lower Provinces the 5th, and Western Provinces 25th May, 1843, are not fulfilled in the manner thereby prescribed. Among the records adverted to, stamped papers have been found, from which no portion has been excised, and thus, under the practice observed in this court, of suffering no paper to pass out of the record office without being punched, provided it be such as ought to be punched, extraneous labor is imposed upon the ministerial officers of this court.—Cir. Ord. 14th May 1844, par. 1.

The duty of attending to these injunctions strictly enforced on the courts.

997. It appears, therefore, necessary to the Court, to call the attention of the civil Judges to the Circular order in question, to impress upon them the importance of those objects, which it was designed to effect, the protection, namely, of the State from serious loss, and of the community at large from the frauds which are facilitated by the abstraction of stamped papers from old records, and to desire a strict adherence to its directions in future, both on their own part, and on that of their subordinates.—Ibid, par. 2.

Any deviation from these rules will be seriously noticed by the courts.

998. Any deviations from the rules prescribed by the Circular above cited, which may be brought to light after the publication of this order, will be seriously noticed by the Court.—Ibid, par. 3.

A precis of the foregoing rules is given for general reference.

999. A precis of the rules on the subject is annexed, for convenient reference. All stamps filed and not liable to be returned, are to be punched. In old cases, the duty is to be performed by the serishtadar of the Zillah court, but under the supervision of the Judge. In pending cases, the punching is to be effected by the same officer, after the decision, and before consigning them to the record office. Stamps which may be now filed will be punched by the serishtadar or other officer receiving it, and Judges of all grades, when signing the order for filing, are to see that the rule is observed. Blank stamps which are filed to make up for deficient value of any petition, &c. In old cases, such stamps are to be destroyed by the zillah Judges, and a certificate of the fact endorsed on the principal stamp. In pending cases, the same course is to be followed, after decision, and before consigning them to the record office.—Ibid, par. 4.

SECTION LXI.

Custody of Monies paid into the several Courts.

1000. Extract of a Letter from the Hon. the Court of Directors, dated the 11th April, 1826.

—We are not aware of the nature of the rules which have been established for preventing the recurrence of similar abuses, but we have to suggest that all monies paid into the Civil and Criminal courts, either in satisfaction of decrees, or otherwise, should be paid directly into the treasury of the court; and in order to secure a strict observance of this rule, the treasurer of the court should be required to submit to the Judge a monthly statement of all monies received by him, specifying the names of the parties on whose account the monies had been lodged. A comparison of this statement with the register of the decrees and orders issued by the Judge would enable him to ascertain precisely the number of decrees which had been completely executed, and to institute an enquiry into the causes which had prevented the complete execution of the others. We are also of opinion, that all sums remaining unclaimed after a certain period, whether arising from monies paid into the court in the execution of decrees, or as the proceeds of the sale of property of persons dying intestate, or on any other account, should be transferred to the Collector of the district, in order that the same may be placed at the disposal of Government. Such transfer should not, however, be considered in the slightest degree to affect the claims of the parties legally interested to recover their property, but it should be adopted as the best mode of deposit calculated for protecting the rights and interests of individuals, by removing all strong temptations on the part of the Native ministerial officers of the courts, to embezzle or otherwise misappropriate the funds placed under their charge. Our purpose is, that all sums should be brought to account, and that they should always be forthcoming on being claimed by the right owners. But the mode by which this will be best effected is a matter of detail into which we cannot conveniently enter, and the determination of which we therefore leave to the discretion of your Government.—Cir. Ord. 14th Aug. 1827, par. 83.

All monies paid into any court should be made over to the treasurer.

Monthly statement of the treasurer.

It is to be compared with the register of decrees and orders.

Sums unclaimed for a certain period to be transferred to the collector.

Reasons for this transfer.

Object of the court's orders.

1001. You will therefore be pleased to direct the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens of your district, who are or may be stationed at any other place than the sudder station of the district, to deposit in the treasury of the Collector or Deputy Collector of the station, all sums of money paid into their courts on account of vakeels' fees, execution of decrees, &c. and to keep registers of such deposits in the Persian language, in the same form as such registers are kept in your office, with such detailed instructions as you may think necessary. The Court are of opinion, that each deposit sent to the Collector's treasury should be accompanied by an extract from the register of deposits, as suggested by the officiating Deputy Collector; and with regard to the payment, that an order from the Sudder Ameen, detailing the number and other particulars of the deposit in the register, countersigned by the Collector or Deputy Collector, would be sufficient authority to the treasurer to pay it.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 16th Nov. and 28th Dec. 1832, Cal. C. 16th Nov. 1833.

All P. S. A. and S. A. in the interior of the district will deposit all sums paid into their courts with the collector or deputy collector.

Mode in which these sums are to be paid out again.

1002. The Court having again had before them your letter, No. 20, under date the 3d April last, direct me to communicate to you their opinion, in reply to the question therein submitted, that applications for the payment of sums of money deposited in court must in every case be made on stamped paper as a record, unless a specific order should, at any time, have been passed ordering payment of the amount.—Con. 1093, Cal. and West. C. 9th June 1837.

Cases in which applications for sums deposited in court must be made on stamped or plain paper.

SECTION LXII.

Remittance of Costs of Suit from one District to another.

How sums realized by the judge in execution of decrees will be remitted from one zillah to another.

1003. I am directed by the Accountant General to request, that whenever the Judge of your district shall desire to remit to another court the amount realized by him in execution of a decree, forwarded to him by the Judge of another court, and paying the same into your treasury, shall apply for a bill upon the revenue treasury nearest to the Judge, in whose favour he may require the same, you will be pleased to grant a bill for the amount, provided the remitting Judge specifically states it to be on account of a decree of the other court executed by him, with reference to the parties of the suit, and the original number it bears on the file.—
Cir. Ord. 21st May 1830.

CHAPTER IV.

TRIAL AND DECISION OF SPECIAL SUITS.

SECTION I.

Institution of Suits against the Officers of Government.

1. Collectors of the revenue, and their assistants and Native officers, Commercial Residents and Agents, and their assistants and Native officers employed in the provision of the investment, Salt Agents, and their assistants and Native officers concerned in the manufacture of salt, the Collectors of the customs, and their assistants and Native officers employed in the collection of the customs, the Mint and Assay Masters, and their assistants and Native officers, are declared amenable to the Zillah or City court in the jurisdiction of which they may reside, or carry on the public business committed to their charge, for any acts done in their official capacity, in opposition to any Regulation printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation 41, 1793.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 10.—Benares Reg. 7, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 2, 1803, Sect. 7.

Collectors of the revenue and customs, commercial residents, salt agents, mint and assay masters and their respective officers, amenable to the courts for acts done in their official capacity.

2. I beg leave to request the opinion of the Court of Sudder dewanny as to the construction to be put on the provisions of Section 16, Regulation 27 of 1803, as applicable to the following case.—A malgozar is sent to the civil jail for confinement, on account of the non-payment of an alleged balance of revenue, due for a former, as well as the current year. Denying the justice of the demand, and furnishing the security required, he is released from confinement, and immediately enters a suit against the Collector to try the justice of the claim. Is such suit to be considered and investigated as summary or regular? It appears to me that the Regulation above quoted provides for all such suits being considered as the former, and particularly points out a summary process and investigation as the proper mode of procedure. But as difference of opinion seems to exist on the subject, I beg leave to refer it to the decision of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—In reply to your letter under date the 26th of September last, I am directed to state the Court's opinion, that in the instance you represent, the suit instituted by the alleged revenue defaulter, under Section 16, Regulation 27, 1803, can only be tried as a regular suit.—Con. 330, 17th Nov. 1820.

The suit of an alleged revenue defaulter to contest the collector's demand against him, must be instituted and proceeded on as a regular suit.

3. On the application of a Collector to the Civil court for the confinement of a defaulting tehseeldar, or other Native officer, the courts cannot proceed in any other manner than according to Sections 16 and 19, Regulation 3, 1794, i. e. on the defaulter's denying the justness of the whole or part of the demand, and furnishing security to institute a suit against the Collector in fifteen days to contest the demand, and pay what may be adjudged due, the Court will release the defaulter; and the security having been given, the suit must be instituted and proceeded upon as a regular suit.—Con. 282, 29th Dec. 1817.

Idem.

Individuals how to proceed, who may consider themselves aggrieved under the regulations by any special order of govt., or the boards of revenue, or trade.

4. If a Native, or any other person not being a British subject, shall consider himself aggrieved under any Regulation printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation 41, 1793, by an act done by any of the officers of Government described in Section 10, pursuant to a special order originating with the Governor General in Council, or the Board of Revenue or of Trade, the officer by whom the act may be done is not to be liable to be sued for it. In such cases, Government is to be considered as the defendant.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 11.

Complaints against public officers at the presidency, which are cognizable in any court of zillah dewanny adawlut, to be received and tried in the dewanny adawlut of the 24-purgunnahs.

5. All complaints against the Collector of Customs at Calcutta, or his public officers, or any other public officer at the Presidency, which by the Regulations in force are cognizable in any Court of Zillah dewanny adawlut, shall be received, tried, and determined, as prescribed in the Regulations, by the Judge of the dewanny adawlut of the Twenty-four Purgunnahs, constituted in pursuance of the Regulation now enacted.—Reg. 7, 1806, Sect. 8.

Agents and their officers liable to be sued in the zillah dewanny adawlut for breach of regulations under the restrictions herein specified.

6. The Opium Agents and their Native officers of every description, are declared amenable to the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which they may be stationed for all acts done by them in their official capacity: provided however, that any person conceiving himself aggrieved by the act of an Opium Agent or of any ministerial officer acting under his authority, shall, in the first instance, make application for redress to the Agent himself; and in the event of his not being satisfied with the order which the Agent may pass upon such application, it shall then be competent to him either to lay his case by petition before the Board of Trade, or at once to seek redress in the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah within the jurisdiction of which he may reside. The rules contained in Regulation 2, 1814, shall be considered applicable to all cases that may arise under the operation of this section, and the course therein prescribed shall be observed in the admission of such cases.—Reg. 13, 1816, Sect. 18.

Rules contained in reg. 2, 1814, applicable to cases under this section.

Persons employed in the salt manufacture, who may be aggrieved by an act of a salt agent, how to seek redress during the manufacturing season.

7. During the manufacturing season, viz. from the middle of the month of October to the middle of July, if any molungee or labourer, or any other person, who may be employed in the salt manufacture, shall deem himself aggrieved by any act or order of the Agent himself, (not being an act or order done under the powers vested in Agents by this Regulation, in cases hereafter declared to be judicially cognizable by Agents and Superintendants of salt chowkies,) he shall in the first instance state his complaint in person, or by vakeel, to the Agent, and in the event of the Agent refusing to afford him the required redress, or of his omitting to grant it within a reasonable time, the complainant shall be at liberty to sue him in the dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 13, Cl. 2.

How to seek redress if aggrieved by the act of an assistant or other salt officer, molungee, &c.

8. During the manufacturing season, if a molungee, or labourer, or any other person who may be employed in the salt manufacture, shall deem himself aggrieved by any act of the assistant to the Agent, or any officer attached to a Salt Agency, or by any contractor, molungee or beoparree, he shall in the first instance state his complaint in person, or by vakeel, to the Agent in order that the Agent may give such redress as it may be in his power to afford : but if the Agent shall refuse to afford to the complainant the required redress, or omit to grant it within a reasonable time ; or if the case be such as that the Agent may not have it in his power to redress the injury received, the complainant shall be at liberty to sue in the dewanny adawlut the party from whom he may have sustained the injury, or the Agent, if the act shall have been done under his orders, and the court shall hold the party, or the Agent, responsible accordingly.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

9. In the cases specified in the two preceding clauses, the courts are not to receive the suit of the complainant, unless he shall prove, either by oath, or in any other mode which the court may deem satisfactory, that he made the previous application for redress to the Agent, as directed in those clauses.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Courts not to receive complaints unless the course prescribed above shall have been followed.

10. In the several cases specified in the second and third clauses of this section, the complainant, if the engagements which he may have entered into on account of the manufacture be not completed, shall not quit the place of manufacture, to prosecute his complaint in person, without the permission of the head officer of the aurung under which he may work, or of the Agent or his assistant ; but shall employ a vakeel for that purpose, unless he shall offer to substitute a person to perform his work in his room, and the Agent, or his assistant, or the head officer of the aurung shall be of opinion that the work will be equally well performed by the person so offered to be substituted—in which case, the Agent or his assistant, or officer, shall permit the complainant to depart.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Restrictions with regard to the complainant absents himself from the place of manufacture, before his engagements have been completed.

11. During the months of Sawun, Bhadoon, and Assin, molungees, labourers and all other persons having entered into engagements on account of the salt manufacture, or having been employed in it, who may consider themselves aggrieved by any acts done by the Agent, or his assistant, or any of his officers, or other persons employed by him, in breach of this Regulation, or any other Regulation printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation 41, 1793, are declared to have the option of suing either in person, or by vakeel, the party from whom they may have sustained the injury, in the dewanny adawlut, without preferring the previous application for redress directed in the preceding clauses of this section, to be made during the manufacturing season ; and further, with a view to ensure the molungees, labourers and other persons engaged in the manufacture, or transportation of salt, speedy redress of injuries they may sustain, the courts are required to bring the suits instituted by the said persons for injuries sustained by them from the officers aforesaid, to a termination as expeditiously as possible, by trying them in preference to other suits :—Provided, however, that nothing in the six preceding clauses shall be construed to empower the Courts of judicature to take cognizance of acts done by Salt Agents, in virtue of the judicial powers vested in them by this Regulation, in respect to fines, confiscations and other penalties, prescribed for cases of illicit dealings in salt.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

Persons aggrieved at liberty to prosecute in the usual mode during certain parts of the year, without previous application to the salt agent.

SECTION II.

Suits against Public Officers—Rules regarding the Petition.

Whenever a petition of complaint may be preferred against a collector or other person for acts connected with his official duties, the judge or judges of the civil court by whom the petition may be received, is to transmit it to the board to whose authority the person complained against may be subject.

12. Whenever a petition of complaint may be preferred against a Collector of the land revenue or customs, a Commercial Resident, Salt Agent, or Opium Agent, or other person amenable for acts connected with his official duties, shall be presented to any Court of civil judicature competent to receive and try such cases, the Judge or Judges of such court shall transmit the petition so received to the Board of Revenue, Board of Commissioners, or Board of Trade, according as the person against whom the complaint may be preferred, may be subject to either of those authorities.—Reg. 2, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

Procedure of the commissioner when a petition of suit against a collector of land revenue or other European officer is presented to him.

13. On a petition of suit, preferred in a Civil court, against a Collector of land revenue or other European officer, subject to the authority of a Commissioner for any act done in his official capacity, being referred by the Judge of the court to the Commissioner, that officer, provided the relief sought can be afforded by disallowing or reversing the act or order complained of, may grant such redress at his discretion, provided it be within his legal competence. But if it be not within his competence or in case redress cannot be so afforded, the Commissioner shall, if he be of opinion that the claim should be allowed or compromised, report the case for the orders of the Sudder Board.—Cir. Ord. Sud. Bd. Rev. 10th Aug. 1842, Rule 20.

If the commissioner thinks the party should be left to a private prosecution, he will report the matter to the sudder board.

14. If the Commissioner shall be of opinion, that the party should be left to prosecute his claim in the Civil court, he shall submit a full report for the information of the Sudder Board, who, in their capacity of Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, will issue such instructions as they may deem proper.—Ibid, Rule 21.

When a petition of complaint has been filed in the civil court, and transmitted to any of the boards under reg. 2, of 1814, and six weeks have elapsed without a reply, a report must be made to the S. D. A.

15. With reference to the provisions of Regulation 2 of 1814, and to enable the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to bring to the notice of Government any delay which may occur between the date of filing and admitting the description of suits to which that Regulation relates; I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to desire, that whenever you may have transmitted a petition of complaint, preferred in your court against a Collector of land revenue or customs, a Commercial Resident, Salt Agent, Opium Agent, or other person amenable for acts connected with his official duties, to the Board of Revenue, or other superintending boards, as required by the first clause of Section 3 of the said Regulation, and the period of six weeks shall have elapsed without your having received from the superintending board a final reply to your communication, you will report the circumstances of the case to the Court, to enable them to bring the same to the notice of the Governor General in Council.—Cir. Ord. 6th Aug. 1830.

Recapitulation of this rule.

16. With regard to applications under Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 2 of 1814, the zillah and city Judges are required by the Circular orders of the 6th August, 1830, No. 21, whenever they may have transmitted a petition of complaint preferred in their court against a Collector of land revenue or customs, a Commercial Resident, Salt or Opium Agent, or other person amenable, for acts connected with his official duties, to the Board of Revenue, or other superintending boards, as required by the clause abovementioned, and the period of six weeks shall have elapsed without their having received from the superintending board a final reply to their communication, to report the circumstances of the case to the Court to enable them to bring the same to the notice of Government.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

17. The Court observe that the Regulations make no exception in favour of such petitions [that is, petitions of complaint preferred under Regulation 2, 1814, against the officers of Government in their official capacity,] and they are, therefore, of opinion that it was intended they should be written, when first presented, on stamped paper of the value in like manner with all other plaints.—Con. 1116, Cal. and West. C. 8th Dec. 1837.

Petitions against the officers of govt. under reg. 2, 1814, must be written on stamped paper.

18. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 10th instant, requesting to be informed, whether you are competent to entertain a suit instituted by a minor and his guardian, against the Collector, for having, under the authority of the Court of Wards, disposed of the minor's estate.—In reply, I am desirous to acquaint you, that the Court are not aware of any Regulation which debars a minor, under these circumstances, from the same rights and privileges with respect to the mode of seeking redress for an alleged grievance, as are enjoyed by the community generally; and that in the Court's opinion he is, with his guardian, fully competent to institute a suit of the nature alluded to. It will of course be the duty of the Judge, to whom the petition of plaint is preferred, to forward the same under the first clause of Section 3, Regulation 2, 1814, for the consideration of the Board of Revenue, and to proceed to the trial of the suit under the fourth clause of the above section, in the event of its not being deemed requisite by that authority that direct redress should be afforded.—Con. 410, 16th Dec. 1825.

A minor and his guardian may sue a collector under reg. 2 of 1814, for having disposed of the minor's estate; but the petition of plaint must be sent in the first instance to the board of revenue.

19. The Board of Revenue, Board of Commissioners, or Board of Trade, on receipt of any petition of the nature described in the preceding clause, shall immediately take the circumstances stated therein into their consideration, in order to judge whether the redress solicited should be granted directly by Government, or whether the complainant should be left to prosecute his suit in the regular course of law.—Reg. 2, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

The boards on receipt of any such petition to determine whether the redress solicited should be granted directly by government, or whether the complainant should be left to prosecute his suit in the regular course of law.

20. Should the Board of Revenue, Board of Commissioners, or Board of Trade be of opinion, after making due enquiries on the subject either by consulting their own records, or by a reference to the local authorities, or in any other mode which may be judged advisable, that the party complaining has been actually aggrieved, and that he is entitled to redress directly from Government, they shall submit the necessary report on the subject accompanied with their opinion, as to the nature and extent of the relief which should be granted.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

The boards how to act when the party complaining may be actually aggrieved, & may appear entitled to redress from govt.

21. Should the Board of Revenue, Board of Commissioners, or Board of Trade be of opinion, after making due enquiries on the subject, that the party complaining should be left to prosecute the case in the regular course of law, they shall inform the Judge or Judges of the court from whom the petition may have been received of the result of their deliberations on that point; and such communication shall be deemed sufficient authority for the formal institution and trial of the suit in question. The boards aforesaid shall at the same time determine whether the suit should be defended by the public officers as an action against Government, or by the person affected by the complaint in his individual capacity, and shall inform the Judge or Judges by whom the case may have been referred to them of their decision on this point accordingly.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

The provisions of this regulation only applicable to cases mentioned in sec. 2 & 3, reg. 8, 1806, and not to charges mentioned in reg. 17, 1813.

22. In order to prevent misconstruction, it is hereby declared, that the foregoing provisions are only intended to apply to cases of the description of those mentioned in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 8, 1806, and are not to be considered applicable to charges of corruption, for the receipt and trial of which separate provisions have been established by Regulation 17, 1813.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Suits instituted under cl. 4, sec. 3, reg. 2, 1814, how to be entered on the file.

23. In cases in which a party preferring a petition of complaint against a Collector of the land revenue, or of customs, or against a Commercial Resident, or other person amenable to the Courts of civil judicature, for acts connected with his official duties, may not be considered entitled to redress from Government, under the provisions of clause third, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1814; and who may consequently, under the fourth clause of that section, proceed to prosecute the case in the regular course of law, such suits shall be entered on the file of the court, from the date on which the petition was originally received, and the case shall be brought to a hearing and determination, in the order in which it would have been heard and determined, had it been originally instituted on such date.—Reg. 13, 1829, Sect. 5.

SECTION III.

Suits against Public Officers—Defence of Suits—Process—Security.

Course to be pursued when the alleged defaulter has given security and instituted a suit to try the justness of the demand.

24. When the alleged defaulter has given security and instituted a suit to try the justness of the arrears of revenue demanded from him, the Civil court may direct the Collector not to sell his real property, but the Collector may attach and sell his personal property.—Con. 333, 29th Dec. 1821.

25. The zillah Judge cannot stay the sale of the real property of a defaulting malgoozar pending the investigation of a suit instituted to dispute the demand, on a petition being filed previous to the advertisement of the defaulter's lands for sale, and on good security having been furnished to fulfil the award of the court.—Con. 853, West. C. 27th Dec. 1833, Cal. C. 17th Jan. 1834.

Agents may defend suits, instituted against their assistants and officers, but at their own risk.

26. The Agents are authorized, in cases in which they may deem it advisable so to do, to undertake the defence of any suit that may be instituted in the dewanny adawlut against their assistants or any of their officers, or other persons employed by them in the business of the manufacture; but in such cases the Agent himself is to be considered as responsible for the decree of the court.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 13, Cl. 6.

27. The Agents, their covenanted and uncovenanted assistants, and head officers of aurguns shall not be liable to prosecution for any official acts of their predecessors. But persons who may be removed from an agency, or an assistantship, or the appointment of head officer of an aurgun, are to carry on, in the same manner as if they had continued in the office, all suits instituted against them in their official capacity,—unless the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, upon a consideration of the circumstances of the cases, shall deem it advisable to order the Agent for the time being to carry on the suits. This rule however is not to extend to suits in which an Agent, or a covenanted or uncovenanted assistant, or head officer of an auring who may have been removed, shall have been engaged in virtue of the orders from the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, or the Governor General in Council. All such suits are to be carried on by the Agent for the time being at the risk of Government.—Ibid, Sect. 16.

28. No Collector is to be liable to prosecution for any official acts of his predecessor. But persons who may be removed from the office of Collector of the revenue of a zillah, are to carry on, in the same manner as if they had continued in the office, all suits of the nature of those described in Section 33, in which they may be engaged, and all suits preferred against them in the Zillah courts, for sums that they may have demanded or received on behalf of Government, and for the costs and damages in which they are declared eventually answerable; as well as all suits, being appeals from decisions in suits of the last mentioned description, excepting such of those appeals as they may have preferred, or in which they may have become a party, in consequence of orders from the Board of Revenue.—Reg. 14, 1793, Sect. 41.—Benares Reg. 6, 1795, Sect. 47.—*Ced. and Cong. 30. When any process shall be issued by a Court of civil judicature or a Collector, Assistant Collector, or officer in charge of the abkarry mehal to an [Opium] Agent, the Judge or the Register of the court, or the Collector, Assistant Collector or officer aforesaid, is to transmit the process under a sealed cover, addressed to the Agent in the form of a letter, and superscribed with his name and official appellation. The Agent is immediately to acknowledge the receipt of the process by an endorsement to that effect on the instrument, and to return it under a sealed cover addressed to the officer from whom it may have issued.—Reg. 13, 1816, Sect. 22.

Civil process to be issued to the agents under a sealed cover, and to be returned by them in like manner.

31. When any process or order shall be issued by any of the Courts of civil judicature, to the Collector of a zillah, in suits instituted under this Regulation, the Register of the court immediately serving the process or order, is to transmit it under a cover sealed in the form of a letter, and superscribed with his name and official appellation, and addressed to the Collector. The Collector is to acknowledge the receipt of the process or order, on the day on which he may receive it, by a letter addressed to the Register of Cases in which security is to be demanded from collectors for costs or damages, or for the performance of decrees of the court.

32. Security is not to be demanded from the Collectors for their personal appearance, in any suit in which they may be engaged under this Regulation. Nor shall any security be required from them for the payment of costs, or for the performance of the decrees or orders of the court, in suits which are directed by this Regulation to be carried on by the vakeel of Government, and at the public expence. In suits for sums demanded or received by the Collector on behalf of Government, for the costs and damages in which he is declared eventually responsible, the courts are to require the same security from the Collector for the payment of the costs and damages, as would be taken in similar cases from individual suitors ; but they are not to require any security from him, for the performance of their decrees respecting the sums which may constitute the subject of the suits, as Government will be answerable for the due performance of them.—Reg. 14, 1793, Sect. 36.—Benares Reg. 6, 1795, Sect. 42.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 27, 1803, Sect. 39.

33. In the suits described in Section 33, which may be instituted against the Collector, he is to give the same security for the payment of the costs, and the performance of the decrees, and orders of the courts, as would be required from individual suitors in similar cases. If a Collector shall refuse, or omit, to pay within the limited period, any sum of money that may be ordered to be levied from him, either on account of the suits described in Section 33, or as costs or damages in any other suits, for the expences incurred in which he is declared eventually responsible, the court is to levy the amount from his surety by the customary process. If the court shall not be able to obtain payment from his surety, the Judge is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, who will order the amount to be paid from the public treasury, and deduct it from the allowances which may be receivable by the Collector from Government. In all other cases, if a Collector shall omit or refuse to obey any order or decree of a Court of judicature, the court from which the process shall have issued is to fine him according to the nature of the offence. In the event of the Collector refusing or omitting to pay the fine, the court is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, who, provided he shall approve of the fine, will order the amount to be stopped from the allowances which may be receivable by such Collector from Government.—Ibid.

The Court are not aware of any objection to a continuance of the established practice, in directing, by precept, the Collector, or other public officer who may have conducted the suit on the part of Government, to comply with a final decision given against Government ; and any wilful disobedience on the part of the Collector is sufficiently provided against by the existing rule, that if a Collector shall omit or refuse to obey any order or decree of a Court of judicature, the court, from which the process shall have issued, is to fine him according to the nature of the offence. In the event of the Collector refusing or omitting to pay the fine, the Court is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, who, provided he shall approve of the fine, will order the amount to be stopped from the allowances which may be receivable by such Collector from Government.—*Cir. The judge is to communicate the inability or refusal of a mooktar to undertake the trust.

40. If such person shall refuse to attend the court in person, or by a constituted vakeel, or shall decline to undertake the trust, or shall subsequently die, or be prevented by any other sufficient cause from discharging the duty confided to him, the court shall cause information of the same to be communicated to the Native officer or soldier, by an extract from the proceedings of the court enclosed in an official letter to be addressed by the Register, or in his absence by the Judge, to the commanding officer of the corps.—Reg. 15, 1816, Sect. 3, Cl. 4.

The mooktarnamah to be filed with the court's proceedings if accepted by the person therein nominated to superintend the cause.

41. If the person nominated and appointed in the mooktarnamah shall attend the court in person, or by a constituted vakeel, and shall consent to undertake the duty confided to him, the original mooktarnamah shall be deposited in the court and annexed to the proceedings which may be held on the suit. The mooktar or attorney, so appointed and attending, may at his option, either prosecute the suit, and conduct the pleadings in person, or may constitute for that purpose one or more of the authorized pleaders of the court, under the provisions of Regulation 27, 1814. In all other respects the suit shall be instituted, tried and determined in conformity with the general rules in force for the institution and trial of other similar suits, provided however that, when the Native officer or soldier, who may be the real party in the suit, shall not be himself present at the time of its decision, an authenticated copy of the decree written on unstamped paper, shall, in each instance be transmitted, through the Register of the court, to the commanding officer of the corps or detachment, for the purpose of its being communicated to the Native officer or soldier.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

The suit is to be investigated in other respects under the general regulations.

42. And whereas it is just and reasonable to extend the privileges conferred upon Native officers and soldiers by the Regulations aforesaid in respect of exemption from stamps in legal proceedings. It is hereby enacted, that all the courts of the East India Company shall receive plaints in original suits, not being suits originating in loans or in pecuniary transactions of a commercial nature, upon unstamped paper, when the plaintiff is a Native officer or soldier in the military establishment of the Presidency of Fort William, Fort St. George, or Bombay. Provided, that the value of any stamp from which a plaintiff may be exempted by the last preceding section shall be charged in the decree on behalf of Government to the party cast, or to the parties respectively in such proportions as may be deemed equitable.—Act XV. 1845, Sects. 3 and 4.

Plaints in original suits not of a commercial nature from a native officer or soldier to be received on unstamped paper.

Value of the stamp to be charged on behalf of govt. to the party cast.

43. And it is hereby enacted, that if any Native officer or soldier shall institute a suit under this Act in which he is not bonâ fide interested, or not interested to the extent alleged in the plaint, for the purpose of enabling some other person to avail himself fraudulently of the advantages conferred by this Act, such Native officer or soldier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five times the value of the stamped paper which the party interested would have required for the institution of the suit, otherwise than under this Act, such fine to be levied in the manner prescribed for the execution of decrees.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Fine to be imposed on any N. officer or soldier instituting a suit to enable another fraudulently to take advantage of this act

44. It is hereby explained that no part of the preceding clauses, or of the subsequent provisions of this Regulation, is intended to be applicable to claims originating in loans granted by a Native officer or sepoy, or in pecuniary transactions of a commercial nature.—Reg. 15, 1816, Sect. 3, Cl. 6.

This reg. not to be applicable to any pecuniary transaction of a commercial character, of a N. officer or soldier

45. For the purpose of preventing as far as may be practicable the occurrence of ex-parte trials in suits instituted against Native officers or soldiers, it is hereby further enacted, that whenever a suit may be instituted in any Civil court against a person being a Native officer or soldier attached to a regular corps on the military establishment of the Honourable Company under the Presidency of Fort William, the plaintiff or appellant shall be required to state the same distinctly in his plaint or petition of appeal; and to specify to the best of his knowledge and belief, the corps to which such Native officer or soldier may be attached. If the plaintiff or appellant shall be unable to specify the corps, it shall be the duty of the court trying the suit, to endeavour to ascertain the point by such means of enquiry, as may appear practicable and expedient.—*Ibid. —Reg. 15, 1816, App. No. 3.

The commanding officer on receipt of the notice will cause it to be duly served.

47. The commanding officer after causing the notice to be served on the party to whom it is addressed, if practicable, shall return it to the Register or Judge, with the written acknowledgement of the party, endorsed thereupon, together with any mook-tarnamah, which the party may be desirous of executing according to the form No. 1, in the Appendix, for appointing an attorney to defend the suit in his behalf. If from any cause the notice transmitted to the commanding officer cannot be served upon the Native officer, or soldier, to whom it is addressed, it shall be returned by the commanding officer to the Register or Judge from whom it may have been received, with information of the cause which has prevented the service of it. In such case the court shall either make a further reference with the view of causing the notice to be duly communicated to the Native officer or sepoy, or shall adopt such other measures for that purpose as on a consideration of the circumstances of each case may appear to be proper and consistent with the Regulations.—Reg. 15, 1816, Sect. 4, Cl. 3.

Measure to be adopted by the judge if the notice cannot be served.

SECTION V.

Suit in which Native Officers and Soldiers are Parties—Procedure and Decree.

Rules to be observed by commanding officers in granting leave of absence to soldiers and native officers to enable them to superintend their own suits.

48. When a Native officer or soldier may obtain a furlough for the purpose of instituting or defending a civil suit in any of the local Courts of civil judicature, he shall be at liberty to request from the commanding officer of the corps or detachment, an official letter addressed to the Register of the court in which the suit is to be tried; such letter shall be drawn up according to the form No. 4, of the Appendix to this Regulation, but shall not give cover to any petition, nor contain any statement or explanation of the merits or circumstances of the case.—Reg. 15, 1816, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

49. Such letter shall be delivered in person by the Native officer or soldier to the Register, or in his absence, to the Judge of the court, who is hereby authorized, at the request of the party, to nominate a vakeel of the court for the purpose of furnishing to the Native officer or soldier, his legal aid and advice in preparing the pleadings and in carrying on the prosecution or defence of the suit. The Register, or Judge, shall at the same time cause the Native officer or soldier, to be duly apprized of the provisions contained in Regulation 27, 1814, and of any other Regulation in force, relative to the duties, and established fees of the pleaders attached to the Civil courts, which must of course be observed whenever a Native officer, or soldier, may wish to consult or employ a pleader.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The court is authorized to nominate a vakeel on behalf of the native officer or soldier.

Provisions of reg. 27, 1814, to be duly attended to on such occasions.

50. Nothing contained in the preceding section shall be construed to prohibit a Native officer, or soldier, from pleading his cause in person, or from employing any other authorized pleader of the court, whom he may prefer, instead of the pleader nominated for him by the court.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

A native officer or soldier may plead his own cause or appoint his own pleader.

51. The Courts of civil judicature are hereby authorized and required to bring to a hearing without regard to the order in which they may be filed, all suits excepting those of the nature alluded to in the sixth clause of Section 3 of this Regulation, in which a Native officer, or soldier, who may have obtained leave of absence from his corps, may be a party, and to pass a decision on such suits as speedily as may be consistent with the general rules in force, and with the due administration of justice.—Ibid, Sect. 7, Cl. 1.

Suits instituted under this regulation to be heard as soon as possible.

52. If the cause cannot be brought to a decision previously to the expiration of the furlough granted to such Native officer or soldier, the Judge or Register before whom the suit may be depending, is hereby vested with a discretionary authority to grant to such Native officer, or soldier, an extension of his leave of absence for a period sufficient to admit of a reference being made to the commanding officer of the corps, with a view to ascertain whether the furlough can be prolonged for any further specific period. But whenever a Judge or Register may avail himself of the discretion above vested in him, he shall be careful to report the same immediately in an official letter to the commanding officer of the corps to which the Native officer or sepoy may be attached.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Mode to be adopted by the court in the event of the expiration of the furlough before the cause be decided.

53. In all cases in which a Native officer or soldier may return to his corps before a final decision can be passed in his suit, he shall be at liberty either to leave the further conduct of the suit to a constituted mooktar under a mooktarnamah, duly executed according to the form No. 1, in the Appendix to this Regulation, or to one or more of the established pleaders of the court empowered to act for him by a regular vakalutnamah. In either case a copy of the decree which may be passed in the suit shall be transmitted for the information of the Native officer or soldier, in the manner prescribed in the fifth clause of Section 3 of this Regulation.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Ibidem.

54. Whenever any land or real property belonging to a Native officer or soldier may be attached by a Court of justice for the purpose of realizing the amount of any judgment, fine or penalty imposed on such Native officer or soldier, the court shall cause notice of the same to be issued in the manner prescribed in the second clause of Section 4 of this Regulation, and shall postpone the sale for such definite period as may appear reasonable, for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the Native officer or soldier to discharge the amount of the judgment, fine or penalty.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Rules to be observed when any landed or real property belonging to a soldier or N. officer is attached.

Nothing in this regulation to be construed as affecting the provisions of reg. 20, 1810, or any modification of the latter regulation.

55. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to affect or to alter the rules and provisions of Regulation 20, 1810; or to authorize the commanding officer of any corps or detachment to correspond with the Civil courts, or with the Collectors, regarding the merits of any judgment, or order, passed by them in the discharge of their official duty under the provisions of this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 10, Cl. 1.

The provisions of this regulation not to be considered applicable to certain descriptions of persons.

56. Nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to modify or to affect the existing rules for the trial of civil suits, in which persons who may have been discharged from the service, or who may be attached to provincial battalions, or to local or irregular corps, or who may be camp followers, or non-combatant retainers of the army, or who may be relations, or members of the family of a Native officer, or soldier, may be parties; the foregoing provisions of this Regulation are to be considered as strictly and exclusively applicable to Native officers or soldiers who may be entertained in regular corps and on the actual strength of the army, on the establishment of the Presidency of Fort William.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Reg. 15, 1816 is applicable to native officers and soldiers on foreign service.

57. Held on a reference from the Judge of Moradabad, that the provisions of Regulation 15, 1816, are applicable to Native officers and soldiers of irregular corps on service in Afghanistan, that is, on foreign service.—Con. 1335, West. C. 28th April, Cal. C. 20th May 1842.

The native invalid battalions are entitled to its benefit.

58. The Native invalid battalions are considered within the description abovementioned, and consequently entitled to the benefit of the Regulation in question.—Con. 264, 29th Jan. 1817.

The pay of a sepoy cannot be attached to liquidate a decree against him.

59. With reference to your letter No. 216, of the 24th July last, I am directed by the Court to inform you that the pay of a sepoy cannot be attached in liquidation of the amount of a decree against him. The decree-holder is of course at liberty to proceed against the person or property of the sepoy, as in any other case.—Con. 1175, West. C. 31st Aug., Cal. C. 21st Sept. 1838.

SECTION VI.

Actions for Debt against Persons in or connected with the Army.

For the Rules regarding the cognizance of suits against military men, vide Chapter I. Nos. 441 to 446.

A military court of requests is a crown court, and can alone define the extent of its own jurisdiction.

60. The Military Court of Requests being a King's court, constituted by an Act of Parliament, the Sudder court are not competent to determine the extent of its jurisdiction, which must be decided by the Military court itself under the laws enacted for its guidance.—Con. 876, West. C. 26th March, Cal. C. 18th April 1834, par. 2.

Civil servants, merchants and others residing within the limits of a cantonment are subject to military courts of request.

61. The Court are of opinion that the civil servants of the Company, merchants, and others mentioned in paragraph 2 of your letter, (who reside within the limits of a cantonment, although totally unconnected with the army,) are under the terms of the Regulation subject during their actual residence, to the jurisdiction of a Military Court of Requests, and to that of no other court, in all cases of personal action of debt; they are consequently exempted from the authority of the Company's courts while so resident.—Ibid, par. 3.

62. And it is hereby enacted, subject to the aforesaid proviso, that within the territories of the East India Company actions of debt and other personal actions against Native officers, soldiers and other persons amenable to articles of war for the Native forces in the military service of the East India Company, or residing within any station or cantonment, and carrying on any trade or business in a military bazar, shall be cognizable before a Military court and not elsewhere, provided the value in question shall not exceed 200 rupees, and the defendant was a person of the description abovementioned, when the cause of action arose, and when the suit was instituted. Provided, that no suit shall be brought before any Military court under this Act to determine any dispute of caste or concerning any right to real property.—Act XI. 1841, Sect. 2.

Actions against native officers, &c. shall be cognizable before a military court if value does not exceed 200 rs. But disputes of caste and concerning real property not to be determined before military court.

63. No process of arrest before judgment shall issue from any Civil court in any action against a person residing or carrying on any trade or occupation, relating to the service or supply to the troops at any house, shop, or fixed place within the precincts of a garrison, cantonment or military bazar, unless it be averred in the plaint that the cause of action exceeds sicca rupees two hundred, or that the defendant though resident or carrying on such trade or occupation within the military limits is not registered, or that though registered he has not within the space of three months preceding, truly and bonâ fide exercised the occupation in respect of which he is registered within the limits; in all cases where such averment shall be made, the Judge issuing the process shall endorse upon it as the case may be "cause of action above sicca rupees two hundred," or "defendant not registered," or "defendant not entitled to privilege of registry," and shall sign the endorsement. All process so endorsed shall if the defendant be within the limits of the garrison, cantonment or military bazar, be delivered in the first instance to the commanding officer, and be executed through him as in other cases; but if the defendant be found without the limits of the garrison, cantonment or military bazar, he may be arrested by the civil officer on process so endorsed; and in all cases of such arrests whether made within or without the limits, if at the trial the plaintiff shall not prove according to the purport of the endorsement, either that the cause of action exceed sicca rupees two hundred, or that the defendant though resident or carrying on such trade or occupation as abovementioned within the military limits was not registered, or that though registered he had not during the space of three months preceding, truly and bonâ fide exercised the trade or occupation in respect of which he is registered within the limits, he shall be nonsuited with costs.—Reg. 20, 1810, Sect. 24.

No process of arrest before judgment to issue from the civil courts, unless in cases exceeding 200 rs.

Rules in cases exceeding that amount.

64. No person registered as attached to the bazar of a corps, and bonâ fide carrying on the trade or occupation in respect of which he is registered in the place allotted or ordinarily used for the bazar of the corps, shall be liable to be arrested on process before judgment out of any Civil court, for any cause of action not exceeding sicca rupees two hundred. In all cases in which persons of this description are arrested by civil process,

Similar rules as to persons attached to the bazar of corps.

it shall be declared in the plaint, that the cause of action does exceed sicca rupees two hundred, in which case the Judge shall endorse on the process "cause of action exceeding sicca rupees two hundred," and shall sign the endorsement; and if the plaintiff at the trial of the cause shall not prove a cause of action exceeding sicca rupees two hundred, he shall be nonsuited with costs; and in case any person registered as attached to the bazar of a corps, and bonâ fide carrying on the occupation in respect of which he is registered within the limits allotted, or ordinarily used for the military bazar, shall be arrested under a civil process, which is not so endorsed, the commanding officer, if he shall after due enquiry, be satisfied that such person was so bonâ fide carrying on the occupation, in respect of which he is registered within the limits aforesaid, shall make out and sign a certificate in the following form:—"I ———, commanding officer of ———, do hereby certify that ——— of ——— was registered on the ——— day of ———, in the year ——— as a person attached to the bazar of the corps in the occupation of a ———, and that he did at the time at his being arrested on the ——— day of ——— last, actually and bonâ fide follow that occupation as a person attached to the bazar of the corps within the space allotted or ordinarily used for the bazar." Upon such certificate signed by the commanding officer being produced to the Judge who issued the process, he shall cause the same to be recorded in his cutcherry, and shall make an order for releasing the person arrested from confinement; but the plaintiff shall be at liberty if he thinks fit, to proceed in his action, and shall be bound to prove at the trial, either that the cause of action exceeds sicca rupees two hundred, or that the defendant was not registered as attached to the bazar of the corps, or that although registered he was not actually and bonâ fide carrying on the occupation in respect of which he was so registered at the time of the action brought, and in failure of such proof he shall be nonsuited with costs.—Ibid, Sect. 25.

How process of arrest, either civil or criminal, is to be executed within the limits of military stations.

65. In all cases which it may be necessary to execute any process of arrest, criminal or civil, within the limits of a garrison, cantonment, military station, or military bazar (the process of the Supreme Court only excepted) the officers entrusted with the execution of such process of arrest, shall in the first instance carry the same to the commanding officer, or if he shall happen to be absent, to the senior officer actually present in the garrison, cantonment or station; and the commanding officer or such senior officer upon such process being produced to him, shall back the same with his signature, and shall forthwith use his utmost endeavours to cause the person or persons named in such process to be discovered, and if within the limits of the garrison, cantonment, station or bazar, to be arrested and delivered according to the exigency of the process to the civil officer charged with the execution thereof, but nothing herein contained is to be construed to prevent the service by the civil officer in the usual way, of summonses, subpoenas, or other process of mere citation without arrest.—Ibid, Sect. 19.

Such rule not to extend to the service of process short of arrest.

Commanding officers on special application or otherwise

66. The commanding officers of stations are hereby required to afford every protection to the officers of the Judges, Magistrates, and Justices of the Peace, in the discharge of the duty entrusted to them, whether any special application shall have been made to them for such aid or support, or otherwise.—Reg. 3, 1809, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

required to afford protection to officers of the civil authority, in the discharge of their duties.

67. The provisions of this Regulation respecting the trial of petty offences committed within the limits of garrisons, cantonments, military stations or military station bazars, and the provisions of this Regulation, respecting the execution of process of arrest before judgment against registered persons attached to station bazars, are to be considered as applicable only to those garrisons, cantonments and stations, the limits whereof shall be laid down in plans approved and confirmed by the Governor General in Council, in the manner described in Section 5 of this Regulation; and they shall be in force in such garrisons, cantonments and military stations respectively, from the time that the plans so approved and confirmed shall have been deposited at the head-quarters, and in the cutcherry of the Magistrate, in the manner prescribed in Section 6. With regard to those garrisons, cantonments or stations to which it may not be found practicable to assign local limits for the purposes of this Regulation, special provisions will be made hereafter, according to the circumstances of each case: in the mean time the provisions of Regulation 3 of 1809, are to be considered as in full force with respect to those garrisons, cantonments and military stations, and the station bazars attached thereto.—Reg. 20, 1810, Sect. 20.

To what description of military stations those rules are for the present confined.

68. Whenever an award of a Military court, acting under the provisions of Section 22, Regulation 20, 1810, against a defendant being a Native of the description mentioned in the said section, shall decree a sum beyond the extent of the property which such defendant may be found to possess within the reach of military authority, but not exceeding two hundred rupees, it shall be competent to the Judge of any zillah or city to give effect to such award, by levying the amount, or a portion of it, from any of the defendant's property which may be pointed out within the jurisdiction of the said zillah or city, on being furnished with a copy of the award, and a certificate from the commanding officer of the district, of the extent of the amount unrealized; and the zillah or city Judge to whom such application shall be made within the period of three months, from the date of the award, is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to execute the same in the mode prescribed by the existing Regulations for the sale of property, in the execution of decrees when passed by a Zillah or City court.—Reg. 5, 1828, Sect. 2.

Judges of zillah & city courts to give effect to awards of military courts in certain cases.

69. Property situated in a cantonment cannot be transferred contrary to the rules in force within such cantonment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th Aug. 1847.

Property in a cantonment cannot be transferred contrary to the rules in force there.

SECTION VII.

Suits instituted against Persons in the Salt Department.

70. Persons instituting suits in the Dewanny adawlut against any of the officers of the Agents, or any individuals under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, are to specify their being so engaged and employed. If the notice or summons is to be served during the months of Sawun, Bhadoon and Assin, it shall be served on the defendant, in the same manner, as on other defendants not employed in the salt manufacture. If the notice or summons is to be served between the commencement of Kartick, and the end of Assar, the notice or summons with a copy of the complaint shall be enclosed in a sealed cover, addressed to the Agent, and superscribed with the official signature of the Judge or Register. It shall be at the option of the Agent to execute, or to cause one of his officers, or any other person, whom he may think proper, to execute the security required from defendants, in cases in which such security may be considered necessary, or to leave the party to find the required security; and in the latter case, and in the event of the summons being committed to an officer of the court, if the officer shall entertain doubts of the responsibility of the surety so offered, and the Agent shall declare such surety to be responsible, the officer shall accept the security. If a requisition of security for appearance should be made, and the Agent should not deem it expedient to order any of his officers or any other person to become security, and the defendant himself should not be able to find such security, as the Agent may deem responsible, the Agent is to cause the party summoned to accompany the officer of the court to the court, or if the summons shall not have been committed to the charge of an officer, he shall cause him to be conveyed before the court.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 21, Cl. 1.

Superintendants to furnish to the zillah courts, lists of chowkies and officers employed at them.

71. Superintending officers of the chowkies are to be careful to keep the several Judges and Magistrates, in whose jurisdictions the chowkies are stationed, furnished with lists of the chowkies, pointing out their situations and specifying the names of the officers attached to them, and in the event of any change taking place in the situation of a chowkey, or among the officers belonging to a chowkey, the same shall be immediately notified to the Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 23.

Rules to be observed on the institution of suits against such officers.

72. Persons instituting suits in the Dewanny adawlut against any of the officers of the salt chowkies, are to specify the nature of their employment, and the notice or summons to be served upon such officers, with copy of the complaint against them, shall be enclosed in a sealed cover to the Superintendent of the chowkey to which the party may be attached, who will, without delay, cause the notice to be served in the regular manner, or send persons to take charge of the chowkey, and cause the party when summoned to accompany the officer of the court to the court, or if the summons shall not have been committed to the charge of an officer, he shall cause such party to be conveyed before the court.—Ibid, Sect. 24.

Ditto when summoned as witnesses.

73. Requisitions to officers of the salt chowkies to appear as witnesses shall be served in the manner above prescribed in Section 24 of this Regulation, but the Judges are to be careful not to summon such officers, excepting when their attendance shall be necessary, and on their appearance they are to have them examined and dismissed with all practicable despatch, so that they may be absent from their chowkies as short a time as possible.—Ibid, Sect 27.

74. The Salt Agents are to empower their respective assistants, whether covenanted servants of the Company or European uncovenanted assistants, and also an authorized vakeel of the Dewanny adawlut, or any other person whom the Agents may think it proper to station at the place, at which the court may be held, to execute the securities specified in the preceding clause for persons employed in the salt manufacture. The Agents are to be careful to keep the Judge furnished with a list of the persons so empowered, specifying also the place at which they may usually reside, and Judges are authorized in instances in which they may deem it proper, either from the distance of the place of abode of the Agent, from the place at which the person to be summoned may reside, or other circumstances, to order the summons to be enclosed to one of the persons so empowered to become security, instead of transmitting it to the Agent himself under the first clause of this section—in which case such person shall proceed in the manner prescribed to the Agent, where the summons may be sent immediately to him.—Ibid, Sect 21, Cl. 2.

Further rules with regard to the mode of furnishing security for such persons

75. If a suit shall be preferred in the Dewanny adawlut against any of the officers of the Agents, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and employed therein, without specifying that he is so engaged, and employed, and a notice or a summons shall in consequence be ordered to be served on him in the same manner as on other defendants, between the commencement of Kartick and the end of Assar, the officer serving the notice or summons, on the circumstance of the defendant being so employed being notified to him by the Agent or any of his officers, or by the defendant himself, shall deliver such notice or summons to the nearest person empowered to execute securities whether the Agent, or his covenanted or uncovenanted assistants, or the head officer of an auring, who shall proceed in the manner prescribed to the Agent in clause first of this section. If an officer charged with a summons against any person of the above description shall receive the notification of the defendant being employed in the manufacture from the defendant only and shall entertain doubts of his being so employed; or if he shall not entertain any such doubts, but shall apprehend that he will abscond whilst he (the officer) is repairing with the summons to the person empowered to execute the securities: he shall in such case, carry the defendant with the summons to the person so empowered, and shall not release his person until the required securities have been executed.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

But when a notice or summons may be served in the ordinary form on such persons

76. The Judges and Magistrates are empowered in particular cases in which it may appear to them indispensably necessary for the purposes of justice, to order the personal attendance of any Native officer or person in any wise concerned or employed in the salt manufacture, whether he may be a party or a witness in the suit or prosecution, at any time during the manufacturing season, notwithstanding any thing that may be said to the contrary in those clauses, and to cause process to be executed upon him for that purpose, in the same manner as upon other individuals; but in such cases, the Judges and Magistrates are to record on their proceedings, their reasons for deviating from the provisions contained in the said clauses, which are to be considered as the general rules for issuing and executing such notices, summonses and warrants ; and in the notice, summons or warrant, they are to specify that it has been specially ordered to be so executed in virtue of the discretionary power vested in them by this clause, and they are moreover strictly enjoined to refrain from every unnecessary exercise of that power.—Ibid, Cl. 9.

Rules of process against such persons when charged with a bailable offence.

Decrees against native officers and persons employed in the salt manufacture, how to be executed.

77. If a decree shall be passed against a Native officer, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture, and actually employed in it, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced at any time between the commencement of Kartick and the end of Assar, recourse may be had to his property, but his person shall not be attached or molested during that period. At the close however of the manufacturing season, the Agent shall be responsible for his appearing before the court, if required, but the salt, or the advances, or any implements belonging to the Company, which may be in his hands shall not be liable for the decree. But during Sawun, Bhadoon and Assin, and also in the manufacturing season, if the Salt Agent shall signify to the Judge, through an authorized vakeel of the court, that their attendance is not required in the business of the manufacture, the persons of all such individuals so employed, shall be equally liable with their property for decrees.—Ibid, Sect. 22.

Decrees against chowkey officers how to be executed.

78. If a decree shall be passed against an officer of a salt chowkey, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced, recourse may be had to his property ; but his person, if attached, shall not be removed without previous notice being given to the party under whose superintendence the officer acts, that another person may be immediately deputed to take charge of his place during his absence.—Ibid, Sect. 29.

Certain rules enacted.

79. From the beginning of Kartick to the end of Assar, no person under engagements and employed in the salt manufacture, shall be liable to be arrested for a demand of rent, nor to be summoned to the cutcherry of any proprietor, or farmer of land, or any person holding, or entrusted with the collection of the rents, or revenue of lands, or the management thereof, under any pretence whatever. If any such proprietors, farmers, or other persons aforesaid, shall have a claim for, or relating to rent on any persons so engaged, and employed, and shall be desirous of enforcing it during the period abovementioned, they shall either distrain for the amount, under the existing Regulations for levying distress for the recovery of arrears of land rent, or sue the stated defaulter for it in the Dewanny adawlut, or state their claim in writing to the Agent, who, if he shall deem it expedient so to do, shall cause the stated defaulter to satisfy it himself, and stop the amount by kistbundy from his future advances ; so that his labour on account of the manufacture may not be interrupted. If the claimant shall prefer applying in the first instance to the Agent, and he shall not afford satisfaction for the claim, the claimant, must distrain, or commence a civil prosecution as above pointed out. But the salt advances, or implements belonging to the Company in the hands of the defaulter, shall not be held liable for the claim, nor shall they under any pretence whatsoever, be distrained, seized, sold or otherwise disposed of by the claimant, or by the court, in satisfaction of his demand.—Ibid, Sect. 20, Cl. 2.

SECTION VIII.

• Suits by Persons in the Salt Department for Compulsion, or for Extortion.

80. If a Salt Agent shall compel, or use any means, or cause any of his officers or others, to compel any molungee, beoparree, or other person to receive advances, or to contract for, or engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, the Judge of the Dewanny adawlut, on proof of the charge to his satisfaction, shall adjudge the contract or engagement null and void, and direct the complainant to be discharged, and cause the advances, if any should have been made, to be returned by him, and award such costs and damages against the Agent, as may appear to him equitable. The Agent so offending, shall moreover be liable to be dismissed from his office by the Governor General in Council.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 8.

Redress how to be afforded in cases of compulsion by a salt agent.

81. If the assistant to a Salt Agent, whether a covenanted servant of the Company or an European not in the Company's service, or any Native officer attached to a Salt Agency, shall compel, or use any means, or cause any inferior officer or others to compel any molungee, beoparree or other person to receive advances, or to contract for or engage in the provision, manufacture, or transportation of salt, he shall on conviction before the Dewanny adawlut, be made to pay to the complainant a sum equal to the amount of the whole of the advances which such complainant would have been entitled to receive, had he voluntarily entered into the contract, or engagement, with any further compensation to which he may appear entitled, and the complainant shall be immediately discharged, and any advances that he may have received shall be taken back from him. In the cases above specified, the party offending shall be liable to be dismissed from office by the Governor General in Council, the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, or Salt Agent, according as the appointment or removal of such officer, may rest with the one or the other of the said authorities; and in all such cases it shall be the duty of the court before which such charge may be proved against any Agent, assistant to an Agent, or officers aforesaid, to report the circumstance to the aforesaid board.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Redress how to be afforded in cases of compulsion by European assistants, or native officers of salt agency.

82. Covenanted and uncovenanted assistants, and head officers of aurungs, shall be held responsible for any compulsion that may be used for the purposes specified in the foregoing section by the gomashthas, peons and other persons subject to their authority, unless it shall appear that it was had recourse to without their knowledge or connivance, and that they afforded all practicable redress immediately on being apprized of the circumstance: where persons subject to the authority of such assistant or head officer shall be convicted of using such compulsion without his knowledge or connivance, besides dismissal from office, they shall be liable to the same penalties as are prescribed in the preceding section for cases in which the Native officers attached to a Salt Agency may be convicted of using compulsion.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

Such assistants and head officers of aurungs how far responsible for acts of compulsion on the part of officers subject to their authority.

83. If any contractor, molungee or beoparree, having received advances or entered into engagements for the provision of salt, shall be convicted before the Dewanny adawlut of compelling, directly or indirectly, any labourer, or other person, to receive advances, or to engage in the manufacture, he shall on conviction before the Dewanny adawlut, be liable to the same penalty, with the exception of dismissal from office, as is directed to be inflicted in the cases specified in Section 9 of this Regulation. And that no contractor, molungee or beoparree, may plead ignorance of the above rule, a clause to the effect thereof shall be inserted in their contracts.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 11.

Courts how to proceed on complaints of molungees & others, that they were compelled to enter into engagements.

84. To prevent persons who may voluntarily receive advances and give a receipt for the amount, afterwards declaring that they were compelled to receive the advances, (or in order to get released from their engagement,) the courts, in the event of any complaint being made to them by or on behalf of a molungee, labourer, or other person, that he was compelled to receive advances, are directed, excepting in cases in which they may have full and satisfactory evidence before them that compulsion was used, to consider the receipt as evidence prima facie of the advances having been voluntarily received, and they shall not release the complainant from his engagements, or prevent his proceeding to the place of manufacture, should he not have proceeded there, nor bring him from thence, should he have repaired thither, until they shall have completed the trial of the complainant, and shall be satisfied that the engagement was compulsive, and repugnant to this Regulation. The Agents are to apply this rule in similar complaints that may be preferred to them.—Ibid, Sect. 14.

The same course to be followed by salt agents.

Reg. 9, 1808, sec. 38, does not apply to native salt officers; but they are punishable for extortion under the general regulations.

85. The provisions of Section 38, Regulation 9, 1808, which declare Native officers of the custom department, subject for extortion to imprisonment, fine, and corporal punishment, are not applicable to Native officers of the salt department, who however are of course amenable for acts of extortion under the general Regulations.—Con. 476, 8th April 1828.

SECTION IX.

Appeal to the Civil Courts on the Confiscation of Salt.

Proprietor may sue in the civil court, and stay the order for confiscation on giving good security.

86. Provided always, that if the proprietor of such confiscated salt, being dissatisfied with the order of confiscation, shall immediately give responsible security for the amount of the penalty, and further, within a period of one month, shall institute a regular suit in the Dewanny adawlut against the officer who may have seized the salt, for damages : in such case the Magistrate shall suspend the execution of his order, and stay all further proceedings ; but if, at the expiration of one month from the date of the order of confiscation, no suit shall have been instituted by the proprietor of the salt, the Magistrate is without further delay to levy the penalty from his security, and otherwise to carry the order of confiscation into full effect.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 80.

Security may be dispensed with at the discretion of the magistrate.

87. In all cases where any proprietor of salt confiscated for being adulterated with kharee noon, or any of the substances aforesaid, may be unable to give the above security for the amount of the penalty, the Magistrate, upon his being satisfied of the inability of the party to give the security, is hereby empowered to dispense with security ; taking from the party bail for his appearance only, to abide the issue of the suit ; or in the event of the suit not being instituted within the period prescribed by the preceding section, to answer in his own person the amount of the penalty ; and in the mean time the Magistrate shall keep the salt under attachment.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 81.

88. In all cases in which it may appear that an attachment, or seizure has been improperly made by an officer of Government, the proprietor of the salt shall be entitled to recover full damages for all the loss and expence to which he may have been subjected in consequence, by a regular suit in the Dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, Sect. 82.

Damages to be awarded in cases of improper attachment of seizure.

89. But should it appear to the court that there was no just ground for objecting to the order of confiscation, and that the suit has been instituted merely with a view to create delay or for vexatious purposes, it shall be at the option of the court to impose a fine of fifteen rupees per maund instead of ten rupees as prescribed in Section 77 of this Regulation : the decision in such case, as well as in all cases in which a regular suit may be instituted, being subject to the existing rules for appeals to the superior courts.—Ibid, Sect. 83.

And fine may be imposed if the suit appear frivolous or vexatious.

90. In the event of a regular suit being instituted for the purpose of setting aside the order of confiscation, the salt shall be held under attachment by the court until a final decision may be passed in the cause.—Ibid, Sect. 84.

Salt to be held under attachment pending the suit.

91. Where the revenue officers illegally confiscated salt, the owner recovered, as damages, the prime cost, boat hire, and expected profits.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Feb. 1831, vol. 5, p. 90.

The owner of salt illegally confiscated, recovered, as damages, every thing.

92. A., the gomastah of a Salt Agent, had illegally and without official authority, attached and held possession of a salt golah in charge of an inferior officer, B. The Sudder dewanny adawlut affirm the Zillah court's award of the claim for deficiency proved against A. in the first instance, and ultimately against B. and his surety ; who were not held discharged by the tort of A.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Dec. 1832, vol. 5, p. 242.

Decision of the S. D. A., in a case of attachment of a salt golah.

93. The Circular order of a Board imposing rules of practice upon its subordinates, beyond the requirements of law, cannot be pleaded in bar of a legal penalty.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th March 1846, p. 78.

The cir. order of a board, cannot be pleaded in bar of a legal penalty.

94. Scraping a salt chur, with a view to collect salt earth, is not an offence punishable under the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 10, 1826.—Con. 1211, West. C. 19th April, Cal. C. 10th May 1839.

Scraping a salt chur is no legal offence.

95. The Court of Nizamut adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 26th ultimo, requesting to know what process should be observed for the realization of the fine, under Section 12, Regulation 1, 1824, on persons illicitly cultivating salt churs.—In reply, I am desired to acquaint you, that the Regulation above quoted being silent as to the mode in which the fine is to be levied, the Court are of opinion, that it should be commuted to imprisonment under the rule contained in Section 3, Regulation 14, 1797, and Section 19, Regulation 9, 1807, whenever the party on whom the fine may be imposed shall neglect to pay it.—Con. 388, 3d June 1825.

Mode in which fines for illegally cultivating salt churs should be realized.

A chellan is an equally valid instrument for the protection of the salt as a rowannah.

96. Sections 36 and 41, Regulation 10, 1819, clearly recognize a chellan, granted for a portion of a lot of salt for which a rowannah may have been taken out, as an instrument equally valid as a rowannah to protect the salt covered by it from confiscation. A different construction would warrant the confiscation of a boat laden with salt, the owner of which, trusting to the validity of the chellan, might have hired it without any design to aid in a smuggling transaction. Nor can this construction enable the holder of a rowannah to transport a greater quantity of salt under its cover than the quantity specified in it ; as an endorsement on the rowannah, shewing the quantity of each portion of the lot described in it, for which a chellan may be granted, is all that is required to prevent its serving to protect more than the portion remaining entitled to its protection.—Con. 653, 12th Aug. 1831.

The chellan must be produced on demand, on pain of confiscation.

97. Section 3, Regulation 9, 1806, requires the immediate production, to the officer of search, of the chellan covering the salt laden on a boat, on pain of confiscation ; and the court cannot afford relief.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Feb. 1831, vol. 5, p. 90.

SECTION X.

Notice to be given of the Establishment of Illicit Works, and Penalty for not doing so.

Modifies cls. 32 and 33, reg. 10, 1819. Proprietors and farmers upon whose land there are salt works, not worked under contract with salt agent, must give notice of the same to officer of police, &c. within ten days, like notice to be given by persons employed in collecting land revenue of mehal on part of govt., or of court of wards, &c. Omission to give notice subject to fine of 500 rs. for every khalarree or salt work on lands. Fine recoverable by distress.

98. And it is hereby enacted, in modification of Clauses 32 and 33 of Regulation 10, 1819, of the Bengal code, that it shall be the duty of every party under direct engagements with Government for the land revenue, either as a proprietor or farmer, and of every proprietor of lakhiraj lands upon whose zemindary, farm or lakhiraj estate, there shall be any works producing salt, otherwise than under contract with a Salt Agent or on account of Government, to give notice of the same in writing to the nearest public officer of Police or land revenue or of the salt department, within ten days from the date on which the works were first prepared ; and in like manner it shall be the duty of every person employed in the collection of the land revenue of any mehal on the part of Government, or of the Court of Wards, or of joint proprietors, to give like notice in respect to salt manufactured on the lands under their management ; and every such proprietor, farmer, proprietor of lakhiraj estate or manager, who shall knowingly omit to give such notice, shall be liable on conviction before the Judge of any zillah or city to a fine of 500 rupees, for every khalarree or salt work established on his lands ; and such knowledge shall not be required to be established by direct proof, but may be inferred from circumstances at the discretion of the Judge deciding the case ; and any fine that may be adjudged under this section, shall be recoverable by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or by process of execution taken out by any Salt Agent or Superintendent of chowkies in the manner provided for decrees of the Civil court.—Act XXIX. 1839, Sect. 27.

The judge's order cannot be contested by a regular action.

99. The order of the zillah Judge under Section 27, Act XXIX. of 1838, imposing a fine on a landholder for omitting to give notice of the establishment of illicit salt works on his estate, cannot be contested by a regular action.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st Nov. 1842, p. 41.

An appeal from the 100. Held, that an appeal from a Judge's order, under Section 27, Act XXIX. 1838, inflicting a fine on a landholder for permitting the manufacture of contraband salt on his estate, judge's order can be admitted only on special grounds.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th July 1841, p. 14.

101. A zemindar does not relieve himself from liability to fine under Section 27, Act XXIX. 1838, for the erection of illicit khalarces on his estate, by giving his estate in farm.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th Oct. 1841, p. 19. A zemindar is liable under the above section after he has farmed his estate.

102. It is not competent to a Civil court to reduce the penalty prescribed by Section 27, Act XXIX. of 1838, to be levied from landholders and others for omitting to give notice of the establishment on their lands of illicit khalarces or salt works.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th Dec. 1842, p. 41. The civil court cannot reduce the penalty prescribed in the above section.

103. The penalty prescribed by Section 27, Act XXIX. 1838, in cases of landholders neglecting to give information of the establishment of illicit salt khalarces on their estates, is personal, and cannot be levied from the heirs of the negligent party.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th May 1843, p. 49. The penalty is personal, and cannot be levied from the heirs.

104. If only one or some of the sharers of an estate have been prosecuted by the salt officers under Section 27, Act XXIX. 1838, for neglecting to give information of illicit salt works on their estate, the Judge should not originate any charge against the other sharers: each sharer prosecuted by the salt officers is liable on conviction, to the full penalty prescribed.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th July 1843, p. 52. If only some sharers be prosecuted under that section, the judge should not originate charges against the other sharers.

105. A conviction under Section 27, Act XXIX. 1838, is appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut only on special grounds as prescribed by Section 32 of the Act. A conviction under the first named section is not vitiated by the omission to hold the local investigation prescribed by Section 99, Regulation 10, 1819.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th May 1847. A conviction under sec. 27, is not vitiated by omitting to hold the legal investigation.

SECTION XI.

Realization or Remission of Fines in the Salt Department—Interference of the Civil Courts.

106. Petitions, and other papers presented in suits, informations, and complaints, preferred under this Regulation before a Salt Agent, or superintending officer of salt chowkies, as well as all papers filed in the Courts of judicature in cases brought before them under the provisions hereinafter contained, shall not be required to be written on stamped paper, and all engagements contracted between Government, or its officers, and individuals, under this Regulation, shall be received and admitted in evidence in the different Courts of judicature, and by the Salt Agents and superintending officers of salt chowkies although not written on stamped paper.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 98. Petitions and papers in cases connected with this regulation before salt agents and superintendants need not be written on stamped paper, nor in cases before the courts of judicature under the following provisions of this regulation.

107. Whenever a penalty or fine may be adjudged against any person under the provisions of this Regulation, [viz. Regulation 10, 1819,] it shall be competent to the officer or authority adjudging the same, in case the amount be not discharged, to award a period of imprisonment in commutation, according to the following scale, in addition to such imprisonment as such officer or authority may be specially empowered to adjudge. Fines or penalties adjudged under this reg commutable to imprisonment according to specified scale.

If the amount of the fine or penalty do not exceed fifty rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than fifteen days, and not more than one month. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed fifty, or be less than one hundred rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than one month, and not more than two months. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed one hundred rupees, and be not more than rupees five hundred, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation, shall not be less than two months, and not more than four months. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed five hundred rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation, shall not be less than four months, and not more than six months.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 110.

Imprisonment can only be awarded in commutation of fine.

108. The principle of Section 110, Regulation 10, 1819, is that imprisonment can only be awarded in commutation of fine.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 12th Aug. 1845, p. 71.

The fine should be in proportion to the quantity of salt seized, and not the number of persons engaged in the transaction.

109. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 18th instant, and its enclosures, submitting the case of certain individuals seized with illicit salt, and soliciting the opinion of the Court relative to the intent and meaning of Section 67, Regulation 10, 1819.—In reply I am desired to acquaint you that the Court are disposed to be of opinion, that under the rule above cited, the fine should be in proportion to the quantity of illicit salt seized, and not according to the number of persons engaged in the illicit transaction.—You are not however, to consider this construction as operating to prevent the exercise of your own discretion, or to exempt you from an adherence, in the particular case, to the rules prescribed for your guidance in the Regulation cited by you.—Con. 471, 22d Feb. 1828.

Particular rules regarding the realization of fines.

110. Fines not exceeding 50 rupees must be made commutable by imprisonment, and the orders executed by the confinement of the individual for the prescribed period, unless the fine be paid in the interim, when the party is entitled to his discharge. If the fine exceed 50 rupees but be less than 400 rupees, and the order contain no provision for commuting the same to imprisonment, in default of payment the Judge must proceed to realize the fine exactly in the same manner as he would do in execution of a decree of his own court of the same amount as the fine imposed, taking care that the term of imprisonment in no case exceeds the scale laid down in Section 110, Regulation 10, 1819.—Con. 1374, Cal. C. 27th Jan., West. C. 17th Feb. 1843.

The fines for a breach of the salt laws commutable to a term of imprisonment.

111. The fines imposed for a breach of the salt laws are commutable to a term of imprisonment. If the fine be paid before the defendant is committed to jail, the case is concluded : if forthcoming after confinement, the case is also disposed of and the prisoner must be released : if the fine be not paid, the person fined must undergo the prescribed period of imprisonment in commutation, and the levy of the fine is then barred, that is, the fine is not demandable after the imprisonment has been undergone and the party released.—Con. 1135, Cal. and West. C. 2d March 1838.

Salt agents and superintendants how to proceed with persons who may not pay fines not exceeding fifty rs. adjudged against them.

112. In cases in which a Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies shall adjudge any person to pay a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, if the fine be not immediately paid he shall send the party to the Judge of the zillah or city within the jurisdiction of which the offence may have been committed, with a roobukaree stating the purport of the order passed against the person in question, and the Judge shall on those grounds, give the necessary directions for the execution of the order in the manner prescribed for the execution of orders and decrees of court, and shall transmit the fine when levied to the treasury of the Agent, or Superintending officer of salt chowkies; provided, that in all such cases the roobukaree of the Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies, shall specify the period of imprisonment to which the party shall be subject, in the event of the fine adjudged by them not being paid.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 111.

113. In all cases in which the quantity of salt proposed to be confiscated shall exceed twenty maunds, or in which the Salt Agents, or Superintendants of salt chowkies shall consider any person liable to pay a fine exceeding fifty rupees, he shall send his proceedings to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the offence may have been committed, or the salt seized, in order that the final award may be made by that authority. The parties in such cases shall, if declared by the judgment of the Salt Agent or Superintendant to be liable to any specific fine or term of imprisonment, be sent over under custody of peons, and the Judge shall on their arrival pass such order for the holding them to bail or otherwise securing their being in attendance, to abide the final award, as he may deem proper.—Ibid, Sect. 112.

In what cases the final award to be passed by the judge.

114. It shall be the duty of the Judge to have every case so forwarded to him by the salt officers brought to a hearing on the first day of his holding the Civil court, after the arrival of the proceedings and parties; and after having duly considered the proceedings of the Salt Agent and Superintendant and heard any thing the party may desire to urge in his defence, the Judge shall be competent to pass an immediate order either confirming the award of the salt officers (if the investigation on which the same may be founded shall appear to him complete, and the award passed thereon just and proper,) or modifying the said award (in case of any irregularity appearing on the face of it,) or reversing it (if in his opinion contrary to or not supported by the evidence and facts of the case as borne on the proceedings) or to institute a fresh investigation, and summon any further evidence, or to direct the reattendance of the witnesses previously examined, as well as to call for any explanations from the officers or parties concerned that he may deem necessary.—Ibid, Sect. 113.

Such cases to be brought to an early hearing—judge how to proceed.

115. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 15th instant, requesting their opinion on certain points connected with the construction of Regulation 10, 1819.—In reply to your first question, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that in cases forwarded to the Judge by the salt officers, under the 113th section of the enactment above quoted, regarding illicit manufacture of salt, &c. the person accused is at liberty to employ a vakeel, and to put in a written defence, if he deem that course preferable to pleading personally; and that such written defence should be on stamped paper of the value prescribed for miscellaneous petitions presented in the Judge's court.—Con. 483, 23d May 1828.

A person accused under sec. 113, may employ a vakeel, and put in a written defence, on stamped paper.

116. Two despatches of salt belonging to different merchants, and covered by separate rowannahs, having been weighed together, and declared liable to confiscation by the salt officers and zillah Judge under the provisions of Sections 41 and 113, Regulation 10, 1819, held by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut that the quantity belonging to each merchant ought to have been separately weighed; and the order for confiscation accordingly reversed. The Court farther held that the salt darogah having examined the despatches of salt, endorsed the rowannahs, and allowed them to pass his station, acted irregularly in subsequently stopping them.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Jan. 1835, p. 5.

The civil courts will not execute an award they deem illegal.

117. The Civil courts cannot be expected to execute awards which they consider illegal.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 12th May 1845, p. 69.

Mode of proceeding to compel attendance of persons. Warrant may be issued in manner provided by reg. 10, 1819.

118. And it is hereby enacted, in addition to the rules contained in Sections 111, 112 and 113 of Regulation 10, 1819, of the Bengal code, for the adjudication of cases of contravention of the laws enacted for the protection of the revenue derived from salt, that if the attendance of the parties charged with such offences cannot be obtained by reason of their failure to attend in person or by vakeel, after being served with a summons, or by reason of their evading process, the officer adjudicating any such case shall issue notice for the attendance of the parties accused in the manner prescribed in Section 102 of the said Regulation ; and if the parties do not attend in person or by vakeel, within the time fixed by such notice, the officer adjudicating the case shall pass judgment thereon, under the said last mentioned section, in like manner as if the parties accused were present ; and the officer so adjudicating any case ex-parte, may, at any time after such judgment, issue his warrant for the apprehension of the persons convicted for execution of the sentence, in the manner provided in Regulation 10 of 1819, of the Bengal code, and in this Act, for cases in which the parties were present : and, further, may at any time sue out process for levying the amount of fine adjudged, from any Civil court competent to execute its own decrees in the manner and form prescribed for the execution of the decrees of such Civil court under Section 30 of this Act.—Act XXIX. 1838, Sect. 29.

The judge should afford his aid for apprehending offenders who have evaded the agent's process.

119. Regulation 10, 1819, apparently does not provide for cases wherein the defendants are absent, or against whom the Agent has recorded his opinion of " guilty " ex-parte, its provisions being confined to an indication of the course of proceeding to be followed by the Judge when the person of the defendant is produced : it is however the duty of the Judge to afford his aid to apprehend any offender who has evaded or resisted the Agent's process.—Con. 483, 23d May 1828.

The agent has the same power for the apprehension of those charged by him with a breach of the salt laws as a magistrate.

120. Section 104, Regulation 10, 1819, gives the Agent the same powers for the apprehension of those charged by the Agent with offences against the Regulation, as the Magistrates are authorized to use, inasmuch as the general magisterial powers, vested in the Agents by the section cited, do not appear to be limited by any other provisions of the enactment.—Ibid.

In ex-parte cases referred to the city or zillah judge, the judge shall carry on proceedings under secs. 111 to 113, reg. 10, 1819.

121. And it is hereby enacted, that when the officer holding proceeding in any case ex-parte as above provided, shall refer the case to the Judge of any city or zillah, in consequence of the amount of fine being such as the said officer is not competent finally to adjudge, the Judge of the city or zillah, to whom such case may be referred, shall issue such orders and institute such proceedings as are authorized by Sections 111 to 113 of Regulation 10 of 1819 of the Bengal code, in like manner as if the offenders were sent over with the case or were present to be heard in their defence ; and whenever any fine may be adjudged by the zillah or city Judge, the same may be levied on the application of the Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies, under the rules in force for the execution of the decrees of Civil courts.—Act XXIX. 1838, Sect. 30.

122. If the matter of action or amount of fine adjudged in any case so sent over by the salt officers shall not exceed the sum of five hundred rupees, or if the quantity of salt in jeopardy shall not exceed two hundred maunds of eighty-two sicca weight to the seer, any award passed by a civil Judge under the preceding section shall be final and conclusive, and subject to no appeal whatever. If the fine adjudged exceed five hundred rupees, or if the quantity of salt under question exceed two hundred maunds, an appeal shall lie to the Provincial court on the application of any party interested, or of the salt officers on the part of Government, such appeal to be brought forward by common motion in the court and to be decided thereupon; provided, however, that no such appeal shall be received, unless the application be preferred within the period of six weeks from the date of the decision passed by the zillah or city Judge.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 114.

The award of the judge to be final in what cases.

123. And it is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 114, Regulation 10, 1819, of the Bengal code, that the zillah and city Judges shall pass final judgment in all cases referred to them for adjudication, when the quantity of salt to be confiscated shall exceed eighty maunds, or the fine imposed shall exceed 400 rupees; provided however, that there shall in all such cases be an appeal open to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under the rules for the admission of special appeals in that court, upon any point of law, which may be ruled by a zillah or city Judge in any such judgment.—Act XXIX. 1838, Sect. 32.

Modifies sec. 114 reg. 10, 1819. In confiscations exceeding 80 maunds, or fine of 400 rs., the judgment of zillah and city judges shall be final.

124. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 3030, under date the 6th ultimo, relative to Section 114, Regulation 10 of 1819.—Adverting to the terms of the first part of the section in question, which are positive and express, and distinctly declare that in cases of the nature of those therein described the award passed by the civil Judge, under the preceding section, shall be final and conclusive, and not subject to any appeal whatever, the Court are of opinion that no appeal would lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut on the merits of the case; but upon the general principle laid down in your letter of the 25th November, 1836,* they conceive that if the decree passed by the lower court in any case of the above description were manifestly illegal upon the face of it, or any such gross or glaring irregularity should have occurred in the course of the investigation as to vitiate the proceedings, it would be competent to the court, under its general powers of superintendence and control, to order the zillah Judge to revise his proceedings with a view to the correction of the error observable in them, and to proceed in the case according to law.—Con. 1113, West. C. 17th Nov. 1837, Cal. C. 1st Jan. 1838.

Orders passed by a judge under sec. 114, reg. 10, 1819, imposing a fine for a breach of the salt laws are final.

Cases in which the S. D. A. may order a judge to revise his proceedings.

125. Whenever any award may be passed by any zillah Judge under the rules of Section 113, the Judge shall, if the offence charged be established, proceed to levy the fine or fines, and to commit the parties to jail in pursuance thereto, under the general rules of the Regulations for the realizing of fines and executing decrees and orders of Judge how to proceed after passing his award.

* See Construction 1055, dated 17th October, 1836.

court.—The Judge shall further communicate to the Salt Agent or Superintendant, whom it may concern, a copy of his final order with as little delay as possible, in order that any salt that may be held under attachment may be dealt with accordingly : provided however, that in any case in which an appeal may be preferred to a Provincial court, against the decision of a zillah or city Magistrate, if the party by whom such appeal may be lodged shall tender sufficient security for the performance of the order of the Provincial court, the zillah or city Judge shall suspend the execution of his decision, and shall instruct the Salt Agent or Superintendant to keep in deposit the salt which may have been adjudged contraband, until the final award of the Provincial court be passed. In all such cases it shall likewise of course be competent to the Provincial court to stay execution of the decree passed by the zillah or city Judge or to direct the officers in the salt department to keep in deposit the salt which may have been condemned, or the fine realized by the Zillah or City court.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 115.

The fines for a breach of the salt laws are commutable to a term of imprisonment. Course to be pursued if the fine be paid before, or after confinement, and if it be not paid at all.

126. I am directed by the Court to state that, in their opinion, the salt authorities are empowered by Sections 110, 111 and 115, Regulation 10, 1819, to award either of two penalties, viz. a fine, or imprisonment in commutation of the same, according to the scale laid down in Section 110. The Judge therefore who enforces the order in cases where the fine does not exceed fifty rupees, and judicially disposes of the cases where the fine exceeds that amount, must proceed to realize the fines by the usual process of execution. If the fine is forthcoming before the defendant is committed to jail, the case is concluded ; if forthcoming after commitment to jail, the case is likewise disposed of, and the prisoner must be immediately released ; if the fine be not forthcoming, the person fined must undergo the prescribed period of imprisonment in commutation, and the levy of the fine is then barred, that is, the fine is not demandable after the imprisonment has been undergone, and the party released.—Con. 1135, 2d March 1838.

Parties who may be acquitted by the judge, to be set at large, and salt adjudged not to be contraband, to be released.

127. If the award of the civil Judge shall acquit the parties charged, or adjudge any salt under attachment not to be contraband, the parties shall immediately be released, and the attachment taken off : provided, however, that in case the quantity of salt under question shall amount to or exceed two hundred maunds, and an appeal should be lodged or proposed to be lodged by any party interested, the attachment of such salt shall not be taken off, until it shall be seen whether any appeal be so lodged, and what may be the award thereon. But if no appeal be lodged by any party within one month, attachment shall not continue longer.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 116.

Cases under this act shall be tried in manner prescribed in reg. 10, 1819. Officer adjudicating to be guided by secs. 100 to 116, same regulation. Judge & zillah judge to proceed in cases under this act as in other cases.

128. And it is hereby enacted, that cases arising out of this Act shall be tried in the same manner as is prescribed in Regulation 10 of 1819, of the Bengal code, for other cases of contravention of the laws for the protection of the revenue derived from salt ; and the officer adjudicating the case shall be guided by the provisions of Sections 100 to 116 of that Regulation ; and the Judge of the city or zillah shall be bound to proceed in respect to persons sentenced to any fine or other penalty under the provisions of this Act, in the same manner, subject to the modifications and additions hereinafter provided, as is prescribed in respect to persons convicted of the offences and tried before the authorities specified and provided by the said Regulation.—Act XXIX. 1838, Sect. 26.

129. In all cases in which any salt may be forfeited to Government under the rules contained in this Regulation, or in which any person may have been subjected to any of the penalties prescribed in Sections 31, 33, 34, 36, 38, 40, 41, 42, 43, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 55, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 75, 77 and 86 of this Regulation, whether the final order shall have been passed by a Court of judicature, or by a Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies, it shall be competent to the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, on application from the party, to call for a report of the circumstances of the case from the Salt Agent or Superintendant, by whom it may have been in the first instance investigated, in the manner heretofore practised in respect to seizure made by those officers, and to remit any portion of the fine or penalty which may have been imposed.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 117, Cl. 1.

General power vested in the board to remit any portion of fines or penalties imposed under certain sections of this regulation.

130. Provided also, that if in any case the Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies shall not deem it necessary to levy the full amount of the fine to which the party offending may be liable under this Regulation, and the said party shall submit himself by a written ikrarnamah to the decision of the Salt Agent or Superintendant, and shall pray to have judgment passed by those officers without reference to the Courts of judicature, then and in that case it shall be competent to the Salt Agent or Superintendant, with the sanction of the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, previously obtained, to pass a final judgment in the case; whatever may be the quantity of salt or amount of fine.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Under certain circumstances salt agents and superintendants with the sanction of the board may pass final judgment in cases of larger amount.

131. All fines which may be levied by any Judge of a Zillah or City court shall on realization be immediately remitted to the Salt Agent or Superintendant of salt chowkies, by whom the case may in the first instance have been investigated. The Superintendants and Salt Agents shall be guided in the distribution and payment of the rewards to which informers and subordinate officers of Government may be entitled under the rules contained in this Regulation, by such general or special orders as they may receive from the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium.—Ibid, Sect. 118.

Fines levied by judge to be remitted to salt agent or superintendant.

132. All applications preferred to the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, for a remission or mitigation of any fine or penalty imposed by a Salt Agent or Superintendant or by a Court of judicature, shall be written on stamped paper, the value of which shall be regulated as follows.—Ibid, Sect. 119, Cl. 1.

Applications for remission of fines to be written on stamped paper.

133. In cases in which the quantity of salt adjudged contraband shall not exceed twenty maunds or the amount of the fine imposed fifty sicca rupees, the petition to the board shall be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Value of stamped paper to be used.

134. If the quantity of salt be more than twenty maunds, and do not exceed one hundred maunds, or if the fine imposed be more than fifty rupees, and do not exceed rupees two hundred and fifty, the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value of four rupees.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Idem.

135. If the quantity of salt be more than maunds one hundred, and do not exceed two hundred maunds, or if the fine imposed be more than two hundred and fifty rupees and do not exceed five hundred rupees, the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value of six rupees.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 119, Cl. 4.

Idem.

Value of stamped paper to be used.

136. If the quantity of salt exceed two hundred maunds, or the fine imposed five hundred rupees, the petition to the board shall be written on stamped paper of the value of eight rupees.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Power of acquittal and release vested in salt agents and superintendants.

137. Salt Agents and Superintendants of salt chowkies shall be authorized in all cases in which they may consider any charge preferred before them not to be substantiated, to acquit the party accused and to release the salt or other article which may have been seized; provided however, that if the party accused be an officer in the salt department, it shall be competent to the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, at any time within three months of the date on which the order of the Salt Agent or Superintendant may have been passed, notwithstanding such acquittal, to direct the Superintendant or Salt Agent to transmit his proceedings to the zillah or city Judge, and the Judge shall proceed to investigate and decide on the case in the same manner as is above prescribed for cases referred to the court under the rules of Section 112 of this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 120.

Penalty on native officers of custom houses for connivance at the smuggling of salt.

138. All Native officers employed under any Custom-house in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces, shall, on conviction to the satisfaction of the Board of Commissioners of having connived at the importation or transportation of any salt unaccompanied by a rowannah, be liable to a fine not exceeding six months' salary, such fine to be enforced by the Civil courts in the mode prescribed for the execution of decrees of court on production through the pleader of Government of an attested copy of the order of the board imposing such fine.—Reg. 17, 1810, Sect. 5.

SECTION XII.

Reference of all cases not provided for in the Salt Regulations to the Civil Courts.

Cases not provided for by this regulation left to the ordinary jurisdiction of the courts of judicature.

139. If any disputes should arise between a Salt Agent, a Superintending officer of chowkies, or any officer of Government and any person on any matter relative to the manufacture, provision, transportation, sale, purchase or possession of salt, not provided for in this Regulation either party is to be at liberty to apply for redress to the Courts of civil judicature, and the case shall be tried and decided upon under the general laws, Regulations, and usages ordinarily observed in the Civil courts.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 126.

SECTION XIII.

Rules for the Guidance of the Civil Courts in determining the Right of Public Officers to occupy Salt Lands and the Rate of Compensation.

Rules for the adjustment of relative rights of the zemins.

140. An investigation having been instituted, under the orders of the Governor General in Council, with a view, first, to determine the character of the remissions of the land revenue allowed annually, from the time of the establishment of the present system of manufacture, to certain zemindars in the districts, comprised in the Salt Agencies of the 24-Purgunnahs, Jessore, Bhulooah, and Chittagong; and, secondly, to settle the claims of the zemindars, and the officers of the salt department at the Agencies in question, respectively on each other. The following declarations and rules calculated for all results of such investigation are hereby made and enacted, and the Courts of civil judicature, the officers of the salt and land revenue departments, and all other public authorities are to be by them guided in their determination of any question, that may arise as to the right of the officers of the salt department to occupy salt lands, or other lands, required for the purposes of the salt manufacture, and the rate of compensation to be paid for the same.—Reg. 1, 1824, Sect. 9, Cl. 2.

dars, and the officers of the salt department, founded on the result of a special enquiry.

141. The principle upon which remissions were originally made, from the jumma of zemindars, on account of khalaree rents, or the like, upon the assumption of the salt mehal, is hereby declared to have been to relieve those to whom they were granted from an assessment upon assets, which were transferred to Government on the establishment of the system of exclusive manufacture, with the rights and interests attached to the possession of the mehal.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Khalaree remissions granted on the first establishment of the monopoly, on what principle allowed.

142. All zemindars or others, whose claims to remissions were allowed in the first instance, that is, on account of rents collected, by them, previously to the year 1188 B. S. shall be considered to fall within the class of land renters, who received an abatement of what they then ceased to collect, upon the principle above laid down, consequently it is hereby declared, that the sums remitted to them will be allowed in perpetuity.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

To be continued in perpetuity.

143. The Collectors of land revenue, and the board are prohibited henceforward from receiving any applications to obtain credit in the land revenue collections for any amount, claimed as due for khalaree rent, and from allowing of any abatement, or remission whatever from the land revenue jumma, except the specified remissions allowed on account of rents collected previously to 1188, or such other as may be hereafter ordered by the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

No further remissions or abatements on account of salt or fuel land to be allowed without authority of government.

144. Any land revenue engager, who may prefer a claim to receive rent for khalarees now worked, or for what may be so henceforward, or, for any that have been worked, and for which the rent of past years may be claimed to be due, shall be desired to make application to the Salt Agent to have the same adjusted on the principles declared hereafter.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

Claims by zemindars to khalaree rents how to be prosecuted.

145. The remissions allowed on account of rents collected previously to 1188, will still be retained on the revenue books, and will be carried to the debit of the salt department, but the levy of khalaree rents, bara kursa, or the like, from the molungees, will be entirely discontinued and the impost abolished from the commencement of the next year, save and except in cases wherein it may be otherwise specially ordered by the Governor General in Council, and henceforward any gomastah or other person attempting to enforce the impost, or demanding it in any shape without special authority from Government, shall, on proof of the fact before the Agent, be immediately dismissed.—Reg. 1, 1824, Sect. 9, Cl. 7.

Collection of khalaree rents from molungees, unless where authorized by govt. to be discontinued.

Also tax on fuel.

146. The levy of Goorkatee by the officers of Government from the molungees, or of any other similar tax on the privilege of cutting jungle for fuel, to be used in the manufacture of salt, shall in like manner, and with the like exceptions, be henceforward discontinued, whether the same be levied as an impost due to Government or otherwise.—Ibid, Cl. 8.

Contracts for the manufacture of salt, what to specify.

147. All future contracts for the delivery of salt in return for advances received, shall, as far as practicable, specify distinctly the proportion of the aggregate price paid by Government, which may be allowed to cover the expence of fuel, and shall otherwise be rendered as specific as possible, with a distinct declaration of the amount to be paid to the molungees without impost or deduction on any account whatever, unless when otherwise specially authorized by Government.—Ibid, Cl. 9.

Agents to ascertain and record in whom the property of salt lands is vested.

148. It shall be the duty of the Agents to ascertain and record at the time of making the advances next season, or as soon after as may be practicable, in whom the property of the khalarees and salt lands within their respective divisions, is vested.—Ibid, Cl. 10.

What lands to be considered as held by the officers of the salt department, free of rent under a perpetual tenure, and to be eventually liable to assessment by the revenue authorities.

149. Salt lands worked by the salt department, from the time of the assumption of the monopoly to the present day, or otherwise assumed and held before, and since the perpetual settlement (although originally belonging to an estate, for which a permanent settlement has been formed) shall be considered to be held by the officers of the salt department free of rent under a perpetual title of occupancy, and shall be considered to be, and to have been, liable to assessment by the revenue authorities, when relinquished by the officers of the salt department, in the same manner as if they had been farmed by an individual from Government, and had become open to re-settlement on the expiration of his lease.—Ibid, Cl. 11.

What lands to be considered as the property of govt.

150. Salt lands, upon which salt works have been established, whether before or after the perpetual settlement, shall, provided they have been worked for twelve years, without claim on the part of any one to receive a rent or compensation for the use of the same, be deemed to be the absolute property of Government.—Ibid, Cl. 12.

What lands to be considered as belonging to individual proprietors.

151. Salt lands, upon which salt works were established after the perpetual settlement, and for the use of which a rent or consideration may be now paid to individuals shall, until otherwise determined by a decree of court, be deemed to be the property of the said individuals, who for so long as the lands may be occupied by the salt department shall receive the same rent as they received for the use of the same in the past year. The rent is to be paid in money, and to be charged in the Salt Agent's accounts, amongst other expences of the manufacture, without any demand being made on the contractors or molungees on account thereof unless otherwise specially authorized. This payment is to continue as long as the salt department shall retain possession of the lands, and to cease when those lands shall lose their saline quality, and be given up by the Salt Agents. Provided, however, that nothing in this clause shall be construed to preclude the revenue officers from proceeding under the rules of Regulation 2, 1819, to assess the lands so occupied by the salt department, if the same be chargeable with revenue on account of the rent paid by that department, or the collections otherwise made by the party claiming to be proprietor.—Reg. 1, 1824, Sect. 9, Cl. 13.

152. If on a claim being preferred as above by a zemindar, the Collector shall be of opinion that the chur or salt land belongs to Government, he shall nevertheless proceed to adjust with the Agent the amount of rent, to be paid by the salt department for the use of it, and will in this case transmit his proceedings to the board for their decision on the zemindar's claim. Provided also, that in cases in which the Collector may decide in favour of the zemindars, it shall still be competent to the board to call for his proceedings, and to pass judgment on the claim, whenever from the representation of the Salt Agent, or otherwise they may see reason to think the decision of the Collector erroneous. The decision of the revenue authorities, when in favour of Government, will be of course liable to be contested by a suit in court. If the property in any land occupied, as aforesaid, shall be decreed to the claimant, he will become entitled to the rent with which the revenue authorities may have charged the salt department; and if he be dissatisfied with the rent so fixed, the amount to be received by him shall be settled by arbitration in the manner hereinbefore provided for the adjustment of the compensation to be paid for land taken for public purposes. But in such case the possession of the Salt Agent shall not be disturbed so long as he shall discharge the rent awarded to the proprietor.—Ibid, Sect. 10, Cl. 3.

What course to be followed if land claimed by zemindars, shall appear to collector to belong to govt.

153. The same mode of adjustment shall be observed in regard to all claims now pending for compensation for the use of salt lands but no remission of revenue shall be granted on this or the like account.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Pending claims how to be adjusted,

154. No cultivation shall be allowed within the limits of any chur or other lands transferred to the salt department, unless with the permission of the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, so long as the manufacture shall be continued on the same and it shall and may be lawful for the Salt Agent, and his subordinate officers to attach, confiscate and dispose of, as may be directed by the board, any crops grown on such land in contravention of this rule, and to require the Police to aid him in doing so. And any person illicitly cultivating, clearing, or ploughing such land, or doing any act preparatory to its cultivation and clearance, or causing another to do so, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be subject for every such offence to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, besides being liable in a civil action for any damage which the salt department may sustain. Provided however, that if any chur or other salt land occupied as above shall become, through natural causes, useless for the purposes of the salt department, the proprietor thereof shall be entitled to recover possession of the same on establishing the fact to the satisfaction of the Board of Customs, Salt and Opium, or by a regular suit in court, and on relinquishing the compensation paid to him by the Salt Agent for the use of the land.—Ibid, Sect. 12.

Cultivation of salt churs without permission of board of customs, salt and opium, prohibited.

SECTION XIV.

Paupers—Plaintiffs and their Suits.

No person to institute a suit in formâ pauperis, unless the court is satisfied, by examination on oath, &c. that there is probable cause for instituting the suit.

155. It is hereby enacted, in addition to the rules already in force for instituting suits in formâ pauperis, that no person shall be hereafter entitled to institute any suit in formâ pauperis, in any Civil court of judicature within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, unless the court in which his petition may be presented shall, before granting such petition, be satisfied by the examination of the petitioner, or of his or her agents or witnesses, (which examination shall be taken on oath, or solemn affirmation in cases where a solemn affirmation may be received instead of an oath,) that there is probable cause for instituting the suit.—Act IX. 1839, Sect. 1.

An application to sue as a pauper rejected, through the contradictory statements of the applicant.

156. An application to sue in formâ pauperis rejected, in consequence of contradictory statements made by the applicant, in regard to a point involved in the determination of the question as to whether there was probable cause for instituting the suit.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th Jan. 1847.

A zillah judge cannot delegate to another the duty of making the enquiry contemplated in sec. 1, act 9, 1839.

157. Held, on reference from the Judge of Seharunpore, that the zillah Judges cannot delegate to another authority the duty of making the enquiry contemplated by Section 1, Act IX. of 1839, in the case of parties applying to sue in formâ pauperis.—Con. 1285, West. C. 7th Aug., Cal. C. 7th Sept. 1840.

Circular of the 12th Nov. 1841, superseded, and the judges will in future conform to the following rules.

158. The Court having had occasion to re-consider their printed Circular No. 170, dated the 12th November, 1841, in connection with the provisions of Section 8, Act XXV. of 1837, direct me to request that you will consider the Circular as superseded, and in future conform to the following rules in cases of the nature therein referred to.—Cir. Ord. 11th Aug. 1843.

The judge will himself determine the existence of sufficient reasons for instituting a pauper suit.

159. The Judge will himself decide, under the provisions of Section 1, Act IX. of 1839, as to the existence of sufficient grounds for the institution of a suit in the case of parties applying to sue in formâ pauperis, before referring the petition to the Principal Sudder Ameen for enquiry as to the pauperism of the plaintiff.—Ibid, par. 1.

The judge having decided this point under act 9, 1839, may leave the question of pauperism to be decided by the P. S. A.; an appeal will lie to the judge.

160. The Judge having decided the point under Act IX. of 1839, may, under Section 8, Act XXV. 1837, refer the petition to the Principal Sudder Ameen to dispose of as to the question of pauperism; and from his order, admitting or rejecting the application there will be an appeal to the zillah Judge.—Ibid, par. 2.

The provisions of act 9, 1839, are applicable to petitions to sue as a pauper, which were undecided on the date of that act.

161. The Judge of zillah Goruckpore having enquired whether the provisions of the Act in question, are to be considered applicable to petitions to sue in formâ pauperis presented under Regulation 28 of 1814, but which remained undisposed of at the date of the promulgation of the recent enactment; the Court informed him that they consider his view to be correct, and that petitions to sue as paupers, remaining undisposed of at the date of Act IX. of the present year coming into force, must of course be considered subject to the rules provided by that law.—Con. 1229, West. C. 5th July, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1839.

When a judge has rejected a petition to sue as a pauper, he

162. The same Judge also enquired whether the application of a party to institute a suit in formâ pauperis having been rejected by the Judge, under the discretionary power vested in him by the first section of the Act, in consequence of there not appearing to him to be probable cause for instituting the suit, the Judge is competent to receive one, of his own authority, to admit a second application from the same party relating to the same matter, either urging fresh grounds for the institution of his suit, or supplying any omission or correcting any thing which may have led to the rejection of his first application ; or whether such second application must be looked upon by the Judge as an application for a review of his first order, and treated accordingly.—To this the Sudder Court replied, that in their judgment he is not competent to admit, of his own authority, a second application after the rejection of the first, but must treat it as a petition for a review of his orders, and proceed accordingly.—Con. 1229, West. C. 5th July, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1839.

cannot of himself admit a second application from the same party himself ; he must consider it a petition for review of judgment.

163. Held by a majority of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut that orders passed by the zillah Judges under Section 1, Act IX. of 1839, rejecting applications to sue in formâ pauperis are appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Con. 1356, Cal. C. 22d July, West. C. 19th Aug. 1842.

An appeal lies to the S. D. A. from an order rejecting a petition to sue as a pauper.

164. If lapse of time, not amounting to a period which would bar the institution of a suit on a full stamp, be the only ground for rejecting an application to sue in formâ pauperis, it is insufficient.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d April 1844, p. 58.

Case in which lapse of time is an insufficient ground for rejecting a petition to sue as a pauper.

165. It is hereby declared, that the rules contained in this Regulation are intended to apply to regular suits and appeals only, and not to summary suits or summary appeals of any description ; neither are they intended to apply to pauper suits which may have been instituted either originally, or in appeal previously to the 1st of January, 1815 ; such pauper suits and appeals are to be tried and determined in conformity with the rules heretofore in force.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 17.

This regulation is not applicable to summary suits, or to suits of paupers instituted before the 1st of Jan. 1815.

166. On an application to sue in formâ pauperis, the Judge should restrict his enquiry to the ability or otherwise of the applicant to pay the fees required ; leaving the objections of the defendant to the plaintiff's statement of the cause of action to be offered in the answer to the plaint, as contemplated by Section 5, Regulation 13, 1808. [By Act IX. 1839, the Judge is empowered to determine whether there is probable cause for instituting the suit before admitting the application.].—Con. 821, Cal. C. 30th Aug., West. C. 20th Sept. 1833.

The judge should restrict his enquiry to the ability of the applicant to pay the fees required.

167. No person shall be hereafter entitled to institute or defend any suit in formâ pauperis in any Civil court of judicature, unless the amount or value of the thing claimed shall exceed the sum of sixty-four rupees ; under this rule the Moonsiffs are hereby strictly prohibited from receiving or trying any suits which persons may wish to prefer to them in formâ pauperis.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 3.

No pauper suits to be admitted in which the value of the thing claimed shall not exceed 64 rs.

168. No person shall be hereafter permitted to institute a suit as a pauper in any Civil court of judicature, if the claim shall be for damages on account of loss of caste, slander, abusive language, assaults, or personal injuries of any description ; or if the claim shall be for the possession or recovery of deeds or papers, or for fines, forfeitures or pecuniary penalties on account of any breach of the Regulations.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Persons preferring claims of certain description not to be admitted to sue as paupers.

169. I am directed to inform you, that suits brought by khoodkhast ryots for damages sustained in consequence of ejectments, and claims for damages arising from being deprived of water for the purpose of irrigation, cannot be considered as coming within the prohibition contained in Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831, which applies only to suits for damages of a personal nature, and not to those for damage done to property ; such suits are therefore cognizable by Moonsiffs. With regard however to the first description of suits, I am directed to refer you to the Circular order of the 15th November, 1833, which declares such claims cognizable by the Collector under Regulation 8, 1831. In like manner the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 28, 1814, [with respect to claims of the above nature when instituted by paupers,] do not apply to suits of the nature described by you, the prohibition contained in them extending only to suits for personal damages.—Con. 919, West. C. 5th, Cal. C. 26th Dec. 1834.

What suits of a khoodkhast ryot may be received and tried in formâ pauperis.

Parties, desiring to sue as paupers are to present a petition on stamped paper in person.

Proviso.

170. Whenever a party may be desirous of instituting an original suit as a pauper in any Zillah or City court, or in a Provincial court, he shall appear in person before such court, and shall present a petition written on the stamped paper prescribed for miscellaneous petitions in Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, Regulation 10, 1829 ;] provided however, that if the party be a female of a rank and description which, according to the prejudices of the country, would render it improper to require her personal attendance in a Court of justice, such petition may be presented by a mooktar or agent duly authorized for that purpose.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

The S. D. A. may at its discretion allow any party desirous of appealing to its court as a pauper, to appear by a mooktar or agent.

171. It is hereby enacted, that the proviso contained in Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 28, 1814, of the Bengal code, in regard to females of rank, shall be applicable at the discretion of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal respectively, to any party desirous of appealing in formâ pauperis to either of those courts.—Act XIX. 1840.

The alleged heir by will of a pauper plaintiff must apply de novo to sue as a pauper.

What the petition is to contain.

172. Held that the alleged heir by will, of a deceased pauper plaintiff, must apply de novo for permission to sue as a pauper.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st March 1847.

173. The petition shall contain a general statement of the nature and grounds of the demand, of the value of the thing claimed, according to the provisions of Section 14, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829,] of the name of the person or persons intended to be sued, and a schedule of the whole real or personal property, belonging to the petitioner, with the estimated value of such property.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

Petitioner's examination to be taken on oath, with certain exceptions.

174. The court in which such petition may be presented, or an authorized officer of the court, shall then proceed to take the examination of the petitioner, or if the petitioner be a female of the description mentioned in clause first of this section, the examination of her agent, with regard to the points above noticed, and shall question him particularly with respect to any real or personal property, which the petitioner may have recently sold, mortgaged, transferred, or otherwise disposed of ; such examination shall be taken on oath, unless the court should in any particular instance, judge it proper to admit a solemn declaration in lieu thereof, under the provisions now in force, or any other provisions which may be hereafter enacted.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

A male native of rank desirous of suing as a pauper must appear in person ; he cannot be examined by an agent.

175. A male Native of rank, wishing to institute a suit in formâ pauperis, must appear in person for examination under Clauses 1 and 3, Section 5, Regulation 28, 1814, and cannot be examined by his agent.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th July 1847.

176. The Judges and Registers who are empowered by Section 5 of the Regulation abovementioned, to employ an authorized officer of the court in taking the examinations of parties and witnesses for the purposes therein specified, may however employ the Sudder Ameens attached to their respective courts, in taking such examinations, and generally in making the enquiries provided for by that Regulation. But no final order for the admission of a pauper shall be passed by a Sudder Ameen, nor shall the commitment of pauper plaintiffs to close custody, in pursuance of Section 11, Regulation 28, 1814, be carried into execution by a Sudder Ameen, without the sanction of the Judge or Register, to whom it may belong to enforce the decision of the Ameen in such cases.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 4, Cl. 4.

Provision in sec. 5 of the same reg. extended to S. A.

But no final order to be passed for admission of a pauper suit without the sanction of the judge or register.

An Ameen may also be thus employed, vide No. 415, Chapter II.

177. In taking the examination of the petitioner or agent in such cases, it shall be the duty of the court to admonish him, that any wilful misrepresentation or falsehood, or the fraudulent concealment of any material fact regarding the property in the petitioner's possession, or the recent transfer of such property will subject him to be tried for perjury, and on conviction to the punishment which is now or may be hereafter prescribed for that crime by the Regulations. The petitioner or agent shall subscribe his examination, which shall then be authenticated by the court in the usual manner.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 4.

Court to admonish the petitioner in taking his examination.

178. If upon such examination it should appear to the court that the petitioner is possessed of property sufficient to defray the expences of the suit, or that he has recently sold, mortgaged, or otherwise transferred any property with the view of being admitted to sue as a pauper, the court will at once refuse to admit his suit in that form, and will refer him to the general rules in force.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Courts when to reject the prayer of the petition.

182. If there shall appear any grounds for suspecting that the petitioner is possessed of property, or has recently transferred any property beyond that which he may have acknowledged or stated in his petition and examination, the court may issue a notice to the adverse party, signifying that if such party shall appear within a reasonable period, to be fixed by the court, he shall be permitted to shew cause why the plaintiff should not be allowed to sue as a pauper; the court may also summon witnesses or institute a local enquiry in the neighbourhood of the petitioner's residence, with the view of ascertaining whether the petitioner has recently transferred, or is possessed of any property beyond that stated in his examination.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 5, Cl. 6.

A zillah court must hear the objections of the opposite party before admitting a pauper suit.

A pauper plaintiff cannot encrease the number of defendants without their being heard against him.

184. A pauper plaintiff cannot be allowed to add to the number of the defendants originally sued by him, without their being permitted to shew cause against his right to sue as a pauper.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 26th July 1847.

A plaintiff who has paid his institution fee, and provided for his vakeel's fee, cannot be allowed to sue as a pauper, but he may appeal as a pauper, after proving his poverty.

185. In reply to the following query by the Judge of city Patna, "Whether a plaintiff who has not instituted his suit as a pauper, may afterwards, in the course of it, be admitted to proceed as a pauper, on proof of his poverty; the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, on the 31st August, 1814, acquainted him, "that as in the case supposed, the plaintiff must have already paid the institution fee, as well as given security for vakeel's fees, and costs of suit, the Court are of opinion, that he cannot be allowed to prosecute the suit in formâ pauperis; but that in the event of an appeal from the decision on the original suit, there would be no objection to his being admitted as a pauper on the appeal, on producing satisfactory proof of his poverty."* —Con. 186, 31st Aug. 1814.

If a plaintiff who has instituted a suit on stamped paper, pleads pauperism when required to file a supplementary plaint, the pauperism must be enquired into, and if proved, his prayer granted.

186. A. sues B., having paid the stamp duty and his vakeel's fees :—pending the trial, B. takes out execution of a decree, and sells A.'s landed property. After decision of the suit, A. appeals to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the case is remanded for re-trial to amend the plaint, in consequence of which amendment a higher stamp would be required, and the amount of vakeel's fees, &c. considerably enhanced; A.'s property having been sold in satisfaction of the defendant's decree, A. pleads that he is a pauper, and, therefore unable to pay for the additional stamp required to fulfil the orders of the court. The Principal Sudder Ameen, holding that a party cannot be admitted a pauper in the middle of the suit, not having been one at the commencement, strikes the case off the file on default. A summary appeal is preferred to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the question is, whether A. should have been allowed to carry on his suit as a pauper, after due enquiry made on that point, or should have been nonsuited and allowed to institute a suit de novo for the whole claim. It was held that, when a plaintiff, on the plea of pauperism, urges his inability to comply with the permission of the court to file an amended plaint, his pauperism should be enquired into, and, if established, his prayer granted; and that, supposing the suit to be pending before the Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen, and plaintiff to plead inability to give the amended plaint, the court before which the suit is should allow him time to present a petition to the Judge setting forth his pauperism, with a schedule of his property, when the Judge would refer it to the Principal Sudder Ameen, or investigate it himself.—Con. 1313, West. C. 3d, Cal. C. 31st Dec. 1841.

The heir on proof of pauperism may carry on the suit of his deceased pauper father.

189. If none of the objections stated in clauses fifth and seventh, of the preceding section, should exist, and the petitioner should not appear to be possessed of sufficient property to enable him to defray the probable expences of the suit, the court is empowered to admit him to sue as a pauper on his finding two good and sufficient sureties, both of whom shall be householders, for his appearance whenever his attendance may be required by the court.—Ibid, Sect. 6, Cl. 1.

A party admitted to sue as a pauper shall find two sureties for his appearance.

190. Under the existing laws, the Judge is not authorized to demand sureties for the appearance of the agent of a pauper female plaintiff, and such agent cannot be committed to the jail on the suit preferred through his agency appearing unfounded, vexatious, or wilfully exaggerated.—Con. 777, Cal. C. 6th April, West. C. 3d May 1833.

Sureties for the appearance of the agent of a pauper female cannot be demanded, nor can he be committed to jail, if the suit is unfounded, vexatious, or exaggerated.

191. When the required sureties shall have been furnished, if the pauper shall be unable to prevail on any of the vakeels of the court to undertake his suit, and he shall be unable to plead the cause in person, the court may require any of the authorized pleaders of the court to undertake and plead the suit, and no deposit shall be required from the plaintiff for the fees of such pleader.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 7, Cl. 1.

The courts are authorized in certain cases to direct one of the pleaders to undertake the suit.

Engagements between a vakeel and a pauper client can be enforced only by a regular suit.

194. Held that the provisions of Clause 5, Section 2, Regulation 12, 1833, [corresponding in a great measure with Section 7, Act I. 1846,] by which parties are allowed to settle with their pleaders for their fees, are applicable to pauper as well as to other cases.—Con. 1309, West. C. 15th Sept., Cal. C. 22d Oct. 1841.

Parties in pauper suits may settle with their pleaders for their fees.

195. Held, by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, on a reference from the officiating Judge of 24-Purgunnahs, under date the 16th April last, that a Principal Sudder Ameen is not authorized to receive an answer to a plaint from a defendant in formā pauperis, without the sanction of the Judge, it being a principle that the Judge only can determine the question of pauperism.—Con. 949, Cal. C. 1st May, West. C. 5th June 1835.

No P. S. A. can receive an answer to a plaint from a defendant in formā pauperis, without the Judge's sanction.

196. I beg to be favoured with the Court's opinion whether, on the petition of plaint being filed by a pauper plaintiff, the defendants might not be permitted to demur summarily on the ground of the illegality of the claim, or exaggerated valuation of the property claimed, before being called upon to deposit the whole amount of pleader's fees or incur the expences of a regular suit.—Reply.—With reference to Section 5, Regulation 4, 1793, which prohibits the admission of any pleadings whatever, but those therein specified, the objections of the defendant to the plaintiff's statement of the cause of action cannot be heard summarily ;

In pauper suits the vakeel's fees come first for payment; then stamp dues; after which the rule of Con. 621 will be applicable.

203. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Chittagong, that in a pauper suit, after the payment of vakeel's fees, as prescribed by Construction 621, the dues of Government in respect to stamp expences have the next claim, since there is no reason why the pauper plaintiff who has gained his cause, should have any advantage in this particular over other suitors who have to pay beforehand; but, after the payment of the Government stamp dues, the principle of the abovementioned Construction, that the order of satisfying claims is determinable by the circumstances of the case, is applicable to any other costs which may be incurred by Government as well as to claims of other parties.—*Con. 1258, Cal: C. 1st Nov., West. The judge may refer suits in formâ pauperis to a S. A.

204. When a plaintiff may have been admitted by the Judge or Register of a Zillah or City court, to institute his suit, in formâ pauperis under the rules for paupers contained in Regulation 28, 1814, and the suit may in other respects be referrible to a Sudder Ameen, it shall be competent to the Judge to refer the same for trial and decision by one of the Sudder Ameens attached to the Zillah or City court or stationed with the Register in any other part of his jurisdiction; and the suit so referred shall be proceeded upon by the Sudder Ameen as in other suits referred to him, subject to the provisions contained in Regulation 28, 1814.—Reg. 13, 1824, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

205. The provisions in the Regulation above mentioned respecting pauper defendants in original suits, as well as those respecting pauper appellants and respondents in appealed cases, shall likewise be considered applicable to defendants in original suits, and to appellants and respondents in appealed cases referred for trial to Sudder Ameens; but no person shall be admitted by a Sudder Ameen to prosecute or defend an original suit or appeal, in formâ pauperis, without the written order of the zillah or city Judge or of the Register with whom the Ameen may be stationed, authorizing the admission of the party as a pauper under the provisions of Regulation 28, 1814.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

206. Moonsiffs are further prohibited from receiving any suits, which persons may be desirous to prefer before them in formâ pauperis; but it shall be competent for the Judge to refer for trial to the Moonsiffs, within his jurisdiction, any such suits which may have been instituted before him, and would otherwise have been cognizable by them whenever he may think proper so to do.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 5, Cl. 5.

Particular provisions applicable to suits in formâ pauperis.

207. The Court observe that by the provisions of Clause 5, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831, pauper cases may be referred to the Moonsiffs for decision. For the issue of process of these courts in such cases no establishment of chuprassies is retained; it will therefore be advisable that such cases be, in general, referred to the Sudder Ameens at the sudder station whose process may issue through the chuprassies attached to the Judges' courts. Where it may be found necessary to refer such a case to a Moonsiff, the summons or other process will issue in the manner described in Clause 4, Section 29, Regulation 23, 1814.—*Cir. Ord. West. SECTION XV.

Paupers—Stamps.

208. A plaintiff originally admitted to sue as a pauper under Section 5, Regulation 28 of 1814, who may subsequently, while the suit is pending, become possessed of property of sufficient amount to nullify his plea of poverty, may in the opinion of the court, be called upon to pay up the original stamp duty in lieu of the institution fees, &c. under the penalty, in the event of his neglecting to do so, of being nonsuited.—Con. 904, Cal. C. 3d Oct., West. C. 7th Nov. 1834.

A plaintiff allowed to sue as a pauper, becoming possessed of property while the suit was pending, must pay up the stamp duty, or be nonsuited.

209. The stamp duty which has been substituted for the institution fee by Regulation 1, 1814, [now, Regulation 10, 1829,] shall not be required from plaintiffs who may be admitted to sue as paupers under the Regulation. The plaint, reply, or other pleadings on the part of the plaintiff, as well as applications on his part for receiving exhibits and summoning witnesses, may be written on unstamped paper. The notice to the defendant, the summons for witnesses and other processes on the part of the plaintiff shall be served through the chuprassies on the establishment of the courts without any expence to the plaintiff; and the copy of the decree as well as copies of orders or proceedings which he may be required to take, shall be furnished to a pauper plaintiff on unstamped paper.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 8.

Security bonds in pauper suits must not be admitted on unstamped paper.

210. Letter from the Judge of Bundelkhand.—The practice of this court has heretofore been to admit the records of hazirzaminee, in pauper cases, on country unstamped paper, but these records not being specified in Section 8, Regulation 28, 1814, as exempted from stamp duties it appears to me to be irregular, and I have to request the favour of a communication of the orders of the Sudder dewanny adawlut on the subject.—Reply of the Sudder Court.—There being no exemption in favour of security bonds of the description of those referred to by Mr. Fraser, the Court inform him that the practice which obtains in his district of admitting such instruments on plain paper is opposed to the Regulations, and should be discontinued accordingly.—Con. 1063, Cal. and West. C. 23d Dec. 1836.

Case in which the vakalutnamah in a pauper suit must be written, or not written, on stamped paper.

211. I am now directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court collectively that in all cases when a pleader may be appointed by a party, when a pauper, the vakalutnamah must be drawn out on stamped paper; vakalutnamahs not being included in Section 8, Regulation 28, 1814, which specified the stamp duties from which paupers are exempted. In the cases specially provided for by the second clause of Section 7 of the Regulation in question, viz. where the pleader may have been appointed by the court, no vakalutnamah is of course necessary. But the Court do not consider this clause applicable to any case in which a vakeel is appointed by a party.—Con. 261, 26th Dec. 1816.

In all suits in formâ pauperis, defendant's pleadings may be on unstamped paper. Defendant may have copies on unstamped paper, and need not deposit vakeel's fees. Stamps to be charged in costs of suit, when terminated.

212. And it is hereby enacted, that in all suits instituted in formâ pauperis, the pleadings on the part of the defendant as well as all papers filed on his part on which a stamp is required by Schedule B. of Regulation 10 of 1829, of the Bengal code, may be written on unstamped paper, and copies of orders or proceedings which the defendant may be required to take shall be furnished to him on unstamped paper; and the defendant shall not be required to deposit vakeel's fees; provided always, that on the conclusion of the suit the court shall calculate the whole of the costs which would have been incurred by the defendant on account of stamp duties, if the suit had not been instituted in formâ pauperis, and shall charge the same to the party cast, or to the parties respectively, in such proportions as may be deemed reasonable.—Act IX. 1839, Sect. 2.

A decision passed in favor of a pauper plaintiff cannot be appealed against by the defendant, if not a pauper, on plain paper.

213. The following questions having been submitted to the Court: "Under the provisions of Act IX. 1839, and Construction 1250, can a defendant (not being a pauper) appeal on plain paper against a decision passed in favour of a pauper plaintiff by the lower court?" It was ruled that a decision passed in favour of a pauper plaintiff by the lower court cannot be appealed against by the defendant (not a pauper) on plain paper. "Also, is such defendant to be allowed to take a copy of the lower court's decree on plain paper for the purpose of presenting it with his petition of appeal?" The appealing defendant may be allowed a copy of the lower court's decree on plain paper, for presentation with his petition of appeal.—Con. 1314, Cal. C. 10th Dec. 1841, West. C. 10th Jan. 1842.

The appealing defendant may obtain a copy of the lower court's decree for presentation on plain paper.

A pauper plaintiff may obtain a copy of interlocutory order against which he appeals, on plain paper.

214. It has been ruled by the Court that a pauper plaintiff dissatisfied with any interlocutory order, passed while his suit is pending, and desirous of appealing therefrom to a court of higher jurisdiction, is entitled to the privilege of obtaining a copy of such order or proceeding against which he intends to appeal on plain paper.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 1st Nov. 1839, par. 2.

215. The rule contained in paragraph 2, is to be understood as restricting the immunity from stamp duty to the order or proceeding from which the appeal is preferred, and is not to include copies of documents and other papers which paupers appealing may be desirous of filing therewith, in support of the objections taken by them to such proceedings or orders, which must be written on stamped paper, and not on plain paper, as allowed by some courts. It is hardly necessary to point out that this restriction can never operate with hardship on the pauper preferring the appeal, the power resting with the appellate tribunal of calling for such papers as it may deem requisite to elucidate any point not satisfactorily explained by the copy of the order appealed from.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 1st Nov. 1839.

But other papers and documents which paupers may be desirous of filing with their appeal, must be on stamped paper.

The appeal court may call for any such papers & documents, and the pauper will not then be subject to the stamp duty.

216. A question having arisen in a case, now depending before the court, as to whether an application from a pauper appellant to stay the execution of the decree given against him, pending the appeal, is admissible on plain paper, I am directed to request that you will submit the point for the consideration of the Calcutta Court.—The Court are of opinion, that as applications of the nature of that above mentioned, are not included amongst the exceptions, contained in Section 8, Regulation 28 of 1814, which distinctly specifies the description of papers on which the stamp duties are to be remitted to paupers, they must be drawn out on stamped paper of the value prescribed for petitions presented to the courts in which they may be filed. The Court direct me to add that this principle has already been acted upon in regard to vakalutnamahs where the pauper may himself appoint a vakeel as well as in respect to security bonds filed under Section 6, Regulation 28 of 1814, and it appears to them equally applicable to petitions presented to the Court for the purpose before stated. The Court propose accordingly to adopt it as a rule of future practice.—Con. 1132, West. C. 16th Feb., Cal. C. 9th March 1838.

Applications from pauper appellants to stay execution of the decree pending appeal, and vakalutnamahs, and hazirzaminee bonds in pauper cases, must be on stamped paper.

217. Similar copies [that is, copies on plain paper] of any orders passed in the execution of a decree, which a pauper in the court whence it may have issued, would be required by law, in the event of his appealing from such orders to the superior court, to file with his petition of appeal, are obtainable by him on unstamped paper.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 1st Nov. 1839.

Copies of orders passed in execution of a decree which a pauper must file with his petition of appeal, may be obtainable on plain paper.

218. Copies of the proceedings and judgments of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in appeal to the King in Council, which are required to be written on stamped paper of a prescribed value, by Section 19, Regulation 1, 1814, shall be furnished without expence to paupers, who may be parties in such appeals, and shall be written on unstamped paper of European manufacture.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 18.

Copies of the proceedings and judgments of the S. D. A. may in certain cases be written on unstamped paper.

219. On the conclusion of the suit, the court shall calculate the whole of the costs which would have been incurred by the plaintiff on account of the several stamp duties prescribed by Regulation 1, 1814 [now, Regulation 10, 1829,] and other legal expences, had he not been permitted to sue as a pauper, and shall charge the same in the decree to the party cast, or to the parties respectively, in such proportions as may be deemed equitable.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

All costs and expences to which the plaintiff would have been liable, had he not been admitted to sue as a pauper, to be inserted in the decree.

220. Doubts having arisen whether the Courts of civil and criminal judicature, the Board of Revenue, the Board of Commissioners, the Collectors and other public officers, are authorized to receive from persons professing themselves to be paupers, any miscellaneous petitions, or applications, which are required to be written on stamped paper, or any other paper than the prescribed stamped paper; it is hereby declared, that such petitions or applications shall not be received by any of the said authorities except on paper bearing the prescribed stamp. Provided however, that the Courts of criminal judicature shall be at liberty to receive petitions on unstamped paper from prisoners, who may be confined under examination or sentence in any of the criminal jails.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 19.

No stamp duty is leviable in pauper cases instituted in the judge's court, and afterwards referred to moonsiffs.

221. No stamp duty would be leviable in pauper cases instituted in the Judge's court and afterwards referred to Moonsiffs for decision.—Con. 945, West. C. 24th April, Cal. C. 29th May 1835.

Mode in which the interests of govt. in respect to stamp duty in pauper suits before moonsiffs are to be protected.

222. I am directed to communicate to you the following rule which it has been resolved, in accordance with a suggestion of the Sudder Board of Revenue for the North Western Provinces, to adopt, with a view of protecting the interests of Government in respect to stamp duty in pauper suits before the Moonsiffs, who are empowered to try such suits when referred to them by the Judge, but have no pleaders on the part of Government attached to their establishment. Whenever a pauper suit may have been referred for trial and decision to a Moonsiff, you will be careful to instruct him invariably to forward to your court a copy of his decree for the information of the Government pleader in the Zillah court, in order that the latter may take the necessary steps for asserting the rights of Government, in pursuance of directions which he will receive to that effect in the revenue department.—Cir. Ord. 12th June 1840.

224. Pursuant to the instructions of the Government, the Court direct that a statement, in the subjoined form, on account of your own and the subordinate district courts, be furnished monthly to the Collector, to enable that officer to take measures for recovering the amount due to the Government on account of stamp fees in pauper suits :

225. With reference to Circular order No. 11 of 24th April last, regarding recovery of sums due to the Government on account of stamped in pauper suits, and in modification of the monthly statement thereby directed to be furnished to the Collector on the subject, I am instructed by the Court to request that you will supply information according to the subjoined form on account of your own and subordinate courts. Cir. Ord. 2d Oct. 1846.

Information to be furnished in reference to the stamped fees due to govt. in pauper suits.

226. The Court are pleased to direct that an additional column, headed "law expences," be inserted immediately before the last column of the statement of pauper suits, the transmission of which to the Collector was prescribed by the Circular orders of the 24th April and 2d October, 1846.—Cir. Ord. 18th June 1847.

SECTION VI.

Paupers—Unfounded and Litigious Suits—Release of the Pauper to pay Fees and Costs.

227. If the plaintiff shall not establish his claim, and the court shall deem the suit to be unfounded, vexatious, or wilfully exaggerated, and the plaintiff shall not pay the amount of his own fees, and the fees and costs which may be awarded against him in favour of the opposite party, the court is authorized to commit him to close custody in the civil jail, without labour, for a period not exceeding six months.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 11, Cl. 1.

Pauper plaintiffs under certain circumstances liable to a sentence of six months' imprisonment.

228. The Judge of the Jungle Mehals having required information whether persons suing as paupers, whose suits, preferred under Regulation 46, 1793, might prove on trial groundless and vexatious, were liable to be committed to close custody in the jail of the Dewanny or Foujdary court under Section 3 of that Regulation, was told on the 19th January, 1810, that the description of persons referred to in Section 3, should be confined in the Dewanny jail.—Con. 57, 9th Jan. 1810.

Paupers whose suits prove groundless and vexatious, when confined, must be confined in the dewanny jail.

229. On a reference from the Moorshabad Court of appeal, to ascertain by whom the subsistence of pauper plaintiffs or appellants, confined under the Regulations for litigiousness in their plaints or appeals, is payable, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut determined, that as plaintiffs and appellants, in such cases, are not confined at the instance of the defendant or respondent, any requisite subsistence for them, during their imprisonment, should be paid by Government.—Con. 9, 13th Sept. 1805.

The subsistence money of pauper plaintiffs confined for litigiousness must be paid by government.

230. Women of rank, who are exempted from personal appearance in court, are not proper objects of the discretionary rule in Section 3, Regulation 46, 1793, and Section 2, Regulation 3, 1802, which authorizes the confinement of litigious paupers.—Con. 11, 26th Sept. 1805.

Women of rank suing as paupers not liable to be confined for litigiousness.

231. Such order of confinement shall be carried into immediate execution, and shall not be suspended in consequence of the plaintiff's being desirous of appealing from the judgment; provided however, that the plaintiff shall at any time be entitled to his discharge from such confinement on his paying into court the full amount of the costs and expences awarded against him in the decree.—Reg. 28, 1814, Sect. 11, Cl. 2.

Execution of such sentence not to be suspended on account of an appeal being preferred from the decision. Proviso.

pendant claims a right of property, in virtue of a rent-free grant, is not referrible to the collector under reg. 2, 1819, sec. 30; it is a boundary dispute.

Such suits only are referrible in which the point at issue is the right to hold land free of rent, or to resume rent-free lands.

Order of the S. D. A. to inspect the files, and transmit to the collector all pending suits which should be referred to him.

When a zemindar sues to resume lands held on a rent-free tenure, the only question for the court to determine is the validity or otherwise of the tenure.

Valuation of suits for recovering rent-free lands.

the right of property in virtue of a rent-free grant, is not referrible to the Collector under the provisions of Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, but must be considered in the light of a boundary dispute and disposed of in the ordinary mode by the Civil court.—Con. 1067, Cal. C. 30th Dec. 1836, West. C. 13th Jan. 1837.

276. Under this section, such suits only are referrible, in which the point at issue is the right to hold land free of rent, or to resume land held as rent-free under tenures stated to be illegal or invalid. Suits for possession, or for rent of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue to Government, the validity of the tenure of which is not disputed, cannot be so referred, but must be tried and determined under the general rules for the decision of regular suits.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 30th Aug. 1833, par. 4.

277. Several instances having occurred, in which it has been found necessary to quash the proceedings of the lower courts in suits involving the question of the validity of titles to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, in consequence of their having been tried and determined without a previous reference to the Collectors, as expressly required by Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819; the Court desire that you will immediately inspect the suits pending on your file, and transfer for report to the Collector all suits of the nature above stated, which have not already been referred and reported on.—Cir. Ord. 25th Feb. 1831.

278. In reply to your second query, in the case of a zemindar, suing to resume lands held on a rent-free tenure, the only question for the court to determine is the validity or otherwise of the alleged rent-free tenure, and not the amount assessible thereon. The decree, in the event of the suit being decided in favour of the plaintiff, should merely declare the land liable to assessment.—Con. 576, 1st Oct. 1830, par. 3.

279. In an action by a landholder for recovering rent-free lands, in which the suit was laid at one year's produce instead of at the value prescribed for suits regarding rent-free lands, the plaintiff was nonsuited.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th June 1841, vol. 7, p. 37.

SECTION XX.

Suits under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30—Cases preferred directly to the Collector—Proceedings of the Collector in both classes of cases.

Parties deeming themselves entitled to the rent of lands in their estates now held free, may prefer their claims in the first instance to the collector.

280. Provided also, that proprietors, farmers or talookdars, who may deem themselves entitled to the revenue of any land held free of assessment in their respective estates, talooks or farms, or individuals claiming as aforesaid to hold lands free of assessment shall be at liberty to prefer their claims in the first instance to the Collector. Provided further, that the party so preferring his claim directly to the Collector, shall, in his petition to the Collector state the particulars of his claim, and the grounds on which it is founded, in like manner as if the suit were instituted in a Court of judicature; and the petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value prescribed for petitions of plaint in suits instituted in those courts.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 1.

Collector how to proceed when such suits are referred to him, or instituted before him.

281. On receiving a petition of the above nature from any proprietor, farmer or talookdar, claiming the revenue of any land held free of assessment in their respective estates, or on a reference being, in such case, made from a Court of judicature, the Collector shall serve on the defendant a written notice, containing a short statement of the demand, and requiring the defendant to attend in person, or by vakeel, within the period of one month, and to produce all sunnuds or other documents in virtue of which he may possess the lands, and under which they may have been, or may be claimed to be held free of assessment.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 2.

282. When the defendant shall appear and deliver up his title deeds, the Collector after allowing the claimant to inspect and examine them, shall call upon him to deliver, within the period of seven days, a full statement of the grounds on which, with reference to the documents, he may consider the tenure of the defendant invalid, and the lands liable to assessment, with all documents on which his claim to the revenue of them may be founded.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Continuation of the same subject.

283. When the claimant shall have delivered in the said statement and documents, the Collector shall proceed to investigate the case, and to record his final judgment on it, in the same manner and with the same powers as in cases in which he may himself propose to assess lands on account of Government.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Idem.

284. If the claim made under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30, shall be against any individual singly or jointly with Government, the Collector shall serve him with a notice containing a statement of the demand, and requiring his attendance in person or by vakeel duly authorized, within the period of one month, with any papers or evidence he may desire to produce in denial of the claim; and on the appearance of such defendant the Collector after allowing him to inspect and examine the claimant's petition of plaint and the writings therein referred to, shall call upon him to deliver within the period of seven days a statement of the objections he may desire to urge against the claim. In such cases no other pleadings shall be required from the parties than a plaint and answer, but it shall and may be lawful for Collectors to receive and record such subsidiary pleadings as may appear requisite for the elucidation of the merits of the claim. Collectors shall proceed to investigate every such case as soon as possible after the answer of the defendant shall be received; giving however, as aforesaid eight days previous notice to the parties, of the day on which he may propose to bring it to a hearing. Provided, that in cases wherein the parties concerned, or their authorized representatives shall desire or consent (the same being signified in a written petition or ikrarnamah to be filed with the proceedings,) to have an immediate decision, whether the case shall originate in a claim on behalf of Government or in the suit of an individual, and whether the proceedings of the Collector shall be held under the provisions of Regulation 2, 1819, or under those of this or any other Regulation touching the matter, it shall be competent to the Collector to proceed forthwith to the investigation and decision of the case without issuing any formal summons or notice.—Reg. 9, 1825, Sect. 5, Cl. 11.

But if the claim be against an individual singly or jointly with govt., the collector is to serve the party with a notice containing a statement of the demand, and requiring his attendance with the necessary documents and evidence.

Defendant's answer to be given within seven days.

In such cases no further pleadings to be required but collectors may receive and record such subsidiary proceedings as are calculated to elucidate claims.

After the receipt of the defendant's answer, eight days notice to be given of the day on which it is proposed to bring it to a hearing.

Proviso in case an immediate decision shall be petitioned for.

285. The parties shall respectively be subject to the same rules in regard to the use of stamped paper, on summoning witnesses and filing exhibits, as are prescribed for suits instituted in the Zillah or City courts.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 5.

Parties subject to the same rules regarding stamped paper as in regular suits.

Value of the stamp on which the petition of plaint should be written in suits in which, if the lands were resumed, govt. would get none of the rents.

286. The Court, understanding your first question to have reference to cases under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30, in which Government would not be entitled to any revenue from the land, if resumed, are of opinion, that the petition of plaint should be written on stamped paper of the value prescribed for rent-free lands, whether the claim be by an individual against a zemindar to hold land on a rent-free tenure, or by a zemindar to resume land held on an illegal rent-free tenure.—Con. 576, 1st Oct. 1830, par. 2.

The provisions of reg. 3, 1828, not to extend to cases of the nature specified in the several clauses of sec. 30, reg. 2, 1819, except when such cases involve the rights of govt. to subject lands to assessment.

In cases of the above description, in which govt. may be a party, the collector to investigate & decide in the mode prescribed in the preceding section.

*All other cases falling within the provisions of sec. 30, reg. 2, 1819, in which govt. is not itself a party, shall be heard and determined under the rules therein enacted, as modified by sec. 5, reg. 9, 1825.

Suits to resume lands held free, under 100 begahs in estates purchased by govt. must be instituted before the collector under reg. 2, 1819, sec. 30.

287. It is hereby declared and enacted, that the provisions of this Regulation are not intended and shall not be construed, to extend to cases of the nature specified in the several clauses of Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, save and except when such cases may involve the rights of Government to subject to assessment all, or any portion, of the lands, in respect to which the action may be brought. In cases of the above description, in which the Government may be a party, whether instituted in the first instance before the Collector, or referred to him by the court, the Collector shall proceed to investigate and decide in the mode prescribed in the preceding section of this Regulation; the several clauses of which shall be held to apply to such suits and all other cases falling within the provision of Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, in which the Government is not itself a party, shall be heard and determined under the rules therein enacted, and the subsequent modifications of them declared in Section 5, Regulation 9, 1825.—Reg. 3, 1828, Sect. 5.

288. We beg leave to state, for your information and guidance, that it has been ruled by us that all suits to resume or to hold lakhiraj tenures not in excess of one hundred begahs situated within an estate purchased on account of Government, must be tried by the Collector of the zillah with reference to Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, and Section 5, Regulation 3, 1828; that consequently, in future, claims of the above nature should not be brought under the provisions of Regulation 7, 1822, and Section 5, Regulation 9, 1825, but officers in charge of the purchased estates will bring their actions before the Collector of the zillah to which the lands may attach, a contrary procedure involving the liability of the reversal of the award.—Cir. Ord. Spec. Commr. 16th June 1842.

Stamped paper is not necessary in such suits.

289. In continuation of our Circular order, under date the 8th September last, we beg to communicate to you that as the provisions of Clause 10, Section 5, Regulation 9, 1825, appear to be in modification of the rules regarding the exigency of stamped paper prescribed by Regulation 2, 1819, it follows that in all cases originating with the officers of Government for assessing lands held free of rent, stamped paper is not necessary and it is not to be used on the institution of suits of the nature adverted to in our recent Circular order, dated the 16th ultimo, No. 249.—Cir. Ord. Spec. Commr. 14th July 1842.

SECTION XXI.

Suits under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30—Collector's Report—the Court's Decision—Appeal therefrom.

290. In cases in which Government may not be itself a party, and in which the suit may have been originally instituted in a Court of judicature, the Collector, on closing his proceedings, shall transmit them, with all documents therein referred to, to the court by which the reference may have been made, recording his sentiments on the case as prescribed in Sections 20 and 21 of this Regulation, and the Court shall proceed to decide the case, after calling for such further evidence, as may appear necessary. Provided, however, that no sunnuds, accounts or other documentary evidence of any kind, which may not have been produced before the Collector, and for not producing which the party may not have assigned a sufficient cause, shall be received by the court.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 6.

The collector's proceedings in suits referred to him to be returned to the court with his sentiments.

The court will then decide the case.

291. Suits referred to the Collector under Clause 1, Section 30 of the Regulation above quoted, which are referred, not for decision but for report only, should not be considered as having been transferred from the file of the Judge in consequence of such reference; and therefore, on their being returned with the required report from the Collector, the Judge should proceed to try and decide them in like manner, as if no such reference had been made. From this you will perceive, that the practice of your predecessor in treating such description of cases, when returned with the report of the Collector, as actually decided, in permitting them to remain as decisions until appealed from, and then entering them under the head of miscellaneous cases, was irregular.—Con. 450, 30th March 1827, par. 2.

The reference to the collector being for report, and not for decision, the case must remain on the judge's file, and when returned by the collector must be tried and decided as if no reference had been made.

292. A Collector having returned to the Zillah court, without the prescribed report, a suit referred to him under the provisions of Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, which was then decided by the Principal Sudder Ameen and zillah Judge in the absence of such report, the Sudder dewanny adawlut set aside the decisions as incomplete, and remanded the case with instructions to make a second reference to the Collector.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st June 1842, vol. 7, p. 107.

A collector having returned a suit referred to him without a report, which was then decided by the civil courts, the S. D. A. remanded it for a second reference.

293. The Collector cannot delegate to his assistant the judicial duties delegated to him by the Judge under Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819.—Con. 603, 21st Oct. 1831.

The collector cannot delegate the duties thus referred to him, to his assistant.

294. With reference to paragraph 2 of my letter to your address, dated the 30th November last, I have the honour to request the favour of being furnished with the orders of the Court regarding my competency to dispose of cases under Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, on which I have myself reported in my former capacity of Collector. The cases of this nature are of the longest standing of any in court, and I therefore feel desirous of having them disposed of.—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th ultimo, and in reply to inform you that the Court are of opinion you are competent to dispose of the cases therein referred to.—Con. 779, Cal. C. 12th April, West. C. 10th May 1833.

A collector who has reported on cases under this section may afterwards himself decide them as judge.

Course to be pursued where a collector in a case under this section referred to him, or decided by him, has omitted to do what he is required by law to do.

295. Held on a reference from the Judge of West Burdwan involving a construction of Clauses 6 and 7, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, that should it be found that the Collector has omitted to perform any act which he was required to do by law, and has either forwarded his report according to Clause 6, or passed a decision under Clause 7, as the case may be, without such defect being remedied, thereby precluding the Judge who may decide, or hear in appeal, the case, from proceeding with and adjudicating it in a legal manner, the latter officer would be authorized, and it would be his duty to return the proceedings, pointing out to the revenue officer his want of conformity to the law applicable to the case, and desiring him to rectify the error or supply the omission, and on his refusal, the Judge should bring his conduct to the notice of Government. In no case, however, except those in which such a course might be found essential to enable him to proceed legally, ought the Judge to follow it, as the terms of Clause 6 of the Section and Regulation in question sufficiently provide for such other occasions as may arise.—Con. 1245, Cal. C. 23d Aug., West. C. 13th Sept. 1839.

A regular appeal lies as a matter of right from the decision passed by a Zillah judge in a suit on which the collector has reported.

296. In a suit brought in the first instance in a Zillah court, under Clause 1, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, and decided by that court under Clause 6, after receiving the report of the Collector made in pursuance of the latter clause, is a regular appeal open to the Provincial court from such decision, or can the appeal be admitted on special grounds only?—I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the parties in the suits therein referred to are entitled, as a matter of right, to a regular appeal from the decision of the Zillah court.—Con. 427, 28th July 1826.

Course to be pursued when it appears in appeal that a court has decided a case under this section, which should have been referred, without making the reference.

297. Supposing the Zillah court to try and decide a suit instituted under the clause and section above cited, without making the reference therein required, does such omission invalidate the whole proceeding and decision of the Zillah court, and render a new trial necessary ab initio, or what is the proper course to correct the error?—Under the circumstances therein stated, a new trial would not be necessary, but that, on such occasions, your court should send back the case to the court below for re-trial, after having obtained the Collector's report; this course of proceeding appearing to be a sufficient remedy for the defect, without exposing the parties to any increase of expence.—Ibid.

From the decision of a collector under cl. 4, in cases preferred to him direct, there may be an appeal in formâ pauperis.

298. Held that an appeal in formâ pauperis may be preferred from the decision of a Collector under Clause 4, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819.—Remarks.—The report of the Collector, under Clause 6, Section 30, Regulation 11, 1819, on a case referred by a Court of judicature, is "a summary judgment," (see Circular order, No. 95, dated August 30th, 1833,) and differs from his "final judgment" under Clause 4, which is subject to an appeal to the Civil court by Clause 7 of the enactment cited.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Feb. 1845, p. 63.

The reference of a case to a sudder ameen after the collector has reported on it, is a ground for a special appeal.

299. The fact of a case being referred to a Sudder Ameen after having been reported on by the Collector, was held to be a sufficient ground for the admission of a special appeal, with a view to determine the legality of the proceedings.—Con. 499, 27th March 1829.

SECTION XXII.

Suits under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30—Appeal from the Collector's Decision, when the case is preferred to him in the first instance.

300. In cases of the above description, which may have been preferred directly to the Collector, if either of the parties shall be dissatisfied with the decision passed by that officer he shall be at liberty to appeal to the Zillah or City court by a petition written on stamped paper of the value of one rupee : provided however, that no such appeal shall be received, unless preferred within the period of three months from the date of the Collector's decision, or on good and sufficient cause being shewn for a further delay.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 7.

If the claim shall have been preferred in the first instance to the collector, the parties may appeal to the zillah court.

301. I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that with reference to the value of the stamped paper, on which the appeals referred to in your letter are directed to be written by the clause and section of the Regulation cited, (Clause 7, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819,) the appeals should be considered summary in as far as relates to the fees to which the pleaders employed in such suits may be entitled ; but that, with reference to Clause 12 of the same section, the Court consider that the trial and decision of such causes should be regulated by the mode of procedure observed in a regular appeal. Under the opinion above expressed, and with reference to the rule contained in Clause 3, Section 9, Regulation 19, 1817, it will of course be requisite that a deposit be made in the first instance for the fees of the pleaders employed in such appeal.—Con. 338, 18th May 1821.

These appeals are summary as relates to the fees of the pleaders employed ; but the mode of procedure must correspond with that observed in a regular appeal.

302. Appeals from the decisions of Collectors in cases instituted before those officers in the first instance, should be considered as regular appeals, and entered in the monthly and annual statements as appeals under Regulation 2, 1819.—Con. 450, 30th March 1827.

These appeals are to be considered as regular appeals.

303. Section 2, Regulation 10 of 1829, the Court observe, rescinds all Regulations and parts of Regulations then existing in regard to the collection of stamps, and as it contains no provision exempting Clause 7, Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, from its operation, the latter enactment must be held to have been repealed by it equally with all other laws on the same subject; and it having been ruled by the two courts, with reference to the provisions of the Regulation first cited, and in consequence of Section 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, making no exception in favour of petitions for special appeals in cases of the nature of those under consideration, that full stamp duty is leviable thereupon, the Court consider that, by a parity of reasoning, petitions for a regular appeal in such cases as well as the pleadings, exhibits, &c. connected therewith are also chargeable with the full amount of duty, in the same manner as all other regular suits instituted in the established Courts of civil judicature.—Con. 987, 25th Sept. 1835, par. 3.

In this regular appeal, the petition, pleadings, exhibits, &c. must be charged with full stamp duty.

304. I am directed to inform you that the provisions of Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, are applicable only to appeals from the decisions of Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens : appeals from the decisions of Collectors under Clause 7, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, must therefore be taken up and tried under the rules in force prior to the enactment of the clause first cited.—Con. 1076, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 24th Feb. 1837.

These appeals must be decided by the rules in force prior to the enactment of reg. 5, 1831.

The judge will then decide.

305. The Judge on receiving such petition shall require the Collector to transmit all the proceedings held by him in the case with the documents therein referred to, and shall proceed to investigate and decide on the case in like manner as if it had been originally instituted in the court, and referred by it to the Collector.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 8.

From the decision of the zillah court, the parties are entitled as a matter of right to a regular appeal.

306. The parties referred to in the seventh and eighth clauses of Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30, are also entitled, as a matter of right, to a regular appeal from the decision of the Zillah court.—Con. 455, 20th July 1827.

SECTION XXIII.

Suits under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30—Cases in which a reference is to be made to the Board of Revenue.

In what case the proceedings to be submitted by the collector to the board of revenue.

307. In all cases in which Government may be the defendant, or in which the revenue of the lands claimed may form part of an estate liable to a variable assessment, the Collector shall, on closing his proceedings, submit them to the Board of Revenue, or other authority exercising the powers of that board, for their decision. In such cases, if the suit shall have been referred by a Court of judicature, the Collector shall postpone the transmission of his return to the reference, until he shall receive the orders of the board, or other authority aforesaid, and if the claim shall have been originally preferred to the Collector, the Courts of judicature shall not interfere until the decision of the board shall have been passed: provided, however, that in all such cases the decision of the board shall be recorded in a Persian roobukaree, and transmitted to the Collector in that form for the information of the parties.—Provided further, that in cases in which the claim may have been originally preferred to the Collector, the party, if dissatisfied with the decision of the board, shall be at liberty to appeal to the court by which the case may be cognizable, any time within the period of three months from the date on which the board's decision may have been communicated to such party or to his vakeel, or in their absence, from the date on which the roobukaree containing the board's decision may have been brought on the Collector's record of the case.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 9.

Decision of the board how to be communicated.

Parties dissatisfied, at liberty to appeal to the proper civil courts, within specific periods.

If no such appeal be preferred, the decision to be final.

And to be executed by the courts.

308. If the party shall not apply to the court within the said period, and shall fail to show good and sufficient cause for the delay, the decision of the revenue authorities shall be final, and shall, on application of the party in whose favor it may have been passed, be carried into effect by the Courts of judicature, in the manner in which the decrees of courts are executed.—Ibid, Cl. 10.

Proviso.

309. Provided also, that in cases in which the right of resuming the revenue of lands held free of assessment, or of recovering possession under such a tenure of lands which may have been subjected to assessment, shall have been adjudged by the revenue authorities, the courts shall in like manner carry the decision of the said authorities into immediate effect, notwithstanding the admission of an appeal therefrom, unless the party so applying shall give good and sufficient security for the payment of the mesne profits accruing from the lands under dispute.—Reg. 2, 1819, Sect. 30, Cl. 11.

310. In cases of the above description, which may be decided by the Courts of judicature, in appeal from the decision of the revenue authorities, whether the claim be preferred in the first instance to the court, or Collector, a special appeal only shall be admitted by the superior court, excepting always, cases which from their amount may be appealable to the King in Council.—Provided also, that the rules contained in Section 26 of this Regulation, shall be applied to all appeals of the above nature.—Ibid, Cl. 12.

A special appeal only to lie from the decision of the civil court.

311. In modification of the rules contained in Section 26, and Clause twelfth, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, the special appeals from the decisions of the zillah Judges therein provided for shall, from and after the introduction of Regulation 5, 1831, into any district, lie to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 13.

Special appeals from certain decisions of the zillah judges shall lie to the S. D. A.

SECTION XXIV.

Suits under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30—Cognizance of such Suits by Principal Sudder Ameens.

312. Such suits as are referrible to the Collector under Regulation 2, 1819, Section 30, are not cognizable by the Sudder Ameens or Moonsiffs.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 30th Aug. 1833.

Suits under sec. 30, reg. 2, 1819, are not cognizable by the sudder ameens or moonsiffs.

313. The Court desire me to add, that the arguments advanced in Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 95, dated 30th August, 1833, for excluding from the jurisdiction of Moonsiffs, claims preferred to the revenue of lakhiraj land, under the provisions of Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, remain unaffected by Act VI. of 1843, and that suits of that nature must be considered, as heretofore, beyond the competency of a Moonsiff to determine.—Cir. Ord. 8th Oct. 1844, par. 3.

Suits under that section must be considered, as heretofore, not cognizable by moonsiffs.

314. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to every zillah or city Judge within the said territories to refer for trial and decision, any original suit preferred under the provisions of clause first, Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819 of the Bengal Code, to any Principal Sudder Ameen, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 3.

Zillah or city judge may refer to any P. S. A., any original suit preferred under the provisions of cl. 1, sec. 30, reg. 2, 1819.

315. All suits under Section 30, Regulation 2, 1819, referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen, will be sent as heretofore to the Collector of the district for investigation and report. The Collector on closing his proceedings will transmit them under Clause 6, Section 30 Regulation 2, 1819, to the Principal Sudder Ameen for decision.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Feb. 1838, par 3.

All suits under this section referred to a P. S. A. must be sent to the collector for report.

SECTION XXV.

Suits in which Government has been made a Party.

Govt. not liable for errors of the courts of justice, whether revenue officers be or be not employed in executing the court's order.

316. It is hereby declared and enacted, that Government is not, and shall not be held liable for any error, or irregularity which may have occurred, or shall occur in any order, proceeding, or decree of any Court of judicature, whether a revenue, or other officer of Government may or may not have been, or shall or shall not be employed, in giving effect to the order, proceeding, or decree deemed to be erroneous or irregular. Nor shall any officer of Government be held liable for any thing done, or suffered in conformity with an order, proceeding or decree of a court as aforesaid, and if any person or persons shall sue Government or any officer of Government for any thing done or suffered under an order, proceeding or decree of court as aforesaid, such person or persons shall be nonsuited, with costs. The same principle is and shall be held applicable to all orders, proceedings, or decrees made, held, or passed by any public officer, in virtue of powers vested in him for the judicial cognizance of any pleas, suits, complaints, or informations whatsoever, unless otherwise specially provided.—Reg. 11, 1822, Sect. 38.

Course to be pursued in suits brought before the courts of the nature referred to as above in sec. 38.

317. Doubts appearing to exist as to the proper course of proceeding to be observed by the Zillah and City courts, in suits brought before them of the nature of those referred to in Section 38, Regulation 11 of 1822, wherein the plaintiff may have made the Government, by its officers, a party, the prohibition contained in that section notwithstanding; I am desired to inform you that in such cases, on the suit being first brought up for a hearing agreeably to the rule contained in Section 10, Regulation 26 of 1814, it should be pointed out to the plaintiff or his vakeel, that he had rendered himself liable to be nonsuited for improperly making the Collector, or other officer of Government, a defendant in his official capacity; and if he should plead that he had done so from inadvertence, and it should appear to the satisfaction of the Court that the act was not wilful, and had not proceeded from any fraudulent or other improper motive, he should be allowed to file a supplemental plaintiff withdrawing his claim against the Collector or other Government functionary in his official character, when it would be competent to the Judge to proceed with the suit against the other defendants, and either to dispose of the case himself, or to refer it to any of the subordinate courts by whom it might be cognizable under the general rules in force.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th July, West. C. 18th Aug. 1837.

When the collector has been improperly made a defendant, the court should allow the plaintiff to withdraw the collector's name in a supplementary plaint.

318. When the Collector in his official capacity has been improperly made a defendant, the court before nonsuiting should give the plaintiff the option, if he did not appear to be actuated by an improper motive, of filing a supplementary plaintiff and withdrawing the Collector's name.—Con. 1075, West. C. 13th Jan., Cal. C. 21st Feb. 1837.

In an action for the recovery of property, attached by an ameen, if the collector is made a party, the plaintiff must be nonsuited.

319. In an action for the recovery of property attached by an ameen appointed by the Collector under instructions from the Civil court, the plaintiff, in making the Collector a party to the suit, would be liable to a nonsuit under the provisions of Section 38, Regulation 11, 1822.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th Feb. 1835, p. 6.

The principle of reg.

320. In continuation of the Circular order of the 7th ultimo, No. 206, I am directed by the Court to inform you that the principle laid down in Section 38, Regulation 11 of 1822, relative to cases in which the Government or its officers may have improperly been made a party, is held to be applicable to suits of the nature of those described in Section 31, Regulation 7 of 1822.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 18th Aug., West. C. 15th Sept. 1837.

321. The Court observe, however, that in all cases, in which the Collector may be made a party in his official capacity, whether against law or not, he must on being served with the prescribed notice, either defend the suit in the usual manner, whatever may be the nature of the plea that he may put in, either denying the jurisdiction, or otherwise, or take the consequences of allowing the cause to be tried ex-parte; and they are of opinion that where, in the former case, he may file his answer through the Government vakeel, the court trying the suit, on non-suiting the plaintiff's claim with costs, as required by the law above cited, should proceed, as in all other cases, to order the payment of the Government vakeel's fees in the first instance by the Collector on the part of Government, leaving him ultimately to recover the amount, in the usual manner, from the party declared liable for the same.—Con. 1192, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838, Cal. C. 18th Jan. 1839.

The collector, when improperly made a party, must either defend the suit, or take the consequences of its being tried ex-parte.

He may file his answer thro' the govt. pleader.

His fees to be provided for by the collector.

322. In the prosecution and defence of original suits or appeals, in which Government may be a party, in the Zillah courts, the Commissioner of Revenue shall exercise the power and authority of the Board of Revenue, but no decision which may be passed by a lower court, shall be appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, without the sanction of the Sudder Board by whom, in the event of an appeal being preferred, the proceedings will be conducted.—Cir. Ord. Sud. Bd. Rev. 10th Aug. Rule 22.

In the prosecution or defence of suits in which govt. may be a party, the commissioner of revenue will exercise the authority of the board of revenue.

323. The revenue authorities, in giving effect to the orders of court, cannot be held liable for the errors or irregularities of the latter.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th April 1837, vol. 6, p. 157.

The revenue authorities in giving effect to the orders of courts, are not liable for their errors.

SECTION XXVI.

Judicial Powers of the Collectors chiefly when employed in making or revising Settlements, and Jurisdiction of the Civil Courts in these matters.

324. The Collector's proceedings in forming the registry above directed, shall be founded on the basis of actual possession, and that officer shall, in every instance, be careful to record the precise nature of the authority on which the entries in his books may be made. In conformity with the above principle, it shall be competent to the Collectors or other officers when making or revising settlements, or otherwise deputed to investigate and determine the circumstances of any mehal, and the nature of the tenures connected with it, to correct the errors or omissions of former settlements by admitting to engagements or entering on the public records, the names of persons found in the bonâ fide possession of land, or in the receipt of rent under a proprietary title, and in such cases the Collector will hold an official proceeding, explaining fully the grounds on which he may act.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 11.

Collectors forming such registry to proceed on the basis of actual possession.

In estates held under putteedaree, bhyachara or the like tenure, collectors may in certain cases, make a fresh allotment of the revenue & charges payable by the several parcellers.

325. In cases in which the proportion of the Government jumma and village expences payable by each proprietor and by each body of proprietors comprised in the several puttees, behrees and other divisions of an estate held under putteedaree or bhyachara tenure or the like, may have been originally fixed on a measurement of the lands occupied by each, with reference to the quantity in cultivation, and may be liable by the usage of the country to periodical adjustment on the same principle, if the Collector or other officer making or revising the settlement shall be satisfied by examination of the putwarees' accounts or otherwise, that the contributions paid by any proprietor or body of proprietors as aforesaid, are materially in excess of the amount justly demandable from them, it shall be competent to him, with the previous sanction of the board, to cause a new distribution to be made of the revenue and charges payable by each, with reference to the above principle and to such resolutions as Government may have passed relative to the apportionment of the net rent or profits arising out of the limitation of the Government demand, and in the performance of this duty to employ the canoongoe and such person or persons, as he may judge it advisable to appoint, and to settle the jumma payable by the different parties according to the award of such person or persons, or otherwise as shall appear to be just and equitable.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

And in certain cases may make a fresh partition of the land.

326. In like manner in cases in which the several proprietors shall be entitled, not only to an adjustment from time to time of the jumma payable on account of the lands occupied by them, but likewise to a periodical partition of the lands of the village with reference to the share recorded as belonging to each, it shall be competent to the Collector to cause a fresh partition of the lands and adjustment of the jumma to be made as above prescribed, and at the same time to fix and declare the period from which the arrangement as finally settled is to have effect, and to adjust the claims of the parties relative to the revenue intermediately paid by them as may appear equitable. Provided however, that no such partition or adjustment shall be final, until confirmed by the Board of Commissioners, or other authority exercising the powers of that board: provided also, that if any parties shall dispute the existence of the usage under which the partition of the lands shall have been made, and shall claim to be restored to possession of the lands which the Collector may have transferred to another, or shall consider himself entitled to the benefit of a new partition of the lands comprised in the mahal to which he may belong in any case in which the Collector may have refused to order it, it shall be competent to the said party, to bring a regular suit in the Zillah court against the person or persons to whom the lands may have been transferred, or the person or persons who may resist the partition, to try the justness of the Collector's decision; but if the existence of the usage shall be admitted or established, it shall not be competent to the Courts of judicature to question the accuracy of the partition of the land or adjustment of the jumma, and whenever the decision of a Collector for the partition of any land shall be set aside, it will of course belong to the revenue authorities to readjust the jumma with reference to the interests of the parties as defined and settled by the final decision of the Courts of judicature, and to the conditions of the tenure, and to any general or special resolution of Government.

Cases wherein parties affected by collector's decision may contest it in the award.

relative to the distribution of the net rent or profit arising out of the limitation of the public assessment.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 12, Cl. 2.

327. Collectors making or revising settlements shall, in cases in which any dispute may exist in regard to the nature of the tenure of any person occupying the soil, be competent to declare in an official proceeding to be incorporated in the roobukaree of settlement, the nature and extent of the interests actually possessed by such occupant, referring to the denomination heretofore applied to him only as one means of proof in regard to the nature of the interest, but stating at length, with specification of any examination he may take for his satisfaction, the grounds of his determination; so also in cases of dispute regarding the extent of the interest belonging to any sharer in a village or villages held under putteedaree, bhyachara or the like tenure, such sharer having actual possession of a portion of such village or villages, or being in the actual receipt as proprietor of a share of the joint profits of the land, it shall be competent to the Collector to decide the point in the first instance in his roobukaree of settlement, and to enforce his decision, leaving the party who may deem himself aggrieved to seek redress by a regular suit in the courts to try the right; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the courts to interfere with the decision of the Collector in regard to the amount or proportion of jumma to be assessed on any parcel of land, or in respect to the quantity and description of land to be assigned in partition to the holder of any specific share of a joint estate.—Ibid, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Collectors making or revising settlements may declare the nature & extent of interests possessed by persons occupying land.

Where lands held in putteedaree, bhyachara or the like tenure, collectors may decide disputes as to the extent of interest belonging to any sharer, and may enforce his decision.

Subject to an appeal to the adawlut.

328. The above rule shall not be construed to empower Collectors, unless otherwise authorized, to take cognizance of any claim, to receive a larger portion of the common profits than the claimant has hitherto enjoyed, or to hold a larger portion of the village or villages than he has hitherto occupied.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Collectors shall not under the above rule take cognizance of claims to larger profits or more land than claimant may have hitherto enjoyed or held.

329. The decisions passed by the Collectors under the above powers, if not altered or annulled by the board or by Government, shall be maintained by the courts, unless on investigation in a regular suit it shall appear, that the possession held under such a decision is wrongful; and nothing herein contained shall be understood to authorize any court to interfere with the decision of the revenue authorities relative to the jumma to be assessed on any mehal or portion of a mehal, or to the extent and description of lands belonging to any mehal, that may be assigned on the partition of the same to the several parceners concerned.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Decision of revenue officers to be maintained by courts, unless proved to be wrong in a regular suit.

Courts not to interfere with apportionment of jumma or allotment of land made by collectors, excepting where the principle of collector's decision may be at variance with decree.

330. If any person shall complain to a Collector or other officer making or revising the settlement of any mehal, that he has been wrongfully dispossessed from any lands, premises, crops, orchards, pasture grounds, fisheries, wells, water-courses, tanks, reservoirs, or the like, within such mehal, or of the rents, produce or profits of such lands, premises, &c. the like as aforesaid, or that he has been wrongfully disturbed in the possession thereof, it shall be competent to the Collector or other officer aforesaid, to enquire into the matter, and if the party so complaining shall appear to have been in possession in the year preceding that in which the complaint is brought, and there shall otherwise be reason to believe, that he has been violently or wrongfully dispossessed or disturbed, it shall be competent to the Collector to restore or confirm him, recording the grounds of his determination in a roobukaree, and the opposite party shall in such case be left to bring a regular suit in court to try the question of right. In like manner should a Collector or other officer as aforesaid find, that there exist in any mehal of which he may be making or revising the settlement, any disputes relative to the possession of lands, premises or the like, which it may be expedient to adjust, it shall be competent to the Collector or other officer aforesaid to pass a decision determining the point of possession, leaving the question of right, if further disputed, to be settled by the result of a regular suit in the adawlut—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 14, Cl. 4.

Subject to an appeal to the adawlut.

The above provisions to what cases to apply.

To what cases the rule shall not apply.

331. The above provisions shall be held to apply to all cases in which a zemindar or under-tenant, whether farmer or ryot, having by special deed or prescriptive title, a right of occupancy, shall have been wrongfully ousted from the occupancy of lands held and cultivated by him in the preceding year, or in which the rents and profits of any land which were received by such dispossessed party in the preceding year, shall be withheld from him, without a legal award or a voluntary act of the party involving the transfer, renunciation or relinquishment of such rents and profits. But the above rule shall not apply to any case in which the complaining party may have executed any deed, purporting to be a relinquishment of possession, unless it shall have been established by some judicial proceeding, that such deed was extorted by force and terror, nor to any cases wherein the complainant shall have in any way lost or relinquished possession previously to the commencement of the year preceding that in which the complaint may be preferred.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

G. G. in C. may grant to collectors making or revising settlements, special authority to take cognizance of claims to the property and possession of land.

332. It shall be competent to the Governor General in Council to grant to a Collector making or revising the settlement of any mehal, whether the same may have been held by a lakhiraj tenure resumed, or being malgoozaree, may have become open to re-settlement in ordinary course, special authority to hear, try and determine as above, all claims to the property and possession of the lands lying within such mehal, or the rent or produce thereof, and to give possession to the party who may appear to have the best title, subject to the orders and direction of the board, and further subject as above, to the revision of the Zillah or Provincial court in a regular suit: provided also, that whenever special authority may be given to any Collector as aforesaid, notice of the order of Government shall be published by a proclamation within the mehals, to which the authority so given may extend; and it shall be the duty of the Collectors and the boards to see that such proclamation is duly made. But no decision passed by a Collector under this or any other section whereby such notification is required, shall be disturbed by any Court of judicature, otherwise than after a full and regular investigation of merits on the plea that proclamation was not made.—Ibid, Sect. 16.

Collectors making or revising settlements in what cases to take cognizance of claims to property in lands held lakhiraj or at a mokurereejumma,

333. It shall be competent to Collectors and other officers engaged in making or revising the settlement of any purgunnah, mouzah or other local division, on the application of persons claiming a right of property in lands held free of assessment, or at a mokurereejumma, under unquestioned grants from the ruling power, or from the amils or other officers of Government, and situate within, or adjoining to such purgunnah, mouzah or other local division, to receive, try and determine the claim; and if satisfied that the applicants do possess, or are entitled to possess, a hereditary and transferable property in the land or the produce of rent thereof, the Collector or other officer, with the sanction of Government previously obtained, shall be authorized to conclude a settlement with them on behalf of the lakhirajdar or mokurereedar, for such period as the Governor General in Council may direct, and shall grant to each of the said proprietors pottahs, defining the conditions on which they are to hold their lands, subordinate to the lakhirajdar or mokurereedar.—It shall further be competent to the Collectors, under the orders of the Board of Commissioners, to fix and declare the amount of malikana or other proprietary allowance to be paid by such lakhirajdars or mokurereedars to the said proprietors, in the event of their being divested of the occupancy and management of their lands: provided however, that either party who may be dissatisfied with the decision of the Collector as to the question of the right of property, shall be at liberty to contest the same in a regular suit in the adawlut; but the courts shall not interfere to alter the terms on which the settlement may have been made by the Collector with proprietors, or the amount of malikana granted to such persons.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 17.

under valid tenures, and to make a settlement with the proprietors on behalf of the lakhirajdar, or mokurereedar.

Proviso that an appeal to the adawlut shall lie on the question of right of property.

334. The Collector shall in cases of doubt be the judge of the question of jurisdiction, subject to the orders of the board and of Government, and the Courts of judicature shall not disturb possession given by the Collector, except on a regular suit, and on a decision as to the right.—Ibid, Sect. 18.

Collectors to be the judges to the question of jurisdiction.

335. It shall be competent to Collectors when prosecuting the above enquiries, or hearing and trying the above suits or otherwise, when authorized in that behalf by the board to which they may be subordinate, to require all sudder malgoozars and other persons owning, occupying, managing or cultivating any lands within or in the vicinity of the mehal to which their enquiries may extend, or gathering or disposing of the produce thereof, or collecting, enjoying or appropriating any rent or revenue derived therefrom, as well as the gomashdahs or other agents employed by such persons in the management or cultivation of the land, or in the collection of the rent, produce or revenue thereof, to attend and produce all accounts or other papers which they may respectively possess relative to such lands, produce, rent or revenue, and to examine the said persons on oath, or hulufnamah, to the truth of the accounts produced, or on any other matter relating to such accounts, or regarding the lands, produce, rent or revenue of the mehal, or the rights and interests attaching to such lands, produce, rent or revenue: provided however, that no person shall be compelled to answer on oath or solemn declaration, any interrogation regarding matters wherein he may have an immediate personal interest in concealing the truth, or in uttering what is false, not being an interest arising out of fear, favour, or reward, or any corrupt bargain or agreement with another party.—Ibid, Sect. 19, Cl. 1.

Collectors authorized to summon witnesses and require production of accounts.

To examine on oath, or hulufnamah.

Proviso that persons shall not be examined on oath on questions immediately touching their own interests.

336. The rules contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1819, relative to the mode of serving process on persons who may be required to attend and produce accounts under the provisions of that Regulation, shall be and be held applicable to processes issued by Rules of reg. 2, 1819, applicable to processes issued by collectors under this regulation.

Also to putwarees and others summoned or examined in cases cognizable under this regulation.

And to all other persons upon whom process may be issued.

Collectors or other officers under the rules contained in this Regulation. In like manner the provisions of Section 12 of the said Regulation shall be applicable to all putwarees, gomashtahs, or other persons, by whom the accounts of any lands regarding which the said enquiries may have been instituted, may be kept, and who after being duly summoned as aforesaid, may neglect or omit to produce any of the accounts required from them, or to give their evidence regarding them, or who may deliberately give a false deposition on oath or solemn declaration when summoned and examined as aforesaid, or who may alter, fabricate, falsify, or mutilate the accounts which they may be required to produce: provided further, that Collectors and other officers employed in the settlement of the land revenue, or in any of the enquiries specified in this Regulation, shall be vested with all the powers and authority which are or may be lawfully exercised by Collectors in cases depending before them under Regulation 2, 1819, and the rules contained in Clause 3. Sections 13, 14, and 19 of the said Regulation, shall be and be held applicable to all persons who may be summoned by any Collector or other officer aforesaid, or who may resist the process of a Collector issued under the rules of this Regulation, or who may refuse to take an oath or subscribe a solemn declaration when required, or who may deliberately give a false deposition on oath, or under a solemn declaration taken instead of an oath, or may cause or procure another to do so.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 19, Cl. 2.

Powers specified in secs. 11, 12, 14, 16, 17, 18, and 19 to be ordinarily vested in collectors making or revising settlements.

But G. G. in C. may restrict powers to be exercised on any particular occasion.

Like powers may be specially vested in collectors though not engaged in making or revising settlements.

Collectors may be similarly vested with special powers to try all suits regarding rent.

Or exaction of rent.

The adjustment of accounts between

337. The powers specified in Sections 11, 12, 14, 16, 17, 18, and 19 of this Regulation, shall be ordinarily exercised by Collectors when employed in making or revising settlements of the land revenue, and shall extend to all the lands comprized in the purgunnah in which he may be so employed; but it shall be competent to the Government by an order in council, to be publicly proclaimed in the district, to restrict the authority of Collectors and other officers making settlements in such manner, and to such extent, as he may, from time to time, judge expedient. In like manner it shall be competent to Government to vest such Collectors as may, from time to time, be judged fit, with a special authority to receive, try and determine in the first instance, subject to a regular suit in the adawlut as above provided, all or any of the questions of the nature specified in the aforesaid sections, though the said Collectors may not be engaged in making or revising a settlement of the land revenue, and to vest in such of the Collectors as may be thought proper, authority (either generally or within such limits as may be, from time to time, determined) to receive, try and determine by summary process, all suits for rent which may be preferred by zemindars, talookdars or other sudder malgoozars or farmers of land, or by any person in their behalf against any dependant talookdar, zemindar, under-renter, ryot or other under-tenant of whatever denomination, as well as all applications by ryots and the under-tenants, contesting the demand of a sudder malgoozar or farmer, and all complaints preferred by ryots or other under-tenants of whatever description, against landholders or farmers of land, or their respective agents or representatives, on account of excessive demand or undue exaction of rent, whether levied by distraint or otherwise, as well as all suits relative to the adjustment of accounts between landholders and farmers of land or under-tenants of whatever description, with their sureties, or with any agents or persons employed by them in the management of land, or the collection or payment of the rent of land, and to all other matters immediately connected with the demand, receipt or payment of the rent of land, whether malgoozaree or lakhiraj, or with the rent of orchards, pasture grounds, and fisheries, commonly denominated phulkur, bunkur and julkur, or with any other asset of the land revenue, not included in the sayar abolished, together with all complaints of the non-delivery of pottahs when demandable under the Regulations, or complaints of the prescribed receipts not being given for actual payment of rent, and generally complaints of any deviation from the Regulations, or from the established usage of the country relative to the matters aforesaid, or any violation of subsisting engagements in disputes respecting the rent and occupancy of land, between landholders and farmers of land, and their under-tenants of whatever denomination.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 20, Cl. 1.

338. The appointment of the Collector to the discharge of the above duties, and the extent of the jurisdiction to be assigned to him, shall be notified by proclamation in the district, after such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct; and after the publication of such notice, all summary suits, actions, applications and complaints of the above nature, and referring to lands or the rents, produce or accessions of land lying within the jurisdiction assigned to the Collector as above, which may be preferred in the Zillah or City adawlut by any sudder malgoozar, zemindar, talookdar, farmer, ryot or other proprietor or under-tenant of land, shall, immediately on being received, be referred for trial to the Collector, to whom also all such summary suits depending at the time shall be transferred: provided also, that in such cases, parties having suits or complaints to prefer of which the cognizance may be vested as above in the Collector, shall be at liberty to prefer them to that officer in the first instance. It shall in like manner be competent to the Governor General to fix by an order in council, the period at which the special powers given as above to a Collector, and the authority to be ordinarily exercised by those officers on the occasion of making settlements, shall cease and determine.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

landlord and tenant, their sureties and agents.

And touching all matters connected with land, the rents or produce of land, the delivery of pottahs, the violation of engagements and generally all disputes between sudder malgoozars, and farmers and their tenants.

Appointment of collector to exercise the above duties how to be notified.

G. G. may fix by proclamation period for which collectors are to exercise judicial powers under this regulation.

339. No complaint or application of the nature specified in the preceding clauses, shall be received by a Collector under the rules of this Regulation, unless the plaint or application shall have been preferred within the period of one year after the cause of action shall have arisen.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Collectors shall not take cognizance of complaints specified in preceding clauses, unless preferred within one year.

340. In summary suits for rents and the like, wherein special rules have been prescribed for regulating the process of the courts, the Collectors shall be guided by the same rules, and shall exercise the same powers and authority as are or may be lawfully exercised by the zillah and city Judges. In other cases falling under their cognizance, according to the provisions of this Regulation, the ordinary process for securing the attendance of the defendant or party otherwise impleaded, shall be to issue a notice reciting the matter, and requiring the defendant or other party to attend in person or by representative, at such time and place as may be made choice of by the Collector for conducting the investigation : should any party fail to attend after being served with a notice of the above description, or should the return of the Nazir or person employed to serve the notice be that, after diligent search the party or parties cannot be found, proclamation shall be made in writing to be stuck up at or near the ordinary residence of the party, stating that after fifteen days from the date of publishing the same, the case will be liable to be brought up for trial and judgment, and any party implicated who, having been served with the notice above described, shall fail to attend, or who shall continue to absent himself, will be as much bound by the judgment that may be passed, as if he or they had been in attendance to plead.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 21.

Secs. 18 & 19, reg. 8, 1819, extended and declared applicable to cases tried by collectors under this regulation.

341. Sections 18 and 19, Regulation 8, 1819, are hereby extended to all the provinces immediately subject to the Presidency of Fort William, and the provisions of the said section shall be applicable to the proceedings of Collectors held under this Regulation.—Provided however, that whenever it shall be desired to apprehend a defaulter residing out of the jurisdiction of the Collector by whom the suit relative to the alleged arrear may be cognizable, the process of arrest shall be served through the Judge of the district where the alleged defaulter may reside.—Ibid, Sect. 22.

Collector's cutcherry shall be held to be a court of civil judicature : and his decisions shall be deemed to be judicial awards.

342. It is hereby declared and enacted, that in so far as concerns the summoning and examination of witnesses, the penalties for false testimony, for resistance of process, contempts, and all other similar matters, connected with cases under cognizance before the Collectors of land revenue, or other officer, by virtue of the powers vested in them by this Regulation, or any other Regulation, whereby Collectors are vested with judicial powers, their cutcherry or office for the time being shall be deemed and held to be a Court of civil judicature.—Ibid, Sect. 23, Cl. 1.

Proviso.

343. Provided also, that the regular suits which may be brought to contest decisions passed by Collectors, under the powers vested in them by Sections 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20, shall be of the nature of an appeal to court in its regular jurisdiction from a summary award. It shall not therefore be necessary for the Collector or other officer of Government to be a party in the action.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Collectors authorized to execute awards made by them.

344. Collectors of the land revenue are hereby empowered to execute all awards made by them under the rules of this Regulation, in cases wherein a specific sum of money shall be adjudged to be due, or any costs or damages be awarded ; the Collector decreeing the same shall proceed to levy the amount for the party in whose favor it may be adjudged by the process in use for the recovery of arrears of the Government revenue :—provided however, that he shall not sell any lands, houses, or other real property in satisfaction of any judgment passed in favor of any individual, on a summary enquiry. In cases wherein possession of lands, houses, water-courses or the like may be adjudged, it may and shall be lawful for the Collector making the award, to deliver over possession in the same manner and with the same powers in regard to all contempts, resistance, and the like, as are or may be lawfully exercised by the Courts in giving possession to an auction purchaser ; and the Zillah or City adawlut shall support the Collectors in the exercise of the above power, and shall give effect to any orders passed by them in pursuance of it, in the like manner as if the same had been passed by themselves. Collectors are further hereby empowered to place one or more peons, mirdahs, suwars, or the like, to aid in the maintenance of possession for the party to whom it may be awarded, in case of his decaying such a measure necessary or expedient.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 23, Cl. 3.

345. It shall and may be lawful for a Collector or other officer exercising the powers of Collector, preparatory to making or revising a settlement as aforesaid, to depute any tehseeldar, canoongoe, ameen, or other fixed or temporary officer to any village or mehal, whether the same be managed by a zemindar or farmer, or be held khaus, to enquire into the various matters which such Collector or other officer is required or empowered to investigate, in order to form a settlement in the mode prescribed by this Regulation. Any such Native officer so deputed as above, shall be deemed to be vested with the power of summoning and examining putwarees, gomashahs, or other persons by whom the accounts of the village or mehal may be kept, in the same manner and with the same powers as is provided for officers deputed under Section 25, Regulation 12, 1817. Furthermore, in case the Collector or other officer may so prescribe, the said tehseeldar, or other person, shall be empowered to make a measurement of the village or mehal, into which they may be deputed, and to summon any mocuddums, pudhans, ryots or other residents, and to call upon them to point out the boundaries of such village or mehal, and to furnish information as to all matters relating to the land and the rights and interest attaching thereto: and any person contumaciously withholding information from an officer deputed as aforesaid, shall be liable, on the same being established to the Collector's satisfaction, to the same penalty as is prescribed for putwarees refusing to attend or give evidence.—Ibid, Sect. 24, Cl. 1.

Collectors authorized to depute native officers to make enquiries preparatory to settlement.

346. Provided also, that any person who may, by force or threats, obstruct or resist the execution of any legal process, requisition or order of a Collector or other revenue officer, shall, in addition to the penalties prescribed by the existing Regulations for such act, be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment in the Dewanny jail for a period not exceeding two months; the said fine or other penalty to be adjudged by the Collector after proceeding duly held and recorded, and the sentence to be immediately reported to the board to which he may be subject.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Resistance or obstruction of the process or order of a collector how punishable.

347. Provided further, that all Police officers shall aid and support the execution of all process and orders issued by a Collector or other officer aforesaid, on the responsibility of the officer issuing or executing the same; and if any affray or breach of the peace shall occur in consequence of any resistance or obstruction being made or attempted to be made to the legal process or order of a Collector or other revenue officer, the parties resisting or obstructing such process or order, shall be punishable for the affray or breach of the peace, and the revenue officers shall not be liable to any criminal prosecution on that account.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Police officers to aid and support the execution of process and orders of collector.

348. It shall be competent to the parties in all suits the cognizance of which is hereby vested in the Collectors of revenue to employ any agent, vakeel or representative.

Parties in suits tried by collectors, may employ any vakeels or agents they think proper. whom they may think proper to appoint, to act and plead in their behalves, provided such agent, vakeel, or representative, be duly empowered by the parties. The rate of remuneration to such agent or vakeel shall be left to be adjusted between himself and his constituent, but no greater sum shall be awarded on this account for costs payable by the party against whom the judgment may be passed, than what may be deemed by the Collector a fair equivalent for the attendance of such agent.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 25.

What pleadings to be required.

349. No other pleadings shall be required from the parties in such suits, than a plaint and answer, provided that if the parties should, at any time, wish to file an amended plaint or an amended answer, or any explanatory motion, such subsidiary pleadings shall be received.—Ibid, Sect. 26.

Stamped paper to be used.

350. The mooktarnamahs or vakalutnamahs, and the pleadings and final decree in such suits, shall be written on stamped paper of the value of eight annas, whatever may be the amount of the suit, and no fees shall be taken on exhibits tendered in the cause, or for the witnesses required by the parties; nor shall it be necessary for the parties to present a written motion on stamped paper for the filing of such exhibits, or for the summoning of such witnesses.—Ibid, Sect. 27.

Collectors may try and determine suits in any part of their districts.

351. It shall be competent to the Collectors to hear and determine such suits in whatever part of the district they may occasionally be or reside, provided that every hearing and decision be in public cutcherry, or in some other place open to the public, and in the presence of the parties or of their constituted agents or vakeels, if in attendance.—Ibid, Sect. 28.

Decisions how appealable to Boards.

352. The decisions of the Collectors on all such suits shall be appealable to the Board of Revenue or other authority exercising the powers of that board. The petition of appeal shall be presented either to the Collector or to the board, at the option of the party, and shall be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees, but no petition of appeal shall be received after the expiration of three months from the date of the decision, unless sufficient cause shall be shewn for the delay to the satisfaction of the board.

Board how to proceed on such appeals.

Provided also, that the board shall not be required in ordinary cases to go into a regular investigation of the merits, but shall be authorized to dismiss the appeal without further investigation, in all cases in which, on a consideration of the final roobukaree of the Collector, they may not see ground to consider the decision of that officer to be unjust, erroneous or doubtful, or his proceedings in the case irregular or imperfect: provided also, that in all cases in which the Collector may dismiss the suit for non-attendance, or on some other ground of default, without an investigation of the merits of the case, it shall be competent to the board to direct a new trial, and in cases in which he may neglect or delay the investigation or decision of a suit without sufficient cause, it shall be competent to the board to interfere and to cause the Collector to proceed upon the enquiry into, and determination of it.—Ibid, Sect. 29, Cl. 1.

In what cases board may direct a new trial or interpose to correct neglect or delay.

What pleadings to be required in appeals to boards.

353. No pleadings except the petition of appeal shall be required in such appeals, nor shall any fees be taken by the board on the exhibits originally filed, or on any further documents which the board may think it necessary to call for.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

354. If the parties choose to employ in the pleading of such appeals the same agents or vakeels who were previously employed by them in the original suit no further mooktarnamah or vakalutnamah shall be required of them.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 29, Cl. 3.

355. The respondent shall receive notice of the appeal, but shall not be compelled to appear in person or by vakeel, and the appeal shall be decided on the merits of the case, notwithstanding his absence, in the same manner as if he had attended.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Respondents to receive notice, but not to be required to appear.

356. The decision of the board shall be final in as far as concerns the result of the summary enquiry of the Collector, and shall be rendered in a Persian roobukaree written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Board's decision to be final as to the result of summary enquiry.

357. Any person however, dissatisfied with the summary judgment of the Collector or the board, and desirous of a more full and formal decision, shall be at liberty to prefer a regular suit to try the merits of the case in the zillah or other similar or superior court in which it may be cognizable. In such cases the summary judgment of the Collector, if not reversed or staid by the board, shall be carried into effect, notwithstanding the institution of the regular suit.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

But decision of board and collector may be contested by a regular suit in a dawlut.

358. All persons having claims or complaints to prefer of the nature of those cognizable by Collectors, under the provisions of this Regulation, and not wishing to avail themselves of the summary process authorized in that court, shall be at liberty to institute their claims or complaints in the first instance by a regular suit before the local Moonsiff, or in the Zillah or City adawlut, or Provincial court of the division, according as the suit may be cognizable in these courts respectively, under the general Regulations for the administration of civil justice.—Ibid, Sect. 30.

Parties having claims cognizable by collectors, and not wishing a summary trial, may in the first instance bring a regular action in the adawlut.

359. Whenever a regular suit may be instituted in a Civil court, with a view to set aside or alter a summary judgment passed by a Collector, the proceedings held on the summary enquiry shall be called for by precept from the court, and filed on the record of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 31, Cl. 1.

On appeal to a court against the decision of a collector, the proceedings held by that officer shall be called for and filed in the case.

360. Provided also, that no such suit shall be cognizable by, or referrible to any Register, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, and all Registers, Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, shall in cases tried by them be held and bound by the decisions passed, and records prepared, by Collectors or other revenue officers under the provisions of this Regulation, unless the same shall have been rescinded or altered by the board, or by the zillah or other similar or superior court on a regular suit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

No such appeal cognizable by, or referrible to any register, ameen or moonsiff.

361. The Collectors shall transmit to the boards such periodical reports of the causes decided by, or depending before them, as the boards may direct, and the boards will also furnish to Government such abstracts of those reports, and such reports in the cases received, and determined by them in appeal, as the Governor General in Council shall, from time to time, require.—Ibid, Sect. 32.

Periodical reports to be furnished by collectors to boards.

362. It shall be competent to Collectors or other officers exercising the powers of Collectors to refer to arbitration any disputes cognizable by them under the provisions of this Regulation, as well as any questions or disputes of any kind respecting land or the Collectors authorized to refer certain cases to arbitration.

tenures therein, or the rights dependent thereon that may come before them—provided the parties consent to that mode of adjustment, and on award being made, to cause the same to be executed. In referring cases to arbitration under the above provision, and in their general proceedings relative to such suits, the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in Regulation 16, 1793, and the other corresponding enactments, and in Regulation 6, 1813, in so far as the same may be applicable, and shall be competent to vest in the arbitrators the same powers and authority in regard to the summoning and examination of witnesses, and the administration of oaths, and to enforce the orders passed by the arbitrators under such powers, in the same manner as the Courts of judicature are empowered to do; and all awards made on such references shall, when confirmed by the Collector, have the same force and validity as a regular decree of the adawlut, and shall not be liable to be reversed or altered, unless the award shall be open to impeachment on the ground of corruption or gross partiality, or shall extend beyond the authority given by the submission of the parties, and such ground of impeachment shall be established in a regular suit in the Zillah, City or other superior court, wherein the case may be cognizable.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 33, Cl. 1.

Force of awards passed on such reference.

Matter of arbitration to be distinctly specified in collector's proceedings.

363. In referring any dispute to arbitration, the Collector shall be careful to specify in his proceedings, and in the deed of arbitration, to be executed by the parties, the precise matter submitted to the arbitrators, and if the award first made by the arbitrators shall not include all the points submitted to them, or shall be otherwise incomplete, it shall be competent to the Collector again to refer the matter to them with directions to perfect their award.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Canoongoes and tchseeldars may be employed as arbiters.

364. The purgunnah canoongoes and tchseeldars may be appointed arbitrators in any case referred to arbitration under the above rules; anything in the existing Regulations notwithstanding.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Collectors in what cases to interfere of their own motion in cases of disputed possession.

365. When a Collector or other officer exercising any of the powers vested in Collectors by the rules of this Regulation, relative to complaints of dispossession or disturbance of the possession of lands or premises, shall learn either by a reference from the Magistrate or by a report from any other public officer or otherwise, that any disputes exist within the tract placed under his jurisdiction relative to any lands, premises, crops, orchards, pasture grounds, fisheries, wells, water-courses, tanks, reservoirs or the like, likely to terminate in a breach of the peace, it shall and may be lawful for the Collector or other officer aforesaid, to require the contending parties to attend in person or by representative at a stated time and place, and after investigating the case in the presence of the parties or their representatives, or such of them as may attend, or referring it to arbitration as above prescribed, to decide the case in the same manner as if it had been brought before him by the complaint of one of the parties: provided also, that if the fact of previous lawful possession cannot be ascertained, it shall be competent to the Collector, subject to the orders and direction of the board, to decide on the question of right, and to give possession to one of the contending parties, leaving the other party to contest the decision by a regular suit in court. But no such decision shall be passed by any Collector, until he shall have instituted a careful enquiry into the fact of possession, and the board shall be careful to see that this restriction is observed: provided further, that in such cases it shall be competent to the Collector to attach the disputed lands, premises, &c. as aforesaid, and to appoint an officer to the management of the same, retaining in deposit the rents and produce, or such portion thereof, as may remain after discharging any public revenue demandable therefrom, with the charges of management, until one of the contending parties shall be placed in possession.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 34, Cl. 1.

And to give possession to one of the contending parties.

Collector may attach disputed lands, &c.

366. Whenever any Magistrates or Joint Magistrates shall have before them any suit, complaint or information relative to any dispute regarding lands, premises, crops, water-courses or the like, which may appear likely to terminate in a breach of the peace, or which it may otherwise be desirable to bring to an immediate decision, it shall be the duty of such Magistrate or Joint Magistrate in cases in which the Collector shall be vested with the cognizance of such actions, to certify the case to that officer, and the Collector will then forthwith proceed to investigate and determine the case under the rules above prescribed: provided also, that in all cases of forcible dispossession, or forcible disturbance of possession, the Collector shall invariably transmit to the Magistrate or Joint Magistrate a copy of the first proceeding held by him in the case, and also a copy of the rookarce containing his final award.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Magistrates and joint magistrates in what cases to refer disputes to collector.

367. The Collector shall in all such cases use every proper means for inducing the parties to refer their disputes to arbitration, in like manner as the Dewanny courts are directed to do.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Collector to encourage arbitration.

368. Whenever the term Board of Revenue or Board of Commissioners may occur in this or any other Regulation, the same shall be held and considered to apply to any board, committee or commission, and to any member of such board, committee or commission that may be vested by the Governor General in Council with the powers and authority of the Board of Revenue, save and except in so far as may be otherwise specially declared and provided. In like manner all rules in this or any other Regulation, whereby any duties or powers may be prescribed for, or vested in Collectors, shall be held and considered to be equally applicable to any officer exercising the authority of Collector, under the orders or with the sanction of the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Sect. 35.

Meaning of the term board of commissioners, &c. as used in this and other regulations.

Rules regarding collectors, to apply to any officer exercising authority of collector under orders from govt.

369. It shall be competent to the Governor General in Council to vest any Collector, or other officer exercising the powers of Collector, within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, with the several powers specified in Section 20, Regulation 7, 1822, in the manner specified in the second clause of that section, within such local limits as may from time to time appear to be advisable: and the several provisions contained in Section 21, and the fourteen following sections shall apply to the several pargunnahs or other local divisions so placed under the jurisdiction of the Collector, or other officer aforesaid.—Reg. 9, 1825, Sect. 3.

The G. G. in C. may vest any collector, &c. with the several powers specified in sec. 20, reg. 7, 1822, within such limits as may be considered advisable.

In such cases the several provisions contained in sec. 35, &c. to be considered applicable.

370. Held that Government are competent under Section 3, Regulation 9, 1825, to authorize the revenue authorities, though not employed in revising settlements, to perform all the acts described in Sections 11, 12, 14, and 16 to 35, Regulation 7, 1822, in any specified tract within the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa and Benares, in the summary adjudication of suits between individuals ;—that the provisions of Regulation 9, 1833, are applicable to adjudications in such parts, made in conformity with those provisions ;—and that therefore the Collector is competent to adjudge claims connected with disputed boundaries in those tracts.—Con. 1369, West. C. 27th Jan., Cal. C. 10th Feb. 1843.

Declaration in addition to sec. 33, reg. 7, 1822, that it shall be lawful for a collector, or other officer employed in making settlements under reg. 7, 1822, to fix, under the instructions of the superior revenue authorities, a period within which the parties to a judicial question pending before him, and referred to arbitration, must produce the award.

If the parties refuse or neglect to produce the award within the term fixed, the collector or other officer may summon a panchaet for the trial of the matter—panchaet how to be composed.

Punchaets so summoned how to proceed to a decision. The superior revenue authorities to issue rules of practice for the guidance of the collector or other officer as above, or of the panchaet.

What appeal to lie from the decisions of such panchaets.

Suits brought in any court of justice to set aside decisions under the above rules, to be nonsuited with costs.

It is not competent to a revenue officer making settlements under reg. 9, 1833, or any other enactment, to interfere in regard to any suit pending in any court, original or in appeal, at the date of the settle-

371. In addition to Section 33, Regulation 7 of 1822, it is hereby enacted, that whenever any judicial question may be depending before a Collector, or other officer employed in making settlements under the provisions of Regulation 7 of 1822, in which the interests of justice may, in the opinion of such officer, require that the case be decided by arbitration, it shall be lawful for him to fix, under the instructions with which he may be furnished by the superior revenue authorities, a period within which the parties must produce the award.—Reg. 9, 1833, Sect. 5.

372. In that case, if the parties shall refuse or neglect to produce such award within the term limited, it shall be lawful for the Collector, or other officer, to summon a panchaet, to be composed of three or five impartial and otherwise competent persons, of good repute, for the trial of the matter at issue.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

373. After duly considering the statements and evidence offered by the parties, or in case of the default or recusance of either, the statements and evidence produced by the party in attendance, the panchaet shall declare their opinions, and judgment shall be recorded according to the sentence of the majority. The superior revenue authorities will, from time to time, issue such rules of practice for the guidance of the officers employed on this duty, or the panchaets, as they may consider necessary.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

374. No appeal shall be allowed from such decisions, which shall be immediately executed and maintained, unless the Commissioner, subject to the control of the Sudder Board of Revenue, should think proper, for any special reason, to direct that the case shall be submitted to another panchaet for decision.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

375. Any suit brought before any Court of justice to set aside a decision made in conformity with the above rules [Nos. 371 to 374] shall be nonsuited with costs.—Ibid. Sect. 9.

376. The first reference formed the subject of the letter of the Western Court, No. 33, dated 4th December, 1835. The question mooted for opinion was as follows :—"A suit is instituted regarding a boundary dispute between two villages, and an ameen is deputed to make local enquiries. Before the decision is given, the Collector decides the disputed boundary : can the court interfere in this decision ; or does it bar any investigation of the merits of the case ?"—The two Courts concurrently ruled* that under the circumstances stated,

* Calcutta Court's letter, No. 51, dated 2d January, 1836.

there was nothing which should operate to interrupt the progress of the suit, or prevent its taking its course.—Con. 1128, 5th Feb. 1838, par. 4.

ment, unless the parties apply for its removal to the court of the settlement officer, with a view to its being decided under reg. 9, 1833, secs. 5 to 8.

377. The second reference was that of the Agra Court's letter, No. 41, dated 11th December, 1835. It arose out of a collision of jurisdiction between the Judge of Goruckpore and the settlement officer appointed under the provisions of Regulation 9, 1833, in certain parts of that district.—In this instance it was held by both courts,* that it was not competent to the settlement officer to interfere with regard to awards of court given previously to the period of his appointment, unless by order of the court, or with the consent of the parties.—Ibid., par. 5.

It is not competent to such officer to interfere, under the regulation cited, in regard to any case which may have been already judicially decided by a civil court, originally, or in appeal, unless such interference took place by order of the court, or with the consent of parties.

378. The third case was forwarded for the opinion of this court with the letter of the Western Court, No. 1075, dated 16th December, 1836. The reference of the Judge of Ghazee pore was to the following effect :—“ A case of disputed boundary between two contiguous estates under settlement is litigating in the Moonsiff's court, and still undecided, when the settlement officer proceeds under the authority vested in him by Sections 6 and 7, Regulation 9, 1833, to appoint a punchaet by drawing lots. In the mean time the Moonsiff gives a decree in favour of one party, and the arbitrators base their award on the said decree, acting upon which the Collector marks off his boundary, and concludes his settlement. Such being the case, is it competent to the Judge to entertain the question in appeal from the Moonsiff's decision, with the chance of course of reversing the arbitration award, or is he precluded from interference by Section 9, Regulation 9, 1833 ?” The Western Court proposed to reply that there was nothing in the explanation to operate to prevent the appeal taking its course. In this opinion the Calcutta Court† did not originally concur. They observed that the award of the punchaet, and the decision of the Collector thereon, being subsequent to the date of the Moonsiff's decree, the award could not be affected by any order the Judge might pass on the trial of the appeal : and that the appeal being in fact a suit brought to set aside the Collector's decision must be nonsuited with costs under the rule contained in Section 9, Regulation 9, 1833. The Western Court in their letter, No. 1105, dated 15th September last, requested that this Court would re-consider the reference. They forwarded further correspondence on the subject of the particular case previously referred, and of other similar cases. They entered at large into the consideration of the subject : and in the 3d paragraph of their letter observed as follows :—The following general questions appear to arise out of the present correspondence, which it seems desirable to determine for the future guidance of the judicial and revenue officers, and with a view to define the jurisdiction to be exercised by those authorities respectively in cases of the nature of those under reference.—Ibid., pars. 6, 7, 8.

No case can be tried by a revenue officer in which the case arose more than a year before the complaint, and then only such cases can be taken up as regard the extent of interest of the parties in possession, and the decision of which is necessary for allotting the govt. jumma, leaving old and extraneous claims to be decided by the courts.

379. “ 1st. Is it competent to a revenue officer, engaged in making settlements under the provisions of Regulation 9, 1833, or any other enactment, to interfere in regard to any case pending before any Court of civil judicature at the date of settlement, either as an original suit or in appeal ?—The Western Court were of opinion that it was not competent to the revenue officers to exercise the powers described in the first question, unless the parties should themselves apply by petition for the removal of their cause to the court of the settlement officer with a view to its being decided under the provisions of Sections 5 to 8, Regulation 9, 1833.

2d. Is it competent to such officer to interfere under the provisions of the abovementioned Regulations in regard to any case which may have already been judicially determined by a Court of civil judicature, either as an original suit or in appeal?—The Court were further of opinion that the second question must also be determined in the negative, unless the interference took place by order of the Court, or with the consent of the parties.

3d. Does any limitation of time exist under the Regulations, in regard to the cognizance by the revenue officers of disputed private claims brought before them under the provisions of Regulation 9, 1833; or is it competent to those officers to take cognizance of all cases of that nature without reference to the date of the cause of action, which at the time of settlement may not be depending before any Court of civil judicature, or which may not have already been judicially determined by a court of competent jurisdiction?—In regard to the third question, the Western Court ruled that no case could be tried by the revenue officers, in which the cause of action may have arisen more than one year previous to the complaint, and that only such case could be taken up by them as regards the extent of interest of parties in possession, and the decision of which was necessary to the due allotment of the Government jumma, leaving all old and extraneous claims to the decision of the courts: such opinion being in conformity with instructions issued by the Sudder Board of Revenue to the subordinate revenue authorities." On a reconsideration of the whole subject the Calcutta Court concurred in the above opinions as expressed in their letter to the Western Court, No. 3444, of the 3d November last.—Con. 1128, 5th Feb. 1838, pars. 9, 10.

Collector making settlements cannot interfere in any case already determined by a court, or with proceedings in execution of a judicial award.

380. It is not competent to revenue officers engaged in making settlements under Regulation 9, 1833, or employed in the manner therein provided, to interfere in regard to any case which may have already been judicially determined by a Court of civil judicature, or to proceedings in execution of a judicial award under which possession of property has been given. The above is of course to be taken with the reservation laid down in Construction 1128, "unless by order of the court or with the consent of the parties."—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Feb. 1842, vol. 7, p. 74.

Cases in which alone the jurisdiction of the civil courts is barred by reg. 9, 1833.

How suits brought to set aside the decision of the collector, must be tried.

381. Held on a reference from the officiating Judge of Jounpore, that the jurisdiction of the Civil courts is only barred by the provisions of Regulation 9 of 1833, when the proceedings of the Collector, or other officer, engaged in making settlements, are in conformity with the rules prescribed in the enactment; and that when a suit, brought to set aside the decisions passed, and adjustments made by the revenue authorities, acting under the law quoted, is deemed admissible, it must be tried and decided, not with reference to the informality of the Collector's proceedings, but on the merits of the plaintiff's claim.—Con. 1371, West. C. 7th Nov. 1842, Cal. C. 17th March 1843.

The decisions of panchaets must be enforced by the revenue authorities.

382. The decisions of panchaets appointed under Regulation 9, 1833, should be enforced by the revenue authorities, the judicial functionaries having no power to carry them into effect.—Con. 895, West. C. 5th, Cal. C. 26th Sept. 1834.

SECTION XXVII.

Tributary Mehals in Cuttack.

383. Whereas it is necessary that provisions should be made for receiving, trying and deciding claims to the right of inheritance or succession in certain tributary estates in zillah Cuttack, which were excepted by Section 11, Regulation 14, 1805, from the operation of the general rules for the administration of civil justice, established in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and whereas the nature of the tenures by which those estates are held, the character of the inhabitants, and other local circumstances, render it expedient that the estates in question should not be subject to partition, but should descend entire and undivided, to the persons respectively having the most substantial claim according to local and family usage; the following rules have been enacted to be in force from the date of the promulgation of this Regulation, in zillah Cuttack.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 1.

Preamble.

384. All claims to the right of inheritance, or succession, to any of the undermentioned tributary estates, are to be heard, tried and determined in the first instance, by the Superintendent of the tributary mehals in zillah Cuttack.

Provided, however, that the estates above enumerated shall in no case be considered liable to be divided according to the Hindoo law, but shall descend entire to the person having the most substantial claim according to local and family usage.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

On what laws and usages such claims are to be decided. Proviso.

386. The Superintendent is prohibited from taking cognizance of any suit, the cause of action in which shall have arisen antecedent to the 14th day of October, 1803, the date on which the fort and town of Cuttack were surrendered to the British arms.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Suits not cognizable, if the cause of action arose before the 14th Oct. 1803.

387. The established pleaders of the Zillah court shall attend the Superintendent's court, to be held in the court-house of the Zillah adawlut; and they shall receive the same fees as are authorized on the pleading of causes in the Zillah courts; subject of course to the prescribed rules in the cases of paupers.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

The pleaders of the civil court are to attend the superintendent's court, and are entitled to fees.

The Hindoo law officer of the zillah court is to expound the Hindoo law when requisite.

388. The Hindoo Law officer of the Zillah court is to expound the Hindoo law, in all cases wherein it may be requisite for the due determination of causes pending before the Superintendent.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 6.

Rules regarding the issuing of process by superintendent.

389. All processes issued in suits instituted under this Regulation, shall bear the official seal and signature of the Superintendent; and shall be executed by the officers on his establishment, in like manner as all similar processes issued by the Judge of the Zillah court are executed; and any disobedience and resistance to his process shall be liable to a fine to Government to be fixed by the Superintendent, subject to the confirmation of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut; or, if the offender be a landholder or sudder farmer, and the case appear to call for it, by a confiscation of his estate or farm commutable to a fine by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or Governor General in Council.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Penalty for resistance of process.

Rule to be observed by the superintendent in the trial of all suits instituted under this regulation.

390. In the trial of all suits instituted under this Regulation, the Superintendent shall be guided by the general rules prescribed for the trial of civil causes, before the Judges of the Zillah courts, subject to the special provisions contained in this Regulation, or in points not specially provided for, to any qualification of the general rules which may be found expedient, and may be sanctioned by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Stamped paper shall not be required, in these suits.

391. It shall not be requisite to use stamped paper for the plaints, pleadings, decrees, or any papers relative to suits instituted under this Regulation, nor shall any durkhaust on stamped paper be required for the admission of exhibits, or the issue of summonses to witnesses, in such suits, when tried in the first instance, or in appeal.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

The value of suits under this regulation is to be estimated according to the peshkush, and not the produce.

392. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 30th ultimo, stating, that a petition has lately been presented to you by a person claiming to succeed to one of the tributary mechals, the peshkush of which is 4,780 rupees, 5 annas, 12 gundas, 2 cowries, and the produce of which is stated to be 1,02,000 rupees, 4 annas, 12 gundas; and requesting the opinion of the Court, as to whether the value of the estate sued for should be assumed at the peshkush or at the estimated produce.—In reply, I am desirous to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that in conformity to the first clause of Section 14, Regulation 1, 1814, the value of the property should be assumed at the peshkush, which may be held to be the amount of the annual jumma payable to Government. Such indeed appears to have been the construction already adopted by your court, as may be seen on reference to the Dekenal case, filed on the 17th of October, 1816, and decided in this Court in March, 1825.—Con. 462, 7th Sept. 1827.

Deposit to be made on account of the pleader's fee.

393. When the plaintiff or defendant may appoint a pleader, to prosecute or defend a suit, under this Regulation, he shall deposit in the court a sum equal to the amount of the pleader's fee, unless from the oath, or solemn declaration of the party, or from the evidence of two credible witnesses, the Superintendent shall be satisfied of the inability of the plaintiff, or defendant to make such deposit; in which case he shall be admitted as a pauper, and the stated deposit shall not be required.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 10.

Exception in cases of paupers.

394. In all suits decided and orders passed by the Superintendent under this Regulation, an appeal from his decisions and orders shall lie to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, provided that the petition of appeal be preferred within three months after the decree or order appealed from, shall have been passed.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

An appeal may be made from the superintendent's decision to the S. D. A.

395. The petition of appeal shall be presented to the Superintendent, and shall contain a full and explicit statement of the appellant's objections to the decree or order from which he is desirous to appeal. The appellant if not admitted as a pauper under Section 10, shall at the same time tender good security for the payment of any costs which may be adjudged on the determination of the appeal by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or if unable to give such security, shall make oath or subscribe a solemn declaration to his inability, or adduce two creditable persons to prove the same.—Ibid, Sect. 12.

Rules to be observed on admitting a petition of appeal.

396. On receipt of the petition of appeal, with the prescribed security or proof of inability required in failure thereof, the Superintendent shall cause a copy to be made of the decree or order from which the appeal may be required, and within fifteen days shall certify and transmit the same, with the petition of appeal, to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

Duty of the superintendent on receipt of a petition of appeal.

397. When the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut may admit the appeal, they will cause a precept to be issued under the seal of the court, and the signature of the Register addressed to the Superintendent, requiring him within such period as may be limited by the precept, to furnish a complete record of all papers received, and proceedings held in the case; and also to call upon the respondent or respondents for his or their answer or to appear in person or by vakeel, within a certain time before the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and deliver his or their answer to that court.—Ibid, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Course to be pursued if the petition of appeal be admitted by the S. D. A.

398. The Superintendent on receipt of the precept shall comply with the exigency thereof, as required; or in the event of his not being able to carry the same into complete execution within the prescribed period, shall certify the same to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut with notice of the period within which a further return will be made.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The superintendent to comply with the exigency of precepts of the S. D. A.

399. It shall be optional with appellants and respondents in appeals to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under this Regulation, to attend in person, or by vakeel for the prosecution or defence of their appeals before that court; or to deliver their proceedings to the Superintendent of the tributary mehals; who, in the latter case, shall forward them, as soon as received, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and communicate to the parties any orders which may be issued by that court.—Ibid, Sect. 15.

The parties may plead their own causes in appeal, or may appoint vakeels, or may deliver their proceedings to the supdt. of the tributary mehals. Duty of supdt. in such cases.

400. In cases wherein it may appear to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the cause in appeal has not been sufficiently investigated, and consequently that further evidence is required for the just determination of it, that court is empowered to refer

The S. D. A. may either refer the cause back to the supdt. or direct further evidence.

the cause back for further trial and judgment to the Superintendent, or to direct that further evidence be taken and transmitted to the court.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 16.

The provisions of sec. 3 declared applicable to the decisions passed by S. D. A.

401. The provisions contained in Section 3, by which the decisions passed by the Superintendent are to be governed, shall be considered equally applicable to the decisions of the Sudder dewanny adawlut in all appeals under this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 17.

Also the principles of secs. 4, 5, 6, 8, 9 & 10 of this regulation.

402. The principles of the several provisions contained in Sections 4, 5, 6, 8, 9 and 10 of this Regulation, shall also be considered applicable to all appeals from decisions or orders of the Superintendent of the tributary mehals in zillah Cuttack which may come before the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, Sect. 18.

The execution of the decree passed by the supdt. to be postponed if the appellant shall give sufficient security.

403. In cases of appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from any decree or order of the Superintendent involving a transfer of property, or any change in the actual possession of property, the decree or order appealed from shall not be carried into execution during the appeal to that court, provided the appellant shall give good and sufficient security for the performance of the final decision, which may be passed upon the appeal, and in no instance shall the Superintendent cause to be carried into execution any such decree or order passed by him, until the period allowed for the appeal may have elapsed.—Ibid, Sect. 19, Cl. 1.

If appellant fail to give security the decree shall be executed, provided the respondent gives sufficient security.

404. In the event of the appellant's not giving security for staying the execution of the decree appealed from, and of its being consequently put into execution whilst an appeal is pending, good and sufficient security shall be taken from the respondent for the performance of the final decision which may be passed upon the appeal.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

In case neither party shall be able to give the requisite security the estate in dispute shall be attached.

405. In case neither party shall be able to give the requisite security, the estate in dispute shall be attached by order of the Superintendent, until the security required shall be received, or until the final determination be passed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut upon the case.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Previous to the execution of any decree, whether of the supdt. or of the S. D. A., a communication must be made to govt.

406. No decree or order whether of the Superintendent of the tributary mehals or of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, involving a transfer of the property or an actual change in the possession of any of the estates enumerated in Section 2 of this Regulation, shall be carried into execution, without a previous communication being made by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to Government; in order that sufficient time may be afforded for the adoption of any precautionary measures which may be eventually judged requisite to support, and enforce the execution of the decree or order without hazard to the public tranquility.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

To what amount the decisions of the S. D. A. shall be considered final.

407. The judgments of the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall be final and conclusive in all appeals heard and determined by that court under this Regulation, within the limitation of appeals to the King in Council, prescribed by the statute 21, George 3, Cap. 70, Section 21, viz. five thousand pounds or sicca rupees 43,103.—Ibid, Sect. 20, Cl. 1.

408. If the amount or value adjudged shall, exclusive of costs of suit, exceed the sum of 5,000 pounds or sicca rupees 43,103, a further appeal will be open to his Majesty in Council; and shall be received by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under the provisions which have been enacted for receiving such appeals in Regulation 16, 1797.—Reg. 11, 1816, Sect. 20, Cl. 2.

An appeal to the king in council may be made in certain cases and shall be received by S. D. A.

409. A suit, for the recovery of certain lands situated on the borders or within the tributary estate of Neelghurree, but decreed after a summary investigation by the Magistrate at Balasore to be within that estate, has been preferred to me as Superintendant of tributary mchals by a zemindar subject to the Regulations. As Regulation 11, 1816, does not provide for such cases, and having my doubts whether this is the proper tribunal to which the plaintiff should apply, I have to request that you will obtain the opinion of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut whether I should admit the suit on my file or refer the petitioner to the Zillah court.—In reply to your letter of the 28th ultimo, No. 88, I am directed by the Court to inform you, that as the summary enquiry by the Magistrate of Balasore appears to have ascertained that the contested lands lie within the Neelghurree estate, they are of opinion that the assumption should be maintained until the contrary be shewn by a more formal enquiry, which enquiry should be conducted by you on the admission of the suit referred to in your letter.—Con. 864, 14th Feb. 1834.

Special case relative to certain lands within the tributary estate of Neelghurree.

CHAPTER V.

SUMMARY SUITS—MISCELLANEOUS CASES—REGISTRATION.

SECTION I.

Summary Suits in Cases of Distraint—Power to Distrain.

What persons may distraint; whose and what property is liable to distraint and sale.

1. Zemindars, independant talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, and farmers of land who hold their farms immediately of Government, are empowered to distraint without sending notice to any Court of justice or any public officer (excepting the after notice directed to be given in the cases of defaulters employed in the provision of the Company's investment, or the manufacture of salt as specified in Section 31,) the crops and products of the earth of every description, the grain, cattle, and all other personal property whether found in the house or on the premises of the defaulter, or in the house or on the premises of any other person within or without the limits of the estate or farm of the distrainer, belonging to their under-renters and ryots, and the talookdars paying revenue through them, for arrears of rent or revenue, and to cause the said property to be sold for the discharge of such arrears. The same powers are likewise vested in dependant talookdars for the recovery of arrears of rent from their under-farmers and ryots, and also in under-farmers who farm lands from zemindars, independant talookdars, or other actual proprietors of land, or dependant talookdars, or farmers of land who hold their farms immediately of Government, to enable such under-farmers to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue from their ryots, under-farmers or dependant talookdars. The several descriptions of landholders and farmers of land above specified, are to exercise the powers hereby vested in them under the following rules and restrictions.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 2.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

The process of distraint may be employed for arrears of a former year provided the defaulter continues to be an under tenant of the distrainer.

2. The process of distraint was primarily intended to enable landholders and farmers to realize their rents for the current year with punctuality : but Regulation 2, 1805, does not restrict the process from being employed for arrears of a former year, provided the person upon whom the distress is levied continue to be an under-tenant of the distrainer.—Con. 27, 1st Feb. 1807.

The process of distraint will apply to all claims for arrears of rent whether due on lands paying revenue to govt. or exempt from the payment of revenue.

3. The acting Judge of Behar was informed, on the 21st January, 1808, that the Court were of opinion, that the rules contained in Regulation 7, 1799, as well as of Regulation 17, 1793, and 35, 1795, relating to the power of landholders to proceed against their tenants for arrears of rent, being general, must be understood to apply to all claims for arrears of rent, whether due from lands paying revenue to Government, or from lands held exempt from public revenue.—Con. 33, 21st Jan. 1808.

4. The rules of distraint being general, apply to the rent of lands exempt from the public assessment as well as to the rent of lands subject thereto.—Con. 337, 23d Feb. 1821.

Idem.

5. The zemindars, talookdars, and other landholders and farmers of land, empowered by Section 2 of Regulation 17, 1793, to distrain the crops, cattle, and other personal property of their under-tenants for arrears of rent, are authorized to delegate to their naibs, gomashthahs, and other agents, employed in the collection of their rents, the power of distraining in their behalf in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, under the responsibility declared in Section 32 of Regulation 17, 1793, and the naibs, gomashthahs, and other agents, to whom such power may be delegated by their principals, are authorized to proceed for the recovery of arrears of rent due to their constituents in the same manner as the latter are authorized to proceed, subject to their own responsibility in addition to that of their principals, for any wilful deviation from the Regulations : but it is hereby declared that neither the landholders and farmers themselves or their agents, are to be made liable to the penalties prescribed for a deviation from any part of Regulation 17, 1793, or of Regulation 35, 1795, or of any other Regulation relative to the distraining for land-rents, unless such deviation shall clearly appear to have been wilful and intentional, or to have proceeded from gross neglect and inattention to the rules prescribed for their guidance. Where no such wilful deviation or gross neglect shall appear, satisfaction to the party aggrieved for the actual damage sustained by him, from the prescribed process not having been strictly adhered to, shall alone be adjudged against the distrainer ; nor shall any judgment be given for such damages if the distrainer can shew that he tendered sufficient amends to the party injured as soon as the irregularity in his proceedings was discovered, or at any time before the action for damages was brought against him, and that such tender was refused.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 2.

Landholders and farmers, empowered by sec. 2 of reg. 17, 1793, to distrain for arrears of rent, authorized to delegate this power to their agents.

Agents to whom such power may be delegated, authorized to levy distress for arrears of rent due to their constituents.

Subject to their own responsibility in addition to that of their principals.

Neither landholders, farmers or their agents liable to prescribed penalties except in cases of wilful deviation from, or gross neglect of the regular process for distraining.

Where no wilful deviation or gross neglect may appear, satisfaction for actual damage only to be adjudged.

And not this, if distrainer can shew that he tendered sufficient amends.

6. Such part of Section 5, Regulation 17, 1793, as enacts that “under-farmers, ryots, and dependant talookdars, shall not be considered to have defaulted until the arrears have been ineffectually demanded from them, and also from their surety if they shall have given security and the surety shall be forthcoming,” is hereby rescinded ; and under-tenants of every description are to be considered defaulters, for any arrears of rent withheld beyond the day on which the same may have become payable according to their kistbundies, or other engagements, or where there may be no written specification of the exact term of payment, beyond the period when the rent demandable from them may be payable according to established local usage. For all such arrears which may not be paid on demand, defaulters are declared liable to immediate distress whether the amount shall have been demanded from their sureties or otherwise. In instances wherein the distrainer may proceed to levy distress from an under-tenant, who has given security, without having previously demanded the arrear from the surety, it will be incumbent on the tenant to give notice of the distress to his own surety so as to enable him to discharge the arrear before the sale of the property attached ; or the distrainer, if he think proper, may give notice to the surety and require him to make payment of the arrear. The distrainer may also, at his option, distrain in the prescribed

Part of sec. 5, reg. 17, 1793, rescinded.

Under-tenants to be considered defaulters for any arrears of rent withheld beyond the day on which they became payable.

For such arrears not paid on demand, defaulters liable to distress.

Tenant to give notice of distress to his surety.

Or distrainer may give notice to the surety and require payment from him.

Distrainer may also at his option distrain property of surety.

Or the property of both the defaulter & his surety; so that the distress be not excessive.

Provided the arrear be first demanded from the defaulter, if forthcoming.

mode either the property of the defaulter or his surety, or the property of both, so that the whole distress be not excessive in proportion to the arrear; but no distress shall be levied on the property of the surety until the arrear shall have been ineffectually demanded from the defaulter; unless the latter shall have absconded or be otherwise not forthcoming; in which case, and in the event of the surety's not discharging the amount due on demand, distress may be levied from his property for the recovery of it, in like manner as if the defaulter had been present and served with the demand in the first instance.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 3.

Heirs and successors of landholders & farmers to distrain for arrears then due to the deceased, if entitled thereto.

Managers of estates of disqualified landholders, and managers of undivided estates vested with the power of distraint.

7. Upon the death of any person vested with the power of distraint by this Regulation, his heirs or successors who may be entitled to the arrears due to him, shall be at liberty to distrain the property of the defaulters, and their sureties in the cases authorized, for the recovery of the same, agreeably to this Regulation. It is to be understood likewise, that managers of the estates of disqualified landholders, and managers of undivided estates belonging to two or more proprietors, all of whom do not come within the description of disqualified landholders, are authorized to exercise the same powers for the recovery of arrears of rent or revenue, as the proprietors of the estates committed to their charge would be entitled to exercise under this Regulation, were they to be entrusted with the management of their own estates, subject however to the several rules, restrictions, and penalties therein specified.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 30.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 28.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 28.

Rules in preceding sections applicable to managers of estates of disqualified landholders, and of joint undivided estates, as well as to the officers of govt. holding lands in attachment, or under a khaus collection.

8. The rules in the whole of the preceding sections for the recovery of arrears of rent due to proprietors and farmers of land, are to be considered equally applicable to the managers of the estates of disqualified landholders, and of joint undivided estates; as well as to Collectors or other public officers holding lands in attachment for the purpose of adjusting the public assessment on them, or for any other purpose; or making a khaus collection on the part of Government, where no settlement has been made with any proprietor or farmer: and the authorized agents of such managers, Collectors, or other public officers, provided they be so commissioned and instructed, are to exercise the same authority as is vested in the agents of proprietors and farmers of land by Section 2 of this Regulation.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 19.

Persons who under the names of sureties farm or tenant lands in the name of others, to be considered the actual ryots or farmers of such lands.

9. Persons who tenant or under-farm lands in the name of their children, dependants, or others, or in the names of fictitious persons, and give themselves as the ostensible sureties for the performance of the agreement, but retain the actual management of the lands, and in fact are themselves the under-farmers or ryots of such lands, shall to all intents and purposes, be considered as the under-farmers or ryots of such lands, and their property shall be liable to be distrained and sold for arrears under this Regulation, in the same manner as if the engagement for the lands had stood in their own names.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 27.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 25.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 25.

SECTION II.

Summary Suits in Cases of Distraint—Abuse of the Power of Distraint.

10. If any gomastah, agent, servant, or officer of any person vested with the power of distraint, shall attach or cause to be sold the property of any under-farmer, ryot, or dependant talookdar, or their sureties, or do any act in the attachment or sale of it contrary to this Regulation, the party aggrieved shall have his remedy against the principal of the offender for such illegal attachment, sale or act, whether the same took place or was done by the orders or with the knowledge of such principal or not. Provided that nothing contained in this section shall extend to subject a distrainer to imprisonment in the event of any person deputed by him to attach property, entering the zenana or apartments of women, or breaking open a dwelling-house in opposition to the prohibition contained in Section 21, unless it shall be proved that such acts were done by the order or with the consent or knowledge of such distrainer.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 32.

Principals responsible for the acts of their agents.

11. Landholders and farmers of land are prohibited confining or inflicting corporal punishment on any under-farmer, ryot, or dependant talookdar, or their sureties, to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue. If any landholder or farmer shall offend against this prohibition, the person so punished or confined, shall be at liberty either to prosecute the offender for assault or imprisonment in the Criminal court, or to institute a suit against him in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, which court shall award damages against such offender, according to the circumstances of the case, with costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 28.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 26.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 26.

Landholders and farmers prohibited confining or inflicting corporal punishment on defaulters or their sureties.

12. The distress levied shall not be excessive, or in other words, the property seized shall be as nearly as possible proportioned to the amount of the arrear. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall attach any property the value of which shall be disproportionate to the arrear, and it shall be proved that he could have seized other property of less value and which would have been sufficient for the liquidation of such arrear, the Court of Dewanny adawlut shall award to the owner damages according to the circumstances of the case, with all costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 16.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 14.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 14.

Distress to be proportionate to the arrear.

Penalty for excessive distress.

13. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall attach, or cause to be sold the property of any under-farmer, ryot or dependant talookdar for arrears of rent or revenue, and it shall appear upon trial that no arrear was due, the distrainer shall be compelled to restore the property to the owner, or to make good to him the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and to pay to him as damages a sum adequate to the value of such property and all costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 6.

Penalty for attaching property if no arrear be due.

SECTION III.

Summary Suits in Cases of Distraint—Notice of Distraint and Attachment of Property.

Distrainers to furnish the person they may depute to distraint, with a writing, specifying the amount of the arrear, and the date on which it became due.

Copy of the writing, with list of property distrained, name of the place, where it is lodged, and notice that it will be sold, endorsed thereon, to be delivered to the defaulter, or left at his place of residence, in case of his absence.

Penalty.

14. Distrainers shall deliver to the person whom they may depute to attach the property of a defaulter, a writing under their seal and signature specifying the amount of the arrear for which the attachment may be issued, and the date on which such arrear became due. The person so deputed shall produce this writing as his authority for making the attachment, and on the day on which he may attach the property, shall deliver a copy of it to the stated defaulter, endorsing thereon a list or inventory of the property attached, and the name of the place where it may be lodged or kept, with a notice that it will be sold on the fifteenth day commencing from the day following the day on which the attachment took place; or, if the property attached shall consist of crops or other ungathered products of the earth, within fifteen days calculating from the day following the day on which such crops or products may be stored as directed in Section 13, unless the arrear and expences of the attachment shall be previously discharged, or he shall contest the demand, and procure the attachment to be withdrawn in the manner hereafter specified. If the defaulter shall be absent, a copy of the above writing with the prescribed endorsement shall be fixed up or left at his usual place of residence before the expiration of the third day calculating from the day of the attachment. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall cause any property to be attached without furnishing the Agent whom they may employ for that purpose with the writing above directed, or if such Agent shall be furnished with the writing prescribed, and shall omit to deliver a copy of it with the required endorsement to the defaulter; or, in the event of his absence, to leave such copy at his usual place of residence within the period limited, the distrainer shall not be entitled to recover the arrear for which the distress may have been levied, and he shall be compelled to restore the property to the defaulter, or the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and to pay all costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 8.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 8.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 8.

Secs. 9 and 10 of reg. 17, 1793, and part of sec. 8, rescinded.

15. Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 17, 1793, by which distrainers are required to withdraw the attachment on distrained property, on the person from whom the arrear is demanded, denying the justness of the demand, and giving security to have it tried in the Dewanny adawlut within a certain time, and to pay interest to the date of the decree, with costs, in the event of the demand being decreed to be just, are hereby rescinded together with the following clause of Section 8 of that Regulation, viz. "or he shall contest the demand, and procure the attachment to be withdrawn in the manner hereafter specified."—Reg. 35, 1795, Sect. 2.

Notice of fifteen days directed in sec. 8, reg. 17, 1793, and period of fifteen days fixed by sec. 5 of reg.

16. The notice of fifteen days for the sale of attached property directed in Section 8 of Regulation 17, 1793, and the period of fifteen days from the time of attachment fixed for the sale of such property by Section 5 of Regulation 35, 1795, are hereby rescinded; and the notice to the defaulter, directed to accompany the inventory of the attached property to be delivered to him, shall inform him only of the arrear due and the intention of the distrainer to bring the attached property to immediate public sale for the discharge of it, unless the amount and expences of attachment be previously paid. If the defaulter on receiving this notice shall neglect to pay the amount due from him, or to give such assurance of early payment as may be satisfactory to the distrainer, or if the defaulter shall have absconded or be otherwise absent, so that the notice cannot be served on him, the distrainer is to transmit an inventory of such part of the attached property as can be brought to immediate sale, to the nearest cazee or other public officer empowered to sell distrained property, with a written request that he will cause the same to be publicly sold for the discharge of the arrear due, the amount of which is also to be specified in the application, together with the place where the property may be in attachment; and if it be the intention of the distrainer to remove it, under the discretion vested in him by Section 12 of Regulation 17, 1793, the place to which such removal is intended. The cazee or other authorized officer, on the receipt of such application is to proceed as directed in Section 5 of Regulation 35, 1795, under the following further provisions, viz. instead of fixing the day of the sale on the fifteenth day after the attachment, he shall fix as early a day for the sale as may be compatible with a due observance of the other directions in the above section for the appraisement of the property, and the publication of the intended sale of it, which is to be made by beat of drum on one market day at the least before the market day on which the sale may take place, as well as on the morning of the day of sale; and the sale is in no instance to take place before the expiration of five complete days after the attachment, exclusive of the day on which the attachment may have been made. The same principle is to be observed with respect to the sale of ungathered products after the distrainer shall have gathered and stored them, as required by Section 13 of Regulation 17, 1793, and which are not to be sold until publication shall have been made as above directed. In consequence of this alteration, which is made with a view to expedite the sale of distrained property, distrainers, when they attach the property of persons employed in the provision of the Company's investment, or in the manufacture of salt, are to give the notice directed in Section 31 of Regulation 17, 1793, as soon as possible after making the attachment; and in such cases the property is not to be sold until sufficient time has been given to enable the Company's officers to satisfy the demand before the day of sale. The notice required by the above section however may, at the option of the distrainer, be either given to the Commercial Resident, or Salt Agent, in whose division the defaulter may have been employed, or to the Native Superintendent of the factory or salt chowkey to which the defaulter may be attached.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 4.

35, 1795, for sale of attached property rescinded. Future notice to be given to defaulters.

Inventory and particulars to be transmitted by distrainer to cazee or other officers empowered to sell distrained property.

Cazee or other officer how to proceed on receiving applications for the sale of distrained property.

No sale to take place before expiration of five complete days after the attachment.

Or after storing products ungathered at the time of attachment.

Notice to commercial residents and salt agents, directed in sec. 31, reg. 17, 1793, to be given as soon as possible after attaching the property of persons employed in the Company's investment or manufacture of salt.

And sufficient time to be allowed for satisfying the demand in such cases.

But the required notice may be given either to the com. resident or salt agent; or to the native supt. of the factory or salt chowkey.

17. Whenever any zemindar, independant talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, or any person farming land directly from Government, shall be desirous of distraining the property of his tenant, with a view to the recovery of an arrear of rent; such zemindar or other person shall either previously or at the time of the distress, serve the said tenant with a written demand for the amount of it, accompanied with a jumma wassil baukee, exhibiting the grounds on which the demand is so made; and no process for the distress and sale of property on account of arrears of rent shall be deemed legal and valid, unless, the rule here prescribed shall have been duly observed. In all practicable cases the prescribed demand and jumma wassil baukee account, shall be served personally on the tenant; but if he abscond or conceal himself, so that they cannot be served personally upon him, they shall be affixed at his usual place of residence; which latter process shall in such case be deemed and taken to be a sufficient service of the demand and account in question.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 13.

No process for distress or sale to be legal, unless the tenant shall be served with a written demand accompanied with a jumma wassil baukee.

Where this notice shall be served if a tenant, on whom this notice is to be served, have no residence in the zillah in which the land is situated.

18. It is hereby enacted, in modification of the provisions of Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 of Regulation 5, 1812 of the Bengal code, that if any ryot or tenant of land, upon whom such notice or demand as is specified in the said sections, is to be served shall have no place of usual residence in the zillah where the land to which such notice or demand has reference is situate, the mode of serving such notice or demand with a jumma wassil baukee shall be by affixing it at the maal cutcherry of such land, or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the village chouree, choupal, or other conspicuous place in the village.—Act VIII. 1848.

Attachment not to take place if the defaulter shall tender the arrears upon demand.

19. If the defaulter shall tender the arrears demanded of him in the presence of two creditable witnesses to the person deputed to attach his property, such person shall receive the arrears, and shall not proceed to the attachment.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 7.

Distress to be levied between sunrise & sunset.

20. All attachments shall be made after sunrise and before sunset. If any person vested with the power of distraint shall seize or attempt to seize the property of any defaulter after sunset and before sunrise for the discharge of arrears of rent, or revenue, such distrainer shall not be entitled to recover the arrear; and, if the property shall have been attached, shall be compelled to restore it to the defaulter, or the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, with all costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 17.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 15.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 15.

Transfer of a defaulter's property to prevent distraint, invalid.

21. If any under-farmer, ryot, or dependant talookdar, shall make a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of his property to prevent the attachment of it for arrears, the Court of Dewanny adawlut, upon proof thereof being made before it, shall cause the property to be delivered up to the distrainer, and compel the person to whom such transfer or conveyance shall have been made, to pay to the distrainer damages adequate to the value of one-half of the property, with costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 18.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 16.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 16.

Penalty for persons to whom such transfers may be made.

Punishment for under-farmers, &c. resisting an attachment or forcibly or clandestinely taking away their property after it has been attached.

22. If any under-farmer, ryot, or dependant talookdar, shall resist the attachment of his property, or shall forcibly or clandestinely take it away after it shall have been attached, the Court of Dewanny adawlut shall cause him and all persons who may be proved to have been his aiders or abettors, to be imprisoned in the jail until he shall restore the property to the distrainer, or the arrear shall have been liquidated by the distraint and sale of other property, or otherwise discharged with the expences attending the attachment, and costs of suit.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 19.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 17.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 17, Cl. 1.

23. Suits brought under Regulation 17, 1793; 45, 1795; 7, 1799; 5, 1800, and 28, 1803, should be considered as summary; but the defendant should be heard in his defence, and any evidence offered by him to refute the charge of resistance to attachment should be taken.—Con. 23, 9th Aug. 1806.

Suits under the within named enactments to be considered summary, but the defendant should be heard in his defence, & his evidence taken.

24. On the second point the Court hold, that the summary proceeding under Section 17, Regulation 28, 1803, [corresponding with Regulation 17, 1793, Section 19,] which clearly involves the adjudication of a penalty by the Civil court for having withdrawn attached property, is limited in point of time, under Section 6, Regulation 2, 1805, to one year from the occurrence of the act which gives rise to the proceeding; unless Government being the party suing, (which it virtually is, in the person of the Collector,) there be good cause shewn for delay beyond that period.—Con. 316, 2d June 1820.

The summary proceeding under sec. 19 is limited to one year from the occurrence of the illegal act.

Exception.
